— Miss Elsie Stee, of Dennison, Minn., arrived yesterday morning to visit relatives in this city.

— Remember that you can have a good supper at the opera house to-night. A unique bill of fare will be served.

— The subject for next Sunday morning's sermon by Rev. E. F. Spicer at the M. E. church will be "Education." In the evening a service of sacred song will be rendered. All cordially invited.

— A German Lutheran congregation has been organized in town of Comstock with a membership of fourteen families. It is named Emanuel congregation. Rev. Heinrich Bauman, of Acton, N. D., preaches there occasionally. It is the intention to build a church in the near future.

— N. A. Ahlberg, of New Falden, was in town yesterday and disposed of a load of fine turkeys and ducks for Thanksgiving. The same is under great obligations to Mr. Ahlberg for its Thanksgiving turkey. On the other side, Mr. Ahlberg expressed himself as being highly pleased over the result of the recent election.

— The Excel highway obstruction case which attracted so much attention last year is again brought into prominence by a suit for $1,000 damages for false arrest. Carl Decker is the plaintiff and R. L. Marzy defendant. Halvor Steenerson, of Crookston, is attorney for the plaintiff and Ira C. Richardson for the defendant. —Thief River Falls Press.

— W. A. Case, the former genial clerk of court of this county, now located at Detroit, Minn., stopped a few hours in this city to shake hands with his many friends, on his way to Wanger where he will spend Thanksgiving and look after some business matters. Mr. Case and his son, Fred, are in the fruit and confectionery business at Detroit and are doing well.

— A farmer from the northern part of Polk county was in this week and bought two dressed hogs to supply his family in meat for the coming year. Says that he had plenty of hogs and pigs in the summer time but they all died of the disease that has carried off so many hogs in Polk county. Says many of his neighbors have also lost all their hogs. It strikes us that pork will be very much higher later on. Next summer will no doubt see the demand greater than the supply.—Polk Co. Journal.

— Mrs. K. J. Taralseth was happily surprised on Tuesday evening this week when a large number of friends entered her elegant home to help her celebrate the forty-second anniversary of her birthday. When all had entered, Judge Grindelund, on behalf of her numerous friends, presented her with a beautiful silver cake basket accompanied by the good wishes of all present. The evening was very pleasantly spent in social converse and in games of various kinds. Refreshments brought along by the ladies were served during the evening. Every body had a good time, and in leaving wished Mrs. Taralseth many such happy birthdays.

— A practical sermon on kindness to animals has been preached this week by Rev. E. F. Spicer of the M. E. church. Noticing how those who drive in from the country to attend services had to leave their teams tied outside in all kinds of weather, he conceived the idea of erecting a shed in the rear of the church where the animals may receive shelter. Through his efforts money was raised for procuring the building material, and by the work of his own hands, assisted by several of his parishioners, the shed was erected. Those who drive in from the country will find it a convenient place to tie their teams, where they are sheltered from the rude blasts of winter.

— We publish this week Rev. Darling's sermon, preached last Sunday evening. Those who heard it, as well as those who didn't, will be glad to read it.

— A very pleasant surprise party was given by Mrs. Grindelund, on Friday evening, Nov. 20th, to her husband, in honor of his 40th birthday anniversary. She had invited a number of the Judge's intimate friends to take supper with them on the evening in question, with the admonition to be there early, and when the Judge at the usual hour left the office and returned to his home he found it much to his surprise, occupied by the intruders. After partaking of a dainty and bounteous repast prepared by Mrs. Grindelund, the guests repaired to the parlor to enjoy a social chat, a fragrant smoke, or a game of cards, but, before these proceedings were begun, the significance of the gathering was explained in an appropriate speech by Samuel Cooke, Esq., who was one of the party. In behalf of the friends gathered there, as a token of their respect and esteem, and as a memento of the occasion, he presented to Mr. Grindelund a Winchester Repeating Shot Gun. In the course of his remarks the speaker said that the past forty years of their friend's life had been largely years of preparation for the higher duties and responsibilities that the future has in store for him, and it was the wish of his friends here and elsewhere that some day he would have the opportunity to serve his fellow-men either on the bench or in legislative halls. Mr. Grindelund responded briefly, thanked his friends for the valuable present and promised that as far as handling the gun was concerned he would endeavor to acquire himself nobly and in a manner that would not bring reproach to the donors. The rest of the evening was spent very pleasantly, and when at a late hour the company dispersed each and all wished the Judge success and happiness in the future, and hoped to have the pleasure to be with him also to celebrate his eightieth birthday anniversary.
