THE "KEYSTONE"

Disc Harrow is so well known that we just mention that nearly all the farmers know the excellent work it is doing. One whole carload nearly sold this spring.

The spading harrow is another implement that is beginning to find favor where quack grass is bad.

SHEPHERD AND FLOCK.

The root crop fed to the flock now will be the key to success, says the Farm Journal. Roots go a long way in giving tone to the general health of the flock.

If you haven't enough clover hay for all winter save it for the time when the lambs come.

Roots fed with the grain make both doubly valuable.

It is poor economy to feed timothy hay to sheep.

Sheep are the most timid and nervous creatures, and fear or nervous excitement is always very damaging.

Fill up low places in the sheep yard, and tolerate no wet or icy places where the sheep exercise.

Removes blackheads, softens rough skin, clears the blood, brightens the eye, sweetens the whole system; greatest beautifier known. Nothing helps make a pretty face, handsome smile as Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. Try it tonight. 35c. Warren Pharmacy.

IN THE HORSE BARN.
 Regularity of feeding and work makes long lived horses.
 In fitting horses for hard work increase the grain ration, but not the hay.
 Horses should never be made to eat moldy hay, as nothing is worse in leading to worrying, whistling and other derangements of the wind.
 Money makes the mare go, but perfect fitting harness helps a whole lot.
 Who ever heard of a horse getting thrush if his stable and feet were kept clean?
 The development of the young horse requires the exercise of the best judgment in handling him.

CARE OF HORSES' FEET.
 Many Excellent Animals Ruined by Improper Treatment.
 Good and bad feet are largely inherited in horses, yet very often good feet are ruined by bad treatment, writes J. L. Buchanan in the National Stockman. If colts are foaled with crooked feet and especially if the hind feet turn over sideways you can soon remedy this trouble by keeping inside of bottom of foot rasped down and toe cut back a little, leaving the outside alone. A few trimmings will make the foot straight. Thus every producer of horses should be the owner of a good horseshoer's rasp and use it when needed.
 While horses are going without shoes a good rasp should be kept close at hand so all irregularities of feet may be kept rasped off. The feet of horses allowed to stand too long on a dry, hard floor or on a pile of heated manure are apt to get too dry and hard, in which case I should recommend a little fish oil rubbed on the upper edge of the hoof just at the edge of the hair, not over the shell of the hoof, because it would shut the air and moisture out. If put on at juncture of hoof and hair the hoof will take up the oil, and it will help to grow and toughen the hoof. I have known horses to stand on hot manure until it burnt all of the lower part of the hoof out.
 It is a splendid idea to keep horses on the ground all you can. Continuous

The draft breed of horses that stands second in importance to the Percheron in France is the Boulonnais. A picture of the head and chest of a stallion of that breed is shown herewith. An American admirer of the Boulonnais said recently: "It would do some of our horse dealers good to see these patient beasts, harnessed to those great spineless long bodied carts in the streets of Boulogne, moving with a quick, agile stride, and a load, including the vehicle, of well over four tons behind them. The Boulonnais is a fast walker and moves straight forward with the head held aloft, exhibiting the greatest ease in his movements."

shoeing is ruinous to any horse's feet unless frequently changed. I know of horses allowed to carry their shoes for three months, and some until they are worn off. No wonder so many horses' feet are ruined. We frequently see colts shut in stables for all winter and no attention paid to their feet, and by spring their hoofs are two or three and even four inches too long and pasterns sprung back and toes turned up until you would declare that both feet and pasterns were ruined. Yet when properly trimmed and turned out to pasture they soon come all right.
 Blacksmiths often damage a horse's foot by holding redhot shoes too long at one place and by making shoes too short and narrow, producing contracted hoofs, corns, side bones, etc. Blacksmiths are often in a hurry and sometimes fit the foot to the shoe instead of the shoe to the foot, which is the proper way. Another fault of too many smiths is they do not cut or trim enough from the bottom of the foot and, on the other hand, cut back too much of the shell in order to make the foot fit the shoe, exposing too much of the tissues of the foot, thus allowing water to soak in and oil to evaporate. The enamel or coating of the hoof should not be broken or removed more than possible.
