

THE CITY.

CITY GLOBULES.

Yesterday was an off day in police circles.

A sheriff from some neighboring state was applying for a requisition from the governor yesterday.

Mayor O'Brien on yesterday signed the new sewer bonds, which will be ready for delivery to-day.

Winter still lingers in the lap of spring. The old wretch ought to give his gentle successor a chance.

The district court will probably order a venire for its fortnightly quota of thirty-five jurors to-day.

Such was the disturbance in the upper tier at the Grand last evening that the police were telephoned for.

There was another scrimmage among the sixty tramp lodgers at the city hall last night, and some of them were placed in the cells.

Prof. Garratt will give one of his delightful organ recitals at the House of Hope church next Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The counties of Nicollet, Marshall and McLeod are the first to send in their state tax settlements for the quarter to the state auditor.

Chas. Mason came in from the county yesterday and tackled enough bug juncos to knock his silly. He was given a free ride to the lock-up.

Ex-Officer Pettit called on Mayor O'Brien yesterday and asked to have his case re-heard. He was told that this would be impracticable.

The case of Wm. J. Bell vs. Wm. C. Severn, for malicious prosecution, has been continued by Judge Wilkin to the next term of the district court.

A considerable number of the pupils of the Franklin school called upon Mr. S. S. Taylor, the principal, yesterday afternoon, at his residence and had quite a pleasant time for an hour or two.

Assistant Secretary of State Nordlin received many congratulations yesterday and opened a box of Pennsylvania long-nines in honor of the occasion.

A jury brought in a verdict for T. Ayd in his suit for damages to property by grading of 8000 yesterday, and also of $213.72 for Mary Ackerman in a similar suit.

Little Jumbo, the Minneapolis dwarf, for several nights a sleeper at the city hall, will reform this morning, and start the orange business on a capital of seventy-two cents.

A decree of divorce was granted in the district court yesterday, in the case of Rosa Kitzmann vs. John Kitzmann on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Mr. Blumenthal's store, which was robbed by a couple of tramps Tuesday night, is located at 121 West Third street, and is not a second hand store as designated. His stock is entirely new and fresh.

The fire department has sold five condemned horses for $435 and added two more new ones to their equine force who are being broke in to duty on hook and ladder No. 1.

Mr. John Lane, of Hyde Park, Cook county, Ill., aged sixty, states that after six months' suffering with gout and rheumatism without relief, he finally tried St. Jacobs Oil, the great pain-cure, and was cured.

The building committee of the St. Paul chamber of commerce, will meet at the office of the architects, Messrs. Carpenter & Teitz, to-day (Thursday), at 3 o'clock, to decide on the bids for the building of the chamber.

A private council is being talked of among the occupants of the state capitol to determine the right to occupancy of certain parts of that building, over all which common Bunting's beauty still serenely smiles.

Governor Hubbard, Attorney General Hahn and Secretary of State Von Baumback, in the capacity of the state auditor board, made an official examination of the condition and accounts of the state treasury yesterday.

An entire new set of New England spruce ladders, the toughest and most reliable known, was received at the central fire hall yesterday, wherewith to new dress hook and ladder No. 1. Accompanying them were also three small ladders to add to the outfit of No. 2.

Dr. J. C. Currier, a leading dentist in Mankato, passed through the city yesterday for a two week's visit to Montana to look after stock business in that territory. He was accompanied by G. F. Piper, of the Wildcat Cattle company of Mankato, who is going out to look after the interests of that company's stock ranch in that territory.

Col. W. H. Taylor, state librarian, has notice of 109 volumes of the acts of the British Parliament, which have been forwarded by steamer, and are detained for some unknown reason in the New York custom house.

The managers of the Home of the Friendless appreciate the kindness and good will which has always been extended towards the institution by all classes of our community. A proper regard for their responsibility, however, compels them to say that they cannot permit entertainments of any kind to be advertised for the benefit of the home, without definite authority previously obtained from the board.

PERSONAL.

Hon. N. P. Clark, of St. Cloud, is at the Merchants.

R. B. Griffith, of Grand Forks, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Presnell, of Duluth, are at the Windsor.

Henry Johns, of Red Wing, is in the city visiting his father.

Col. Allen, of the Merchants hotel, left yesterday for the east.

H. T. Hildebrand and wife, of Lyle, Minn., are at the Metropolitan.

Alfred Walls, of Redwood Falls, was at the state house yesterday.

N. H. Chittenden was in the city yesterday, en route to Northfield.

Dr. F. L. Roberts, of Stillwater, visited friends at the state capitol yesterday.

S. Buford, the leading merchant at Virginia, S. C., is at the Merchants hotel.

Capt. J. A. Reed, warden of the Stillwater penitentiary, visited the state auditor yesterday.

G. W. Ehle, of elevator fame, and D. Grant, of Fairbault, were at the Merchants yesterday.

Albert Wallin, Fargo, and S. C. Fitzgerald and wife, Chicago, were at the Metropolitan yesterday.

D. J. Knox, of Aitkin, auditor of Aitkin county and prominent in business therein, was in the city yesterday.

James F. Wagner, representing the largest hosiery factory in the world, at Coblenz, Germany, is on a business trip to St. Paul.

James Ross, a prominent contractor for the Northern Pacific Railroad company, with headquarters at Winnipeg, was at the Merchants hotel yesterday.

About fifty members of the "Pirates of Pezance" yesterday, bore down on the Windsor hotel yesterday. They were taken in tow by mine host Summers.

Mr. P. Gallagher, a leading packer of Winnipeg, was in the city yesterday, and Martin Delaney says that when his customers see the corn fed beef and pork purchased by him in St. Paul it will make them smile.

Fires.

DOGEVILLE, Wis., March 5.—Mineral point zinc works were damaged by fire last evening to the extent of $8,000. Cause was a defective flue. Work will be resumed in about ten days.

Too Much Silver.

BOSTON, March 5.—The produce exchange protest against the continuation of the coinage of silver dollars.

TORONTO, Ont., March 5.—The Oshawa Cabinet company has assigned. Nominal assets $96,000; liabilities $52,000.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Pirates of Pezance.

The audience that assembled at the opera house last evening to witness the presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's opera entitled the "Pirates of Pezance," was a large one, and was probably the best disappointed one that was ever gathered within the walls of that building. Many who went there did so for the purpose of complimenting the people of Stillwater, who had the good taste and nerve to attempt to give this pleasant opera, and many others went out of curiosity, but none with any expectation of witnessing an entertainment of such decided merit as was given. It was a surprise throughout from the beginning to the end, and a presentation of the opera in a substantial, agreeable and meritorious manner. The success was all the greater from the fact that it was wholly an amateur performance, in which as a general thing St. Paul people do not place much reliance. This entertainment, however, was a very marked exception, and the merits of the performers, nor Nilsson, nor Hank; none of the five thousand dollar night singers were there, and yet those present listened with pleasure and went away satisfied with having witnessed a very even, honest, conscientious and pleasant presentation of the opera. There was something so fresh and unhackneyed in it that it captured the audience from the first, and the interest was maintained throughout, and all the well known gems and striking parts of the opera were encored generously and enthusiastically. This organization has presented the opera twice in Stillwater, and consequently was pretty well up in all the requirements necessary to give it successfully. Mr. Seibert's orchestra is also familiar with the music, so that there was no hitch anywhere and everything moved along smoothly.

Soon after the orchestra commenced the overture the green baid curtain went up disclosing the new drop curtain, which has already been described in these columns. It is very elaborate and beautiful, and fully sustains all that has been said of it. The appearance of the new curtain was a signal for applause. The opera itself is so well known to St. Paul people that it is not necessary to mention it particularly, and as the entertainment was wholly amateur no particular criticism is necessary. A large portion of the opera is chorus work, and in this respect the company was very strong. The chorus was large and well drilled, and sung with great precision, accuracy and confidence. Many of the concerted parts were as well as some of the solos were encored. It is seldom that we have had better chorus work than that given last evening. Miss Laura B. Dexter made a very pleasing Ruth, and received an encore and a bouquet for her opening song, and grew in favor with the audience as the opera progressed. Miss R. S. Davis, as Mabel, also received the kind regards of the audience. Mr. Masterman made a good Pirate King, and H. W. Davis was very satisfactory as Gen. Stanley. The whole entertainment was a very enjoyable affair, and reflected great credit upon all connected with it.

Henrietta Chanfrau.

The engagement of Mr. and Mrs. Chanfrau opens at the Grand to-night, when the public may anticipate a round of very enjoyable impersonations. This evening Mrs. Chanfrau will appear in her splendid performance of Grace Shirley, a character which is marked by artistic merit and great dramatic strength.

Henrietta Chanfrau's name is identified with the highest triumphs of art. She was selected by H. L. Bateman to second his daughter, Miss Kate Bateman, in her great engagement at Niblo's Garden, New York. She also supported Edwin Forrest at the same theater, and was by that celebrated tragedian pronounced to be "the best emotional actress on the American stage."

This opinion was enthusiastically repeated by Fechter. Mrs. Chanfrau was the "Ophelia" in Edwin Booth's memorable run of "Hamlet" for 100 nights in New York. Her "Esther Ecceles," "May Edwards," "Miss Moulton," "Grace Shirley," "Isabel Yane," and "Dora" (all of which she originally personated in America) have never been equaled in tenderness and beauty. Mrs. Chanfrau was born in 1842, and is a niece of Gen. Beuregard by marriage.

Haverly's Minstrels.

Haverly's minstrel troupe, having lately returned from their European tour, will visit our city the coming week, and open an engagement of three nights and a Wednesday matinee at the Grand, commencing Monday, March 10. The exchanges speak of Haverly's company as being the strongest minstrel show that ever toured the country. Sale of seats for the entire engagement begins at the box office Saturday at 9 a. m.

STILLWATER.

Samuel Conger is reported as quite ill with cerebral spinal meningitis.

S. R. Stinson, vice president of the North Western Manufacturing and Car company, returned from the east yesterday.

All ladies interested in benevolent work are requested to meet at Mrs. Pearn's, on Thursday afternoon to see for the poor.

The female, arrested for drunkenness, was yesterday let off under a suspension of sentence, she on her part promising to leave the city.

The European restaurant on Chesnut street, now numbers among the past. The former proprietors will adopt the popular plan for getting wealthy by turning the dining room into a billiard saloon.

Two prisoners from Hennepin county were placed behind the penitentiary bars yesterday. Samuel Lewis is down for four years for feloniously entering a dwelling house and Alonzo Flamen, for attempt to rob, for fifteen months.

John C. Nethaway is talked of as the Democratic candidate for the office of municipal judge. As is generally known the gentleman above named is at present acting as special judge, having been appointed to the position by Gov. Hubbard, vice-Caulkins resigned.

One of the actors in a sort of a one horse show that performed here on Tuesday night, was pleased to go out of his road while on the stage, to make an uncalculated attack on a member of the police force of this city. A humorous joke is at times and under certain circumstances, permissible. But for an entire stranger to charge a faithful and worthy officer with conduct was certainly neither witty or in good taste.

As was stated in the GLOBE of Monday morning, the working men of this city and others, who felt themselves aggrieved at finding their names on the black list, are concerting measures for purchasing their supplies in St. Paul, merchants in that city having offered favorable terms to those favoring them with their patronage. As a matter of course people do not like to be proclaimed tramps, worthless or slow. But then it would perhaps be well to consider that but very few of the business men in Stillwater had any part in getting up the little book, and as these gentlemen have always dealt honorably with all classes of the community, it is scarcely fair to make the innocent suffer with the guilty.

The resolution for increased license was given its first reading at the meeting of the city council on Tuesday evening. At the next assembling of the city fathers, the measure will come up for final action. Messrs. Marsh, Hening and Durant, on behalf of those who favor an increase, are present and have their reasons for favoring higher license. According to the city ordinance regulating the matter, the council has power to grant license for one year, not for a longer or shorter period. Consequently no certain time can be set when the law shall go into effect. Neither can it be made retroactive to compel those who have previously obtained their license to pay the increased fee. Whether the measure can be got through the present council, remains to be seen.

Resuming Work.

PITTSBURG, March 5.—Fires were lighted in two of the green glass bottle factories of McCully & Co. to-day, and the men were notified to prepare for resumption in a few days at last year's wages. The strikers are jubilant over this second break in the manufacturer's success this week, and regard it as evidence that the lockout is about over.

A HUNTER'S STORY.

How He Was Overcome and the Way by Which He Was Finally Saved.

(Correspondence Spirit of the Times.)

An unusual adventure which recently occurred during our correspondence "while hanging at Brockners in this state is so timely and contains so much that can be made valuable to all readers, that I venture to reproduce it entire:

The day was a most inclement one and the snow quite deep. Rabbit tracks were plentiful, but they principally led in the direction of a large swamp, in which the rabbits could run without difficulty, but where the hunter constantly broke through the thin ice sinking into the half-frozen mire to his knees. Notwithstanding these difficulties, the writer had persevered, although a very small bag of game was the result. While tramping about through a particularly marshy portion of the swamp, a middle-aged man suddenly came into view, carrying a muzzled loading shotgun and completely loaded down with game of the finest description. Natural curiosity, aside from the involuntary envy that instinctively arose, prompted the writer to enter into conversation with the man, with the following result:

"You've had fine success; where did you get all that game?"

"Right here, in the swamp."

"It's pretty rough hunting in these parts, especially when a man goes up to his waist every other step."

"Yes, it's not very pleasant, but I am used to it and don't mind it."

"How long have you hunted hereabouts?"

"Why, bless you, I have lived here most of my life and hunted up to ten years ago every year."

"How does it happen you omitted the last ten years?"

"Because I was scarcely able to move, much less hunt."

"I don't understand you?"

"Well, you see, about ten years ago, after I had been tramping around all day in this same swamp, I felt quite a pain in my ankle. I didn't mind it very much, but it kept troubling me for a day or two, and I could see that it kept increasing. The next thing I knew, I felt the same kind of a pain in my shoulder and I found it pained me to move my arm. This thing kept going on and increasing, and though I tried to shake off the feeling and make myself think it was only a little temporary trouble, I found that it did not go. Shortly after this my joints began to ache at the knees and I finally became so bad that I had to remain in the house most of the time."

"And did you trace all this to the fact that you had had so much in this swamp?"

"No, I didn't know what to lay it to, but I know that I was in misery. My joints swelled until it seemed as though all the flesh I had left was bunched at the joints; my fingers crooked in every way and some of them became double-jointed. In fact, every joint in my body seemed to vie with the others to see which could become the largest and cause me the greatest suffering. In this way several years passed on, during which time I was pretty nearly helpless. I became so nervous and sensitive that I would sit before me in the chair and call to people that entered the room not to come near me, or even touch my chair. While all this was going on, I felt an awful burning heat and fever, with occasional chills running all over my body, but especially along my back and through my shoulders. Then my back and neck seemed to be boiling and my brain to be on fire."

"Didn't you try to prevent all this agony?"

"Try, I should think I did try. I tried every doctor that came within my reach and all the proprietary medicines I could hear of and I used washes and liniments enough to last me for all time, but the only relief I received was by injections of morphia."

"Well, you talk in a very strange manner for a man, who has tramped around on a day like this in a swamp like this. How in the world do you account for it?"

"Because I am completely well and as sound as a dollar. If I may seem strange, but it is true that I was entirely cured; the rheumatism all driven out of my blood; my joints reduced to their natural size and my strength increased as ever. It is all due to the fact that that great and simple remedy, Warner's Safe Rheumatic Cure, which I believe saved my life."

"And so you now have no fear of rheumatism?"

"Why, no. Even if it should come on, I can easily get rid of it by using the same remedy."

The writer turned to leave, as it was growing dark, but before I had reached the city precisely the same symptoms I had just described came upon me with great violence. Impressed with the hunter's story, I tried the same remedy, and within twenty-four hours all pain and inflammation had disappeared. If any reader is suffering from any manner of rheumatic or neuralgic troubles and desires relief let him by all means try this same great remedy. And if any readers doubt the truth of the above included statements, let them write to A. A. Coates, Brookmere, N. Y., who was the man with whom the writer conversed, and convince themselves of its truth or falsity. J. R. C.

Wonderful Automotons.

Danbury, Conn. Boston Globe. Many of the tiny screws that are used in this country in watch-making are turned out on three little automatic machines in this city. One of them, while turning out a perfect screw at a fair rate of speed, is considerably improved on by its companions. The machine takes up but little room. A man could carry it under his arm without much difficulty. A wire is fed through a tube into the machine. It is carried forward by revolving teeth. As it appears a knife cuts away the surplus metal to make the stem for the thread, just as the chisel operates at the lathe of the wood-turner.

As this is finished a small tube, in which the thread is formed, advances and clasps the stem, forms the thread at lightning speed and falls back. As this is done, two knives cut that portion of the wire off, and the completed screws fall down. The wire again advances and the process is repeated. The marvel of the machine is that the size of the screw formed is understood. This week the largest sizes are being made. They are an eighth of an inch in length and it would require 200 of them to weigh an ounce. The thread on the stem is so small that it is scarcely discernible to the naked eye. Each machine will make 5,000 screws a day. The machines have been at work little more than a month and are the result of years of patient investigation.

REAL ESTATE.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 29, 1884. MESSRS. COCHRAN & NEWPORT, Real Estate, cor. Jackson and Fifth streets.

Our complimentary notice that "one of the shrewdest of that generation had predicted," etc., was shown to me this morning.

What I did say on that occasion was: "That as the past growth of thirty-five years had been wonderful, the immediate years would, in my opinion, be still more so. Set one point of the compass in the Minnesota transfer yard, half way between the center of St. Paul and Minneapolis, move the other point to a distance of ten miles, then sweep a circle which will take in a district twenty miles in diameter, within that circle you have to-day nearly one quarter million of people, that when the sun shall go down on December 31, 1899, closing out the nineteenth century, and rising on January 1, 1900, ushering in the twentieth, it shall look down upon a million of men, women and children, whose names and residence will be within the charmed circle. I verily believe it; past events and present indications confirm it, and I am willing to father the prediction as far as the art preservative of arts can send it."

Your Wright's Addition is near the center of the circle. I have advised my boys and other young men and women, to invest there, or thereabouts, and, when the year 1900 shall be written, there will be no lots for sale at $300 to $500, all will have increased from ten to twenty fold. F. R. DELANO.
