

PUNISHMENT IS DEMANDED BY CZAR

Says All Turkish Officials Responsible for Murder of Russian Consul Must Suffer.

CRIME HAS CREATED INTENSE EXCITEMENT IN ST. PETERSBURG

British Officials Believe Murder Makes Balkan Situation Assume a More Serious Aspect Although It Is Not Expected to Create War—Feeling in Turkey.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 11.—The czar has demanded the exemplary punishment not only of the murderer of the Russian consul at Monastir, who was killed last week by Turkish gendarmes, but of all the military and civil officials in any way responsible for the crime.

The assassination of the Russian consul at Monastir, M. Rostkovski—the second murder of a Russian consular official in Macedonia within a few months—has created intense indignation here.

According to the report made by the official now in charge of the Russian consulate at Monastir the murderer is a gendarme. The consul asked his name because, in defiance of instructions, the gendarme did not salute him. The gendarme thereupon fired several shots, mortally wounding the consul in the head and hip. The horse drawing the carriage in which the consul was riding received two bullets and shots were also fired at the coachman.

Murder Aggravates Situation.

London, Aug. 11.—The Balkan situation has assumed a more serious aspect in the eyes of British officials as the result of the murder of the Russian consul at Monastir. No authoritative statement as to the British attitude can be obtained pending the receipt of information regarding the length to which Russia will go in exacting reparation for the deed. It is expected, however, that the Russian demands for the punishment of the murderer and the responsible officials will be followed by others of greater international interest and affecting the general Balkan question.

It was stated Monday by a diplomat in a position to know the czar's policy that the emperor had no intention of precipitating war and that before dealing with the international situation in Turkey Russia will communicate with Austria and acquaint the other signatories of the Berlin treaty with at least part of her plans.

The state of affairs in Macedonia was brought up in the house of commons Monday, but Premier Balfour declared he was unable to give any satisfactory assurances regarding the situation. The latest news reaching the government, he said, was far from reassuring.

Excitement in Turkey.

Constantinople, Aug. 11.—The murder of the Russian consul, M. Rostkovski, has caused intense excitement here and is the sole topic of conversation in the streets, cafes and public resorts. The general belief is that the incident is bound to considerably aggravate the already serious situation in Macedonia and it is felt that it will undoubtedly encourage the Bulgarians to support the insurrectionary movement, which is spreading rapidly, notably to the southward of Monastir.

CORONATION OF POPE TAKES PLACE

Pius X. Receives His Crown in the Presence of Vast Multitude at St. Peter's.

PRINCES AND HIGH CHURCH DIGNITARIES ARE PRESENT

Day Is a Memorable One in Roman—Senior Cardinal Macchi Is Master of Ceremonies and Places Crown on Pontiff's Head—New Head of Church Bestows His Blessing.

Rome, Aug. 11.—The ceremony of the coronation of Pope Pius X. took place Sunday in the basilica of St. Peter's in the presence of the princes and high dignitaries of the church, diplomats and Roman nobles, and with all the solemnity and splendor associated with this, the most magnificent rite in the Roman Catholic church.

As Cardinal Macchi, the dean of the cardinal-deacons, placed the triple crown on the head of the venerable pontiff the throng of 70,000 persons gathered within the cathedral burst into unrestrained acclamations, the choir intoned a hymn of triumph and the bells of Rome rang out a joyful peal.

The Papal Throne.

It is 57 years since the Romans and Europe assisted at such a function as was held in St. Peter's Sunday. The feet, and being embraced by him twice in turn. The holy father then walked to the shrine of St. Peter for the culminating rites of the extremely fatiguing ceremony. The whole sacred college gathered about the pope singing Palestrina's "Corona Aurea Super Caput Ejus," while great basilica, popularly supposed never to have been quite full, was overflowing with humanity. The papal throne, a bewildering mixture of gold, red and silver, was erected in front of the high altar. As, contrary to custom on these ceremonial occasions, there were no galleries, the basilica bore more of its normal aspect. On the altar, which was dressed in white, stood the famous silver gilt candelsticks and a magnificent crucifix.

Engages in Worship.

Before leaving the vatican the pope went to the Sistine chapel to worship before the sacrament exposed therein, thence passing through the Sala Regia and the Constantine staircase into the portico of the basilica. He there seated himself on a throne erected directly before the holy door and with seats around for the members of the sacred college, the chapter of St. Peter's and the papal court. At the right of the throne stood Prince Orsini, the assistant to the papal throne, who withdrew his recent resignation of the post in order to participate at the function. The pontiff was exceedingly pale but composed.

Presents Greetings.

The low ceiling sent back an exquisite echo of the "tues petrus" sang by the Sistine choir. Cardinal Rampollo advanced with dignity, knelt and kissed the foot of the pontiff. He then presented in a firm voice the wishes and greetings of the chapter of St. Peter's, which, he said, offer an act of obedience to your holiness and wish you a prosperous and glorious pontificate.

The pontiff was visibly touched, and answering in a trembling voice, warmly thanked the chapter for their well wishes. "Good wishes," he said, "are extremely precious."

Blesses the Multitude.

The procession then reformed and proceeded to the door of the basilica, through which Pius X. cast an almost terror-stricken glance, whispering to Dr. Lepponi, "Shall I ever be able to go through with it?"

On the appearance of the pontiff it seemed as though the people would seek to carry him in their arms, so great was their enthusiasm. Cries of "Pius, our pope, our father," and "Long live Pius X." were raised and continued until the pontiff was compelled to rise and bless the multitude, and at the same time he made a sign for more reverential behavior.

Receives the Pallium.

From the throne Pius X., surrounded by his suite, walked to the high altar, standing over the crypt of St. Peter, into which meanwhile Cardinal Macchi descended to pray. The pope then blessed the altar, and after saying the "Indulgentiam" the maniple, a symbol of the cord with which Christ was bound on his capture, was placed, with great ceremony, the choir burst into song. Cardinal Macchi then recited the "Pater Noster Noster" and offered prayer.

Crowned.

Cardinal Deacon Segna then raised the pontiff's mitre and Senior Cardinal Deacon Macchi placed on the venerable white head the triple crown. At this moment the church was filled with the ringing of bells, the blowing of silver trumpets, the triumphant strains of the choir and the acclamations of the multitude, which could no longer be repressed. When comparative silence had been restored Cardinal Macchi addressed the pope in latin as follows:

"Receive the tiara ornamented with three crowns. Remember thou art the father of princes and kings, the rector of the world, vicar on earth of our Savior, Jesus Christ, who is the honor and glory of all centuries."
"Amen!" again burst forth from the concourse.

The Pope Overcome.

Pope Pius was quite overcome and had scarcely strength left to impart the apostolic benediction. Cardinals Macchi and Segna granted a plenary indulgence to all present, and the procession then reformed and left the basilica in the same form as it came.

The pope was visibly fatigued and his right hand shook as he raised it time after time to bestow his blessing. When the ceremony was over all the exits to the basilica were opened, and within less than an hour the vast cathedral was empty.
