Deputy Sheriff Nelson, of Polk county, did some Sherlock Holmes' work at East Grand Forks on New Year's Day, when he nabbed two drivers, who were leaving the East Grand Forks brewery between the hours of 7:30 and 1 A. M., with two loads of wet goods.

Buff Papers to be Fashionable

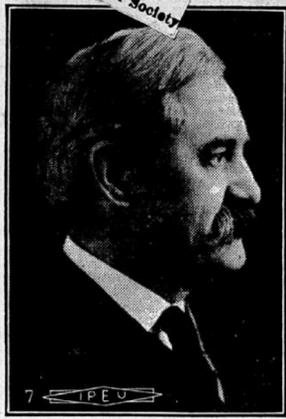

The first local indication of the color shortage will be noticed this week by readers of the Sheaf in the shade of the paper used. This is a natural or yellowish tint which shows the absence of the blues necessary to give the sheet the white color with which the reader is so familiar. This action on the part of the Sheaf is not one of choice, the fact being that the mill the Sheaf gets its paper from is out of coloring matter or is saving whatever they may have.

Now that necessity has again given us what resembles the straw paper of other days, the public had better pretend that it likes the change, as it will do no good to protest. Soon, we fear, all the newspapers and magazines will have to follow suit and become in fact yellow journals.

She was married to Mr. Sathre at Warren in 1903. Afterwards they moved to Crookston and later to Bemidji, whither the mother and sisters also moved after the father's death. Many Warren friends extend sincere sympathy to the bereaved families.

PREPARE EXHIBITS FOR FARM CROPS SHOW.

Will Marshall County farmers get their full share of the $5,000.00 worth of premiums that are to be offered at the Fifth Annual Farm Crops Show to be held at Crookston the week of Feb. 7th to 12th inclusive? This depends solely on whether the farmers of this county get busy right now with their exhibits. Remember that it will not take as good corn exhibits this year to walk off with the bacon as it did last year. Every county failed to make the corn showing made last year, and if you have some fairly good corn, select the best carefully and enter it. With the grain there should be a wonderful showing this year, and there will be some splendid prizes offered. See to it that Marshall County gets its full quota of blue ribbons, and the only way to do this is for every farmer to get into the game. If the farmers are not interested, let them suggest it to their sons, and help them to make the selections of wheat, oats, corn, barley, rye, flax, etc., and get into the game as progressive farmers. It will make better farmers of them and spur them on to greater efforts next year. They have not only the big association premiums to strive for, but the county prizes as well.

Another thing, plan on coming for the entire week, or if that is impossible, let some of the family attend each day. The Farm Crops Show is the great annual Clearing House for the best farmers in the Great Minnesota Red River Valley. Leading farmers will be heard, and Stock Raisers, Poultrymen, and farmers who diversify will be present, as well as many of the leading speakers of the country, who will not only give you food for thought after you go home, but entertain you. Attend this big annual event and add your influence toward making the Minnesota Red River Valley the most prosperous and most progressive agriculture empire in the world.

Suddenly Summoned By Death.

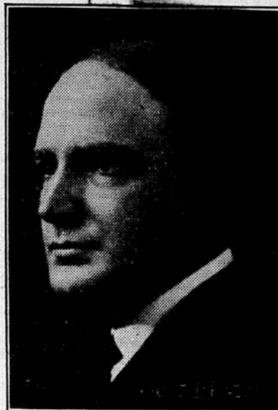

Charles Russell Wood died suddenly at his home in town of Bristlet, at 6 o'clock on Saturday morning, Jan. 8, 1916, the cause of death being apoplexy.

Deceased had been in his usual health up to the time that he received the fatal stroke. On the evening before he had brought his daughter, Ruth, home from Warren, where she is attending school, and appeared to be in a happy, jovial frame of mind just as he always was. But he who holds the lives of all humans in the hollow of his hand had in his wisdom decreed to call this servant from the toil and cares of this world to His eternal rest.

Deceased was born at Waldron, Ill., on April 9, 1860, hence his age was 55 years and some months at the time of death. In the state of Illinois he grew up, married, reared a family and followed the occupation of farming until in the spring of 1906, when he and family moved to Minnesota, settling on a farm that had been purchased a few miles south of Warren. Since coming here, deceased has become known as a successful and progressive farmer, and a good neighbor and citizen, who was always willing to do his share, and more than his share, for the up-building of the new community. He was genial and cheerful and always ready to lend a helping hand to those needing assistance in one way or another.

Deceased is mourned immediately by the wife who survives him and the following children: Fred H. Wood, of Herscher, Ill.; Arthur L. Wood, who lives on a farm of his own adjoining the father's; and Robert A., Mildred Ruth, and Russell Charles, who stay at home. Many relatives and friends also mourn a good man's departure.

Mr. Wood had always affiliated with the M. E. church, and in the M. E. church in this city the funeral was conducted on Tuesday, Jan. 11, at 2 p. m. Appropriate songs were sung and an impressive discourse was preached by Rev. Bartholow. Members of the M. W. A. lodge of which deceased was a member, and neighbors and friend from the country around the city, filled the church to overflowing. The floral tributes were very beautiful, including several set pieces. The son from Illinois had come here to join the other members at the bier of the departed father. After the service in the church a large procession of mourners escorted the remains to Greenwood cemetery, where they will rest until the morn of resurrection. Peace to the memory of a good man and useful citizen. To all who mourn this community extends its most heartfelt sympathy.

J. A. A. Burnquist
Governor of Minnesota

TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM TO BE AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

It has now been decided practically that the sanatorium for consumptives is to be located at Thief River Falls. The commission to locate the institution has finally agreed that that city is the logical and most convenient points for the sanatorium, now that Pennington and some other counties will join in establishing and maintaining same. The controversy as to the location, has been settled amicably to all concerned, so we are informed.

State Bank Re-elects old Officers.

At the bank meeting in the banking rooms at the State Bank of Warren last evening, all the old officers were re-elected, they being as follows: O. H. Taralseth, President; H. L. B. Taralseth and C. A. Nelson.

At this meeting the surplus was increased from $15,000 to $25,000, which of itself is good evidence of the bank's flourishing condition as well as of its stability. The business of the past year has been very satisfactory.
