"BROWN CO. FAIR" SUCCESSFUL.

While it was expected that the "Brown County Fair" would draw a good house and prove an evening of merriment few were prepared to see Turner Hall Auditorium so well filled. The play as rendered by home talent was delightful and the scenic effects very pretty. Several new voices were heard among the soloists, Mrs. Minium, Mr. Rawson and Jos. Wheeler being among those new to theatre goers of New Ulm. Mrs. Minium was charming in her solo, "Men, Men, Men," and the young men of town who took the part of chorus men did it to perfection.
Miss Paddock as the grieving quardrupled widow kept the house in an uproar until she finally secured the fifth husband and appeared as a blushing bride in the chorus, "I, John, Take Thee, Matilda."
"Giggling Sal" in the person of Miss Thornton was most entertaining without her having to say a word all evening. Alex Garrow in Buster Brown outfit and led about by the hand by his diminutive Aunt Sue, Mrs. Beecher, was another of the stars of the production and his brother, Douglas, in prima donna act, drew applause that insisted on an encore. Joseph Wheeler made a fine Indian brave and the young girls who assisted in his song number gave a most realistic Indian dance. The Italian dance was pretty and graceful. Earl Seiter as the ubiquitous "Boss Jones," a county politician, was here, there and everywhere at once as a successful politician must be. Mr. Wendt played the farmer who raised prize "punkins" and Rudy Kemski who has never lived on a farm a week looked his part of "Hiram" to a finish. Mrs. Kemski as "Hiram's" best girl was quite at home also in her part.
The first chorus by Blanche Burg and fifty wee ones was just as dear as could be and the apple blossom chorus was most effective. The duets of Miss Rosebud Engel, Miss Elsa Marti and Miss Martha Winkelmann with Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Rawson added much to the musical part of the evening.
It is impossible to comment on the work of each member of the cast, there were so many of them but each one made the most of his lines and added to the completeness of the production which was most pleasing thruout.
The Ladies Committee of the Congregational Church which had in charge the preparation of the comedy, "The Brown County Fair" desire to thank all who assisted them in their work by taking part or by patronizing the entertainment in any way. They realized a very satisfactory sum of money and are very grateful to all who helped them in any way and take this method of expressing their appreciation to all. adv.
The classified columns of the Review are the best place to put an ad that you want read. This is proven repeatedly by the quick service we give. Scarcely is the paper in the hands of our readers each week when some one calls us up and says, "You needn't run my ad again. I have an answer to it already." The past week the Review found house maids for two families in need of help and restored a lost purse to the owner. It pays to advertise in the Review and any one in need of help or looking for work does well to invest 25 cents in a classified ad in the Review or the Post, which goes to our German subscribers.
