A Civic Asset—A Civic Liability

The man who spends less than he earns is a civic asset, while he who spends his all may some day become a civic liability. The man who saves looks into the future with confidence, while he who spends faces the cold charity of his friends and relatives—or the poorhouse. The optimist is the man with a bank account and First Mortgage Loans, while the pessimist is a spendthrift. Which kind of man are you?

He was one of the big men of Mankato and had built up a large business. He always took an active interest in civic affairs and will be greatly missed among his fellow business men.

Arthur Janka has been a very busy man for the past two weeks getting his new Grocery Stock into place on the shelves in the Gebser Building on Minnesota Street. He is now ready to take care of a part of the heavy Christmas trade that keeps grocers hustling night and day. In another part of this issue Mr. Janka is making his announcement to the public.

The moving pictures of New Ulm put on at the Ruby Saturday and Sunday evening were something of a disappointment because a number of them were very indistinct. However they proved entertaining because of their local interest and a good crowd saw them both evenings.

At the Oyster Supper to be given by the members of the Men's Club of the Congregational Church Thursday evening for themselves and a few invited guests, Judge Olson will act as Toastmaster and among those who will respond are Prof. Hess, Rev. Hohn, W. B. Mather, Foster Fischer and Rev. Wheeler.

A steady procession of stock wagons loaded with hogs passed down Minnesota Street for the better part of the forenoon Wednesday. The buyers were Stuebe Bros. and the sellers were chiefly Courtland Township farmers who took home nice fat rolls of money in place of the nice fat porkers they brought to town.

At the present time there are more houses for rent in New Ulm than there have been in some time. However, they are being picked up rapidly and there are calls nearly every day for living rooms. If you have anything to rent better advertise it in the Review for it is never necessary to run the advertisement more than once before a renter is found.

Among those who attended the K. C. Initiation at Fairfax Sunday were J. J. Moriarity, Alb. J. Gag, Henry J. Berg, John and Athenas Henle, Wd. Eibner, Rev. The hearing was continued until after the Christmas spirit has had a chance to soften the hearts of men and the matter will come up again December 28th.

In speaking of the typhoid cases in the East End last week, the Review intentionally omitted the name of the person from whom the Macho and Preisinger families obtained their milk. It seems now that the article in question was read by some to mean that these families obtained their milk supply from Hogen's. In justice to Mr. Hogen the Review desires to inform its readers that Hogen is not now furnishing and has not in the past supplied the Macho and Preisinger families with milk.

C. J. Woodmansee of Bemidji has purchased the Ruby Theater from Mr. Leen and entered upon possession Monday evening. He plans to give his audiences the best that he can find and while he can not yet make any announcement of features to be shown in the immediate future he hopes before long to arrange for a service that will draw and hold a high class patronage.
