Arizona Bill Undertook to Run Crested Buttes.

And Marshal Hayes Shot Him Full of Holes.

A Den of Infamy Obliterated.

Pitkin, Col., Oct. 4.—During the past week several robberies have occurred at a low dance house kept by Chas. Briggs, a desperate character, formerly of Leadville. Saturday night a stranger named Kelly, a miner and prospector, was enticed into the place, robbed of $140 and terribly beaten. Sunday night about 9 o'clock, the citizens proceeded in a body to the den, and after notifying the inmates to leave, burned the building. Briggs fired a shot into the crowd and in the general melee which ensued he was shot twice through the body, probably fatally.

Ugly, Useless Utes.

Denver, October 4.—The morning papers contain interviews with J. J. Russell and Col. Merham, members of the Ute commission who arrived here yesterday. They verify the reports recently published that after the White River Utes had been taken to the new reservation and money paid them, large numbers of bucks immediately returned to the White River country and are there now hunting. They have recently formed a junction with some of the Uncompaghes who are en-route to Uintah, and the fighting portion of both branches are now wandering over their former resort. It is understood that when the Uncompaghes Utes have all reached Uintah and been paid the commissioners will report their work finished to the Interior department in order that a proclamation declaring the reservation open may be promulgated. An employe of the commission, who returned with Merham and Russell reports that the Indians are armed with Winchester repeating rifles, revolvers of most approved pattern, with plenty of ammunition, and plotting for a fight. The day before the money was paid one of the chiefs circulated a story among the Indians that the committee had offered them money only for the purpose of alluring them to the new reservation, and that they were not going to fulfill the promise. This story aroused the anger of the Indians, and there was evidently a scheme on foot to massacre the whole party, but the commissioners discovered it, and told Colorado it was false and that they would pay the money the next day, and through him induced the bucks to remain peaceful. The Indians had a great dislike to Means, on account of his being a Colorado man, and notified him to leave, which he did.

Arizona Bill Perforated.

Gunnison, Colorado, Oct. 3.—A special from Crested Buttes says that Arizona Bill was killed there on the evening of September 30 by Marshal Hayes. It appears that Bill, in the presence of Hayes, had made the boast that he could run the town. Hayes said that he could not. In the evening Arizona Bill—James A. Lewis—entered Hayes' saloon, which was full of men, and, swaggering through the room, repeated his boast of the afternoon. At this moment Hayes entered. It is said by some that immediately on seeing Hayes, Lewis made a grab for his pistol, and had half drawn the weapon before Hayes fired. Other reports fail to corroborate this statement. At all events, the Marshal pulled his pistol and fired five shots at Lewis in rapid succession, four of which took effect; the first in the breast, below the right lung, passing through the body; the second and third passed through the body, and the fourth lodged in the groin. The fifth shot, entirely missed Lewis, and struck John Lutz in the breast just above the right nipple, passing entirely through his body, and it is thought to be necessarily fatal.

Conkling and the Convention?

New York, Oct. 4.—The Telegram says in positive terms this evening it was stated by one of the President's confidential advisers that Mr. Conkling will not come to the city during the convention, but has postponed his visit till next week, when he will have some professional matters to attend to. This announcement was conveyed in a letter which reached here this morning. About forty delegates to the convention from remote sections arrived to-day. They announced that about one hundred more will reach here to-morrow. All the delegates, whether stalwarts or halfbreeds, scouted the idea of a bolt.

Washington Advice.
THE GRAND JURY TAKES UP THE GUITEAU CASE.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Witnesses in the Guiteau case were examined by the grand jury to-day.

HEARING TESTIMONY.

Washington, Oct. 4.—1 p. m.—The Grand Jury has been in session two hours, chiefly on the Guiteau case, hearing Surgeon-General Barnes, Dr. Lamb, Messrs. White W. Adams, Ticket Agent Park, of the depot office, Policeman Jarby, Detective McElfresh, and E. A. Bailey, the last two on Guiteau's confession. An indictment is expected this afternoon.

THE STAR ROUTE CASE.

Washington, October 4.—Owing to a rumor the counsel for the defendant in the Star Route cases would this morning make a motion to quash information filed against Brady and others. There was a large number of lawyers and others present in the Criminal Court rooms. Court having been called to order Brady and French, Turner and Brown entered the room accompanied by Counsel Robert G. Ingersoll, Jeremiah Wilson and Enoch Potter. The government is represented by Corkhill and Wm. Cook special assistant. The proceedings were opened by Totten, who said he had found a paper, called an information, which had been recently filed against Brady and others, and wished to enter a motion to quash that paper. He asked leave of the Court to file a motion and desired that a day be fixed for its argument. Cook objected to filing the motion at present, for when information had been filed it had been accompanied with an order of the Court for the appearance of the parties. Until they did appear a give security to answer they had no legal standing. Totten replied that the parties were all present in the court, ready to ask that their bonds should be fixed.

Judge Cox inquired whether counsel had any suggestions to offer as to the amount of bail.

Cook said that according to information the amount of which it was assumed the Government was defrauded was $350,000. According to Act of Congress the bail in cases of conspiracy to defraud the Government was fixed at $10,000. He would suggest, however, in order to cover possible costs, that their bail should be not less than $15,000 each.

Wilson suggested in fixing the amount of bail the Court ought to examine the pretended information in order to learn the character of the allegation against defendants. He instanced averments against Turner and French which consisted simply of charges of conspiracy, and making some calculations, and said on such documents bail of $15,000 or $10,000 or $5,000, was a little more than the Court ought to grant. What applied to these gentlemen applied to all the defendants. The whole argument of the case against Brady was that he didn't exercise sound and judicial discretion in the discharge of his duty as second Assistant Postmaster-General. There was nothing in the information that he could see could warrant the Court in fixing a high amount of bail.

Ingersoll who appears for Brown, contended that the court should only fix the bond at a high enough amount to secure the attendance of the defendants.

Cook said the question of the character of the information was not now before the court, but when it came to a question of evidence the government expected to produce adequate proof to sustain the information.

Judge Cox didn't think this was a case which would require any large bails. He would examine the information to-night and fix bail to-morrow. When bail was fixed he would determine on the day to hear the argument—probably it would be some day next week.

Totten's motion was then filed and the defendants discharged on their own personal recognizance.

President Arthur's Movements.

New York, October 3.—The President was so absorbed in finishing his private business that he did not drive out as he had intended, but confined himself to his study, in order that all preparations for his departure might be arranged by to-night. To-morrow evening he will take the train for Washington so that all speculations as to his connection with the State Convention will be set at rest. The President, to-morrow, will proceed directly from his residence to the Chesbros street ferry and take the Pennsylvania Railroad at Jersey, and will be escorted to the depot by the police and Commissioner French, only as he is desirous of leaving as quietly as possible. It is not likely he will return to the city after the extra session of the Senate, but will remain at the White House. It is rumored that an understanding between the President and ex-Senator Conkling in regard to the State Convention by which the latter should arrive in this city after his departure.

"God Save the Queen."

New York, October 4.—Thurlow Weed in this morning's Post suggests that as a token of national friendly feeling toward Queen Victoria and an acknowledgement of sympathy shown by England toward the late President, that the British flag be saluted with extraordinary honors at the Yorktown celebration. Let it be saluted by the assembled artillery of that field. Let the Queen be honored likewise and in the same Royal manner as if she were present. Let all the bands unite in "God save the Queen," and let the whole army, the whole multitude give cheers at the mention of her name and everywhere over the length and breadth of the land, wherever our flag is raised, let the national colors of Old England be twined with it in the joy that the mother and daughter nations are as one again. Let every orchestra on that night render the national airs of England, and let every organ on the Sunday which follows peal with the anthem which invokes blessings on the Queen.

Trans-Atlantic Cablegrams.
COMMENDABLE ENTERPRISE.

London, October 4.—A company is forming with three million pounds capital under the auspices of a member of the Royal family for the purpose of purchasing waste lands in Ireland to be reclaimed and let or sold to tenants on easy terms. The land league in Drogheda adopted resolutions urging the American government to interfere on behalf of "Suspects" who are American citizens.

MOORE'S MEMORIAL SERMON.
W. T. Moore, an American, preached a memorial sermon on the life and character of the late President Garfield in Lacon hall, Kensington, Sunday. The hall was crowded. Moore stated that he had known Garfield for twenty years.

TUNISIAN.

Amunition with an escort of three hundred Tunisians reached Ali Bey safely. In the third fight, September 29th, Ali Bey lost fifty-one men, killed and wounded. The Arabs finally retreated across the river Meliana. Thirteen hundred Tunisian deserters arrived at Tunis from Susa. They will be sent to reinforce Ali Bey.

ENGLISH LAND BILL.

The Pall Mall Gazette thinks the English land bill suggestive, and says if the draft is supported by a majority of the farmers throughout the country, and is vigorously used as a means of agitating for reform, the day when Parliament must vote urgency to the English people's Land Bill is not very far off.

THE CZAROWITZ STAKES.

Setting in the race for the Czarowitz Stakes was 9 to 2 against Foxhall, 8 to 1 against mistake. Geologist was scratched. P. McDonald, jockey, who won the Czarowitz two years ago, will ride Foxhall in the coming race.

Two Butchers Butcher Each Other.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 4.—Yesterday John Joyce and Jacob Henry, two butchers who were on a spree together, became involved in a difficulty on Holiday street in a saloon, and Henry fell Joyce to the floor with one blow. Joyce left the saloon and the affair was almost forgotten by the occupants of the saloon when, half an hour later, Joyce re-entered with a huge butcher-knife, with which he stabbed Henry in the left shoulder. The blade broke, leaving the larger portion in Henry's shoulder, while with the stub Joyce inflicted other wounds. The men in the saloon all fled, leaving Henry to battle for himself. He turned on his antagonist, floored him and pumelled him until nearly dead. His friends interfered and saved his life. The knife blade was imbedded in Henry's shoulder to the depth of three and a half inches. Joyce was lodged in jail. Henry's wounds are not fatal, but are considered dangerous.

Failure of a Heavy Corn Dealer.

Chicago, October 4.—There was almost a panic on 'Change to-day when it was noised about that John B. Lyon, who was reputed to be short about 8,000,000 bushels of corn, had suspended. Lyon has for years been the heaviest shipper of corn in this market, and sometimes almost the exclusive shipper. He was said to have been called for $1,000,000 margins last night after business hours, and to have failed to respond. This fact and the action of the board of directors, fixing the marginal price of corn at 62 cents, broke the backbone of the corn market, and all other grains sold down in sympathy.

At 11:30 prices were still weak and declining, and it was thought this fact might help Lyon to pull through.

The Reds in Arizona.

San Francisco, Oct. 4.—A Wilcox Arizona dispatch says the roadmaster just in on the train, reports seeing Indians moving towards Doogan mountains, and about four miles behind are troops pursuing, supposed to be Carroll's and Bernard's commands. Carroll has sent back word that the trail leads to Cochise's stronghold.

Sub-agent Hoag reports that seventy-four Chihualhuans are on the war-path, making about 150 hostiles out.

Chicago Post Office.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Postmaster Palmer's return of business of the Post Office of this city, for the quarter ending Sept. 30, shows the aggregate receipts of the office to be $400,012; expenses $84,410; net revenue to the department, $315,602; increase of business over corresponding quarter last year, $68,139, a gain of 26 per cent.

Telegraphic Paragraphs.

Chicago clearings yesterday were $32,000,000, the largest on record. Silver bars $1,124. Secretary Blaine left Augusta, Maine, yesterday, for Washington.

Senator Jones, of Nevada, and President Arthur left New York for Washington yesterday morning, by the limited express.

The Republican County Convention yesterday at Schoharie, N. Y., elected two anti-Conkling and one Conkling delegate to the State Convention.

Two small boys of LaGrande got hold of a revolver Monday morning and went out to shoot a cat. One of the boys fired, missed the cat and struck his companion, young Gilbert, in the abdomen. Upon consultation of three doctors assembled, they decided to probe for the bullet as soon as the patient had sufficiently recovered from the shock to undergo the operation. But more fortunate for the boy than the anxious doctors, the ball, it happens, had only hit a button on his pants and was found in his boot afterward, and the boy was more scared than hurt.

There was perhaps never a more extraordinary suicide than that of a police employe in the Prussian village Bohemolsen, who a few weeks ago drove a three-inch nail in his forehead with a certain rod. The surgeons had difficulty, with the exertion of their whole strength, in getting the nail out.

The Discovery of Silk and Satin.

The discovery of silk is attributed to one of the wives of the emperors of China, Hoang-ti, who reigned about 2000 years before the Christian era; and since that time a special spot has been allotted in the gardens of the Chinese royal palace to the cultivation of the mulberry tree and to the keeping of silk worms. Persian monks who came to Constantinople revealed to the Emperor Justinian the secret of the production of silk, and gave him some silk worms. From Greece the art passed into Italy at the end of the thirteenth century. When the popes left Rome to settle at Avignon, France, they introduced into that country the secret which had been kept by the Italians, and Louis IX established at Tours a manufactory of silk fabrics. Francis I founded the Lyons silk works, which to this day have kept the first rank. Henry II of France wore, at the wedding of his sister, the first pair of silk hose ever made.

The word "satin" which in the original was applied to all silk stuffs in general, has since the last century been used to designate only tissues which present a lustrous surface. The discovery of this particular brilliant stuff was accidental. Octavio Mai, a silk weaver, finding business very dull, and not knowing what to invent to give a new impulse to the trade, was one day pacing to and fro before his loom. Every time he passed the machine with no definite object in view, he pulled little threads from the warp and put them to his mouth which soon after he spat out. Later on he found the little ball of silk on the floor of his workshop, and was attracted by the brilliant appearance of the thread. He repeated the experiment, and by using certain mucilaginous preparations, succeeded in giving satin to the world.

The little German city of Klingenberg, in lower Franconia, not only imposes no municipal tax, but every voter receives an annual dividend from the city treasury of a sum ranging from $2.50 to $25. The city recently celebrated the Sedan anniversary by giving every citizen fifty cents, with fifty cents extra to every soldier of the war with France.

There is a remarkable coincidence in the deaths of three generations of the Garfield family. Thomas Garfield, the grandfather of the president, died suddenly while a young man, leaving a widow and a babe. That babe was Abram Garfield, who died as suddenly in 1833, leaving a widow and four young children, the baby being James Abraham Garfield, whose untimely death the nation mourns.
