While shredding corn at his home in Swan Lake last Tuesday John Monson had the misfortune to get his hand in the shredder and thus sustained a severe injury to his thumb. Altho the digit was seriously damaged it is not necessary to have it amputated.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Mueller left last Wednesday for an extended trip to the West after spending a few days with friends in St. Peter. The Muellers expect to visit the expositions and will later to go the Hawaiian Islands. They will be gone several months.

As is usual when the Oberammergau Peasant players make their appearance in New Ulm, they found a full house, a house packed to the doors, with even some people turned away because they could not get seats. And as usual, the comedy given kept the crowd in royal good humor and the musical numbers were more appreciated than ever.

Edmund Buenger was seven years old Monday and his mother arranged a gathering of his little friends to help him celebrate the occasion. Judging by the sounds issuing from the Buenger home Monday afternoon, there was plenty of fun in progress.

W. B. Greig who underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Union Hospital about three weeks ago was able to sit up Monday for the first time. He had hoped to be home for Thanksgiving but it was not possible and he is now looking forward to being well enough to be taken home this week.

Antony Schiller, cashier of the Jordan State Bank, has recently resigned his position there to assume a similar position at Hopkins. The new position is in a larger institution and carries with it a correspondingly larger salary and Tony is to be congratulated on the advancement. The family moved to Hopkins this week.

Carleton College students did not come home for Thanksgiving. The College makes quite a celebration of the day and there is a big banquet at which the girls and boys appear in costumes of the early Puritans, and the affair takes practically all of Thanksgiving Day to pull off successfully, thus keeping the students fully employed. For this reason the students find it possible to get along without the home visit, especially with Christmas so near.

Leo Seifert who is taking Night Law in St. Paul came home for the Thanksgiving feast.

The Ernie Hagberg family ate their Thanksgiving turkey with the George Marti family.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Regelin attended the funeral of their nephew in Morton last Wednesday.

J. A. Kennedy who was taken to the Union Hospital last week Sunday had a sudden recovery when he was inadvertently told that the Gas Plant was on strike. When no one was looking Mr. Kennedy got out of bed and dressed and simply walked away from the Hospital without being seen by any of the attendants. However, he was not able to evade capture very long and the next day returned to the sanitarium where he spent the rest of the week. Thursday his recovery was assisted by the unexpected arrival of Mrs. Kennedy and their daughter, Alvina. Mr. Kennedy had not been expecting them for a few days and the pleasant surprise helped to hasten his recovery so that he was able to leave the Hospital Saturday. The family will move into the Pfander house on North Broadway just as soon as the Hage family are able to get into the Wagner house on North German Street.

Frank Berberich of Springfield was a New Ulm visitor Thursday.

Victor Schleuder spent Thanksgiving with friends in Worthington.
