Daily Globe Department at Mankato Devoted to Developing and Advancing the Southern Portion of the State.

The office of the Southern Minnesota Department of The Globe is in charge of Mr. E. F. Barrett, with headquarters at Mankato, the business and editorial rooms being on the second floor of the First National bank building formerly occupied as the telephone exchange.

Special Reports from the Globe Mankato office MAY 7.

MANKATO.

The weather is beautiful once more. The Spanish Students at Union hall tonight.

What does Mankato need the most? A sewerage system.

The regular meeting of the G. A. R. occurred last evening.

Look out for the health inspector and clean up your premises.

The board of education held their regular monthly meeting last evening at the city hall.

The Third Normal school, of St. Cloud, passed the day yesterday at Mankato, meeting the Second Normal here.

A letter from Mrs. O. S. Rosebrook from San Francisco reports that lady as having completely regained her health.

J. F. Harsbarger, from Sioux Rapids, Ia., took in Mankato on route for St. Paul, where he expects to take up his profession of book-keeping.

Hon. Lysander Cook, of Garden City, this county, visited Mankato on yesterday and took in the meeting of the Mankato Dairy and Produce exchange.

An individual somewhat under the influence of the "O" he joyful, told a rather fishy story upon the street about being robbed of a large sum of money and a gold watch while asleep at one of our hotels.

A careful investigation of this case has been made, which had the money and watch—to get. No warrants were issued.

A most elaborate bill of fare from the Hotel Livingston, St. Paul, has reached the editor of this department. The hotel is conducted upon the European plan exclusively, and is a grand place for one to spend money and of course get the best of everything.

Which money is no object, this is a magnificent hotel to go to. It is truly bon ton.

George Roway, who was captured at Kasota by Chief Welch on Tuesday afternoon, was brought before Judge Porter on yesterday on the same charge as the rest of the gang of rascals who assaulted and beat the man in West Mankato on Saturday, and his examination adjourned till to-day at 9 a. m., and was remanded to jail in default of $800 bail.

Win. P. Jones, Thomas J. Jones and John W. Lewis purchased tickets for Wales on yesterday. They are three of the representative farmers of Blue Earth county, and have grown rich in the business of agriculture here. They now cross the ocean to visit the land of their birth and the graves of their ancestors. When they return it is to be hoped that a goodly number of their enterprising countrymen will accompany them.

The Glorious Fourth.

Very elaborate and complete preparations are being made by the management of the Southern Minnesota Live Stock and Fair association for a grand celebration upon our coming National holiday.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors it was decided to proceed immediately with the erection of the fence and guard rail around the track, with the view of holding the celebration within the enclosure.

The following are the committees of arrangements selected from the directors and subscribers of the association:

Executive Committee of the Board of Directors—H. C. Howard, J. C. Curyer, J. H. Long.

Committee on Grounds—J. C. Curyer, P. H. Carney, Geo. Pond.

Committee on Music—B. F. Hutchins, J. Wagon, Sam Pond.

Committee on Provision—Gen. E. M. Pope, Maj. R. H. Rose, Capt. J. R. Beatty.

Committee on Entertainment—Ed. Weaver, I. Longfist, Chas. Wiles, W. G. Hoar.

Committee on Invitation and Reception—J. H. Williams, B. Bangarter, O. C. McCurdy, C. D. Taylor, S. Burgess, H. Himmelmann, Geo. Phillips, Frank Walters, W. H. Pay, W. B. Barry.

Committee on Printing—Jno. C. Wise, Prof. Garvin, Harry Knowlton.

Dairy Exchange.

The regular meeting of the Mankato Dairy and Produce exchange was called to order at the usual hour on yesterday by president M. G. Willard. John C. Noe, secretary.

There were present the usual lot of sellers and one hundred and three lots of butter were offered, aggregating 3,600 pounds. In addition to buyers present upon former occasions, was Mr. J. W. Jagger, of the firm of Hoick & Jagger, St. Paul.

The bidding was not as lively as desirable, as might be owing to the fact that grass made butter is so near at hand and buyers did not seem to wish to lead off heavily with hay butter. The principal buyers were Mr. Potter, Minneapolis, who gathered in 2,120 pounds and Hoick & Jagger, who bought, Total sales, 3,568 pounds. The next regular sale takes on Wednesday, May 21.

BLUE EARTH CITY.

This place is not booming but is coming on in the good legitimate order of things and finds no reason for complaint. It is a substantial town and has a solid look about it.

Its business firms are solid financially, and if such men as Congressman Wakefield and J. T. Neal are not solid specimens physically the writer of this is no judge. Blue Earth City never was wonderfully famous, nor has it ever become infamous. It is noted, however, as the residence of ex-Governor and now member of Congress J. B. Wakefield and Sim Child of the United States post department.

There are several other citizens here, who, like those to be found on every other place on west and middle, their chance to become noted, and whose names are possible on the roll of fame to come to the front with the next turn of the fortune wheel.

Blue Earth City has happily passed over the stage of cheap wooden business buildings, which, like so much powder are ready to flash at the least spark.

From the fine brick court house and finer county jail building, down to the small grocery, everything is solid brick. A few of the old wooden structures remain, but are isolated and do not endanger the rest of the city.

One of the finest business buildings in the city is that of Messrs. Erickson & Hagen, built last year and occupied by them as a general merchandise store below, while the second floor is fitted up as an opera house. The building is of solid brick, and is 40x60 feet in extent. The large store room on the ground floor is well filled with a stock of general merchandise, and the firm appear to be in the enjoyment of a fine trade. The second floor is seventeen feet high in the clear, and is furnished with an excellent stage, and with a large amount of very fine scenery. It is seated with chairs and will accommodate six hundred people. The chairs are arranged so as to be removed at will, and form a nice dancing hall. It is one of the best opera houses in the state, for the size of the place, and is well patronized.

South & Bishop, hardware dealers, are excavating for a large double store to be built at once, of stone basement and brick superstructure. This will add very much to the street when completed.

Frank Deuden, who has been for so many years engaged in the farm machinery trade, has sold the business to a gentleman by the name of Quincy, and will turn his attention in some other direction if he again engages in active business.

Blue Earth City is a "no license" town, and a hard place for a Democrat to live in of course. Paul Filikinstine owns and operates a brewery it is true, but he only sells in five gallon lots or over, and it is rather rough on a poor thirty stinner to have to buy a five gallon lot to get a schooner. These are also four drug stores in the place and are run in a healthy condition apparently. I was struck with the remarkable display of bitters which their shelves contained. All the standard varieties and about a hundred kinds which are now to the public were ranged along in the like soldiers in line of battle waiting to be shot. Poor, frail, suffering humanity must and will have their booze, if they do have to adopt this or some other disguise to cover it up.

I do not mean to say that Blue Earth City is given to drunkenness more than other places. I saw no more drunk men than are to be seen in license towns, but from what I did see I was strengthened in the belief that "prohibition does not prohibit."

I missed the cheerful, cherry voice of Gov. Wakefield when I have always met before when I came to Blue Earth. Of course he is at his post of Washington. His fences are in an admirable order, and he has no occasion to leave his duty and come home to look after them. I think the man who would vote against a governor for this fall will be hard to find, Democrat or Republican, at Blue Earth City. Where a man lives is the place to find out what he is, and the inhabitants of Blue Earth City, where J. B. Wakefield has resided so long, all swear by him.

Blue Earth City has a military company recently organized, and like the rest of our Minnesota warriors presumably "thirsting for gore." It also has two local papers, the Post and Bee, and about everything which a first-class town ought to have, including a skating rink. It is delightfully laid out, and on a highly well drained piece of land, and has some of the most tastefully built residences to be found anywhere, and with such a profusion of shade trees as to make it one of the loveliest places in summer that the state affords.

It is a region of country of unequalled fertility, and which is very thoroughly settled. It must be a desirable place to live.

STILLWATER.

Notwithstanding the two or three minor mishaps, the Parlor Skating rink continues to be liberally patronized by the pleasure loving public.

The main street improvement question was talked over in the city council on Tuesday evening, and then referred to the proper committee.

Married—On Tuesday evening, May 6, at the residence of Hon. J. N. Castle, by Rev. A. D. Roe, Miss Ida Castle to Charles Middleton; all of this city.

The work of rebuilding the interior wall of the prison is not progressing very rapidly, for the reason that the iron roofing can not be obtained as soon as was expected.

Parties who arrived here yesterday from the scene of the late accident on Smoke river, report that the body of Niel Campbell drowned on Sunday, had not been recovered yet.

By the resignation of George Brown, Miller Post, G. A. R. was left without a commander. At the next regular meeting, on Wednesday evening, May 14, the office will be filled by special election.

The walk on the south side of East Pine street will soon furnish good pasturing for a limited number of cows. The planks have entirely disappeared in several places, in all of which the grass is flourishing finely.

The new shop now being erected in the pecanary yard, also the work in the interior of the prison proper, were yesterday inspected by Gov. Hubbard and the architect A. M. Radcliff, of Minneapolis.

Charles T. Jellison and Miss Maggie V. Wissler were married at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. T. McClay, Tuesday evening. The wedding was a very pleasant affair. Mr. and Mrs. Jellison will continue to reside in the city.

Two meetings of the directors of the Stillwater Mills Co. have been held this week, one on Tuesday and the other Wednesday afternoon.

Both for the purpose of making provision for the payment of the company's outstanding indebtedness. It is understood that when the affairs of the company have been permanently settled the mills will again be put in operation, if not sold in the meantime.

THE NEW YORK FAILURES.

Promise That the Marine Bank Will Pay Depositors in Full.

The Affairs of the Firm of Ward & Grant Looking Much Better.

New York, May 7.—All information concerning the future is refused by the officers of the Marine Bank. Notices are posted on the bank's door, from Eyerick Bank, Boston, the Bank of Commerce, of Connecticut, and Davidge & Davis, stating the drafts, checks etc., on the defunct bank, drawn by these parties, will be honored on presentation at the Hanover and Metropolitan banks and the last named firm.

The president and directors of the Marine bank are in secret session. An official statement, it is more than probable the bank will come out all right, the depositors being paid in full.

Conservative brokers say the effect of yesterday's failures is very much overestimated so far as the stock market is concerned, but they believe it may induce some out of town selling by weak holders. It is reported that several large bear operators took advantage of the decline yesterday to cover up their shorts, and expressed a determination to keep out of the market until they can see their way more clearly.

Ferdinand Ward, of Grant & Ward, is at his office to-day. He stated that large amounts of outstanding loans of the firm was settled after business hours last evening.

The supreme court to-day granted several attachments against the property of Ferdinand Ward, of Grant & Ward. The first was granted in the suit of Horace C. Hotchkiss and Jas. C. Burnham, against Ferdinand Ward, U. S. Grant, Jr., Jas. D. Fish, U. S. Grant, and Wm. C. Smith, to recover $4,225 from the defendants as drawers of a check upon the Marine national bank. The check was delivered to plaintiffs, presented at the bank and payment refused. They charge on information and the belief that Ward has left the state with the intent to defraud his creditors, and had removed his property with a like purpose. The next attachment in suit was by Theodore Wilson to recover $1,200 of money deposited for stocks that had been borrowed, and Wilson & Co. offered to return the stock yesterday, and demanded the money deposited, but Ward & Grant refused to receive the stock or return the deposit. The third was granted in a suit by Heath & Quincy, brokers, to recover $548. This money was owed plaintiffs by defendants, and the latter refused to pay.

The statement that the Erie Railway lost heavily by the Marine Bank is denied by President Jewett, who states the bank held but $10,000 to their credit when it closed. The Marine Bank directors are still in session. The bank examiners decline to say anything. The depositors say the bank will pay the depositors in full. The affairs of Grant & Ward are turning out better than expected.

THE MEDICAL MEN.

They Discuss Several Matters of Interest to the Profession.

And Are Excited Over Reckless Granting of Diplomas.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The second day's discussion of the American Medical association opened with a much larger attendance than yesterday. The body of the church was entirely occupied by delegates, and many were compelled to find seats in the galleries.

The president, Dr. Austin Flint, announced the death of Dr. Graves, an eminent surgeon, and a committee was appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of the deceased.

Various committees were named, and the committee appointed to report a resolution for securing more competent medical sanitary services on transoceanic passenger vessels made its report. It stated, that after due consideration a bill was prepared and placed in the hands of Mr. Slouman, M. C., from New York, who introduced it in the house, and it had been referred to the commerce committee. The report was accepted.

Dr. J. V. Shonker, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the section on practical medicine, read a report in which he traced the history of the practice of medicine, materia medica, and physiology, with an extended reference to the Bacillus theory. He referred in severe terms to the tendency manifested on the part of specialists to form cliques, and exclude the rest of the profession from their deliberations. An attempt was thus made to form an aristocracy in the most democratic of professions. These strictures were received with general applause.

The next address was by the chairman of the section of obstetrics and diseases of women.

Dr. T. A. Reamy, of Ohio, and Drs. Buford and Stevens, representatives of the Canadian Medical association, were invited to seats on the platform and made honorary members. An invitation was read from the managers of the New Orleans cotton exposition for the association to hold its next meeting in one of the rooms of the exposition building.

Dr. Henry Smith, of Philadelphia, offered a resolution, which recited that an attempt was now being made to restrict by legislation the practice of the investigation on medical science by experiment on animals. As such restriction is not needed by the medical men, and would interfere with medical progress the resolution provides for the appointment of a standing committee to oppose such legislation by all legitimate means.

Dr. Dalton, of New York, said, this movement originated with an anti-vivisectionist society, and the effect of the proposed legislation would be to step vivisection in colleges and schools. A professor would be unable to show his class the process of digestion or circulation of the blood on a frog's foot. This result was certainly not desirable. The further objects of the society, to prevent needless cruelty would find the cooperation of the medical profession.

The resolutions were referred to a committee.

Dr. Atwood, of St. Louis, offered a resolution, which set forth objections to medical colleges advertising so generally, as tending to increase the number of scholars and lowering the standard.

Dr. Benjamin, of Maryland, followed with an additional resolution, urging upon all medical colleges the necessity of elevating the standard of education, so far at least, as to require a preliminary examination, a three year's course, a register of attendance and credit, and a diploma of diagnostic skill. He said, a medical student could not obtain a diploma without even having felt a man's pulse.

"Everybody wants to elevate the profession, and if we can do it by resolution let us do it," called out a delegate, and this evoked a hearty burst of laughter. Dr. Henry, of New York, rose to speak on the question, and was expressing his opinion in a rather emphatic way about the disgrace which medical colleges were bringing on the profession, when he was interrupted by a motion to lay it on the table, which the president declared carried.

Dr. Henry called out, that every time this question had been brought forward it was squelched in the most unglorified way.

A delegate called the attention of the chair to the fact that he had only five minutes to lay on the table one way. The chair put the motion again, and the result of the vote rose being doubtful, a rising vote was called for, and the association refused to table the motion by a very large vote.

Dr. Henry then resumed the floor, and expressed the opinion that colleges were responsible for the discredit which had fallen upon the profession on account of incompetent teachers. This remark was greeted with applause, and a very large vote was heard.

"There is no use in hissing," exclaimed Dr. Henry, with considerable warmth, "I am an old soldier, and I know that the men who are hissing have some private axe to grind." He then continued his remarks, urging the necessity of elevating the standard of education in the profession.

Dr. Robbins said he intended to report a resolution in regard to medical colleges before the adjournment of the association. The resolution of Dr. Benjamin was then adopted and the association adjourned.

GENERAL CONFERENCE.

Proposal to Divide the Conference Into Two Houses.

Assessments, Hierarchy, Caste and Other Subjects Referred.

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—The general conference of the M. E. church reassembled this morning, Bishop Cyrus D. Foss in the chair. Wm. H. Reed, of the St. Louis conference, conducted the devotional exercises.

A communication from the Philadelphia conference of the Baptist ministers was read. It stated that a committee was appointed to conduct the greeting of that body to the general conference. It was referred to committee on fraternal correspondence.

A resolution was offered that the committee on revisions be instructed to inquire and report as to a plan for a more perfect unification of our societies. Referred to the committee on the state of the church.

A resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of twenty-five, one minister and one lay delegate for each conference and one delegate at large to devise and report a plan for the division of the general conference into two legislative houses, and to consider the desirability and feasibility of procuring a site and erecting a building thereon, in which are to be held the meetings of the conferences. The result was they divided in two parts, the first was referred to the committee on state and temporal economy.

The Rev. W. M. McElroy, Illinois, offered a resolution that it is the judgment of the conference that in all elections the question of prohibition should come first and then party. Referred to the committee on temperance.

A resolution was offered that the committee on temporal economy be instructed to report a plan for a more equitable basis of appropriation for episcopal support, and other funds needed throughout the church.

The Rev. Earl Cranston, Colorado, claimed that the assessment should be made so as to be fair and not oppressive to the weaker conferences. Referred to the committee on temporal economy.

The Rev. S. G. Smith, Minnesota, offered the following:

Resolved, That the committee on itinerancy be instructed to inquire and report what legislation, if any, is needed to make uniform throughout the connection a method of apportioning a pastoral limit that will work so advantageously to people.

The Rev. Daniel Curry said the fault was that they did not trust the annual conferences enough. The resolution was adopted.

The Rev. J. M. Shreveport, Missouri, offered the following:

Resolved, That there has been great discussion, both in the religious and secular press, of caste in the Methodist Episcopal church, and inasmuch as caste is a curse to any nation, and more especially to a religious denomination, and inasmuch as we believe that caste prejudice is a sin.

Resolved, That it is the sense of the general conference, that no trustee of a church, school, college or university, should exclude a person on account of race, color, or condition of the previous servitude.

Referred to the committee on the state of church and fraternal relations.

Bishop Harris exhibited the bust of John Wesley which was lent to the conference for a few days by Rev. M. Todd of Wilmington.

Adjourned till to-morrow.

DISPUTES WITH TURKEY.

Matters of Variance Between the Porte and the United States.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 7.—The American squadron in the Mediterranean has arrived at Tenedos. Admiral Baldwin, commander, telegraphed to American Minister Wallace his intention to come to Constantinople.

The announcement created a sensation in government circles. Assym Pasha, one of the ministers of state, informed Wallace that the trades permit the porte to stop the American ships at the Dardanelles, as America did not sign the treaty of Paris, which regards the Dardanelles as a free sea.

It is doubtful whether Wallace will ask for a firm name to permit the passage of the vessels.

The Ottoman minister at Washington has protested against the bill before congress, which claims that American consuls in the Turkish empire have jurisdiction over all cases which Americans are parties. Other nations, he pointed out, claim consular jurisdiction only when both parties to the dispute are their own subjects, while America wished to extend it to cases in which one party was an Ottoman subject. The porte will not recognize America's claims in this regard.

Another dispute is created by America's official endorsement of Wallace's views in denunciation of the treaty of commerce which the porte made in 1883, as invalid and Wallace's renewed protest in regard to petroleum stores, which is now made more powerful by the strong protest of Russia.

May Even Lose the Senatorship.

Springfield Republican.

There are painful rumors on the Western breeze in regard to Logan's prospect for a re-election. A misunderstanding at the time of his last understanding between the Senator and Oglesby left a decided coolness there, and now that the latter comes into a great deal of political power and the Governorship there is a prospect of war.
