Barton Takes Lead

In Match at Newport

course at the Newport Country club.
The totals were almost wholly in favor of Barton, which has some exceptionally good players and many that play well, having profited splendidly by their years of contact with the game. The day was perfect and every one had a good time. Of the ten matches played, Newport had but one their way, halved two, and Barton won seven.
Everybody is now looking forward to another match which it is hoped will be a three cornered affair with the Dufferin Heights Club competing with the two which played on Saturday.

The score:

Congress has passed the bee bill to check the importation of honey bees to prevent, if possible, the spread in this country a world-wide plague known as the Isle of Wight disease. Possible some congressman has got stung. They must have been afflicted with some of these diseased bees in their berets. Something's the matter with them.

If hobbed that is really to go out of style, it should be introduced gradually so that the idea and the hair will have time to grow.

Come to Caledonia Co. Fair —
St. Johnsbury is again more fortunate than some of its progressive neighbors. Chautauqua guarantors in Burlington have agreed to pay $15 each to make up this year's deficit. Bennington's per capita was $12.72, while St. Johnsbury's individual tax was $8.00, only—Only!

A Million Dollar Reward
A member of Congress has introduced a bill which, if passed, would authorize the national treasury to pay a million dollars to the man who discovers a permanent cure for any pneumonia, cancer, epilepsy, dementia praecox.

The bill can be passed without much danger of any very immediate raid on the public funds to make good the promise. Probably the offering of the reward would not result in much quickening of research work, for be it said to the glory of the medical profession, doctors are devoting their lives in efforts to stamp out disease now.

But if good fortune did attend long hours in the laboratory it would be fitting, indeed, if the success were to be accompanied by the conferring of a fortune. So fifty could well afford it; the discoverer would deserve it. The money would be the least of his gain, however, for he would go down in history as one of the greatest benefactors of the human race in all times. It ought to be possible for fortunes to be won other than in the market place. Compared with the man who could stamp out one of the enumerated diseases, what does the man who by clever manipulation of stocks and bonds achieve his millions, amount to?—St. Albans Messenger.

Vermont Turkeys in Texas
Vermont turkeys are famous the country over but the distinction of being the greatest turkey center in the world does not go to the east or west but to the south. More turkeys are raised and shipped from Cairo, Texas, than from any other city in the world. During the month of April and May thousands of dollars were returned to would-be-purchasers because Cairo turkey growers were unable to supply the demand for eggs. Each year a "Turkey Trot" is held in the city in which tens of thousands of turkeys trot through the streets in a parade. It is expected $750,000 worth of birds will be marketed this year.—Montpelier Argus.

Grout Issues Statement
On Campaign

merely fostering a political and personal antagonism.
"He further says that he is a candidate of all the voters of the City of Newport, so that, if his candidacy opens into an election, he will be the representative of the whole city and no can hold any kind of a "Club" over his head; that he was a candidate two years ago, and by a small margin, only was elected to stay at home, and is now a candidate only because he has been importuned by many voters of the city on both sides of that coat, including a goodly number of the organization known as the "Voters Club". It now appears that some members of this organization have endorsed a candidate of their own and have persuaded our mayor, already holding the best office of the city, to be their candidate.
"Notwithstanding, Mr. Grout says we will await the 12th of September, and see if the City will bestow its two best offices upon one man, for him to hold at one and the same time.
"Mr. Grout deeply appreciates the very generous support indicated by his nomination petition, and requests his many friends to keep on with the good work and urge all voters on the check list to be present on September 12, and register their preferences."

Lily White
"The Flour the Best Cooks Use"
Is Always Dependable

Light, tender biscuits, raised to just the proper height, browned over until they actually invite, are but ordinary products of this superfine flour. The color and the flavor are beyond comparison and the taste—delicious from the first bite to the last.

Reasons why you should use
Lily White
REASON No. 1
Absolute Uniform Granulation
Means Good Baking

LILY WHITE is milled by the six break system. By this extensive and complete process all inferior by-products of the wheat are carried away. Only the choicest portion of the wheat berry enters LILY WHITE. The finest imported bolting cloths are used. The granulation is absolutely uniform, which largely accounts for the excellent baking results obtained with it.
