The third anniversary of the Society Vega was held in the hall of the order on east Seventh street Monday night. About one hundred members were present and a most interesting programme was offered, the exercises consisting of vocal and instrumental music and recitations. The entertainment wound up with a dance.

The council committee on police met yesterday afternoon, but was unable to transact any business owing to the fact that the mayor had locked up the papers upon which action was to be taken and gone to Chicago to attend the Iniquitous banquet. It was merely an oversight on the part of the mayor, but it was nevertheless an effectual check on the action of the police committee.

Clerk Nichols of the supreme court gave notice to Clerk Bell of the district court yesterday that the former body had set aside the judgment of the lower court in the case of Emily C. Johnson, appellant, vs. Albert Kirchoff, respondent, and ordered a new trial, also that appellant recover of Kirchoff $55, the costs of the supreme court hearing, and be granted an execution for the enforcement of its payment.

At Market hall last evening was in point of excellence and entertainment one of the most successful and brilliant the society have ever had the pleasure of presenting to a St. Paul audience, and those present had a grand round of pleasure. Comparatively the audience was small, a fact not commendable to the good taste or generosity of the music-loving people of St. Paul.

About ten o'clock last night a young woman that is regarded as a street-walker went to the city hall and complained that a man had snatched five dollars from her, at a house on Fourth street, between Market and St. Peter streets. An officer was sent over with her and the man was arrested and taken to the city hall, where he was fully identified by the girl. On searching him a solitary five dollar bill was found on his person. When asked if this was the bill the man stole from her the girl said it was not, and that the bill the man stole was an older bill than the one found on him. Both were locked up.

AMUSEMENTS.

Wanted a Partner.—Esmeralda, the Coming Attraction.

The Grand contained another fair-sized audience last night to witness "Esmeralda, a Partner," and while the reception accorded the play was most enthusiastic the turnout was not such as it should have been. "Wanted a Partner," is full of the light sparkling wit and humor that make people laugh. It does not claim any higher mission, but what it undertakes is accomplished admirably, and this is more than many companies of greater pretensions succeed in doing. At a burlesque performance it is hard to beat, and it is calculated to please any audience. The several characters in the sketch are impersonated by people of decided talent, the performance of Mr. Graham being a host of itself. This gentleman has got Lawrence Barrett, the tragedian, down to a fine point, and his other impersonations of Fritz and Irving are capital. Next in point of interest are the sketches of Mr. Kendall, an exceedingly bright comedian, who keeps the audience in constant laughter.

The roles of Messrs. Barton, Radcliffe, Nash and Eytzinger are all well taken, and the ladies, Miss Lowell, Miss Maynard and Miss Sophie Hummel, a sprightly sourette, all perform well. The entertainment is full of delightful nonsense, and the patrons of the Grand should not fail to see it.

There will be a matinee performance to-day, and the engagement closes to-night. On each occasion handsome souvenirs will be given to the ladies.

The sale of seats for the engagement of the Madison Square company in "Esmeralda" opens at 10 o'clock this morning.

This beautiful drama will be produced at the Grand to-morrow night.

Mr. Joseph Arthur, business manager of the "Bunch of Keys" company, is in the city arranging for the appearance of his attraction commencing on the 24th inst.

The object of the Union is to maintain local boards in the territory within the jurisdiction of its membership, compare notes of work, and to fix upon proper and uniform practice in the business of underwriting. There are forty members composing this Union, the residents of Wisconsin and Minnesota, thirty-seven of whom are present here transacting its business with closed doors, it being of no general public interest. President C. W. Potter of Milwaukee presides and J. C. Griffith of Madison is secretary pro tem.

The Minneapolis members in attendance are E. B. Ames, J. H. Coswell, H. C. Hill, C. H. Lord, W. E. Page, Chas. W. Sexton, W. B. McGori, D. M. McBean and J. P. Howlett. St. Paul, A. H. Crutcher, J. H. An Authentic Statement. Yesterday Col. C. W. Griggs was in receipt of a letter written at Thompson Falls, M. T., under date of April 13, by his partner, S. S. Glidden, who is at present at the point named for the purpose of establishing a branch of the St. Paul wholesale grocery house of Glidden, Griggs & Co. In this letter Mr. Glidden says: "The reports from the mines to-day are good, and I saw two lots of very fine nuggets. The parties that own the Mother Lode were offered by an old miner the sum of $8,000 to let him work on it seven hours. There seems to be a placer of gold on the lode two feet in diameter and of a quartz vein." Such a report is of the highest value, as it is an extract from a private letter from one business partner to another and written for no other effect than to make a truthful presentation of the situation and prospects as they actually are, and not to boom mining stocks, or for any ulterior purpose. In his own visits to the mines Col. Griggs says he became well assured of the plentiful existence of gold and the richness of the mines. His firm, Col. Griggs says, are not interested in the mines except through the incident that their development affords them an opportunity to establish and build up a wholesale trade in supplying the region with goods in the grocery line. Whatever the good and writing before there is no doubt of the facts being as they are here presented.

Kemper lives on upper Rice street beyond the city limits, and Kieser and the stolen horse and wagon were found in close proximity six miles from the scene. Kieser is said to have served two sentences for horse-stealing, one about ten and the other three years ago, the crimes being committed at Wyoming and in Mount View. He will be tried before Judge Burr at 9 o'clock this morning.

The Brown and Horan Case.

The appeal of Horan and Brown for a new trial was argued in the supreme court yesterday morning by County Attorney Egan and John D. O'Brien and submitted. The appellants argue they have new and important evidence, and produced some affidavits, to show that they could not have been present at the time Rev. Dr. Thomas was assaulted. They further claim that the hearsay evidence of the neighbor whom Dr. Thomas first called to his aid cannot be admitted as testimony in the case. On the latter point it is evident that the decision of the higher court will mainly hinge as there are many supreme rulings against such hearsay evidence, and then again there are supreme court rulings which admit it. The proceedings yesterday at any rate produced some doubts as to the guilt of these particular parties of the assault and robbery in some legal minds.
