four months, when my husband became impatient because I grew worse instead of better, and in speaking to the druggist he advised him to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. How I wish I had taken that at first; it would have saved me weeks of suffering. It took three long months to restore me, but it is a happy relief, and we are both most grateful to you. Your Compound has brought joy to our home and health to me."— Mrs. PAULINE JUDSON, 47 Hoyt Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. —

It would seem by this statement that women would save time and much sickness if they would get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and also write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free and always helps.

FREE KIDNEY AND BLADDER CURE.

Mailed to all Sufferers from Disorders of the Kidneys and Bladder, Bright's Disease, Rheumatism, Gravel, Pain in the Back, Dropsy, etc.

The following letter from Hon. I.A. Hopkins, Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kan., tells how Alkavis cured after he made up his mind that he had but a short time to live.

Gentlemen: —I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the chape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me. I made up my mind that I had only a short time to live. I sent to you for three bottles of Alkavis; began to take it, and before I had taken it one week began to get better. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone and I am in good health now. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use.

Gratefully yours. I.A. HOPKINS."

Mrs. Ida A. Francis, of Mooresville, Ind., writes:
"She had been bothered with Kidney and Bladder Trouble ever since she was six years old; did not get any rest day or night, and had to be up fifteen times a night at times. Was also troubled with Rheumatism, Female Complaint and Irregular Menses, also symptoms of Dropsy. Tried many physicians but received little benefit. Two years ago took Alkavis and was completely cured and states she will answer any letter that comes to hand concerning the wonderful medicine." Mrs. Mary Fox, Seymour, Iowa: Miss Viola Dearing, Petersburg, Ind.; Mrs. Jas. Young, Keut. Ohio; and many other ladies join in testifying to the wonderful curative powers of Alkavis in various forms of Kidney and allied diseases, and in other disorders peculiar to womanhood.

Stock Judging at the lows College.

A communication from the Iowa Agricultural College says: That the practical man is beginning to appreciate the value of an agricultural education and the work of the agricultural college was never better demonstrated than it was during the present month at the Iowa Agricultural College. During the two weeks from January 6th to 18th over four hundred people, representing almost every county in Iowa and all the surrounding states, attended the special short course in stock and grain judging. They constituted a remarkable class. Men of all ages were present. Graduates of Chicago, Illinois, Yale, Minnesota and Iowa universities, Kansas and North Dakota agricultural colleges and several of the denominational colleges worked earnestly with the man who had no other education than that acquired in the rural school and that most expensive institution, the school of experience. A most faithful lot they were, always on the alert to learn something. In addition to the regular corps of instruction the following well-known authorities were present and aided very materially the nature of the work done: Prof. P. G. Holden, Pekin Ill., formerly professor of agronomy, University of Illinois, on grain judging; Alex. Galbraith, Janesville, Wis., on heavy horses; Wm. Dobson, Marion, Ia., on light horses; John Gosling, Kansas City, Mo., and Wm. Wynes and Emil Ingwersen, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, on beef cattle; Hon. A. J. Lovejoy, Roscoe, Ill., and Geo. Heyl, Washington, Ill., on swine. Three days were devoted each to the judging of horses, cattle, sheep and swine. Excellent material was provided throughout for the class work. The college herds of cattle and sheep furnished abundance of good stock for that work, while in addition to the college swine herds many breeders sent in excellent animals. It was in the

Prof. E. S. Goff in a communication to the Wisconsin Horticulturist, says: 'We Wisconsin people have been very free to denounce the Ben Davis apple because of its lack of good quality, and yet what would we have done this season without the Ben Davis? Probably three-fourths of the apples that have came to the Madison market since November have been of this variety; and only this variety has been sold at a price that a poor man could afford to pay. And with the exception of a very few apples of other varieties that have sold at the rate of above seven dollars per barrel, I have been able to find no apples good of their kind except the stigmatized Ben Davis. There is an old proverb-"Speak well of the bridge that carries you safely over"-that will apply pretty well here. Whatever may be said against the Ben Davis it "gets there," and we can have apples when, except for it, most of us would have had to do without. Driven by poverty to accept this fourth-rate apple, I have made its acquaintance better than ever before, and must confess that my contempt for it has not increased with familiarity. At its best, its quality will hold its own with most northwestern apples. It is fine-grained, tender when ripe, and what flavor it has is appleish. It lacks juice, which may be the secret of its good keeping. Its skin is thinner than in some other varieties that rank much higher as dessert apples. It is not much given to scab-and has that prime requisite of success, good looks. Of course the Ben Davis is not a Wisconsin apple, either by birth or adoption, and it never can be, but until we can offer something better, why should we condemn Treatment for Cabbage Root Maggots. In 1880 A. J. Cook began to experiment with carbon bisulphide as a remedy for the root maggots of cabbages. His success was such that he soon began to recommend it for general use. Whether it succeeds or not depends very largely on the character of the soil. Sometimes the remedy is applied too late to be of much, if any, use. A man must know how to apply the chemical. The point is not to get the liquid on the plant, but only the gas arising from the liquid. This gas is produced in great quantities, as the liquid volatizes rapidly. No amount of this vapor will harm the roots of the plant, at least no amount that is likely to work its way through the soil. This gas is deadly to the maggots. In some cases reports of failures have come due to the remedy being applied only after the plants have become badly wilted on account of the attacks of these insects. In such cases the death of the plants is due to the maggots and not to the bisulphide as some may suppose. Mr. M. V. Slingerland of the Cornell Experiment station investigated the subject in 1894 and his experiments demonstrated that when properly applied the substance was sure death to the in-

A Revolutionary Age.

Soulless corporations, heartless coquettes, conscienceless rascals of various sorts we have had with us now these many years, and it looks very much now as if a kind of Providence was about to even things up a little by providing us with such useful contrivances as wireless telegraphy, heatless light, smokeless powder, boneless shad and seedless oranges. If some genius would rise up now and give us a breed of biteless dogs and stingless mosquitoes, together with some loseless umbrellas and spendless cash, we shall all be happy and content. -Leslie's Weekly Boost for Woman's Rights.

Woman's rights got a big boost out in Montana the other day, when a judge declared that it didn't matter whether a wife was earning more money than her hust and or not-when she demanded divorce she was to get allmony just the same. The only trouble was that the julge added that it served a man right, anyway, for getting married. And yet they talk about woman's being illogical! The most strenuous suffragists would never say that anything served a man right for getting married: neither would she assert woman's "right" both to her own earnings and to the support of her divorced husband. . If the woman in this particular case made such demands, some male lawyer put her up to it .- New York Evening Sun.

Men of Affairs

One may sail the seas and visit every land and everywhere will find, that men of affairs, who are well informed, have neither the time nor the inclination, whether on pleasure bent or business, to use those medicines which cause excessive purgation and then leave the internal organs in a constipated condition. Syrup of Figs is not built on those lines. - It acts naturally, acts effectively, cleanses, sweetens and strengthens the internal organs and leaves them in a healthy condition.

If in need of a laxative remedy the most excellent is Syrup of Figs, but when anything more than a laxative is required the safe and scientific plan is to consult a competent physician and not to resort to those medicines which claim to cure all manner of diseases. The California Fig Syrup Co. was the first to manufacture a laxative remedy which would give satisfaction to all; a laxative which physicians could sanction and one friend recommend to another; so that today its sales probably exceed all other laxatives combined. In some places considerable quantities of old-time cathartics and modern imitations are still sold, but with the general diffusion of knowledge, as to the best medicinal agents, Syrup of Figs has come into general use with the well-informed, because it is a remedy of known value

The quality of Syrup of Figs is due not only to the excellent combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants, known to act most beneficially on the system, with agreeable and refreshing aromatic liquids, but also to the orginal method of manufacture.
