Guiteau Trial.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Guiteau came into the court this morning, apparently under some strong excitement.

COL. CHAS. REED took the seat by his side and whispered something to him. Guiteau striking the table violently began to expostulate saying:

"I won't do anything of the kind." At this point Scoville whispered some expostulation when Guiteau angrily said:

"I won't have you compromise my case by your foolish questions. You must get off my case if you can't stop compromising. I have no objection to a whispered consultation between the three mentioned seemed to result in pacifying the prisoner who looked up with a smile and said:

"I was going to make a speech but have changed my mind and won't do it."

He then busied himself opening his mail, remarking, "this is the first time I have opened my mail myself for some time."

DR. THEODORE DIAMOND, of Auburn, New York, who had been summoned for the defense and retained by the prosecution was called to the stand.

The witness believed, judging by the evidence which he had listened to, including that of the prisoner himself, and from the appearance and conduct of the prisoner that he is a sane man.

The hypothetical questions put to Dr. Wooster yesterday were then read to the witness and he replied, "I should say he was sane."

Scoville asked how old a physician ought to be before he could distinguish between a sane and an insane man.

The doctor said he was not old enough yet to do so.

Guiteau broke with a compliment to the witness, and called the attention of the audience to the fact that he was letting Scoville talk to-day.

"I opened my mail, this morning," he said, holding up twenty or more letters. "Pretty good mail, too, and only one crank letter in the whole lot. All from high-toned people, too. They are beginning to think better of me outside. High-toned ladies are sending for my autograph. They think I am a big man, but I don't care a snap whether I am a big man or a little man."

The prisoner busied himself reading his letters, and soon spoke again, saying:

"Well, I didn't notice this before. Ladies and gentlemen, I have just received a letter from Dr. Spitz. He says he received two hundred letters congratulating him on his testimony, and only two threatening ones. Pretty good showing, I think; when he came here for nothing and did not get a cent, while these fellows are handsomely paid by the Government. Here is another firm, Mr. Beatty."

Judge Cox—"Well, that will do, prisoner. We have not time to listen to the reading of your correspondence."

Guiteau—"All right, sir."

Recess.

After recess the witness was asked if he thought it would be any indications of insanity in a man of mature years, who honestly believed he was injured to kill the President of the United States, and who honestly believed that when they would not only excuse, but applaud his act, and replied:

"If he honestly believed that his will was dominated by conviction, it would be an indication of insanity."

Scoville—"It is not important, Doctor. I will ask you if you have ever devoted any attention to the subject, or believe in inspiration?"

Answer—"Well, not specially. Guiteau—"Well, Doctor, if God could inspire a man two thousand years ago, why could he not do so now? Is there anything different in human nature?"

Answer—"If the Lord did inspire anybody two thousand years ago, he can now, if he chooses."

Guiteau—"That's my idea. He not only can, but he did in this case."

Cross-examination proceeded without incident and without any interruption on the part of Guiteau. One proposition, based upon the incident of an up-lifted axe, so often alluded to on trial, was put to the witness, when Guiteau called out:

"The whole thing is based on falsehood. Scoville, there never was such an occurrence as you have stated, and as a consequence, his answer is wholly irrelevant."

During the greater part of the afternoon Guiteau was engaged writing an article for publication, and apparently paid little heed to the progress of the trial. At a quarter before three the witness was excused.

Guiteau immediately shouted:

"These experts may be all high-toned honorable men, but in my opinion they hang more men than doctors kill." Growing more and more excited, he declared for some minutes and said, "General Garfield would be alive today had it not been for the doctors. They completed what I begun. The Lord intended he should go and so he let the doctors kill him. He did not die before his time though."

Col. Corkhill desired adjournment but Scoville inquired, "where is your witness Shaw." I can dispose of him in a few minutes. Shaw was called and Guiteau shouted:

"Here is the man that told that lie. We have got your record, Shaw, from New Jersey, where the Judge from the bench said you ought to be in the penitentiary."

The witness was asked if he had not been indicted for perjury, and replied he had not.

Upon attempting to explain a stormy dialogue ensued, Guiteau shouting the witness was the most extraordinary liar in America.

The witness was finally permitted to explain. It arose through misapprehensions and he was acquitted by the jury.

Scoville gave notice to Shaw to defend his character, as he had four witnesses to produce whose testimony Shaw would want to meet.

Adjourned.

Washington Gossip.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Secretary Hunt issued the following circular to-day: In consequence of numerous and increasing applications for the discharge of enlisted men of the marine corps, made by senators and representatives in Congress and other departments, I feel constrained to say no such application can be favorably entertained in the present condition of the service unless applications be based upon such strong grounds as would entitle the applicant to be discharged on account of mental or bodily disability.

Complaints are received of much difficulty experienced in getting Indian Agency supplies transported. This is caused principally by the failure of contractors to perform their duty. A large quantity of supplies are reported frozen up in the rivers in the northwest with no probability of reaching their destination before spring. It is the intention of the Indian bureau of the United States to hold contractors to strict accountability for their neglect. The agencies are making loud calls for a voice in the matter.

The subject of tariff revision will probably be brought up before both the House and the Senate after recessing. The Morrill bill will be reported to the Senate and tariff reforms will antagonize it.

The Garland bill which was rejected by the finance committee has some supporters in the Senate who will make a determined fight on its behalf, but without any probability of success. Even all of the Democratic tariff reformers in the Senate do not approve of the Garland bill. Senator Harris, Beck and several others being composed of the entire members of Congress and after their holiday to keep the entire control of the subject in Congress and not trust the revision of any part to outsiders.

The Cortez Company Suit.

New York, Dec. 22.—In the suits of Segimund M. Thanhauser and August Thanhauser, both of California, against the Cortez Mining company, Judge Blatchford to-day, in the United States court, gave a decision granting motion for injunction to stay the proceeding at law on the condition that the Cortez company and its trustees file a stipulation agreeing that in equity suits the court may determine what amounts, if any, are due Thanhauser in respect to the company and its trustees. The suits are for $15,000 alleged to have been loaned to the Cortez company for working mines and for the purchase of mines in Lower California.

Guiteau's Insurance Policy.

Washington, Dec. 22.—A letter received from Reading, Pa., signed Bordene & Lessig, stating that arrangements have been made with several Berks county mutual aid associations, including the Reading County Mutual Aid Association of Vienna, to secure one hundred thousand dollars, on the life of Chas. J. Guiteau, and requesting his signature to the application which is enclosed. The application is for ten thousand dollars insurance in the Reading Mutual Aid Association of Pennsylvania, on the life maturity plan. The name and residence are filled out to Charles J. Guiteau, Washington, D. C. The beneficiary is arranged by Bordene, and his signature is followed by that of Calvin T. Lessig, security agent.

Active Search Ordered.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The Secretary of State received to-day the following dispatch from charged-off affairs at St. Petersburg, Dec. 22.—General Ignatieff, of the Russian government, has ordered active search for the 2d cutter, and will furnish all the funds necessary to St. Petersburg, and for subsequent needs. I have on my hands a long telegram from Melville, I understand some went through last night to the Navy Department. I will communicate with Melville through Ignatieff as regards a possible measure to find the 2d cutter. Signed, HOFFMANN.

Trial of Will Nance.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—The Times Meridian, Mississippi, special says, to-day began the trial of Will Nance, who was supposed to be in sympathy with the negro rioters at Marion, this county, and who on election day killed several people. The prosecution is proceeding upon the theory that there was a conspiracy to commit murder.

Small-pox and starvation.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Advices received at the Indian office this morning are that small-pox is rapidly spreading among the Indians in the belt of country extending from Montana to Idaho. Inspector Hayworth reports to the Indian office that the Kickapoo Indians in the Indian Territory are in a starving condition. The Indian office will relieve them as soon as possible.

Arrested for Raising.

Fred W. Newburg, assistant secretary of state and of the board of public works, was arrested for raising checks to the amount of $4,000. He confessed to that amount but large forgeries are suspected.

The Jeannette.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The following dispatch in correspondence of the State Department in relation to the Jeannette for the relief of the Jeannette has been furnished for publication: "Paris, Dec. 21.—Hon. F. Freisinger, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.—Immediately upon the receipt of the first news from St. Petersburg, correspondent about the Jeannette saying that six thousand roubles were needed, I transferred that sum by telegraph through Messrs. Kotschuld to General Ignatieff, at St. Petersburg, with the request to draw on me for any further sums required for the succor and comfort of Capt. DeLong and his party. I have to-day received the following telegram from General Ignatieff, and have assigned to communicate to your correspondent the news received from Yakouisk, and have given orders to the Government to take the most energetic measures for the rescue of the shipwrecked crews. Complete Ignatieff. (Signed.) I intend to see by this that everything possible is being done by the Russian government to secure the safety and speedy return of Capt. DeLong and his men. If you or the Secretary of the Navy have any suggestions, I shall do my utmost to act upon them. I intend a special correspondent to meet the party on its way here, and as it will be some days before he starts, perhaps you or the Secretary of the Navy might wish to take advantage of the opportunity and send dispatches forward by messenger, with relatives or friends of the party. My correspondent at St. Petersburg telegraphs me that the distance by wagon to the point where the crew now are, is four thousand miles, requiring for a single traveler, provided with proper outfit, at least a month. I also learn from St. Petersburg that the Emperor has personally given orders for all necessary clothing, provisions and money, and transportation to be put at the service of the Jeannette party, with the full assurance that everything possible will be done for their aid and comfort. Signed, JAMES GORDON BENNETT.

Opinions of the Press on the Committee.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The Post (Democrat), editorially says concerning Speaker Keifer's committee: Many of them are not only inconspicuous but criminally partisan, and particularly condemn him for placing only one straight out Democrat on the elections committee, and characterizes the way and means committee as simply brutishly protective, but otherwise without form. It says the appropriation committee is at least liberal and, as a whole, more intelligently devised than the others, but argues that the Democrats should have been given seven of its members instead of six. The Post also says that the strongest committees have been given to the East and that the pretense to fight for Keifer as a Western man was either a fraud or substantially fruits of his victory were barred away. The Post also says that the strongest committees have been given to the East and that the pretense to fight for Keifer as a Western man was either a fraud or substantially fruits of his victory were barred away. The Post also says that the strongest committees have been given to the East and that the pretense to fight for Keifer as a Western man was either a fraud or substantially fruits of his victory were barred away.

The National Republican says: Keifer has well performed his difficult task and counsels all persons who feel inclined to grant him the same courtesy in the speaker's place and see whether they could have done better.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—The Times' Washington special says the composition of the railroad and transportation committees will be smoothed with care. Already it is complained that they reflect on J. J. Gould, but this remains to be proven.

The Tribune editorially says the committee on commerce, awarded to Page of Colorado was where the speaker's mistake was made, as Mr. Page represents none of the new commercial interests. His district is not in any respect a commercial center, and although he is a gentleman of ability and position, he could have been assigned with more propriety to any one of the other committees. Mr. Townsend felt himself entitled to the committee of commerce. In this opinion he has wide support, but Mr. Page had performed such services in connection with the election of the speaker as to make it impossible to accommodate Townsend, and so this important committee has gone to the Pacific Coast.

"Bear up, the Market."

New York, Dec. 22.—About noon it became apparent that somebody was selling a great deal of stock and with this temper and extreme weakness in prices issued. It was seen to be a fact that could be in the way and means to create the "bear" market desired. The gentlemen who are operating known Gould's views, said to-day that the people who had been making the market had been warned of what would take place if they did not desist. They paid no attention to the warning and are now reaping the consequences, and the harvest is in a fair way to continue. There are conflicting reports in regard to the Union Pacific stock and it is believed the Vanderbilt people are large buyers of the stock, while Boston seems to be disposed to sell short. A considerable amount is believed to have been put out in stock. To-day a first attack has been made in Western Union and it is reported that a pool has been formed by Keene, Bolden, Bollen and others, to short the stock to the extent of 50,000 shares.

Omit no Effort.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The Secretary of the Navy received from Engineer Melville, under the date Inkutsk, Dec. 21, a cable message identical to that cabled from London last night to the New York Herald, to which the Secretary replied. Navy Department, Washington, Dec. 22.—Engineer Melville, Inkutsk, Omit no effort; spare no expense in securing the safety of the men in the second cutter. Let the sick and frozen and those already rescued have every attention, and as soon as practicable have them transported to a milder climate and the Department will supply all necessary funds. Signed, HUNT, Secretary.

Suicide.

Denver, Dec. 22.—John W. Davidson, a carpenter, committed suicide last night by taking poison. Cause, poverty and ill health. He leaves a wife and four children.

Chinese Minister and Wife.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The new Chinese Minister and members of the legation are expected to-morrow morning. The party is said to consist of twenty-eight persons, eleven of whom are servants. The wife of the minister is the first Chinese lady of rank who has visited the United States. The legation will live at the Arlington Hotel until their permanent quarters are ready. A parlor and suite of rooms, including a private and dining room, are being handsomely fitted up for the minister and wife. Separate quarters are prepared for the attaches of the legation and the servants of the party will occupy twenty rooms in all. They are expected to remain at the Arlington about a fortnight.

Owens Twenty Acres.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—John E. O. Evesley, a millionaire who was obliged to take and hold some Chicago property in spite of his protest some forty years ago and who became rich through the means, died yesterday. It is said that he owns twenty acres in the heart of the city.

Combat With Smugglers.

Dallas, Texas, Dec. 22.—A combat between twenty smugglers and the custom guards, assisted by the cavalry, occurred between Camargo and Merv, in Mexico. Lieut. Meha, commanding the cavalry, corporal, and one private were killed. The smugglers escaped with considerable booty into this State.

Not Matrimonially Inclined.

Bloomington, Ills., Dec. 22.—Senator David Davis is not about to wed his deceased wife's sister nor anybody else's sister.

Indicted.

New York, Dec. 22.—The grand jury indicted J. Howard Welles for sending Jay Gould blackmailing letters.

A Denver business card, with the following enthusiastic lines from the log pencil of some one who had evidently blown in all his money, except just enough to get drunk with, was picked up in one of the lumber yards yesterday: "Dec. 21st, 1881.—In Las Vegas, Hungry, and nothing to eat, and no work to get any. Busted. By—martin Johns.—the place anywhere. How, I'm going east."

Chas. Wright, who arrived in the city last Saturday night, and immediately commenced to establish a wholesale grocery store, has mysteriously disappeared. As he had a considerable amount of money on his person, it is a question whether he skipped the town or was waylaid and robbed.

The Atlantic express was over five hours late yesterday. The delay was caused by the Southern Pacific express being two and a-half hours late, and by a large rock which fell down on the track just beyond Glorieta. The rock had to be blasted before it could be removed, and caused considerable trouble.

The family of a cousin of Rev. J. E. Cohenour, living in Illinois, are being stricken down by typhoid fever. The mother, oldest daughter and two sons have died in the past four weeks, and the rest of the children, three in number, are lying at the point of death. The father alone remains to watch them depart one by one.
