If you will tell me why everything has its day, and something better takes its place, I will tell you why the Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph is taking the place of talking machines. Come in and listen. When you hear an Edison you hear the original voice actually recreated, so that by closing your eyes it is easily possible to imagine the singer to be in the room. A Violin Recreation on the New Edison sounds exactly like the richest Violin—the Cello in turn is heard with its full, rich lower tones. The Talking Machine makes a violin record sound like a Chinese Fiddle, while it's impossible to distinguish the difference between the Violin and the Cello on any Talking Machine. Hear the Edison, then you'll know.
