A YOUNG WOMAN

DIES SUDDENLY
Mrs. Sever Skie, whose husband is employed as a blacksmith in Andrew Lodoen's shop, died at 3:00 o'clock this morning. She became ill yesterday afternoon and was taken to the hospital at 4 o'clock. Her condition continued to grow worse and early this morning she passed away. The cause of death was the bursting of a blood vessel, resulting in internal hemorrhage.

Deceased was a pleasant young woman, who was loved and respected by a large circle of friends. She had lived here only about two years, her former home being at Ada.

Many friends of deceased tender sympathy to the sorrowing husband, whose helpmate in life was taken away in her young age.

Young Lady is Pleasantly Surprised By Host of Friends.

Last Friday evening Miss Ethel Hanson was pleasantly surprised at the John Hanson home in town of Bristlet by a host of friends from this and neighboring towns.

As Miss Hanson is about to leave this country for Bellingham, Washington, it entered the minds of several of her friends that they should leave a present with her to remind her of her early friends and playmates, Gustaf Peterson being the first one to take action, circulated the list. A fine gold watch was presented to Miss Hanson after Mr. Peterson had spoken a few words in behalf of the many friends, as to why they were there. He then read a few words of Scripture and lead them in prayer. A delicious lunch consisting of coffee, cakes, lefsa and sandwiches was served and the evening passed so quickly that most of the people that they had just arrived when it was time to break up and return home.

Remember that the Minneapolis Trade Excursion will visit our city next Friday at noon. Let everybody turn out and meet the visitors at the Soo depot and show them the glad hand. All auto owners are requested to trim up their cars with flags and banners and appear in the procession on Johnson avenue. Let us show our visitors that Warren is the most progressive and up-to-date city encountered on their tour.

DISTRICT COURT

The case of Amedia Rasmussen vs. Bertha M. Dammann, formerly Bertha M. Rasmussen, Henry Rasmussen and Millie Rasmussen, his wife—a case brought for the alienation of the affections of a husband—was begun on Thursday afternoon and held the attention of the court until Saturday evening, when the case was ready to go to the jury. On Monday this week the attorneys made their closing arguments to the jury. A. N. Eckstrom made the closing argument for the plaintiff and his address is said by those who heard it to have been a brilliant forensic effort. The closing argument for the defense was made by P. A. McClernan, of Stephen, and was also an able presentation of his side of the case. All day was consumed in delivering these addresses and listening to the judge's charge, the case being left in the jury's hands Monday evening. On Tuesday morning the jury returned a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $15,000. This case attracted considerable interest, the court room being crowded every day. Julius J. Olson and A. N. WARREN HONORS THE OLD SOLDIERS

PATRIOTIC EXERCISES REVIVE MEMORIES OF STIRRING TIMES.

The Memorial Day program on Saturday was indeed a most fitting tribute to the memory of those who nobly fought and died for their country.

At ten o'clock the parade formed at the city hall and was headed by the juvenile band, followed by the old soldiers in a carriage, the children of the public schools carrying flags and banners and last in file the lodges in the city, they making a splendid showing. The procession marched the length of Johnson avenue and then directly to the cemetery, where the exercises were held. The first number was a selection by the band after which the song, Onward Christian Soldiers, was sung.

Rev. N. G. W. Knudtsen next addressed the audience with his usual eloquence, picturing the American people as lovers of human liberty and equality. He also mentioned some of the causes and costs of warfare.

Mr. C. L. Stevens gave a splendid address in which he drew a vivid picture of the Civil war movement. He showed the loyalty of the people of the North, stating that in many towns of 1000 inhabitants, over 200 men enlisted and fought for the preservation of their country. He also pictured the feelings of the people in the towns during the great struggle.

Lastly came the song America, accompanied by the band, this old song again awakening the patriotic fervor of our citizens to a high pitch, followed by the benediction. As the audience dispersed each one journeyed homeward benefitted by having the memories of the great war and the patriotism it taught once more refreshed in their minds.

BUSINESS MEN WIN A BIG BATTLE

Some time ago the business men hurled a challenge at the professionals for a game of baseball. The professionals immediately accepted the challenge, and after looking in dusty corners for bat, uniforms and other baseball paraphernalia, they sought the back yards and began practice for the grueling contest which was to take place on Memorial day.

The two armies met in a friendly manner, as was shown by the way they worked hand in hand in cleaning the battlefield. After a short conference on the side lines, Gen. Bratrud led his brave followers on the field, and in a short time the battle was on in dead earnest. Both teams scored one run during the first inning. The next two innings were exciting as the batters went out in quick order, and neither team scored. During the sixth inning the professionals brought the crowd to their feet when they collected all their forces, and in a short time they placed three more runs to their credit. This only enraged the business men, and in the seventh inning the professionals were swept off the field when the business men scored four times. The final score was 9 to 4 in favor of the business men.

Notes of the Game.

Pollock played an excellent game at third, and Dr. Brutus drew the admiration of the crowd by the manner in which he held down the first base position.

Both pitchers played a good game; Johnson getting nine strike-outs and Bratrud six.

Arthur Sommers was responsible for the defeat of the professionals. In the fourth inning he connected fairly with Bratrud's delivery, bringing in two scores, and in the seventh inning three more runs were brought in by his excellent stick work.

The game was good considering the amount of practice the two teams have had, and it is hoped that the professionals will try to regain their lost laurels at some future date.

E. A. Brekke of Argyle, acted as arbitrator during the game and succeeded remarkably well in keeping peace during the contest.
