Mrs. Adele Schell of Los Angeles arrived in New Ulm Saturday evening to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Schwertfeger. They went on to Chicago and will come to New Ulm for a short visit some time soon. They made the trip from California by the southern route in order that the young people might visit with their relatives in New Mexico, and thus they came thru Columbus where the famous Villa raid occurred. The rebuilding of the hotel was going on to repair the damages done by the raiders and for miles could be seen the soldiers moving in detachments. The thermometer registered 105 degrees in the observation car at the time the train came thru El Paso, so it will be seen that the Mexicans have chosen a peculiarly ill-fitting time to invite our soldiery to visit them. E. Engelbert's and the last at the Thief River Falls home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schlumberger were most pleasantly and agreeably surprised at their Center Street home last Wednesday evening by about twenty members of the Hecker Circle and the G. A. R. This was in honor of the 52nd wedding anniversary of this estimable couple. This surprise had been planned for the golden wedding, but because of Mrs. Schlumberger's poor health at that time, the surprise was postponed until conditions would be more favorable and last Wednesday seemed the opportune time, for both Mr. and Mrs. Schlumberger are, for their age, enjoying excellent health. As a remembrance of this happy event the surprisers presented the jubilarians with a golden mantel clock. Mr. and Mrs. Schlumberger were among the earliest and most respected settlers of the Town of Cottonwood. During the Indian Massacre he took active part in the defense of New Ulm, and his wife, then Agatha Werner, assisted in taking care of the wounded and sick. Two years after the Indian Massacre they were married at Mankato and continued to reside in the Town of Cottonwood until 15 years ago when they came to New Ulm to spend their declining years in peace and comfort. Of the twelve children that were born to them, eleven are living and with forty grandchildren and four great grandchildren take a keen interest in the welfare and happiness of the jubilarians.
