Mrs. Bell expected to accompany the Professor to Minneapolis for a visit with other relatives.

The Lutheran mission festival at College Heights was not only well attended by the members of the local congregation, but there were also large delegations from Courtland, Sleepy Eye and other points. Rev. Emil Fritz of Wellington delivered the sermon in the morning and Rev. Im. Albrecht of Fairfax in the afternoon. Rev. C. J. Albrecht spoke briefly on the China Mission during the course of the afternoon.

REMOVAL NOTICE: We have removed to our new location in the Schoch Block two doors south of the American Theatre on Minnesota Street and are ready to greet all our customers, old or new, at the new place. We cordially invite you to inspect our quarters and see how we are fitted to serve you to the best advantage. A good supply of fresh meats and sausages will be kept ready at all times. MRS. F. A. SCHNOBRICH.

The wind storm of Saturday worked considerable havoc among the apple trees in the city. Down on Front and Valley Streets the damage was particularly felt and a number of large trees in other parts of the town lost heavily laden limbs which were torn from the trunk by their own weight in the fierce wind. Housewives in general all over town are consulting one another as to the feasibility of using the apples which were shaken down to make jelly.

Miss Olga Sandau gave a party to fifteen of her young friends Wednesday evening in honor of her guests, Miss Duerrhammer and Miss Heilbron. The house was prettily decorated in red and white with sweet peas and carnations. The time was spent with games and music by the boys' quartette and dainty refreshments were served. The young ladies who were honor guests left on the early train Thursday for Minneapolis. From there they intend to go to St. Louis, Sacramento and San Francisco, returning home to San Diego August 25th.

for your harvest money is in this bank

Look at these two men. They have been to market their cotton. One put his money in the bank and the other didn't. They were held up on the way home. The silly fellow who wanted to take his money home had to "deliver" to the robbers. The other was able to "give them the laugh"—his money was in the bank.

Take a lesson from this—put your harvest money in this bank like all other successful farmers. It is the safest place—withdraw it whenever you please.

The well known veteran and hero of Fort Ridgely, Col. Timothy J. Sheehan, passed away at St. Paul a little past midnight Friday morning, after an illness of nearly a year.

Col. Sheehan was one of the best known men in the Northwest. He was born in Cork county, Ireland, Dec. 21, 1835, and lost both of his parents when but three years of age. He came to America in 1850 and to Minnesota in 1857. In 1861 he enlisted and became a private in Company F, Fourth Minnesota Volunteer Infantry. The next year he was promoted to first lieutenant, Company C, Fifth regiment, Minnesota Volunteers.

While serving in this capacity he with fifty men was ordered to Fort Ridgely and here got into some desperate fighting with the Indians and for eight successive days withstood the many assaults of the redskins, finally putting them to flight. He participated in many battles during the Civil war, including Vicksburg and Nashville and was wounded seven times during his military career. In 1885 President Arthur appointed him White Earth Indian agent, which position he held for four years. In 1890 he was appointed deputy United States marshal and this position he filled for 17 years. He retired from office in 1907 and has since lived in St. Paul.
