Satisfactory Progress of the President.

Washington, July 14. Executive Mansion, 8:35 a. m.--The favorable symptoms in the President's condition continue. He passed a very comfortable night and this morning his pulse is 90 and temperature a little below 100. The doctors this morning express themselves as satisfied with the progress of the case. The wound has just been dressed and the dressing showed there had been a good discharge of pus from the draining pipe.

OFFICIAL BULLETINS.

Executive Mansion, 8:30 a. m.--The President has passed a comfortable night and continues to do well. Pulse, 90; temperature, 99; respiration, 22. (Signed) D. W. BLISS, J. K. BAIRD, J. J. WOODWARD, ROBT. REYBURN.

Executive Mansion, 1 p. m.--The progress of the President's case continues satisfactory. This morning the pulse was 91, temperature, 98.5; respiration, 22. Signed by the physicians.

Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., 7 p. m.--The feverish afternoon has been less pronounced and has not caused the President so much discomfort. His general condition is good, pulse, 98; temperature, 101; respiration, 25. Signed by the physicians.

THE SHADOWS DISAPPEAR.

There is a marked change in the scene about the Executive Mansion this morning compared with that which prevailed continuously since the President was wounded. Bright and cheerful expressions have taken place of the sad and mournful ones, and the hopeful statement made by the attending physicians relative to the ultimate recovery of the President has the effect of relieving the terrible anxiety which has been prevalent for nearly a fortnight.

We administered yesterday at 6 p. m. an emulsion of cod liver oil, which was promptly followed by a copious movement of normal consistency and color. At 7 p. m. his pulse was 100, temperature, 101.6; respiration, 24. To-day at 8:30 a. m., pulse, 90; temperature, 99.8; respiration, 22. At 1 p. m., pulse, 94; temperature, 98.5; respiration, 22. Signed by the physicians.

YESTERDAY'S MEDICAL TREATMENT.

Washington, D. C., July 14, Executive Mansion.--The following telegram was sent by the surgeons to consulting surgeons this evening:

Executive Mansion, 1 p. m.--Dr. Frank Hamilton and Dr. Agnew: The President has continued to progress favorably during the last 24 hours. The feverish rise yesterday evening was again less than on the previous day. He has taken since our last telegram 29 ounces of milk with an ounce of rum in divided doses, as heretofore, besides a small piece of milk toast. This morning at noon to-day he took a small sandwich of scraped raw beef with two teaspoonfuls of Vintine's beef juice and an ounce of Tokay wine of 1868. The medication has consisted of a single hypodermic injection of one-quarter grain of sulphate of morphia, given last night, and ten grains of bi-sulphate of quinia at 8 a. m. to-day.

STRONGEST TESTIMONY.

New York, July 14.--Telegrams Washington special from one of the President's attending physicians said this morning that if the afternoon fever could be checked the patient will be strong enough to hold Cabinet meeting in a fortnight. This is the strongest testimony in favor of recovery of the President that has yet been vouchsafed by his medical attendants.

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE JAPANESE EMPEROR.

The Japanese Minister handed the Secretary of State the following telegram from his government: Yoshida, Japanese Minister, Washington--His majesty was greatly rejoiced to receive your dispatch announcing the steady recovery of the President, and commands you to present his hearty congratulations. (Signed) *WOYENS, Acting Minister for Foreign Affairs, Tokio.

FROM THE FRENCH SOCIETIES OF NEW YORK.

The following was received to-day by Hon. J. B. Blaine: The United French Societies of the city of New York desire to present to the President and his family their profound sympathy and best wishes for his recovery on the occasion of their national holiday. (Signed) EUGENE LIBEEF, Pres.

King Kalakaua Wants to Sell Out.

New York, July 14.--The Times editorially says: It is an open secret that Kalakaua, King of the Hawaiian Islands, is on a voyage around the world for the purpose of selling his kingdom. We have a right to regard with some uneasiness the trading expedition of King Kalakaua. Virtually the United States has a mortgage upon the Sandwich Islands. That we have a monopoly of the trade of the islands, both as regards imports and exports, is well known. The government is independent of all other nations, it is true, and it is true that the government is nominally native, and that it is undesirable that the worthy gentleman who is King of Hawaii, and is King by virtue of his descent from the head chief who seized the government once upon a time, is merely a figure head, and that he is less of a ruler than constitutional kings usually are. The fireyest annexationists in the island are naturally American planters and traders. They fear to have their property interests transferred to the dominion of a European power. They long for the time when they will not be obliged, as now, to submit to the payment of an import duty on their own products imported into their own country. They argue that since nearly everything that the Hawaiian Island exports goes to United States, and nearly everything which is imported into the islands comes from the same republic, if annexation ever arrives it must take the islands to the United States. That this step would be denounced by foreign residents who are not American is also true, but in any event, although our government can't afford to promote any policy of annexation, other governments of the world should be notified that any attempt on their part to acquire the Sandwich Islands by purchase or otherwise would be regarded by the United States as an unfriendly act.

John W. Mackey.

New York, July 14.--The Sun says: John W. Mackey of Nevada sailed for Havre yesterday morning in the St. Laurent. He intends to remain in Europe until October and upon his return will make a trip through Mexico. His wife has made her home in Paris and the gorgoness of her entertainments is the talk of both continents. Her hard working and genial husband is known as one of the most liberal of men. It seems that the person who boasted so loudly that he would raise $250,000 in the twinkling of an eye as a gift to the President's wife thought it necessary to write Mackey for a contribution. Mackey received the note in this city Tuesday. He read it several times and said he was displeased with its tone. He thought the proper sense of politeness would have dictated to the writer to call on him in person. He knew of course that a large sum was expected of him. After deliberating he decided to do what he has seldom done in any case to refuse. He caused an answer to be written to the effect that the occasion did not require that he should contribute anything, but in the event of the President's death, a calamity which he sincerely hoped would not take place, he would be found in the front ranks with those giving substantial aid to the President's family.

Albany Advice.

Albany, July 14.--The Express, the organ of the stalwarts, in a long article setting forth the position of affairs says: "As enough Republicans to nominate and elect two United States Senators cannot be brought together in caucus the time has come for the Legislature to adjourn."

THE ASSEMBLY ADOPTED ADJOURNMENT RESOLUTIONS.

The Assembly adopted a resolution for final adjournment Saturday, the sixteenth inst., by a vote of 62 to 61.

UNDERCURRENT.

Both sections are firm and there are no new developments though there is an undercurrent of work which may break the deadlock in a manner little expected.

BALLOTING.

Albany, July 14.--On joint ballot for the short term Potter had 54, Lapham 70, Conkling 32, Woodford 1.

For the long term: Kernan 73, Chapman 2, Adams 2, Daniels 3, Wheeler 12, Fish 7, Evans 2, Bliss 1, Starin 1. Necessity to a choice 79.

Adjourned.

SO NEAR AND YET SO FAR.

The fact that Miller gained the vote of Bond and Stevens today giving him 93, lacking only six of election, made his friends anxious to take another ballot, but the stalwarts united with the Democrats and carried an adjournment.

Victoria Woodhull's Daughter.

New York, July 14.--The Sun, noticing the recent cable announcement of the intended marriage of Lord Corlin to Miss Gertrude Blood, says: "The lady here referred to is the daughter of Mrs. Victoria Woodhull Blood, formerly of this city, and editor of Woodhull and Claflin's weekly, well known for her advocacy of advanced theories of women's rights, and a candidate for President of the United States in the campaign of 1872. Miss Woodhull Blood was of Welch descent from Col. Blood."

Pension Office Reforms.

Washington, July 14.--Commissioner Wm. A. Dudley, commissioner of pensions, has recommended the discharge of over a hundred clerks, and a reduction in the pay of over sixty. General Dudley ascertained that the total annual appropriations subject to the payment of employees was $794,070; amount necessary to pay the force employed, $631,350; deficit, $162,720. In deciding upon changes for the good of the service, this is a great primary object.

Cablegrams.

ADDRESS OF SYMPATHY.

Paris, July 14.--The American colony in Paris held a meeting yesterday for the purpose of drawing up an address of sympathy with President Garfield. The address will remain here ten days for signatures.

DEMAND FOR RETURN OF RANSOM.

London, July 14.--A Berlin dispatch says that Bismarck made a demand upon the Porte to refund the ransom money recently paid to a Roumelian brigand for the release of a captive German.

ICY ARCTIC WINTER.

Accounts received from Spitzbergen say the Arctic winter was excessively severe, the ice not yet breaking up.

BRADLAUGH'S BACK UP.

Bradlaugh served a formal notice upon the Speaker and other officers of the Commons, protesting against his previous expulsion from the House as illegal and giving notice that before the third of August he will present himself at the table of the House, and that anyone endeavoring to prevent him will be committing an illegal act and he will resist physical force and endeavor to overcome it if offered.

ROWING ON THE THAMES.

The Thames challenge cup was won by the London crew; Thames crew, second; Cornell, third. The race was won by three lengths with a length between Thames and Cornell.

News from the Arctic Regions.

New York, July 14.--The Herald says: Reports by the whaler Thomas Pope seem to extinguish all hopes of the safety of the whalers Vigilant and Walston, but from the light it throws upon the Jeanette and her movements there is reason for renewed encouragement. When last seen, in September, 1879, she was not far from the two whalers. Upon the supposition that the Jeanette was then overcome by the power of ice and elements and compelled to abandon her northward advance, the probabilities are that she would have been carried as the whalers were, to the southwest of Herald Island and Wrangel Land. In this event, with her great resources for battling with the ice and for maintaining her crew if driven to the Siberian coast, we may anticipate the success of the Hooper's search party in finding traces of De Long between Cape North and Cape Yakon.

New Orleans' Future.

New Orleans, July 14.--There is a movement here for the organization of a chamber of commerce in view of the approaching new era in the relations of the city with the trade of the Pacific coast and Mexico. It is growing stronger daily. The Democrat says within twelve months New Orleans will have become the southeastern terminus of 2,400 miles of transcontinental railway. Just what the Southern Pacific will do for New Orleans, especially when the system of feeders from Mexico and the northwest shall have been completed it is almost bewildering to contemplate. The simple circumstance that it will furnish the shortest, cheapest and most direct communication between Asia and Western Europe, that it will form the principal channel through which the grain and cattle trade of America will be conducted, that it must become the vehicle of commerce between Mexico and the outside world, this of itself is enough to disclose for it a future brilliant beyond description.

Arthur off for New York.

Washington, July 14.--Vice-President Arthur called upon each member of the Cabinet this afternoon and informed them that he had pressing business requiring his attention in New York, but he did not mean to leave Washington unless the President's condition improved. He was advised to call at the White House to-night and ascertain for himself the President's condition. He did so and was met by the Cabinet. He had a short interview with Mrs. Garfield and a very pleasant one. The Surgeons informed him that they thought he could go away without any apprehension of any unfavorable turn in the President's case.

French National Fete.

New York, July 14.--The Herald's Paris special of the 13th says:--The national fete was brilliantly ushered in to-night. The streets are thronged and the whole city gay with flags. At about ten o'clock this evening a torchlight procession passed down the avenue de l'Opera. Upon reaching a certain point where the national colors of France and the United States were flying amiably together the procession halted and sang the "Marseillaise" with great spirit. An immense crowd joined in crying "Vive l'Amerique," "Vive la Republique."

AMERICAN FRENCH CELEBRATE.

New York, July 14.--The united French societies of this neighborhood are to-day celebrating the storming of the Bastille.

Nicholas Jackson's Narrow Escape.

Washington, July 14.--The Star prints a communication from Nicholas Jackson, of Annapolis, who witnessed the shooting of Garfield, and who was struck by a ball which penetrated the President's sleeve, but which having struck a medal suspended around his neck dropped into his shirt bosom, and is now in his possession. He left town immediately to prevent being detained as a witness and losing his salary and perhaps his place. He will surrender the bullet if assured it will be returned when the District Attorney has no more use for it.

THE ABOVE A CANARD.

Jackson is a harmless lunatic and a wag perpetrated a so-called joke in his name.

Bankrupt Steamship Company.

New York, July 14.--United States and Brazil Steamship Company, dissolved by the Supreme Court referee, reported the indebtedness $260,873. Cash on hand $257.

Rough on Roscoe.

New York, July 13.--The Post's leader, addressed "To whom it may concern" says: While fifty millions of Americans, north and south, east and west, Democrats and Republicans are anxiously watching and praying for the President's recovery there is a little band of politicians in this State with Conkling at the head of it who would see the President's death and the accession of one of Conkling's friends to power a chance for the retrieval of their political fortunes and who now block the election of Senators in their State from day to-day for the purpose of preserving that chance for Conkling.

Only Guiteau Knew His Intentions.

New York, July 14.--A Washington special to the Times says: Nothing that has been discovered since the shooting of the President, nothing in the conduct of Guiteau at the time or prior to his attempt on the President's life has furnished the slightest evidence that a single human being had any previous knowledge of the purpose of Guiteau. Nor has anything whatever been revealed that would justify a suspicion that the shot aimed at the President's life was the result of a conspiracy.

Red Hot.

AT CINCINNATI.

Cincinnati, July 13.--The heat was excessive all day and there was little sign of a break to-night. The highest was 102, and 27 deaths from sunstroke, mostly occurring in the street. Thirty dead bodies at the city undertakers for identification. The Board of Health will establish a temporary morgue.

Cincinnati, July 14.--Thermometer shows 91 at noon. The day was the coolest within the week. Eight cases of sunstroke reported up to noon--four of them fatal. Fifty-six burial permits issued, of which forty-two were for deaths by heat.

AT COLUMBUS.

Columbus, July 14.--Twenty sunstrokes here to-day.

AT BERLINGTON.

Burlington, Ia., July 14.--The heavy rain fall of Tuesday evening was followed by a driving rain this morning and a cloudy sky this p. m. Temperature Tuesday noon, 100; to-day, 85 to 90. An unknown man of advanced age was found dead to-day about two miles above the city. The coroner's verdict: "Death from exposure and old age."

Conkling's Movements.

New York, July 14.--The Tribune says of Conkling's departure for Washington: One politician said that Conkling was going because the President was incapacitated for filling the duties of his office under the constitution, and that it devolved upon Arthur to perform those duties, and the ex-Senator had gone to Washington to look after the matter. Another person said Conkling had been employed by Dorsey, Brady and Price, of the star route ring, to undertake their defense, and that he had gone to Washington to prepare himself for the undertaking.
