NORWAY.

The Society for Liberty and Culture has issued its first pamphlet. It is an attack on the prohibition movement.

Minister of State Loverskiold and wife, nee Wedeljarisberg, have donated $13,500 to an asylum for cripples in the capital.

The hay crop is an average one. But rainy, cold weather threatens a partial destruction of the grain and the vegetable crops.

There is an abundance of mushrooms in Norway this fall, but the common people find it difficult to distinguish between the edible and the poisonous kinds.

Hovringen, Gudbrandsdalen, was visited by a fierce snowstorm the first of September. The summer landscape was suddenly dressed in white, and the stock had to be kept in the stable a whole day.

The work of clearing the boundary line between Norway and Sweden along South Trondhjemant has been completed, and the Norwegian and Swedish officers having charge of the work took a few days' rest at Roros, Norway.

The Norwegian fishermen who have been operating along the coasts of Iceland secured about 100,000 barrels of herring for the past season, which is only half as much as the catch for the year 1908. But the prices are high this year.

The car which the state railways of Sweden have been running directly between Kristiania and Berlin has been withdrawn for the time being because the export of tyttberries from southern Sweden to Germany is unusually heavy this year.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Dr. G. Armauer Hansen, the discoverer of the leprosy bacillus, has officially announced that he found the bacillus in the skin of John Early, the North Carolina soldier, whose detention here for many months attracted wide attention.

Bjorson's health has been improving all the time during the summer, and he has been staying out of bed from 7 to 8 hours every day. He can walk without assistance in and about the house. But the very last reports state that he had to stay in bed for two days and was unable to do any work.

At Sundro, Vesteraden, Nordland, a very old arrow was found in a bog about five feet below the surface. The bog is of shale and the shaft of fir. It is said to date from the "arctic stone age." This is the first time that a wooden tool from that remote period has been found anywhere, and for that reason the find is unique.

SWEDEN.

Owing to the lateness of the season the reduction of the sugar beet crop will not begin until about two weeks later than usual.

The sugar trust had so much refined sugar on hand at the beginning of the strike that it did not feel the effects of the strike at all.

The Grangesberg Mining Company is going to issue new stocks for $3,400,000 for the purchase of freight steamers and other costly equipment.

The provincial legislature (landting) of Malmohus recently permitted thirteen persons to change their family names. Every one of them wanted to get rid of some name ending in "son." One applicant was refused permission to change his name to Aureen.

Representatives from the Swedish employers' union and the labor unions meet in the capitol in Stockholm Sept. 17 to negotiate with regard to new contracts for future years. It was agreed that nothing should be published until an agreement had been rendered.

A son of a farmer named Sven Mansson at Ranserd, North Sandby parish, wanted to play after coming home from school one day. For lack of a usual game he put a short piece of board into a crevice in a stone fence, and seated himself at the end of it and began to rock. Suddenly a large rock above the board was pried loose and came rolling down over the boy. The poor little fellow was so badly used up that he died in a few hours.

About 2,600,000 persons keep money in Swedish savings banks. A bright socialist has made out that most of these depositors are workmen, and he proposes that they make a general run on the banks. Such a run, he says, would ruin the banks. But in the nick of time the workmen could propose a compromise by telling the bankers that the run would be called off if the bankers would induce the employers' association to grant the demands of the working men.

Two men took a third man on the middle of a bridge across a canal in Gothenburg, and flung him into the canal below in less time than it takes to tell this. Fortunately a motor boat happened to pass by at the same moment, and the man was picked up. The explanation of this kind of fun is that the two men were strikers, and the third one a strikebreaker.

The tobacco dealers of Sweden are uniting their efforts to have the small candy stores and news stands prohibited from selling cigars and tobacco on Sundays.

NOLLED BY COURT

OFFICIAL ABSOLVED BY ATTORNEY GENERAL, EXCEPT ONE COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

COULD NOT SECURE CONVICTIONS

Was the Opinion of Attorney General Simpson—Commissioner Wright Arraigned on Road Contract Case.

Bemidji.—On the motion of Attorney General Simpson, which was concurred in by County Attorney Chester McKusick, just before adjournment, Judge Wright nolledd the indictments which had been returned by a grand jury last June against County Auditor John Willmann and Commissioners Wes Wright, F. O. Sibley and A. W. Danaher.

The indictments returned against County Auditor Willmann were for not reporting certain fees received by him and for failing to follow the lawful directions of the public examiner. County Commissioners Wright, Sibley and Danaher were indicted for allowing a bill, which had not been fully itemized. The bill showed that work had been done by a team, indicating the number of days' work; but because it failed to state the kind of work done the grand jury saw fit to return true bills.

"If I were county attorney," said Mr. Simpson, "I would move to annul these indictments. Now, as attorney general, I do move that they be annulled. As to the county commissioners being indicted for failing to itemize the bill, I am free to say that if these hold good the members of every town board and city or village council of the state would be subject to indictments."

Mr. Simpson said that as a matter of public economy, owing to the condition of the county, these indictments should be annulled. Furthermore, he believed it was impossible to secure convictions.

Mr. Simpson stated that there was another indictment which had been returned at the same time to which he wished to call the attention of the court. If the allegations in that indictment were true, he said, they might constitute a crime.

Mr. Simpson then called for the arraignment of Wes Wright, who appeared and asked that the matter be laid over a day.

The indictment against Mr. Wright charges that as county commissioner he was interested in a road contract entered into between the county of Beltrami and John W. Olson.

The indictments which are annulled and the one on which Mr. Wright was arraigned are the same which were given publicity in the twin cities through information advanced by M. F. Kain, deputy public examiner, who testified before the grand jury.

MINNEAPOLIS MAN SUES.

W. H. McGrath Asks Damages for Alleged Fake Contests.

Council Bluffs.—Two more civil suits were filed in the federal court to recover $25,580 alleged to have been lost as a result of fake wrestling and prize fights promoted by J. C. Maybray, now under indictment for alleged illegal use of the mails. Twelve of these suits have been filed, involving $140,000.

The first case is that of W. H. McGrath, a lumberman, of Minneapolis, who sues for $10,000. The suits are directed against the First National bank, Ernest E. Park, a national Republican committeeman for Ohio, Benjamin Marks, a local capitalist whose name also figures in the Maybray indictments, Maybray himself and P. C. Connors, formerly cashier of the First National bank and now connected with the City National bank, of this city.

The other suit is brought against Benjamin Marks and Maybray, by P. E. George, of San Antonio, Texas. He charges that he lost his money in New Orleans, where, after losing $7,580 on a fake wrestling match he was induced to return home and secure $8,000 more which he also lost in a similar manner.

LITTLE BOY HANGS HIMSELF.

Noose About Neck Causes Strangulation When He Falls.

Duluth.—While he was playing on the veranda in rear of his home, Ferris Buchner, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Buchner, of Proctor, accidentally hanged himself.

The child was playing with a noose made of heavy cord. He attached the cord to a nail on the post of the veranda and tied the noose about his neck. He was running about the veranda playing horse, when he slipped and fell off the edge.

The noose instantly tightened about his neck and he was strangled before he could make an outcry. His mother went out on the veranda a few minutes later and found her boy's dead body dangling to the rope.
