THE coming city campaign promises to be the most interesting political event in the history of Minneapolis. The Republicans effected an organization several weeks ago, after a fight which came near destroying the organization. And, although the "chosen few" have worked assiduously, and flatter themselves that they have put up all fences. and "fixed" things generally, there is an element in the party which is liable to break the yoke, and precipitate a rupture. It looks much like "diamond cut diamond." The Democracy, on the other hand, although slow to organize, are resolute. They now hold the reins to the city government, and with proper and judicious generalship during the pending campaign, oan and will succeed. Without the contaminating influences of money, the city is Democratic, and consequently if the party works in harmony and keeps pace with the cashiers of the Republicans, make strong and popular nominations, sees that every vote is registered, and then sees that every voter deposits his vote, there can be little or no question as to the result.

THE Republicans of Minneapolis will hold their city convention on March 6th. They have organized as best they could, and have unanimously decided upon the "high moral" war cry as the motto of the campaign.

The special work of the meeting will be the consideration of that voluminous building ordinance, which is over six columns in length, printed in fine type. Chopin. The compositions of Chopin opened for the piano a new era. They run the risk. however, of remaining unintelligible from a lack of knowledge of the master's manner of execution, of his intentions, of his mode of viewing the instrument. Upon paper his compositions are different from what they are in their adequate tone of life. As an expressiou of the instrument they are to be placed above the compositions of Weber. They go a step further—they maintain a first step in piano literature. They rank with the ideas of a Novalis, or a Heine. They cannot be arranged, nor be introduced by other instruments. They are the soul of the piano. They embody the instrument rather than the speculative idea. They are often great within narrow limits. They are elegiac—lyrical rather than cosmic. But from the standing point of the creator's nationality they are ideal—in the history of the spirit of music they are im-mortal. If we glance over the collected works of Chopin we involuntarily exclaim; "So much in so little! Scarcely sixty-four authentic opus numbers, and yet so much within the domain of the intellect." What. might not be said about the finished technique of Chopin? Aud in this respect he stands high above Weber, and what not about his musical principle, his harmony, his modulation, his management of the piano in general, of the left hand in particular. His tone coloring is Rahyaelistic. He is in truth the Raphael of the piano. Not in the however, are his Madonnas to be sought, but in life .- The Continent.

THE MORMONS.

The Startling Statistical Record

Which These People Produce. Earl S. Goodrich, Esq., of this city, who is engaged in mining enterprises in Utah, has written an able and exhaustive letter upon the Mormon question. After reviewing the crime at length his letter presents the following forcible statistics:

The criminal statistics of Utah are kept with unusual precision and care. Not only the nativity of criminals is registered, but the character of religious belief or non-belief, as the case may be. This system furnishes a sound basis for the prosecution of the inqui-ry in hand. These statistics for the years prior to 1882 have been published, and the use of the facts adduced from the criminal records of 1881 by the Hon. J. W. Barclay, M. P., in an article which lately appeared in the Nineteenth Century, has exci ted much comment here and abroad. This gentleman stated that, with Mormons constituting the bulk of the population of Salt Lake City (in 1881 there were about 18,500 Mormons to 5,500 non-Mormons), the convicts confined in the city prison were 29, and in the county prison 6, but of these only 9 were Mormons. In the territorial peni-tentiary there were 51 convicts, but only 5 of them were Mormons, and of these 2 were there for polygamy. Out of 125 prisoners in the lock-up, 11 only were Mormons, and some of these for polygamy. The returns of arrests in Salt Lake City in the same year showed 169 Mormons against 851 non Mor mons. That is, with over three-quarters of the population of Salt Lake City, the Mormons furnished only one-sixth of the num-ber of arrests in 1881. These records, which correspond substantially with those of former years, certainly exhibit the Mormons in a favorable light compared with those who denounce them as licentious, brutal and de-The statistics at hand for 1882, which, it is believed, have not hitherto been published, cover a wider field, taking in all the populous districts of the territory. The total number of all arrests for crimes and misdemeanors in those localities during 1882 was 2,198, of which the seventy-eight per cent. of the Mor-mon population furnished 300, and the twenty-two per cent. of the non-Mormon 1,898. A tabular exhibit of the grosser crimes embodied in the above total shows.

The criminal record for Salt Lake City for 1882, shows that, in a population of about 25,000, divided between Mormons and non-Mormons as nineteen to six, the total num-ber of arrests was 1,561, of which 188 were Mormons and 1,378 non-Mormons. Classed by sex the number of Mormon men and boys was 177, non-Mormon 1,271; Mormon women, 11; non-Mormon, 102. Of the sixty-six houses where beer and liquor were reailed by the glass, sixty were kept by non-Mormons, and the remaining six, nominally Mormons, were not entitled to participate in the sacament of the church by reason of their calling. The fifteen billiard rooms and the bowling alleys, and the seven gambling bouses, were all kept by non-Mormons. The six brothels had non-Mormon proprie-

Mormon inmates. If it should be suspected that these territorial and city exhibits show an unfair discrimination in favor of the Mormon popula tion through the sympathy of Mormon police officers and magistrates, such suspicion will be removed by the summary of the re-cords of the territortal penitentiary for the same year. It will be recollected that for the conviction of this class of criminals,

The tabular statement of the arrests throughout the territory for 1882 furnishes food for varied reflection, One application only will be made. If those practicing polygamy are, as a class, actuated by the licentious motives with which they are charged why is it that the affiliated crimes of prostitution, brothel-keeping, lewd conduct, insulting women, exposing person, attempting rape, obsene and profane language, occasioned in all 179 arrests, are so nearly monomolized by the non-Mormon element, that the proportion should be 35 to 1? Crime breeds its congeners; and does not this table of crime furnish proof of the general honesty of those who enter the polygamons state?

Grave Robbing Ghouls. More definite facts are learned to-night in regard to the grave robbing that came to light yesterday, and caused the most intense excitement there. The parties arrested were James Allen, S. A. Morris, Samuel Fletcher and James Orr on a warrant sworn out by Maj. Brown. They were taken before Justice Miller, on the charge of grave robbery and examined. Bail was fixed at $2,000 each, which Allen and Fletcher succeeded in giving. The others will probably remain in jail till the session of court. The evidence disclosed that the ghoulish work had been carried on for some time and the bodies of several recently deceased citizens have been exhumed to be sent to Ann Arbor and other medical colleges, one of which is in Wisconsin. The way the gang managed was this: Allen, who is a retired prize fighter, engaged rooms over the opera house where the "stiffs" were brought and shipped. Morris, one of the accused, is sexton of the cemetery and therefore knows the location and contents of graves. The matter was given away by one of the parties, in a drunken debauch, expos-sing a "stiff" to Attorney Andrews, who recognized it as the body of a well-known citizen deceased a few months since. The remains of several paupers buried at the expense of the county are among those sent away. Those recently bereaved of friends are much excited, and searching signs of rain fail to materialize in an aqueous parties are investigating the cemetery and opening graves. Faulkner, of the sub-committee appointed by the committee of ten to make a report on the pilgrimage to St. Paul, was at work nearly all last night, and with Maj. Hamilton and Mayor Degroat to-day. The report covers many pages, and will be published in pamphlet form to be widely distributed. It will review the whole question from a stand point of the committee giving an impartial statement of the facts laid before them by the officials of Manitoba, and express satisfaction with the new order of things promout that President Hill's asset was made in good faith and in the interest of the region, and will have the effect to greatly encourage immigration and also give new vigor to farmers who had almost despaired of making agriculture profitable.

No Distress in Dakota,

[Special Telegram to the Globe.] MITCHELL, D. T., Feb. 15 .- Rev. Ira N. Pardee, superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal church for Dakota Mission conference has just returned from an extended tour throughout his territory to his home in Mitchell. He says only a crank could formulate the plea of want and poverty for Dakota. His entire district is in a very prosperous condition, and the brightest out look enjoyed by the people. Twenty-five new churches will be built the present year by his church, and he solicits no aid except from the church extension society. Three presiding elders and eighty ministers of the gospel corroborate his statement.

Two new volumes in the new edition of Donald G. Mitchell's works, "Dr. Johns" and "Bound Together," "A Sheaf of Papers," a new collection of essays, have been published. A volume of essays, by George Eliot, will contain all that the author was willing to have republished of her contributons to periodical literature, and some short essay which have not hitherto been printed, is in press and will shortly be published by Black wood & Sons. The Queen's new book, "More Leaves from a Journal of Our Life in the Highlands'

will be published by the middle of February

It is one volume, and will contain eight portraits, Deside many woodcuts from drawings made by the Queen and Princess Beatrice. The new "Life and Literary Remains of Edward Bulwer, Lord Lytton," by his son, will be completed in five volumes. The first two volumes being represented in one, bring. ing the narrative down to Bulwer's twentyseventh year. The light thrown upon Bul wer's literary methods and experience is the most valuable thing about the work, and the disagreement between the novelist and his wife will prove unfortunately the most interesting to the larger number of readers. The terrible domestic trouble of the pair, which became public property in their day is not reached in the first and second volumes. A periodical worthy of support is Kneass Philadelphia Magazine for the blind, whos editor is a blind man. It is printed in raised letters and is published semi-monthly by N B. Kneass, Jr. The magazine is a succes not so much through its list of subscribers among the blind as it is through the interest manifested by others in behalf of their friends. THE MILITIA OF CANADA.

Speech by Lord Lansdowne, Showing their Relations to their Great Neighbor Across the Sea. OTTAWA, Feb. 15 .- At the annual meeting of the Dominion Artillery association, Lord Lansdowne, in his speech, said: "You are not, and I hope never will be, a military nation in the sense in which some European sions a great victory to the farmers and hold in the sense in which some European powers are. Your people have their peaceful pursuits, and are engaged in the development of the resources of the country. Your only coterminous neighbor is a great nation, with which you are upon the most friendly terms, which you are upon the most friendly terms, and whose relations with you are absolutely unclouded. They are united to you by the ties of descent, language and a common love of free institutions. Again, you form part of an empire, which you may depend upon will never quarrel with you gratuitously or for selfish purpose. For all these reasons the people of Canada are content to entrust what might be called their national insurance to an army of very moderate size, and sacrifice of time and attention of those who are the members of the different forces."
