The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

VEGETABLE ENTREMENTS.

DINNER MENU.
Brown Potato Soup.
Baked Striped Bass With Maitre d'Hotel Sauce.
Parisian Potatoes.
Baked Salsify.
Bavarian Cream.
Coffee.

SOME nice ways for cooking side dishes for the dinner table are the following:

Baked Salsify.—Scrape and wash and cut in small pieces sufficient salsify and put it into a basin of cold water containing lemon juice or vinegar. Drain and plunge into boiling water with a little salt. Cook until tender. Make a white sauce.

Put the drained salsify and sauce on a buttered dish, sprinkle over with breadcrumbs and small bits of butter. Bake brown.

A Welsh Dainty.

Leek Souffles.—Take one ounce each of flour, butter and ham, one pint white stock, a gill of milk and cream, a small onion stuck with a clove, six peppercorns, three whites of eggs, one-half pint well reduced leek puree, a pinch of paprika pepper and salt, soufflé cases. Melt the butter, mix the flour with it and let it cook without coloring. Boil up the stock with the onion and peppercorns and let it reduce to half its original quantity, which would be a gill. Boil up milk and cream together, add to the roux and strain in the stock carefully; cut the ham into small pieces and add also. Stir the sauce well until it boils and let simmer until it is well reduced; rub through a fine sieve (take out the ham), add the leek puree, whisk the whites of eggs to a stiff froth and add to the mixture with the seasoning. When the former is sufficiently cool fill up three parts full some soufflé cases and bake in a moderate oven.

A Delicious Dish.

Mashed Turnips au Gratin.—Two pounds young turnips, one gill Bechamel sauce, one-half pint rich stock, salt, pepper and nutmeg, three ounces butter, one-quarter ounce flour, one medium sized onion and breadcrumbs.

Wash, peel and slice the turnips, put them into cold water with a little salt. Peel and blanch the onion, chop it finely, then cook for ten minutes in an ounce of butter; add the turnips, previously drained. Stir the whole over a slow fire for about fifteen minutes. Melt an ounce of butter, add the flour and cook a little without browning, moisten with the stock and let it boil up while stirring, cook for ten minutes. Now add the turnips to the thickened stock and let simmer for about half an hour. Pass all through a sieve, season to taste with a pinch of sugar, salt, pepper and nutmeg, arrange in a pile on a gratin dish, mask with white sauce, sprinkle with breadcrumbs and divide the remainder of the butter into little bits on the top. Bake and serve immediately.

A ROAD LAW.

The Tice road law of Illinois is one to be studied by every state whose roads are in as bad a condition as those in Illinois. It is certainly a fundamental step.

Good roads are one of the main factors to be considered in the plan of building up any community. With all of the present discussion of marketing conditions we might well include the cost of marketing since the following is true of one of the greatest of our grain states:

"Less than 10 per cent of these roadways are improved, and for one-third of the year the unimproved roads in this state are in many extensive districts practically impassable and unfitted for use by the farmers of the state."

MODEL FARM HOUSES.

The United States Department of Agriculture has issued the first of a series of plans for farm houses, which will enable the farmers to construct inexpensive and more convenient homes. The farm house is the most important building on the farm, and money well spent in the proper planning and building will never be regretted. A very brief survey of the living conditions in almost any rural community will convince anyone that this is an important step. The better living part of the County Agent's work is bound to receive more and more attention.

Exactly.

"Johnny," said the teacher, "who were the two strongest men of olden times?"

"Samson and Hercules."

"Can you tell anything about them?"

"Oh, yes; Samson was a regular Hercules."—St. Louis Star.

She Couldn't Resist.

"Did you give your age when you registered, Mrs. Loughphiz?"

"Certainly. Why shouldn't I?"

"I thought there might not have been room for it on the line allotted to you."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Another Exciting Game.

Friend—What were your sensations in the wreck?

Victim—Just the same as in football. Three couches passed over me and then the doctors came.—Philadelphia Ledger.

If Minnesota were called upon to feed an army of 100,000 brave men called out by Uncle Sam to drive the Huertistas into the sea, it would be one of the softest snaps that ever confronted this good old state. Indeed, if figures do not lie, there would be little difficulty in feeding five times that number, as far as corn and grains are concerned.

Here is the menu which each of the 100,000 Boys in Blue could draw upon in a year's campaign, based on the 1913 Minnesota corn and cereal crop: Corn, as corn pone or corn fritters, 972 bushels; wheat, as bread or hardtack, 680 bushels; oats, as oatmeal porridge, 1,126 bushels; barley, as barley cakes, 348 bushels; rye, as rye bread, 37 bushels. The chance of starvation would be meagre.

Last year Minnesota led her sister states in corn, oats and rye production. The Minnesota State Fair, desirous of keeping the state in leadership, is offering more liberal prizes for corn and grains than ever before. A number of $200 silver cups are to be awarded in the championship classes. A big corn contest is planned for the boys. Agricultural Hall will be rammed to the roof with exhibits this year.
