

OIL BURNERS ON C. N. W. RAILWAY

ENGINES FOR USE ON DAKOTA LINES ARE REBUILT FOR CHANGE IN FUEL.

INCREASE IN THE NUMBER OF CROSSING ACCIDENTS IS SERIOUS MENACE.

Oil burning engines are gradually replacing the coal burners along the lines of the Chicago, Northwestern Railway Co., according to information received here recently. Mr. Starr, of the local offices of the Northwestern, states that he does not expect the oil burners to be installed on the local lines, at least not for some time, because we are near enuf here to coal supplies to make coal the more economical as yet. West of Huron, however, the oil burners are replacing the coal burners rapidly as it is possible to bring the oil from Caspar, Wyoming, at a saving over the cost of transporting coal.

The cost of coal is one of the heaviest items in the expenditures of a railway company. The 1920 figures for the Northwestern Road are given at $17,000,000 for the coal alone, exclusive of the cost of hauling. In the use of oil there would be some saving of fuel cost provided the haul would not be too long.

Fireman's Duties Lighter.
The duties of a fireman would be lighter on an oil burner, and this would give him more time for observation of track conditions. Danger from automobile traffic is becoming greater every day and the people who sit behind the wheels of motor cars seem to grow more careless all the time. This makes it necessary for the engineer to keep a closer watch on the approaches to railroad crossings and sometimes it is impossible for him to see both sides of the track from his position in the cab. It has therefore become the fireman's duty to assist in this lookout work. The oil burner engine will assist by giving him more time for this work.

It is probable that the oil burners will be used more or less throughout the Dakotas. Most lines west of the Missouri River have already installed such equipment during the past five years and the Southwestern roads have used oil exclusively for a long time. Travelling on lines burning oil is much cleaner than on the smoky coal burners and the life of an engine is said to be longer where oil is used for fuel.

Auto Accidents Galore.
Speaking of auto accidents, Mr. Starr told the Review of a case in Iowa where a freight train engineer saw an auto driving pell-mell for a crossing which his train was nearing. He signalled them but on came the auto full speed. The freight train made the crossing first but the auto had such momentum that it plunged ahead and struck the freight train amidships of the fourth car back of the engine. The freight train was stopped to estimate the damage and assist the injured passengers of the car. No one had been killed but while the freight was still standing on the crossing, its crew surrounding the wrecked auto, a crash from the other side of the train startled everyone. Investigation showed that an auto had approached the crossing from the other side full speed and had crashed into the train. This time two people were killed. Mr. Starr says he does not know what sort of people it can be that are driving autos about the country when such accidents can happen.

A Local Happening.
One day last week, right here in town, a Standard Oil truck attempted to bump the 7:42 stub off the track but did not succeed. No one was hurt but the truck lost a wheel and the driver might easily have lost his life. Armin Heymann was driving the truck at the time. The accident happened near the Bingham elevator. A National Safety Campaign is to be waged by the railroads of the country from the first of June this summer to the first of September in the hope of decreasing the number of auto accidents at crossings.

ANOTHER RAID BY FEDERAL AGENTS

PROHIBITION MEN STAGE ANOTHER SURPRISE PARTY IN NEW ULM.

GATHER IN ONE MORE VICTIM OF THE EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT.

Federal agents who visited New Ulm a week ago Saturday played a "return engagement" the Tuesday evening following their first appearance. They evidently felt that they had made such success of their first performance here that it would pay to put on another show. On their second appearance, however, they made less stir than the first time and only took one New Ulm man into custody. This was Charles Lindmeyer, manager of the Commercial House, on First South Street. Mr. Lindmeyer was arrested and taken to the county jail.

Springfield Also Visited.
At the same time the Tuesday raid was going on in New Ulm, other federal agents were paying Springfield a visit. According to the "Springfield Advance," fifteen raiders drove into town armed with search warrants and as a result of the operations there three arrests were made. At Jos. Schneider's place the agents found and confiscated, according to reports, twelve quarts of "White Mule" and a bottle of liquor was discovered at the Paul Ahrens place, hidden behind the bar. Ahrens and his bar keep, Jos. Weller and Jos. Schneider were brought to New Ulm to be housed in the county jail.

Bound Over to Grand Jury.
The New Ulm parties taken in the first raid, Charles Manderfeld, Herman Kretsch, Robert Bartl, Jos. Fritz, Herbert McIvor and A. J. Groebner had a preliminary hearing Tuesday of last week and were bound over to the grand jury which meets in Mankato in October. They were released on $1000 bail each. Anton Henle whose place was raided but who was not present at the time was taken into custody later and he accompanied the others to Mankato on Tuesday and fared the same as they. Lindmeyer and the three men from Springfield had their hearing Friday and were likewise bound over to the Grand Jury.

It is said that other places were visited by the agents but nothing suspicious was found.

BASE BALL GETS "RIGHT OF WAY"

NO SUNDAY MATINEE AT THE TURNER HALL BOSS AT THE GAME.

WESTERN PLAY FOR REGULAR SUNDAY EVENING SHOW. COMEDY A SCREAM.

There is a wealth of romance, love and adventure, with daring feats of horsemanship and perilous escapades portrayed in "Fightin' Mad," our big super-special feature at Turner Theatre, next Sunday evening. This is a wonderful drama of the great out-of-doors, a two-gun, two-fisted romance of the lawless country, featuring William Desmond, as Bud McGraw, and Virginia Brown Faire, as Peggy Hughes, supported by an excellent cast. Critics say that the photography is very good and that it is a thrilling and humorous picture of good moral effect—one that every member of the family can see and enjoy.

Leaves Father's Ranch.
Bud McGraw, a cowboy, left his father's ranch in search of excitement and got more than he bargained for. He had become dissatisfied with the lonely life on the ranch, especially after his accidental meeting with pretty Peggy Hughes, when he restored her hat to her after it had blown from the train window. In search of excitement, he finally rode away from home, and landing in a village on the Mexican border, came in contact with a trio of border policemen, all three of whom decided individually to give him a thrashing.

Girl Kidnapped by Bandits.
After Bud had cleaned up the bunch, they became close pals. In the course of events, Peggy Hughes is kidnapped by a bandit gang, headed by one Verde, who happens to be a polished young gentleman who has been posing under the name of Lazaro, and moving in the best social set. Bud, who has been placed on the border police duty, with his pals rides out to rescue Peggy.

Jealous Woman Kills Villain.
After a fierce struggle between the two factions, the rescue is accomplished, and Verde is shot by Nita de Gamma, who is jealous of his attentions to Peggy. Bud wins Peggy for his bride and all ends as it started, happily. If you're looking for good comedy and plenty of thrills, don't miss "Fightin' Mad."

Critical Review.
"Fightin' Mad" is liable to be a favorite wherever Western productions are liked," says "Screen Opinions," the unbiased photoplay reviewing service. "There will be few, indeed, who will fail to enjoy Bud's run-in with Amos, Obadiah and Micah, resulting in a good licking for all three, and a comradeship worthy even of Dumas and his 'Three Musketeers.' The picture bubbles over with good humor until the more serious situation arrives in which the bandit, Verde, posing in polite society as Lazaro, a polished dandy, is discovered under his own colors. Then Bud, with his comrades, stages a thrilling chase over the mountains to rescue Peggy Hughes, Bud's sweetheart, who has been kidnapped by the bandit and his gang. There are plenty of thrills, and plenty of attractive outdoor settings to further please the spectator. The cast is a good one, with special honors going to William Desmond, Jack Richardson, William Dyer and Bert Lindley, who swore the oath of 'all for one and one for all.'"

Al. St. John Comedy.
Our comedy for next Sunday's program is a "scream," entitled "Aero-Nut," with Al. St. John in the stellar role. This comedian has a way of tickling those risorial muscles and can almost make a sphinx laugh. He is a guaranteed remedy for the blues, no matter how serious the affliction. If you want to laugh and forget your troubles, see Al. St. John in "Aero-Nut."

A Trip to Eskimo Land.
Many people were pleased with our special feature film, "It's a Great Life," last Sunday, and the title of next Sunday's feature is "Eskimotions Picture." It graphically depicts life among the inhabitants of the Frozen North.

Mouth Organ Solo.
Martin Willinger of this city will render a few mouth organ solos as our spotlight number, Sunday evening, and, besides, our Orchestra de Luxe will feature a pleasing musical program. Our music fits the pictures—that's why it "hits the spot."

Free Saturday Matinee.
Come on, Kiddies, and see the fine program of educational pictures which we have secured for our FREE Saturday matinee! We want you all to come and be our guests, that's the reason we throw our doors open to everybody without admission charge, every Saturday afternoon. Even the grownups enjoy these pictures, and they are as welcome as the Kiddies. Again we say: "Come and enjoy yourselves—everybody!"

No Sunday Matinee.
Yes, you guessed it! We are enthusiastic baseball fans and are holding our thumbs for New Ulm in the opening game of the diamond season at the Fair Grounds here next Sunday afternoon. Inasmuch as New Ulm business and professional men, as well as private citizens, have donated liberally to our baseball fund, we have decided to have NO SUNDAY MATINEE on those Sunday afternoons when our crack team plays on the home grounds. We want to help the good cause all we can and, therefore, our musicians have again accepted the invitation to play in the New Ulm Baseball Band, during the events on the local diamond.

Two Evening Shows.
Remember, there will be no matinee next Sunday, but we will have the regular evening performances at 7 and 9 o'clock in the evening. Go out to the Fair Grounds in the afternoon and enjoy the baseball game—then come and see our big picture program in the evening, making this "the end of a perfect day."

Yours for wholesome entertainment, Adv. Jay E. Gould.
