TO GET NEW LICENSE YOU MUST PAY OLD TAX NOW

Auto Owners Must Show Registrations on 1921 Cars to Obtain 1922 Licenses.

New 1922 motor vehicle licenses, on sale January 3, Mike Holm, secretary of state, announced this week, can be issued lawfully on 1921 and older cars only after taxes are paid in full. The statement is intended to correct a common mistake that it was not necessary in 1921 to register cars not in use or temporarily out of repair.

"It is important for applicants to remember that the 1921 registration certificate, or a sworn statement in case it has been lost, must be sent in with the application for 1922 registration and license," said Secretary Holm. "Duplicate certificates can be had from this office by making a sworn statement of ownership and paying the 25 cent fee required by law."

Secretary Holm reports that registration of motor vehicles for 1921 is nearly ended but that lack of funds among some and lack of inclinations on the part of others is causing some delay.

Miss Elsie Kaiser returned to St. Paul, Friday, after a several days' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kaiser. Miss Kaiser is in training at the Jean Martin Brown Home in the Capital City.

HOME HEALTH CLUB

EDITED BY DAVID H. REEDER, LAPORTE, INDIANA

In the last two articles I have told you of how Smith and Jones caught cold and how they were cured. These cases are typical.

The causes described happen daily among your own friends, acquaintances and relatives. They may happen to you.

In describing the case of Brown and his family I give you a still more common cause of colds, sore throat, tonsillitis and enlarged tonsils, adenoids, etc.

All ailments of that kind are unnecessary and avoidable—the fault of ignorance. My mission is to teach.

When you know then, the fault will not be ignorance and if you suffer as a result of willful disobedience or violation of natural laws, you must suffer the consequence of your own folly.

If an equally ignorant bogymen comes along and cuts out your tonsils instead of compelling you to remove the cause of their enlargement, you can pay him a big fee and go on violating nature's laws until some other useful gland gets sick trying to fight your battles and it also is cut out. Knowledge and common sense, acted upon, will prevent colds, enlarged tonsils and surgery. Even after the tonsils are enlarged.

Let's go to Brown's home for breakfast. He reads all of the health food advertisements and we are first served with oranges, cut in half the night before and saturated with sugar. This is followed by a cereal breakfast food, cream and lots of sugar. Then comes Aunt Jane's pancakes, thickly buttered and sprinkled heavily with sugar.

Jam or marmalade is there for those who want it with their muffins, all the family take coffee with three and four lumps of sugar. Brown takes two cups and then lights his cigar.

A most royal breakfast without meat or eggs, as the health rules say, meat once a day only.

At noon luncheon is served. Dainty cakes, crackers, jams, jellies, sugared orange peel, sweet and spiced pickles, preserved fruits, sugar-coated nut meats, tea liberally sweetened so the children will drink all of it and eat the sugar from the bottom of the cup.

For supper, or, rather, dinner there will be roast pork with apple sauce, cream gravy, potatoes, creamed corn, a salad, bread, butter, jams, jellies, fruits and nuts, a rich pudding and coffee.

The trouble in Brown's family is too much sugar. All of the cereals, bread, cakes, puddings, muffins, etc., are made of starch. Potatoes also are starch. All of these must be converted into dextrin and grape-sugar before they can be digested. The entire system is already saturated with cane or beet sugar.

Now, the effect of highly-refined sugar is much the same as that of alcohol. The glands in the throat recognize it as a poison and the tonsils fight hard to keep it out.

A limited amount of sugar, or of alcohol, will do no particular damage, but used in excess, the brave little policemen of the throat, the tonsils, become inflamed. We call it sore throat or tonsillitis. Instead of stopping the cause, many people constantly suck at candy, cough tablets or various sugared lozenges.

To cure Brown and his children, stop all candy, sugar, jams, jellies and other foods made with sugar. Stop the tea and coffee and even the sugared organes.

For Brown himself, a complete fast of two or more days would be fine. Then he will relish wholesome food.

Raw fruits, raw and cooked vegetables, whole wheat-bread, nuts, milk and eggs should be the Browns' diet for the next three months.

Natural sweets, such as figs, dates, prunes and raisins, with a small amount of honey, are the only kinds of sweets that should be permitted.

Brown's family will not have another cold this winter and if he stops smoking, he will feel stronger and have more pep than he has shown for several years.

Home Health Club Notes.

Dear Doctor Reeder: My youngest child is 19 months old and not yet weaned. We cannot get good milk, sometimes none, is the reason I have continued to nurse her. What can I do to supply her with wholesome food? Mrs. J., Ala.

Answer: Nearly all of the standard brands of condensed or evaporated milk may be found on sale at your grocer's. Malted milk also is not difficult to obtain. Study the directions for preparing them carefully and at the same time send for the book on infant-feeding listed with the Home Health Club books, follow directions and your baby will thrive. It should be weaned now.

ANIMALS ARE STARS IN COMEDY PICTURE

Sennett Features His Trained Menagerie and Feathered Folks.

Mack Sennett's latest five-part comedy sensation, "Down on the Farm," released by United Artists (the "Big Four") will be the big feature at the Crystal Theatre tonight (Wednesday) and tomorrow.

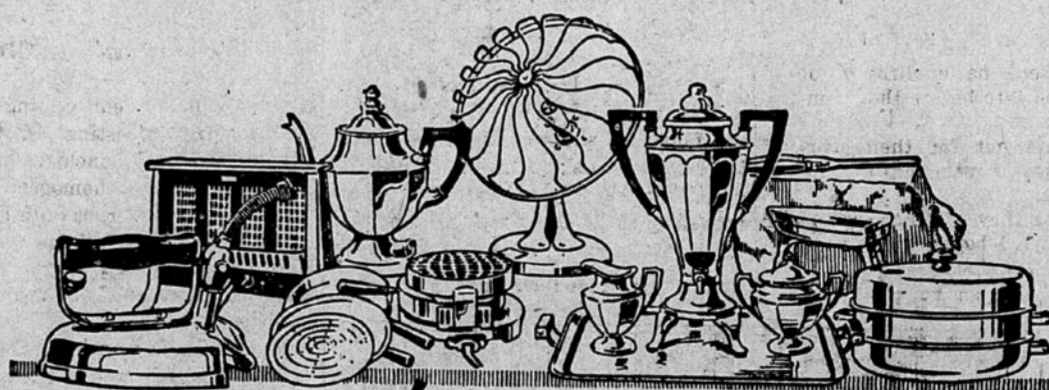

"Down on the Farm" represents Mack Sennett's genius as "comedy king" at its height. Through five reels he carries the beholder through alternating scenes of comedy, travesty, hilarious satire, serious drama and thrilling episodes, never permitting the action to languish an instant but keeping it up at a speed typically in "Sennett tempo."

The story relates the adventures in romance and finance of "a rusting corned beauty," namely, Louise Fazenda. The romance of her life is provided by the "hired help" whose fists are as big as his heart. Finance is brought to the plot by the village banker—a kind of a cross between Shylock and Don Juan or a mixture of Turk and "shark." The farm hand loves her for herself alone. The village house broker and homewrecker desires her for an inheritance, the existence of which he, for a while, alone knows. But Cupid gets up in the country with Chanticleer and starts on the job with the sun, so it happens, after five reels of excitement, hilarity bursts of laughter and thrills of suspense and love's labor isn't lost and that though the going away may be rough in the country for romance, the altar and the preacher await at the end of the lane to do their duty by the sturdy of heart.
