Marshall County School Ma'ams are Here in Force and Have a Good, Profitable Time.

The Teacher's Summer School for Marshall county is now in full swing at the High School building. Over seventy teachers and would be teachers are enrolled thus far and all of them are taking hold of the work with a determination and enthusiasm that makes for success. Prof. E. T. Shot by Accident.

About seven o'clock in the afternoon of July 4th, little Orvill Homme, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton O. Homme, of Roseau, was fatally shot with a rifle by Aksel Fernstrom, the 12-year old son of Mrs. John Fernstrom. The boys were playing around the house of Mrs. Fernstrom at Sprague, when Aksel came out of the house with an old fashioned muzzle loading rifle and said, "Orvill, I am going to shoot you." Orvill dodged around while Aksel pointed the gun at him. The play ended when the gun was discharged and little Orvill lay on the ground shot through the bowels, the ball entering the right of the navel and out through the right hip. Orvill told his father how it happened as best he could and added, "Aksel was only playing, he was not mad at me. Don't punish Aksel."

Soo Steel Gang Coming.

The Soo steel gang is expected to reach Nick Schantzen's place (Radium), in town of Comstock, early next week, and to reach this city before the end of said week. The grade is now practically finished the entire distance from here to Thief River Falls.

Johnson and Olson Nuptials.

A wedding reception was given at the Snake hall by Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Johnson in honor of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alma, to John E. Olson.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A. Mattson, of Warren. Miss Dora, the bride's sister, and Miss Louisa Larson, acted as bridesmaids and Messrs. George and Harry Johnson as best men. The bride wore a white silk dress and carried a bouquet of roses.

There were about one hundred and fifty guests present. Numerous handsome wedding presents were received.

The happy young couple will leave in a few days for Grayson, Assa., where they intend to make their future home.

New Towns in North Dakota.

The extensive railroad building now being done in North Dakota has brought tributary to railroad facilities an additional vast area of the rich agricultural sections of northern and western North Dakota. The Great Northern Railway is building a number of new extensions from its main line northward notably that of the Sarles extension of the Edmore line. The Thorne extension running north from York, the Max Bass extension running northward from Towner, and a further extension of the Westhope line to Antler.

The building of these new lines has brought into being a number of new towns which are fully described in a pamphlet recently issued by the Great Northern Railway. By application to Mr. F. I. Whitney, Passenger Traffic Manager, St. Paul, Minn., a copy of these pamphlets "New Extensions in North Dakota" or "New Towns in North Dakota" will be mailed to any address.

NEW CITY HALL.

Will be Handsome Building. Contract Let to Hoglund Bros. for $5,995.

At the meeting of the city council on Monday evening the contract was let for erection of the new City Hall to Hoglund Bros. for $5,995. The building will be erected on the site of the old engine house and will be 25x77 ft. in size, two stories high. The front part of the first story will be used for the fire apparatus, and the rear part will contain a city lock up with two cells, and a police office. The second story will contain a hall 25x45 ft. and two office rooms, one for the city recorder and the other for the city council. The front of the building will be of pressed brick and cut stone, making one of the finest fronts in town—and a high bell tower of handsome architectural design will surmount the whole. The new building will be an ornament to the city and also serve a very useful purpose, as the present dilapidated structure is wholly inadequate for taking proper care of the fire apparatus.

CLEVELAND COMING

Former President Will Try Fishing in Minnesota Lakes.

Grover Cleveland is on his way to Deerwood, east of Brainerd, where he will remain for some time fishing in the lakes nearby. He is accompanied by J. H. Eckels, former comptroller of the treasury. If he can prolong his stay till the chickens get ripe, he may be invited to Warren to try his luck with the gun.

The Crops.

The weather continues fair, warm and bright and the crops are making up for the delay in growth occasioned by the cool days in June. Wheat is beginning to head out and no damage from rust is reported thus far. The stand is very heavy, promising a big yield if the favorable weather continues until the grain matures.

A teaspoonful of lime water in a little milk is good for a bad stomach. Take at meal time. Both charcoal and lime are correctors of constipation, the cause of pimples on the face and muddy complexion. These unsightly blemishes may be made to disappear by drinking freely of tea made of elder blossoms, or of dandelion root, either of which may be had for the gathering.

BRANCHES OUT

Aug. Lundgren Adds Brick Making and Cement Block Machinery to his Yard.

This week there was unloaded at the depot a heavy piece of machinery which most everybody compared to a sausage machine, but which in reality was an up-to-date machine for the manufacture of brick and had been purchased by Aug. Lundgren for his yard in this city. With this machine the capacity of the yard will be greatly increased, the brisk demand for brick making improved machinery necessary in order to supply the demand. The new machinery will be put up and brick turned out by the new process as soon as possible.

Mr. Lundgren has also added a machine for manufacturing cement blocks, and will have this machine in operation before long. Cement blocks is the coming building material, and will make both beautiful and durable buildings. It is possible to manufacture these blocks even in the winter time, and if the demand is sufficient, Mr. Lundgren proposes to operate this factory all year around.

Cucumber Lotion.

Expressed juice of cucumbers, one-half pint; deodorized alcohol, 1 1/2 ounces; sweet almond oil, 3 1/2 ounces; shaving cream, one dram; blanched almonds, 1 1/2 grams.

This is a suave lotion, very whitening, softening and cleansing. Take the shaving cream and dissolve in the rose water by heating in a custard kettle. Beat the almonds in a mortar, and by degrees work in the soap and water. Strain through muslin and return to the mortar. Stir constantly, working in gradually the alcohol, in which the oils have been already dissolved.

LOSS CAUSED BY INSECTS.

The reports from the agricultural department show in a very interesting manner the losses sustained by the average of insect pests on the crops of the country. Such loss amounts to more than 10 per cent of the annual value of crops raised and is given as follows:

	Value.	Am't. of loss.
Cereals	$2,000,000,000	$200,000,000
Hay and forage..	500,000,000	50,000,000
Cotton	500,000,000	50,000,000
Tobacco	50,000,000	5,000,000
Truck crops	25,000,000	2,500,000
Sugars	50,000,000	5,000,000
Fruits	150,000,000	27,000,000
Farm forests	110,000,000	11,000,000
Miscellaneous crops	50,000,000	5,000,000
Animal products. 1,750,000,000		175,000,000
Total	$5,451,000,000	$585,100,000
Natural forests and forest products	100,000,000
Products in storage	100,000,000
Grand total		$735,100,000

If everything went well with the farmer all the time—perfect weather conditions, no insect pests, no blight or rust, cheap and docile hired help, no summer hailstorm or untimely frost, no floods or droughts—there would still be trouble, for so many would want to farm and so much would be produced that the business would not pay. So it is just as well to regard the calamities which beset the business as really essential to its best interests. It is only the disagreeable features, the slavery connected with dairying, which make it the most profitable business on the farm.

The effect of hard and deep freezing of the soil during the winter, while sometimes injurious to clover and trees, is nevertheless of great benefit to the soil and the succeeding crop which it produces, good yields almost invariably following hard winters. Such freezing, for one thing, locks up the soil and prevents any loss of fertility by erosion. It also tends to open up the subsoil and thus promotes underdrainage and the aeration of the soil. It is always harder to keep land fertile and productive where the ground never freezes than it is where it does.

There is almost always some one farm product which pays a big profit. Some years it is the potato crop, some years wool, then hogs, then wheat or corn. There are just only two farm products which seldom vary much in price, taking a series of years, and these are butter, or milk and cream, as the case may be, and eggs. This fact emphasizes the importance of always diversifying the crops raised on the farm, and the further fact that the more the farm can be utilized by the cow and the hen the more certain will be the profits to be secured from it.

PARISIAN FANCY FOFK RED.

Geranium Red in Favor and Also Cerise, But One Might Say This of the Whole Rose Family.

All Paris has gone wild upon the subject of red. Red is worn in the most unexpected ways.

It is important at all times to get one's colors right. Therefore it is only just to say that all shades of red are not fashionable. The woman who comes out in brick red makes a mistake—though you see her very often—and the woman who wears a red that does not go well with her hair makes a double mistake.

The reds most in vogue just now are the tomato and geranium colors. The red of the gardenia is also worn and the matchless red of the camella. These shades are seen everywhere and in everything, but particularly is the red of the geranium worn a great deal. The most popular red for gowns is cerise.

While buying red do not forget that this color includes the whole rose family and that there are very pale flesh-colored pomegranates as light as one could desire—if one is hunting an evening gown—figured in pink roses, or in red roses, and which make up very brilliantly with plippings of geranium-colored taffeta.

It is a pity to let the summer season go by without having one or two brightly colored gowns, for they seem in keeping with the warm weather. Soon the cool days will come when the brilliant colors must be put away, until the sun calls them out again, so now is the time to dress in red.

The woman who is going in for red, and to whom red is becoming, can buy one red gown for the piazza. It should be of red crepe de chine, of a shade like the June cherry. It should be made of walking length and without trimming. The hips should be flat and laid in plaits, or shirred, and the foot should be very full. There should be a red taffeta petticoat to match and the shoes should either have red tops, or if one prefers a quiet shoe, there are the patent leathers which are also dressy and which can be trimmed with steel. A hat trimmed with red lace goes with this and a red parasol for the sunny spots of the piazza. This gown, which is called a piazza gown, is also a lawn party dress for lawn teas.

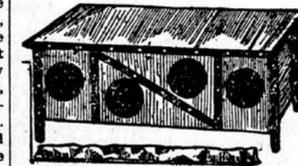

For evening there come the very thin silk grenadines, the chiffons, the flowered organdies of a quality so thin that they seem like fairy gowns, and there come the heavy silks which are also worn in geranium, tomato, cerise, gardenia, cherry, beet, pomegranates and cinnamon red.

Then there comes the consideration of the small things of dress and here one can come out strong on the red note. There are the neatest of red leather belts, wide and soft, with dull gold buckles, which are designed to go with red linen stocks embroidered in white. The prettiest of red stocks are those that are made of white linen, hand embroidered, through which wide red satin ribbon is run. And there are the white linens with patterns of red embroidery upon them. The linen belts and stocks are lovely and have the great advantage of being such that any woman can make them for herself.

A NEW SHIRTWAIST BOX.

Made of Japanese Matting and Bamboo and Decorated with Ornamental Circles.

Shirtwaist boxes are articles of such practical value and there is so much demand for them that they may be had in many different varieties of style and at prices to suit pocketbooks of all sizes. In addition to those of ornamental wood, which are quite expensive, there are cheaper ones, covered with burlap, chintz or cretonne, and even those covered with wall paper, the most reasonable of all in price, are not only equally practical, but quite as artistic. A new shirtwaist box which has the additional attraction of novelty is shown in the illustration. It is fashioned from a fine quality of Japanese matting and framed in bamboo. Its distinguishing note is the front decoration, in the form of disks of oak, very thin and in forest green hue. There are four of these ornamental circles, and they give just the dash of color required by the neutral hued matting and bamboo.

The struggle between the steamboat and the locomotive as transportation agencies has continued now for thirty years, with the result that the locomotive has whipped out the steamboat to a finish. Water transportation will hold its own for all time, however, on the great lakes and in the lower Mississippi valley. The simple question of time required in transit has settled the contest in favor of the railway.

FARGO BUSINESS MEN

Visit Warren and are Pleased With City and Reception Tendered Them.

A special train conveying about fifty members of the Commercial Club of Fargo on an excursion down the St. Vincent line arrived in the city at 3:15 yesterday afternoon, and remained about half an hour. The visitors were met at the depot by the Warren band, city officials, and members of the Warren Commercial Club. W. J. Brown in behalf of the city extended a hearty welcome to the gentlemen from Fargo and extended to them the freedom of the city. R. S. Lewis, President of the Fargo Commercial Club responded thanking the people of Warren for the cordial reception and congratulated them upon having a good, live town. The party next marched to the beautiful Island Park, where cool lemonade was served and more speaking indulged in. Mr. W. F. Powell welcomed the visitors on behalf of the Warren Commercial Club, and W. D. Sweet replied on behalf of the Fargoans, complimenting the people of Warren upon having such a beautiful park, which resembled theirs and was named the same. The Soo railroad crossing here was the finger of destiny pointing to Warren as an important commercial center. He hoped that the friendly feeling existing between the two towns would develop into more extended business relations.

Time being limited the excursionists had to hurry back to their train which was to carry them to St. Vincent and back and for two more days touring on the Dakota side.

This is the second annual excursion undertaken for the purpose of making friends and gaining trade. The Fargo business men are a jolly lot will certainly get both the one and the other.

District Court.

The business of the court for this session was finished last Friday, and the petit jurors allowed to return home. The last couple days were given to the trial of the case of Fred O. Cronkhite and Owen Cronkhite vs. Walter C. Kelso, as the surviving partner of the co-partnership of J. Kelso & Son, of Hallock. J. J. Sutton, A. A. Miller and W. J. Brown were the attorneys for plaintiffs and Martin O'Brien, P. H. Konzen and Julius J. Olson for defendant. Action brought for failure to make a money loan as agreed. Verdict returned in favor of plaintiffs for $1.00.

Decrees of divorce were granted by the court to Henry Evert also to Jennie Larson and Nels J. Larson.
