

CAMBRIA.

A large crowd of young people enjoyed the charivari party for Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Evans, at the residence of his father, E. P. Evans, a week ago Friday night. The newly-weds were presented with a dining table. Refreshments were served.

Little Ruth Neitzel had her tonsils and adenoids removed at the Union Hospital at New Ulm Monday of last week.

Although there was a heavy shower early last Thursday morning, about seventy people from here attended the Sunday School picnic at Hermann's Park at New Ulm. Many went by autos and some on the train. Those on the train were met by the Cambria autos and taken to the park. The autos going were Hewitt's, Harbo's, Jones', Thomas', Hughes', Harris', Enoch Roberts', Evan Roberts', Peter E. Roberts', and Price's. They went to New Ulm together but they took different roads to return, some coming via Courtland and some past Schaefer's. The roads were good with the exception of a few mud holes and a couple of cars were stuck but succeeded in getting out without teams. The picnic was thoroughly enjoyed and as all had taken a good basket of "Eats" along, the table was well loaded. The keeper of the park and his wife were invited for supper. Many had never been at that park before and all thought it was a fine scenic place as a good view of the surrounding country and New Ulm could be had by ascending the monument. Some thought they could see Sleepy Eye in the distance.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Evans and son Merl were in Mankato last week.

Mrs. Henry Nichols underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Loretto Hospital at New Ulm last Wednesday morning and Mrs. Will C. Harris had an operation for the same ailment at the Union Hospital last Thursday morning. Both are getting along as well as can be expected.

Miss Ethel Glen has returned to her home at Tyler, Minn., accompanied by her sister's two children, Maurice and Vera Hunt.

The Literary Society met at Webster Davis' residence last Thursday evening. About sixty young people attended. Mrs. Davis served refreshments before they departed for their homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson of Colorado visited their relatives James A. Thomas and family, recently. They came in their automobile from Colorado.

Miss Ethel Rees who has been assisting her aunt Mrs. Espenson with her house work at Winthrop, has returned home for a few days.

The receipts of the bazaar and cafeteria supper, given under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of the Congregational church at Woodman Hall last Friday night, were over $70.00. They commenced to serve supper at 6 P. M. but the largest crowd did not arrive until 9 P. M. Several Italians then came and gave musical selections on stringed instruments which were much enjoyed. Those from a distance who attended were Mrs. John L. Evans and Miss Sadie Hughes of Lake Crystal; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Ottomeyer and children of New Ulm; Mrs. Chas. Barnum and two children and Miss Mary J. Harris and John L. Harris of Mankato, and Miss Jennie Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Will Hughes of Judson.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

Department Instructs Inspectors to Watch Interstate and Foreign Shipments for Fraudulent Remedies.

Officials of the department charged with the enforcement of the Food and Drugs Act expect that the outbreak of infantile paralysis will tempt unscrupulous persons to offer for sale so-called "cures" or remedies for this dread malady. They, therefore, have issued special instructions to the Food and Drug inspectors to be particularly alert for interstate shipments or importations of medicines the makers of which allege that they will cure or alleviate this disease, for which, at the present time, no medicinal cure is known. The officials also warn the public that any preparation put on the market and offered for sale as being effective for the treatment of infantile paralysis should be looked upon with extreme suspicion. Inspectors, accordingly, have been instructed to regard as suspicious and to collect samples of all medicines in interstate commerce for which such claims are made. Makers of such fraudulent remedies will be vigorously prosecuted whenever the evidence warrants action under the Sherley Amendment to the Food and Drugs Act. So-called remedies for infantile paralysis which are offered for import into the country will be denied entry.

The Food and Drugs officials are particularly watchful in this instance, because it has been noted in the past that whenever a serious epidemic exists unscrupulous dealers prey upon the fear or ignorance of the public by flooding the market with worthless, hastily prepared concoctions for which they assert curative properties which have no foundation whatever in fact. In the present instance inspectors already have discovered shipments of a few such mixtures.

The department will do everything it can under Federal law to protect that portion of the public which is extremely credulous in times of panic and which will grasp at anything which promises protection or relief. The sale of such products at this time, the officials point out, is particularly threatening to the public health because many persons, relying on the false statements of imposters, neglect to secure competent medical advice. As a result, not only is the safety of the patient endangered, but in the absence of proper sanitary precautions, the likelihood of contagion is greatly increased.

It must be understood, however, that the Federal Food and Drugs Act applies only to products which are shipped in interstate commerce, that is, from one State to another, or which are offered for import or export, or which are manufactured or sold within a Territory or the District of Columbia. Products which are made and consumed wholly within a single State are subject only to such State laws as may apply and are under the control only of State health officials. The Federal law does not apply, for instance, to patent medicines made within the State of New York and sold in New York City. Persons buying or using a "remedy" made in their own State, therefore, must rely on the protection accorded them by their local health authorities.

MADELIA MAN IN GREAT LUCK.

Arthur Lindsey, manager of the Madelia Ice company, is in a fair way to come into a nice fortune as the result of a chance deal nine years ago. He disclaims any particular acumen in making the deal at that time, regarding it as a favorable transaction only because it released him from a disagreeable situation.

The deal referred to was a trade in which he exchanged a livery barn he was conducting at Villard for a half section of land in Lake county, situated about 40 miles from Duluth. So anxious was he to dispose of the livery business that when the party who owned the land offered to trade it for the barn and stock, Mr. Lindsey never took the trouble to go and see what he was trading for.

Subsequently a man offered him $16 an acre for it and he was inclined to let it go at that figure, but before consenting to sell he went and looked it over. It looked pretty good as agricultural land and, not being in pressing need of money, he declined the offer and decided to hold it as a possible asset for the future. At no time did he regard the land as anything more than a farm.

Later various companies began prospecting through that part of the state in search of iron ore and presently it was discovered that there was iron ore on the Lindsey property. Then he bethought himself to look up the deed to see whether there was any exemption in it of any mineral rights. There were none, so he was secure in the possession of whatever mineral wealth might be disclosed upon the place.

A couple of months ago a mining man was down from Duluth and made him an offer of $26,000 for the land and $35,000 for the mineral right. This looked good to the owner of the land but he had been keeping in touch with the situation and had been informed by a friend of his who had owned a piece of land adjoining his that it was a matter of common report in that district that the Lindsey land had shown up the best of any in that neighborhood in the prospecting that had been done. So he decided to hold onto it for a while.

Mr. Lindsey has received notice that a big corporation is now in process of formation which will operate in a large way in mining in the district where his land is located and that when the incorporation is complete they will make him an adequate offer for his holdings there. So he has further reason for delaying negotiations for a sale.

Following an interview with an attorney in Minneapolis who makes a speciality of handling mineral lands, he decided that he might dispose of the land at a favorable price but he is satisfied that the mineral rights are much more valuable than any tender that has yet been made would indicate and he will reserve those rights until he gets an offer that he believes commensurate with their value.

Mr. Lindsey, however, prefers an adjustment on a royalty basis, and it will probably require a fat offer to cause him to let go of the mineral rights on a flat sale.

Every one who knows Mr. Lindsey will be pleased to learn of his bright prospects for securing this fine windfall. He is a hard-working man and this comes at a time in his life when it will be thoroughly appreciated. — Madelia News.

ESTABLISHES HEADQUARTERS AT NEW ULM.

A new political party has made its appearance in the northwest. It is called the "Non-Partisan league" and its object, as we have been informed, is for the purpose of giving the farmer a larger representation in the making of the country's laws. In South and North Dakotas the league is very active among the farmers. State headquarters for Minnesota have been established at St. Paul and headquarters have also been established at New Ulm. A representative of the league from the New Ulm branch is at present making a tour among the farmers of this county in an endeavor to interest them in becoming members of the "Non-Partisan League." — St. Peter Herald.

Dr. Jerome L. Fritsche and wife of Springfield visited with relatives in the city Sunday.

Sister Antonella of Elizabeth, N. J. is expected here to-day for a few weeks: visit with her mother, Mrs. Anton Kitzberger, Sr. and with her sister, Mrs. Tony Simmet.
