Leo Brueske of Harris, Iowa, a well-to-do farmer of that place visited New Ulm last week on very important business. He is a bachelor and says farm life is the only life, but that "batching" is no good, and he hopes those days will soon be over. He was here several days.

If you will tell me why some men's voices sound more true than others, I will tell you why Edison Diamond Discs sound more true.

The only reason in the world why you should consider spending money for a thing of this kind is because of a natural desire on your part for good music—be careful, then, to see that your money is wisely spent for the best instrument, which alone is the Edison.

Some of us have only a few more years of life left—how few days we little know. An Edison Instrument will brighten those days and bring happiness and contentment into the home such as nothing else can. Would you let a small sum of money stand between you and all that enjoyment? It would be a pleasure to deliver an instrument to your home for a demonstration.

SERENADE THE "JUDGE"

Hofmeister's band Monday evening serenaded George Hogen at his home on South State street, in honor of his recent election by the city council, as justice of the peace. The band appeared at the Hogen home about 10 o'clock, and played three stirring selections: March, "First Battalion;" song, "In the Land of Love." March, "Barnum & Bailey." It happened that the Hogen family was away from home when the musicians arrived, but the new fledged justice arrived in time to do the honors to the band boys.
