WORK on the eleventh census will be completed and the matter turned over to the secretary of the interior by December 31, 1902. The tenth census cost, in round numbers, about $3,000,000, and the present one will cost $5,000,000, the increase being largely due to the enlarged scope of work.

MRS. BERNHARDT met with a very hostile reception in Ottawa the other night. While she was going to the theater in her carriage she was attacked by an anti-Semitic mob and showered with stones and missiles.

An eminent authority has it that the death rate of the world is calculated to be 67 per cent, 4,600 per hour, 95,720 per day, while the rate of births, slightly exceeding the death rate, is calculated to be 70 per cent, 4,100 per hour, 100,800 per day, 2,419,200 per week. The estimated increase per annum is therefore a little over 1,500,000.

The bronze statue of ex-President Chester A. Arthur, by Epinau Kager, which has been in course of execution for the last four months, is now completed and is on exhibition in New York city. The height of the statue is 15 feet, 3 inches, and the weight, 1,800 pounds. It has a weight of 150 pounds with the exception of the plinth.

The telephone has been put to a new use in San Leandro, Cal. A man of intelligence, who is afflicted with leprosy, was isolated in a cabin away from the hospital. A kind-hearted gentleman of the town had a telephone put to the cabin and connected with the reading room of the hospital, thus enabling the leper to talk with, if he might not visit or be visited, by people of the outside world.

In Mexico you can hire a street-car and ride all over the town in it a whole day by yourself for $3.50, and you can stop at any one place for two hours without extra charge. Not only that, your friends can hire a whole train of these street-cars for your funeral at low rates. There is no other city in the world where you can have such a big funeral with a great deal of show for so little money as in the City of Mexico.

PRESIDENT HARRISON has issued a proclamation granting amnesty to all Mormons guilty of polygamous practices, but who have abandoned the same and shall continue to obey the law against this crime. This action is taken in consideration of a decree by the church against polygamous marriages, and the assurance of the church authorities that the laws will be faithfully observed. Such amnesty has heretofore been granted in individual cases, says the Chicago Journal, and it is wise to make it general. Any violation of the law will be rigorously punished.

In 1880 there were 25,000 convicts in prisons and on ticket of leave in England, says the Boston Transcript, but now there are less than 12,000. This reduction, it is asserted, has been accomplished by shipment of criminals to this country, which are carried on through discharged prisoners' aid societies that purchase tickets and outfits for those to be deported, the government paying the expense. It is further stated that judges often suspend sentence on condition that the person convicted shall go at once to the United States. Here is a subject for the investigation of our government.

Said James Whitcomb Riley to a group of reporters: "I wish you newspaper men wouldn't be quite so careless in your remarks about my looks. I was served with a notice several years ago that I wasn't very handsome, but the reporters take a kind of delight in reminding me of it. It seems to me that you might at least be as considerate as the old auntie who went to the menagerie and saw the hippopotamus. She was staggered for a moment, but her breeding got the better of her impulses. She didn't want to see the animal was ugly, so she turned to her friend, exclaiming: 'Sakes a massy, but ain't the plain!'"

STORIES of the finding of gold fields in the far west are numerous just now. The last of the Teton range of mountains in western Arizona, which are said to conceal mines or placers so rich in the precious metal that the Apache Indians, years ago, were wont to use it for bullets. No doubt, says an exchange, many a fellow will be brought down by this bullet story whatever may be the fact respecting the existence of such missiles. It is probably true that gold exists in paying quantities in the unexplored parts of the far western states and territories, but it may be years before it is brought to light.

The News of the Week.

BY TELEGRAPH AND MAIL. FIFTY-SECOND CONGRESS. Second Session.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 4.—In the senate a joint resolution was reported providing that the right of citizenship shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex. The quarantine bill was discussed. In the house a resolution was introduced to stop the purchase of silver bullion. The private pension bill was discussed, and a bill was introduced providing that the term of all persons appointed to offices under the United States shall be for four years, whether under civil service or otherwise, and no person is to be eligible to hold office for more than eight years.

DEADLY GAS.

It Explodes in Pittsburgh, Demolishing a Dwelling and Killing Three of the Inmates—Others Injured.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 9.—By an explosion of gas Saturday a house was wrecked, three persons killed and several injured. The list of the killed is as follows: Thomas Duffy, aged 35, ironworker; Mrs. Sophia Duffy, aged 33, daughter of Mrs. Duffy, aged 9 years.

William Duffy, aged 7, burned and hurt by bricks; William Harris, ironworker, severely burned; Mrs. Harris, hurt by falling walls; child of Mrs. Harris, burned and severely bruised.

The explosion occurred in the three-story brick house at 1019 Sarah street, which was jointly occupied by the families of Thomas Duffy and William Harris.

The latter family occupied three rooms on the third floor, and were working at 10 o'clock. He arose shortly after 6, leaving his wife and child in bed, and taking the settle in one hand and a lighted lamp in the other started downstairs to the cellar for coal. The house was closed at that time, as the Duffy family was yet in bed. Harris thought he recognized a smell of gas, but was not alarmed, not thinking of any danger. He opened the cellar door and started down the steps, trying to shield the lamp for fear that a stronger gust of icy air rushing up the stairs into the warmer atmosphere above might extinguish the light. Harris reached the bottom of the step, when suddenly the very air seemed turned to fire, which, for a moment, blinded him and caused intense pain. At the same time he felt himself caught up and hurled half way up the stairs. His lighted lamp was shattered against a post.

The neighborhood was shaken then by the terrific explosion, and the few persons who were in the vicinity for a moment, then the roof fell in, followed by the right wall. The upper floor was crushed in and fell, carrying it to the first, which held, and in a moment the whole structure was a pile of ruins. The Duffy family was wiped out of existence, save the young son, and he may die. The second floor, which was not so high, simply crushed the ceiling as though it were a mat, and sleeping calmly in their beds, Thomas Duffy, his wife, and the child in the cradle by their side, were awakened only to be crushed and hurled into the air. The child was sent in an alarm at once and soon a large force of men were placed at work to rescue the imprisoned inmates. Mrs. Harris and her child were rescued, but died as they were being taken out.

CRUSHED BY MOVING ICE. Great Destruction Wrought by the Breaking Up of the Ice Gorge at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 9.—The ice gorge in the Ohio river broke Sunday afternoon and the water rose to a level which has never been reached before. The moderating weather and the great pressure of the immense fields of ice caused the crash to come earlier than was anticipated. Water from the gorge of Delhi that fifty men are in a perilous position on several coal barges floating down the river.

They passed Delhi, 10 miles below Cincinnati, at 10 o'clock. The barges were entertained of a crash between Delhi and North Bend, as the ice in that vicinity was moving slowly and liable to right at any time. Collier and Bank with four barges, were following up right behind the others.

The gorge that moved past Cincinnati extended from Mays island, above the mouth of the Little Miami, to below Anderson's ferry, a distance of nearly 18 miles. For 2 miles below this the water was clear and calm. Then came another gorge, beginning at the mouth of the Great Miami and extending below Lawrenceburg. This lower gorge was about 5 miles long. The upper and lower gorges were both roaring far down the Ohio to 6 miles an hour.

By 9 o'clock p. m. all apparent danger to the steamers had passed. The gorge had passed and the river was comparatively clear. One towboat, the Matheson, owned by Marmet & Co., valued at $10,000, was sunk during the past year.

Below the destruction of coal barges and other property, from accounts at this hour, has been terrible. The harbor towboats Comet, Benwood and Alice Barr were going down with the gorge, fully manned and working heroically to break the ice and save property.

Here is the nearest approach to an approximation of the destruction of coal floats: Forty-five loaded barges, 90 days ago in a pistol encounter with a cowboy named Barber.

Grand total, $300,000.

Add to this a corrected statement of the value of Marmet's towboat Matheson, which the owner puts at $10,000, and you have a grand total of $310,000. This includes the boats that were carried away last Friday. Not one cent of insurance is held on any of this property.

TWO KILLED OUTRIGHT. Sleighing Party Run Down by a Train Near Grand Rapids.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 8.—A Detroit, Lansing & Northern train struck a sleighload of people at Sunfield, 40 miles east of here, Saturday evening, killing two persons outright. The driver was Mrs. John Schaffer, who was horribly mangled, and her husband, George Osmun. George Osmun is so badly injured that he cannot live, and his little son is also terribly hurt, although he may recover. The engine carried out his wife a mile and when it was stopped the body of Mrs. Osmun was still in it, her skull being crushed.

TOOK BLOODY REVENGE. A Texas Youth Killed His Father and Stepmother.

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Jan. 9.—Albert McDonald, aged 20, shot and killed his father and stepmother. He had come frenzied in a row with his father over a horse, and seizing a gun shot the old man who was sitting by the fire, killing him instantly. The woman was in the kitchen, and when she saw her husband shot from the house and she was shot down by her son. McDonald fled, but bloodhounds from the penitentiary were put on his trail and he was captured in a few hours. He has confessed.

GRAVE CHARGES.

They Are Brought Against Archbishop Corrigan by Archbishop Ireland.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Formal charges of the gravest character have been preferred against Archbishop Corrigan by Archbishop Ireland. It is accused by Archbishop Ireland of having engaged in an unlawful conspiracy to weaken or undo the effect of the pope's decisions in respect to church matters in America, and of having had recourse to methods unbecoming a bishop, designed to discredit and disgrace Archbishop Ireland and Mgr. Satolli, the papal delegate to America. These charges, duly formulated, are now on their way to Rome, where they will be presented to the highest tribunal in the Catholic church.

That tribunal has power to pass upon the accusations and to fix the punishment or excommunication they are to sustain. The whole world will eagerly await the decision, for both prelates, the accuser and the accused, have long filled the most conspicuous positions in the American hierarchy. Their personal reputations have been matter of public rumor for years. Each has very generally been considered as an object of the pope's favorable regard in respect of the new American curia, when the Irish curia is said to be conferring at the approaching jubilee. If Archbishop Corrigan be found guilty as charged his fate as well as the future of the great province of New York over which he has long presided, will become the object of eager surmise. Should the charges fall, the consequences can scarcely be less serious to Archbishop Ireland.

Not will the consequences in either case be limited to the provinces of New York and St. Paul.

The differences between Archbishop Ireland and Archbishop Corrigan are of long standing. They date back to the time when the prelate of St. Paul took active part with Cardinal Gibbons in antagonizing Archbishop Corrigan's representations to the Vatican on the question of communicating the Knights of Labor. The two prelates were, and since that time Archbishop Corrigan has sorely made a pretense of perfect accord with either Cardinal Gibbons or Archbishop Ireland.

But the differences between the two prelates have been increasing since the time when the prelate of St. Paul professed unreserved friendship for his grace of New York. Later the differences have been accentuated by the disputes over Calensyanism and more especially over Archbishop Ireland's "Parliament of Labor" education. During this latter phase of the quarrel nearly the whole Roman Catholic church in America has been divided between the Corrigan camp and the Ireland camp.

The partners of Archbishop Corrigan in the conspiracy now alleged are priests of his immediate entourage, notably Father Michael Joseph Lavelle, pastor of St. Patrick's cathedral, who is expressly named in the charges as a conspirator, and possibly Father Gerardo Ferante, Archbishop Corrigan's Italian secretary.

If the charges have been interpreted right Archbishop Corrigan's opponents will try to prove the existence of a conspiracy, of which New York is the center, and which extends in numerous ramifications throughout America, France and Italy. At a recent meeting in New York, Jan. 10, October, at which Mgr. Satolli was present, peace was thought to have been established between Archbishop Corrigan and Ireland, but the apparent friendship of Archbishop Ireland is said to have rekindled the old bitterness between the two priests.

The secular press began to teem with letters containing damaging statements about Archbishop Ireland, which he said he had never intended to publish. The partners of Archbishop Corrigan in the conspiracy now alleged are priests of his immediate entourage, notably Father Michael Joseph Lavelle, pastor of St. Patrick's cathedral, who is expressly named in the charges as a conspirator, and possibly Father Gerardo Ferante, Archbishop Corrigan's Italian secretary.

MAN WAS MADE TO MOURN. The poet Burns contemplating the hard life of the Scotch peasant said "Man was made to mourn."

Man was made to rejoice. When the veins are filled with blood and the system is at the proper pitch life is full of enjoyment.

Every thing seems to rejoice in the very thought of life. If you do not exist, you are insupportable when disease sets in and overpowers the system.

Then life becomes distasteful and wearisome.

If you feel this way, oppressed with gloomy thoughts and borne down by weight of sorrow, get a box of the Laxative Gum Drops and take them according to directions. You need adopt no particular precautions in regard to them but take them until your digestion is regulated and your system is in its normal condition and in perfect health.

They are perfectly harmless. SYLVAN REMEDY CO., Peoria, Ill.

Food Made Mo Sic!

"First I had pains in my back and chest, the faint feeling at the stomach, and when I would eat, the first taste would make me feel sick."

Of course I ran down rapidly, and lost 25 pounds. My wife and family were much alarmed and I expected my stay on earth would be short. But a friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon my appetite came back. I ate heartily and in ten days gained two pounds a week. I took 8 bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and never felt better in my life. To-day I am cured and I give to Hood's Sarsaparilla the whole praise of it. C. C. ABER, grocer, Canisteo, N. Y.
