

GOULD PREPARES SUPER PROGRAM FOR CHRISTMAS

No Movie At Turner Hall Sunday But Three Shows Monday.

BILL INCLUDES SEVEN STELLER FEATURES

"A Rogue's Romance" Starring Valentino To Be Shown.

Merry Christmas, Good people, merry Christmas, one and all! We are preparing for you for a part of your Christmas pleasure one of the biggest and best entertainments ever given in New Ulm. And we are saving it up for Christmas Day. There will be no movie on Sunday at Turner Hall because we well know that that is a day when you will all be very busy at home, visiting with the returning members of your families and getting things ready for the Christmas tree and the big Christmas dinner as well as filling the stockings of young and old. So we will not expect you to attend the movie on Sunday but we will look for you Monday, Christmas Day, afternoon and evening, and we know you will not disappoint us for we have done everything we can to make the entertainment for that time a wonderful treat. Bring all the home-coming Christmas guests and enjoy the big feature picture as well as the specials which will be given. There will be three shows so everyone of you can find a convenient time to attend, 8 o'clock matinee, 7 and 9 in the evening.

The Opening Number.
The evening's entertainment will be opened with a special musical number by the Orchestra de Luxe. This will be the famous descriptive march, "The Battle of Gettysburg" by Paul. The bugle calls will be heard, answered by other buglers in the distance and the file and drum corps will be heard. The marching of the troops, the cannonading, and other sounds of the battle combine to produce an awe-inspiring piece of musical art. We are sure the audience will be thrilled and inspired by the beauty of the rendition of this wonderful descriptive selection.

The Sky Splitter
The next feature will be a new and original reel entitled the "Sky Splitter." There will be something different in a travel picture and an exceptionally good comedy.

Spot Light Numbers.
Instead of one specialty this time we are going to be more than generous and give you four. Waldemar Stelljes, recently returned from Wisconsin where he has been playing with an orchestra will give a Xylophone solo, Carl Pfander will offer an illustrated "Chalk Talk," Wilbur Fletcher will feature the popular song, "Homesick" and there will be a quartet, "Juanita" by Mesdames Alwin, Bell, Hein and Seeman.

The Big Picture.
Following all of these good things will come the big feature picture "A Rogue's Romance" in which Rodolph Valentino makes violent love to a girl of the Underworld. In this picture may be seen the famous, or infamous dance of the Paris Apache, of which we have all read in the Sunday supplements. Earle Williams also plays in the picture, a co-star with Valentino. Gay scenes of Paris night life with thrilling, hair-raising adventure and escapes.

The Story of the Play.
This is a story of the Paris Underworld where it rubs elbows with the aristocracies of France. Earle Williams plays the part of the misguided youth who with the face and form of a nobleman is still one of the most clever of the thieves of Paris until love for a beautiful rich girl transforms his impulses. Valentino is the villain, the Apache, the Underworld rat, who is jealous of the clever rascal who look and acts the part of a gentleman. The Apache and his girl partner stage one of the sensational dances so much talked of as attractions in the night life of Paris. The gentleman rascal gives the girl a large sum of money to express his appreciation of her art as a dancer and when the Apache demands that she turn the money to him there is trouble at once. On the quarrel that follows, the other events of the play hang. The Apache swears revenge and almost gets it. Would be successful, in fact, were it not for the beautiful rich girl who cannot believe the gentleman rascal really is bad. This is enough of the situation to permit you to guess the run of the story but you would have to do a lot of wild imagining to think up the various hair-breadth escapes of the hero.

Don't forget there will be no show Sunday and be sure to tell your friends about it and about the wonderful big program that we are doing to give the good people of New Ulm for Christmas Day. If you come too late for the first show, remember the comfortable club rooms of the Turner Hall are at your disposal. You will find pleasant seats and good company in the Dutch Room where you can spend a pleasant half hour while you wait for the second show to begin.

RED CROSS DRIVE IS SUCCESSFUL

More Than 200 Members Secured By Brown County Charter.

With more than 200 members on its rolls the East Brown County chapter of the American Red Cross is concluding its 1922 membership campaign. The records will be sent this week by C. A. Stolz, chairman, to division headquarters. Any who have not yet been approached and who would still like to join are asked to see Mr. Stolz at once.

"The drive for members has been more successful than last year not only in New Ulm but in neighboring communities," Mr. Stolz announced. "One of the most remarkable records was attained at the village of Hanska where Miss Amelia E. Dahl, secretary enrolled 53 members."

Half of all of the membership funds which have been secured by the East Brown county chapter will remain in its treasury and will be used to provide for cases of emergency relief, Mr. Stolz declared.

Ben Sturm won first place with 18 net games in the skat tournament held Monday evening at Turner Hall. Otto F. Oswald secured second place with 540 high points. Edward Werner secured third place with a club solo against five and fourth place went to S. Fiemer. Mr. Fiemer won the prize donated by The Bee Hive.
