A Friend in Need Is a Friend Indeed

When your boy or mine is in need in the horrors of "No Man's Land" how will you and I feel if we have not given all we could and done all we could for the Red Cross which must take our place at his side?

If my son or yours must go down to the shadows of death, shall we let him go alone, or shall we send to him thru the Red Cross a ministering angel of love and pity? If he must find pain and disease and death as he serves his country for you and me, shall we be able to sleep if we have not given all we could and more to the Red Cross to carry comfort to him? Let us then until we can no longer imagine a single soldier son suffering for lack of our assistance to the Red Cross.

JOHN H. FORSTER

An Ounce of Prevention Worth a Pound of Cure

The American Red Cross has given much time and effort to preparing sanitary conditions for American soldiers at and near the front, going on the belief that it is easier to prevent disease than to cure it.

Time and effort cost money and the sooner the money is forthcoming the more good it will do. A dollar given today to assist in preventing disease among soldiers in France will save many dollars later which would otherwise be needed to cure our soldiers of disease that might have been prevented.

A dollar or $5 or $25 or a $100 invested today in Red Cross funds is going to bring you far better returns than one invested next year. Think it over and make your investment quickly.

The Brown County Bank

New Ulm, Minn.

Wm. Hall spent Friday and Saturday in Mankato.

Miss Adelyn Vogtel went to Vesta Monday where she will visit with relatives until Thursday.

Mrs. Catherine Schroeck returned home Monday evening from a prolonged visit with her children in Minneapolis.

Mrs. Carrie Gerboth was at Sleepy Eye last week looking after her store property now occupied by H. C. Peterson. She will make quite a number of improvements on the property this year.

Mrs. Otto Wichtel returned Sunday from Minneapolis where she has been visiting with relatives.

It is time to build a bird bath on the lawn. Make it cat-proof and place it in sight of the house window if you enjoy watching birds.

Let your flowers do their bit this summer in the hospitals and at Red Cross sales. Many communities could raise Red Cross funds by flower, fruit, vegetable and other produce sales once in a while.
