OPEN GAMBLING continues to exist in Virginia, despite the state law, the city ordinance and the Minneapolis investigation.

THE candidacy of Judge Edson apparently receives the hearty endorsement of Duluth Republicans, who will work as a united whole for his nomination and election.

THE positive refusal of John Lind to accept of the proffered nomination for governor left the Democrats with a forlorn hope, but the vacuum was filled by the nomination of L. A. Rosing.

In the proposed line-up of Republican candidates for county positions the Duluth contingent has apparently figured things to a fineness, and the ranges will probably fare equally as well this year as in past elections. Even under the new primary law the politicians have much to say as to whom shall be honored by nominations, but it has been feelingly suggested by many range Republicans that the people still elect.

J. ADAM BEDE's self-framed free-trade platform, calling for the removal of the protective tariff from iron ore and lumber, may have been intended by the brilliant aspirant for congressional honors to assist him in his campaign. It may have a salutary effect in quieting Democratic opposition, but we scarce believe it will meet with Republican approval in the mining and lumbering districts. J. Adam may be able to explain wherein the Democratic policy of a tariff for revenue only may benefit the interests of this district, but his explanation must deal in argument instead of that particular brand of humor so generally accredited as his natural style of defense.

THE Ely Miner intimates that the ranges may come in line for a successor to Odin Halden's present position as county auditor, and infers that of course the Mesaba will have numerous aspirants. Allay your fears, Peter; the Mesaba has but one prospective candidate for a county office—which we do not consider an undue recognition. That candidate will be Hon. M. C. Palmer, of this city, who considers the proposition of entering the contest for clerk of the court, a position for which he is well qualified. And we naturally feel that the Vermilion would be entitled, in case he enters the race, to lend him hearty support. In that case, a Vermilion candidate for the auditorship would doubtless receive due recognition and deserved support in this section.
