HOUSE-CLEANING FOR THE COW PAYS.

Before the dairy cow is taken from the pasture, the barn should be thoroughly and systematically cleaned, says G. W. Gehrand, of the dairy and animal husbandry division at the Minnesota Experiment Station. All cowbarns should be brushed down and the walls and ceiling should be white-washed or painted some light color. Either whitewash or paint will give a clean surface and make the whole stable look lighter and brighter. It might be well, too, to put in a few extra windows.

The dairy cow has had the freedom of the pasture and the fresh air of the fields for the last five months; she has practically maintained herself and produced milk upon succulent feed; she will soon be returned to the barn where she will spend the greater part of each day. It should be the aim of every keeper to see to it that his cows are housed as comfortably as possible and provided with a goodly quantity and variety of palatable feed that will nourish her abundantly and help her produce an even flow of milk.

GASOLINE A HIGH EXPLOSIVE.

"It is safer to handle dynamite than it is to keep gasoline or benzine in a dwelling house or factory," said C. Albert Gasser, chief of the Bureau of Combustibles of Newark, N. J., in SAFETY ENGINEERING for August. These inflammable fluids are equally dangerous, wherever handled or stored, unless handled properly. "The vapor of benzine and gasoline is not visible ordinarily, and herein lies the danger," Captain Gasser added. "If it were a cloud of dust, you could see it and get out of the way; but it is a part of the very atmosphere and you cannot see it. Depend upon it, however, the vapor is all about you, a danger which threatens death, although an invisible agent."

Charles E. Worthington, of Boston, discussing the dangers of gasoline, in SAFETY ENGINEERING for September, observed: "It is in the 'migrating' quality that the greatest hazard of gasoline or naphtha lies. Most explosives require fire to be brought to them, but naphtha searches out the fire. It will run in a stream along the ground, follow down a stairway, seek out a crack in a floor at a considerable distance, and finding the point where the mixture of air and vapor is explosive (that point always exists somewhere) and ignite the vapor upon the surface (the equivalent of igniting the material). Instances are very numerous of this occurring at distances exceeding 50 feet, in many cases approximating 300 feet and as concerns those under 50 feet, almost innumerable."

Owing to the characteristic of gasoline vapor just mentioned, it may be that the Ardmore Okla., explosion was caused by the striking of a match, by a flame or some other cause, some distance from the tank car. The principal comment at the moment is that gasoline is as dangerous as dynamite, under certain conditions.

While many raspberries will come through the winter without protection it is always safer to lay them down and cover them with earth.

ABOUT THE STATE

News of Especial Interest to Minnesota Readers.

HAMMOND FOR PEACE COURT

State Executive on Board of Governors of Proposed Worldwide Organization.

The formal steps in a campaign for the creation of a world supreme court for the judicial settlement of all international disputes were taken at a luncheon given at the Bankers' club in New York city which was attended by men prominent in public life from all sections of the country.

The luncheon resulted in the formation of the World's Court League of America by the election of a board of governors, who will later elect officers and perfect the organization.

Among the governors elected are the following:

John Wesley Hill, John Hays Hammond, Oscar S. Straus, Alton B. Parker, John Wanamaker, United States Senator L. Y. Sherman of Illinois, Charles W. Fairbanks, Governor Elect A. O. Stanley of Kentucky and Governor W. S. Hammond, Minnesota.

Governor Hammond says that, while he has little time to devote to matters outside of the state, he favors the idea of a world's supreme court and will do what he can to further the plans of the organization.

BURNQUIST IS UNDECIDED

May Enter the Race for Governor of Minnesota.

Lieutenant Governor J. A. A. Burnquist of St. Paul is not out of the gubernatorial race and it is not yet certain that he will be a candidate for lieutenant governor. Neither has he changed his mind. He is in the same position in which he has been all along.

"It is putting it a little strong to say that I have retired from the gubernatorial race," he said, "for I have never declared myself a candidate. Neither have I definitely declared myself a candidate for lieutenant governor."

"I have been considering these matters and I have received many strong assurances of support in case I decide to run for governor. And I have also received letters from state senators assuring me of their support for lieutenant governor in case I decided to run for that office instead of entering the race for the governorship."

"I may be a candidate for the governorship next year and I may not. It depends on how the situation shapes itself."

VETERAN LOSES STATE JOB

Court Holds He is Not Entitled to Preference.

Old soldiers are not entitled to any preference in the matter of holding state positions, the state supreme court declares.

A decision of Judge W. L. Kelly of the Ramsey county district court was reversed in the case of B. F. Allen, McLeod county, deputy state oil inspector, discharged by A. J. Rush, state oil inspector.

Allen is a Civil war veteran and contended that for this reason he was entitled to continue in his position so long as he was qualified to perform the duties.

The supreme court decides heads of state departments can appoint or dismiss employes at will and no reasons need be given.

TWO BOY SKATERS DROWNED

One Gives Life in Vain and Sister Narrowly Escapes.

Emil Klopp, twelve years of age, and Alois Klopp, ten years of age, sons of Anton Klopp, a farmer living on the shore of Huntley lake, seven miles north of Stillwater, were drowned while skating on the lake.

Alois went down 100 feet from the shore in fourteen feet of water. Emil tried to save him and both were drowned. A sister, Louise, tried to save the boys and was in the water ten minutes before being rescued.

GASOLINE BLAST IS DEADLY

Woman is Dead and Man Probably Fatally Burned.

Mrs. Ed Bogan was killed and Frank Cheney so seriously burned he likely will die when gasoline thrown on the kitchen range fire in the Bogan home at Oslo exploded.

The oil was thrown over the bed in which Mr. and Mrs. Bogan were asleep. Bogan leaped through a window, but his wife was so severely burned that death occurred in a few minutes.

Liquor Company Indicted.

The federal grand jury at Fergus Falls has returned an indictment against O. F. Wisler, salesman for W. L. Perkins & Co., wholesale liquor dealers of St. Paul, charging him with soliciting orders for liquor in the Indian country, and also an indictment against the company for which he travels charging it with shipping liquor into the treaty territory.

FRANK B. KELLOGG.
St. Paul Man Will Not Make Race for Senator.

Frank B. Kellogg finally has decided that he will not be a candidate for the United States senate. In a statement he says:

"I am not willing to seek the office, to beg for votes, to organize a self-seeking campaign with personal workers in every precinct of the state. Such a campaign would go far to impair one's usefulness in office."

STATE NEWS BITS.

Happenings of the Week in Minnesota.

Notes and certificates of deposit worth $13,000 have been found at Ashby under the bed on which E. G. Blomberg died. He was a reclusive bachelor, seventy-five years old. It is not known that he ever owned real estate and the hoard is thought to be the accumulation of his earnings as a day laborer.

William E. Rogers, eighty years old, prominent in the Christian and commercial activities of St. Paul for twenty-five years, is dead in the Capital City. Mr. Rogers was one of the original partners of the live stock commission firm of Rogers & Rogers, South St. Paul.

Mistaking a can of muriatic acid for coffee and drinking a small quantity of the poison before he discovered his blunder cost the life of Samuel Alberts, twenty-six years old, a well known young man of Pine Island. Nearly a ton of steaks and roasts was stolen from James Nordahl's meat market at Minneapolis by robbers who are believed to have taken a wagon to the place. They carted away the best meat in the shop.

The state auditor is distributing $80,000 to counties of the state as their 10 per cent share of inheritance taxes collected from the estates of resident decedents in the county during the past year.

The people of European countries as well as the American continent must be fed—thus an even greater demand for Canadian Wheat will keep up the price. Any farmer who can buy land at $15.00 to $20.00 per acre—get a dollar for wheat and raise 50 to 45 bushels to the acre is bound to make money—that's what you can expect in Western Canada. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed Farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools, markets convenient, climate excellent. Military service is not compulsory in Canada but there is an unusual demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for service in the war. THE GOOD JUDGE LEARNS JONES IS FROM THE GREATEST TOBACCO STATE.

WONDER WHO THAT OLD CHAP IS.

JONES, HE CAME HERE FROM KENTUCKY—GREAT TOBACCO.

THIS IS REAL TOBACCO. MY FRIENDS UP HERE WILL NOW LEARN THAT SALT BRINGS OUT THE GOOD RICH TOBACCO TASTE.

WHEN a fellow's been brought up along-side of rich tobacco, he naturally likes to give his friends the benefit of the facts. And directly they are telling their friends about the Real Tobacco Chew. A little bit satisfies and saves coin. It's one tobacco that don't need to hide its taste under licorice and sweetening.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR W-B CUT CHEWING TOBACCO. IT IS THE NEW REAL TOBACCO CHEW—CUT LONG SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

(Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.)

When the popular Oberammergauer Players appear at the Turner Theatre next Sunday evening, for the fourth time in this city, it will be in a new and decidedly humorous Bavarian production, "Mr. Jackson im Gebirg." The plot of the piece hinges on an American, Mr. Jackson, who has decided to spend his vacation in the Bavarian Mountains. Mr. Jackson is extremely choice in his selection of a place to stay, because it is his desire to witness at first hand the proverbial good natured rudeness, for which the Bavarians are renowned. Polikarp Lamperl, a guide full of wit and humor, leads Jackson to a farmer who possesses the desired characteristics in typical perfection. Between Jackson, who tries to speak German, and Polikarp, who is just as desirous of showing off his knowledge of English, so many comical situations are produced that the audience is kept in a continuous uproar.

As is the case with nearly all of these Bavarian plays there is also a serious side to "Mr. Jackson im Gebirg" and the plot is strong enough to hold the interest of the audience from beginning to end.

There are too, the usual number of songs, instrumental selections and, of course, the famous "Schuhplattler Dance."
