Guiteau's Trial.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The criminal court was crowded this morning mostly with ladies mostly representing fashionable circles. Scoville stated that Guiteau desired to make a statement. No objection being made Guiteau read from manuscript substantially as follows: I propose to state all of the facts of the case to the court and jury and to do this I have been forced to interrupt the counsel and witnesses who were mistaken as to supposed facts. I meant no discourtesy to them or anyone and the fact is in my career bearing on the question, who fired the shot, the Deity or myself is of vital importance in the case and I propose for it to go to the jury so that my personal, political and theological record may be developed. I am glad your honor and the opposing counsel are disposed to give historical review to my life, and I ask the press and public to do likewise. All I want is absolute justice and I shall not permit any crooked work. I have no idea my counsel was crooked work. They are often mistaken on supposed facts and I shall have to correct them. Last spring certain newspapers in New York and Washington were bitterly denouncing the President for breaking up the Republican party and improper appointments. I would like those newspapers to reprint those editorials and see how they would look and sound. In attempting to remove the President, I only did what the papers said ought to be done. I want the newspapers and doctors (who actually killed the President) to share with me the odium of his death. I never would have shot him had not been commissioned by Deity to do the deed, but this fact does not relieve the newspapers. If he had been properly treated he would have been alive to-day. It has been published that I am in fear of death. It is false. I have always been a religious man, and an active worker for God. Some people think I am a murderer. The Lord does not, for he inspired the act as in the case of Abraham and a score of other persons in the Bible. The assassin was on Saturday last by a crank who has been condemned by the press. The eyes of the civilized world are watching and it behoves this court and metropolitan police to protect me at all hazards. I hereby warn all cranks of the law, to the degree, to keep away from me under penalty of instant death. I would have been shot dead Saturday but for the hearing of the horses. The horses shook the man so that he lost his aim, and I thought the man pursued him temporarily escaped. I waste my argument on cranks. All they can see in this case is a policeman's revolver. Again I say if you value their lives they must keep away from me. I want this court and jury to dispose of the case on the facts and law, and leave all responsibility about it to the verdict.

E. O. FOSS

Testified as to the scene at the depot and to the shooting. There were several sharp words passed between Scoville and the counsel for the prosecution during the questioning of this witness.

CHARLES H. BEED, of Chicago detailed several incidents in Guiteau's career as a lawyer at Chicago. The witness was prosecuting Attorney for twelve years and met Guiteau frequently but his relations with him were never intimate. It is false, I desire this court and jury to know how money which is due, but still always regarded him as a very earnest, sincere man, but unbalanced. He never saw any indications of violence; he always deemed him a harmless man until recently. Scoville then referred to his previous demands for certain printed newspaper slips which were taken from the prisoner at the time of his arrest. Colloquy then ensued between the counsel in which considerable feeling was shown upon both sides. Scoville protested against the course of the District Attorney in the matter, and the latter contemptuously retorted from his seat: "Oh, stuff, stuff."

The controversy was settled and Scoville called.

for the defense. The witness, did not respond, however.

Guiteau who seemed greatly excited, here broke in and shouted: "There is another matter I want to speak about. Right now I understand that my dear wife to be brought here as a trouble against me. If so there will be trouble. She was a poor unfortunate thing and I never should have married her, but if she comes in here to testify against me do any harm I will sign up her whole record. She was seduced in Philadelphia and had a child before I married her."

With great difficulty Scoville, after some time, quieted him.

Two other witnesses were called but failed to answer.

JOS. B. SMITH,

of Freeport, Ill., testified as to his acquaintance with Guiteau. The witness saw Guiteau here several times last spring. Frequent references were made during the conversations to the office Guiteau was expecting to have. The witness had told Guiteau that he had no show for the Paris Consularship, and he would help him get a clerkship on some minor position where there was little responsibility attaching, but Guiteau became very indignant and said, "You watch your papers for the next three or four days and you will see an announcement of my appointment to the Paris Consularship. The witness visited Guiteau a few days in the jail and asked him why he killed the President. The prisoner was lying down on his couch and arose excitedly and began a rambling speech, saying, "I didn't do it. The Lord did it. I was only a messenger. I was only a messenger and the President."

At times the prisoner would show great excitement, striking his fist against the wall with considerable violence, then he would relapse into a perfectly quiet state, speaking almost in a whisper. The witness received the impression that Guiteau was unsound in mind. Being pressed for a more direct answer he replied that he had no doubt of it. Upon cross-examination the witness stated that the last time he saw Guiteau was on the Tuesday evening before the assassination of the President. Guiteau took exception to the date and insisted that he did not see the witness for a month previous to July 1st. The witness was sure of the correctness of his statement as he went directly to Saratoga and heard there of the shooting of the President.

Guiteau then shouted, "I say it was the first of July. I don't forget anything with my brain. When anything gets in there it sticks." The witness resumed when Guiteau broke in again, contradicting him. He was cautioned to keep quiet, but retorted, "We are witnesses for the jury and nothing else. I claim my act was inspired by Deity. I stake my case on that position and I'll take my chances on the result." The prisoner continued to interrupt, making rambling remarks until Judge Cox quite sharply threatened to gag him if he did not keep quiet, but Guiteau still continued to interpose objections; but in a less objectionable manner and gradually subsided altogether.

The court impatient with the prisoner's constant interruptions. Court in a stern and determined manner, "if there's no other way of preventing these interruptions you will have to be gagged." "Well," began the prisoner, "Keep your mouth shut," thundered the judge, and did not interrupt me again during this trial. "I do not desire to go out if that is your intention, but if you are going to gag me, it will have to be done."

Even this threat, though it had a momentary effect on the prisoner, could not entirely repress him, and he again demanded the conversation as detailed by the witness, who was a very good fellow, "but wrong, wrong there. I am going to have facts in this case, he continued, and nothing but facts." I want the judge and jury to decide upon facts and nothing but facts. The witness is entirely erroneous in his memory."

Davidge—"Did Guiteau say you would see his name in the newspapers in a few days as Consul to Paris, or that he would make a fuss?" Answer—"He said, 'if I do not get it,' reflecting, 'I will find his exact language.'"

Prisoner, interrupting—"It's absolutely false. I never said any such thing. I was never asked to do with my intending to remove the President. I rest the defense entirely on the inspiration which came from the Deity for that accident and I will take my chances on the result. I do not want any more of your questions in this business and I will not have it."

Davidge, to witness—"Go on." Witness—"He said in connection with the administration, if he did not get the Paris Consularship, he would either make a fuss or he would do something about it in the newspapers."

Prisoner—"I never said anything of the kind, that is the result of your own imagination. It's not true. You are a good fellow and I think a good deal better of you than you are in your facts." After a pause, "I was not in the habit of telling my business in that kind of way to anybody."

Davidge further inquired about the prisoner appearing to defend criminal cases in agency. "The witness said he could not tell how many cases he had appeared in."

Prisoner—"That's another thing, I never had a criminal case in Chicago." Davidge called attention to the prisoner's statement of his partnership in Charles's second coming as much inspired at the New Testament. "I claimed it then."

Prisoner—"And I claim it now, just as much inspired as the Old Testament or new either."

Davidge to witness—"You said something of your translating the Greek Testament?" Witness—"I said Guiteau said he had seen something and had written in the Chicago Tribune and in the translation of the New Testament."

Prisoner—"That's true. I did say something of that kind." After recess Scoville asked for an attachment against Charles E. Storrs. He understood Storrs had been served with a subpoena, but positively refused to come. As there might be some doubt whether the subpoena had been actually served he would postpone his application for the present. The prisoner in this connection expressed a hope that Storrs would not be attached unless absolutely necessary because he was a very nice fellow.

M. M. AMERLING, A lawyer in Williamsport, Pennsylvania, who formerly lived in Freeport, Illinois, testified as the peculiarities of Guiteau. In the cross examination this witness was very amusing, he being rather prosy and desiring to explain his answers. Davidge questioned the witness searchingly in regard to the letter which his son, at his request had written to the present, to Mr. Oiler, making inquiries as to the strange action of J. W. Guiteau. The witness replied that he had told his son to write such letters, not out of any love for Chas. J. Guiteau but out respect for the present. "I loved J. W. Guiteau," said he dramatically "as I did my own brother."

as to threats. "Well," began the witness, "we had a lesson in Freeport and we had a debate on the question of National Bonds. I cannot fix the time."

Prisoner—"I have not been in Freeport for twenty years. It must have been when I was a boy." Witness—"I was not talking to you, sir."

Prisoner—"But I was talking to you." Witness—"You are not fit to talk to." Witness said at the debate there was Coffin and Guiteau on one side and himself and Dexter on the other. He said a good deal and wound up the debate by saying the old gentleman was best qualified to fill the position with an apron from his chin to his toes with a knife in his hand in a box of six cartridges. The whole court room was convulsed with the grave manner of the witness and evidently enjoyed the way in which he pitched into the old gentleman. The prisoner afterwards said the witness ought to have been killed for aggravating the old man. Guiteau's father, but that God had decreed otherwise. The witness told Guiteau's father of this and the father said not to mind what Guiteau said. This conversation took place in Chicago. Adjournd.

Only Ten Lashes. SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE:

Socorro, Nov. 25.—One of two foot-pads, who straggled into town to-day and made several bad breaks, such as holding up and robbing, was treated to-night to ten lashes on the bare back, by the order of a committee and ordered to leave immediately, which he did not hesitate upon doing. His partner escaped the officer by taking French leave of the matinee. Such persons will soon learn that Socorro is an unhealthy place to work in.

Foreign Affairs. LIBERALS GAIN A SEAT.

Cork, Nov. 25.—In the municipal election to-day the Land League candidate was elected over a Liberal. The Liberal gained one seat.

A STORM. London, Nov. 25.—A storm has been raging since Tuesday with terrific violence, at Stormy. The sea broke over and invaded the streets. Eight fishing boats have been destroyed. The Arlington Hotel, at Fort William, was flooded by the sea and three or four feet of gravel left in the rooms. The Pier is much damaged at Black Pool, and the sea swept through the windows into many houses and gardens. Down over the sea rushed down the streets, on a thoroughfare being under six feet of water. In Ireland the gale was very severe. At Port Adown the roofs of houses were carried across several streets. At Port Adown the roofs of houses were carried across several streets. At Port Adown the roofs of houses were carried across several streets.

BOYD AND HANLAN. London, November 25.—Oarsman Boyd has accepted the challenge of Hanlan to row a race over the Thames championship course for half a century. The championship and stake of from $25 to $1,000 is at stake.

Meeting of the New Stock Exchange. New York, Nov. 25.—The projectors of the new stock exchange held another meeting to-day at the office of Jay Gould and Company. The persons present included Gould, Russell Sage, C. P. Huntington, Sidney Dillon and others. W. H. Vanderbilt reported that they had decided to fix the price of shares in the new stock exchange at $3,000 each, although Gould favored a price of $10,000. He also said all the shares were already engaged, and that rooms in the United Bank Building, on Broadway and Wall street had been applied for as temporary quarters for the exchange until a building of its own was erected. A reporter learned that a committee had been appointed to negotiate with the owners of the land on which it is proposed to erect the new building. The ground is owned by the Manhattan Elevated Railway company. No permanent organization was effected, as two different charters have been offered for sale and the persons interested have not decided whether to buy out these or form a new company.

Charge Asked to be Given to the Jury. Chicago, Nov. 25.—The Tribune's Washington special says the counsel for the Government will ask the Judge to charge the jury, among other things, that the law as to the defense of insanity on criminal trials is as follows: "The prisoner at the time of committing an offense is in a state of mind as to know the act is unlawful, and morally wrong, he is responsible. The law does not recognize any form of insanity in which capacity the distinguishing right and wrong exists without the power of choosing between them. That species which is induced by passion, unless settled down into a state of total derangement, does not excuse the committer of crime to be acquitted on the ground of insanity. It is not enough that there be doubt as to the prisoner's sanity. His insanity must be established. To establish the defense of insanity it must be shown that the prisoner at the time of committing the crime was so far deprived of reason as to destroy consciousness of distinction between right and wrong."

A Cowboy Shot.

The Leader's special from Sidney, Nebraska says: Hank Coan, a cowboy fatally shot an unknown cowboy from Texas Thanksgiving night, while in a saloon. There is no provocation for the act known. It was cool and deliberate. Three wounds were produced. The victim will die and being insensible his name has not been learned. Coan escaped but is pursued by a large party.

A Letter from the Avengers' League. Chicago, November 25.—In reference to the act charged against Marshall Henry, yesterday, was received the following:

"DEAR SIR:—The last attempt on our friend Guiteau failed. My comrade missed his calculation a little. My effort comes next, and it cannot fail. My object in writing is this: We don't want to hurt any one but the miserable assassin, and we don't want to hurt a hair of any one else. Mr. Edelin and others must not display so much zeal in the future or they will get hurt. I had great difficulty in keeping my squad from shooting Edelin and his driver last Saturday as they were pursuing my comrade. Had they shot him, neither Edelin nor the driver nor any of the crowd would have reached the jail alive. A little less zeal on their part would be better for them. Don't bother that drunken farmer, he is not the man you want. Our man is in Ohio, Signed, your friend, Old Forty-Second Ohio. AVENGEURS' LEAGUE."

Railway Doings.

New York, Nov. 25.—The Atlantic & Pacific Railway, at a meeting of the directors held here, resolved on the construction of the most practicable of all the routes of that road situated between San Francisco and the Colorado River, to be prosecuted vigorously until the whole line from the Rio Grande to the Pacific were in perfect shape. The financial plan, previously approved by the A. & P. & S. F. Railway and the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad for the prosecution of this work and the resumption of work on the central division was approved and orders given to carry out the same. Purchases of rails and ties for the California division were reported and additional expenditures authorized. The location of sixty-three miles of the central division west from Vinita was approved and construction authorized.

Board of Health.

New York, Nov. 25.—Doctor Jones of the Board of Health says of the cholera and plague reported raging in parts of the Old World: "I do not think there is the least fear of any plague here. The National Board of Health has known for some time that cholera was raging in many places of Europe and Asia, and made arrangements with the health authorities of other nations to prevent the spread. What they will do about this disease, the Bubonic Plague, of middle ages, I do not know, but they will undoubtedly act as promptly as they have heretofore as soon as the nature of this plague is more definitely known."

Mrs. Lincoln Not in Want.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—So far from Mrs. Abraham Lincoln being short of funds as alleged in recent New York dispatches, her friends in Springfield say she has had an income of $8,000, arising from her pension of $3,000 in Government bonds and other private sources. Since she came back from Europe, a year and a half ago, she has saved $5,000 from her income.

Murdered by Negroes.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 25.—Thomas M. Lynch an old and respected citizen being missed from home, his sons found his body with his head crushed in, lying on the road and under a bridge near by. Two negroes were also found dividing the money and property taken from the murdered man. The negroes are in jail. The people are greatly incensed.

Rockwell in Charge.

Cleveland, November 25.—Mrs. Garfield has placed her late husband's literary estate in the hands of Col. Rockwell. Gen. Strain has been appointed his administrator's attorney. Mrs. Garfield is overwhelmed with the begging of letters, many of them are absolutely shameless and impertinent.

Strikers Threaten Violence.

Bellefonte, Ill., November 25.—There is a good deal of feeling here among the strikers who threaten violence to the workmen at the Birkler mine. This morning some fifty strikers with drawn revolvers, who menaced the work force, were dispersed by the police.

The Charn Felled.

Sumpter, S. C., Nov. 25.—Henry Johnson hung to-day for the murder of John Davis. The execution was private. He had made a full confession during the trial and says a conjurer had given him a charm to shoot Davis, win his wife and avoid the penalty. He says he succeeded in shooting the wife of the other charms failing him.

Robbery and Murder.

Thomasville, Ga., Nov. 25.—The wife and three year old daughter of Mr. Cline were murdered on Thanksgiving day and the house robbed during the absence of Mr. Cline. Cline is well to do farmer.

Burned.

Village Grove, Cal., November 25.—The Bonanza Enterprise office burned last night. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

Grand Jury Indicts Jones.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The Grand Jury indicted Jones for assault with intent to kill Guiteau. Go to the Oyster Bay Restaurant for a good square meal. Open day and night. 11-26-2t
