

A STALWART SQUEAL.

No Good for Stalwarts in Any of the Chances at Chicago.

Blaine and Arthur Hostile and the Dark Horse an Uncertain Quantity.

Bitter Attack of a Washington Paper Upon Senator Sabin of Minnesota.

A Scream Supposed to be Inspired by Window or Friendship for Him.

The Republican Candidates--Secretary Lincoln's Prospects and His Qualifications.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.] WASHINGTON, May 25.--Everybody who is possibly arranged to get away will exodus to Chicago during the week.

A Republican congressman observed to the Globe correspondent to-day that he would like to go and would probably go to the convention, but he had asked himself the question without a satisfactory answer.

The question which now agitates the Republican mind is, who will announce the candidates at the Chicago convention.

Collector Robertson's confirmation need a letter of introduction to him thereafter. He would like to see some man nominated above such meanness.

Blaine's friends express great confidence in his success. One argument made by Blaine's supporters is being used with considerable effect.

Blaine's friends express great confidence in his success. One argument made by Blaine's supporters is being used with considerable effect.

Logan's friends say things are looking brighter for his chances every day, and that after Blaine and Arthur have fought each other to a standstill he will come to the front with great strength.

Arthur managers are suspicious of Lincoln. The latter knows it, and operates accordingly. He protests he is loyal to Arthur, but does not pretend he is working for him.

The New York Times of to-day says: The growing popularity of Lincoln as a candidate for president, and the unwelcome conclusion that their candidate cannot be nominated, is disturbing both the Blaine men and those Arthur men who do not place the implicit reliance upon the long array of delegates furnished from the White House as sure for Arthur.

The Sunday Capital says: "Next to the fear that President Arthur may be nominated at Chicago there is nothing that so agitates the minds of ardent patriots as the asserted unfitness of Robert T. Lincoln to be president. While nobody denies that he would be an ideal candidate for the vice presidency a large number of politicians seem to be perfectly sure that he would be an utterly improper person to elect to the presidency. He is declared to be lacking
