A derrick fell yesterday at a stone quarry on the East side, and a woman named Quinn was struck by some of the falling timbers, and severely injured, although not fatally.

Judge Bully and family have taken up their summer residence at Pag's house at Lake Minnetonka. They will be at the cottage, owing to the fact that he will visit the seashore during August.

Centenary church of this city will give an entertainment at their church on Tuesday evening, June 3, for the benefit of the M. E. Perkins. Tickets will be sold at the church, and the proceeds will be used for the purchase of a new organ.

Herbert G. Connes, the Minneapolis portrait artist, has been engaged to paint the portrait of Gov. Hibbard for the Grand Army, to be used at the coming annual convention. The artist will be at the residence of Mrs. Connes, 100 Hennepin street, on Monday next.

Fox's turf exchange at 205 N. Nicollet avenue opened yesterday morning and will sell on the Cincinnati turf. The exchange will sell on all leading sporting events, including matches excepted. Reports from the National League ball games will be received daily by telegraph.

A probably fatal accident occurred yesterday at Carver, Young & Clark's plumbing mill, First street and Seventh avenue north. A pulley broke, and a flying piece of iron struck the back of the head inflicting an injury from which it is not expected he can recover.

A man got away from his driver yesterday morning on First street, and ran into a carriage containing E. R. Maxwell and his little daughter. The carriage was upset and badly damaged. Mr. Maxwell was quite badly bruised, and one of his ankles dislocated. The little girl escaped with a few scratches of a slight nature.

The rite of confirmation was administered yesterday morning at the Jewish temple on Fifth street, the synagogue being completely full. The regular services were conducted by Rabbi Hirsch, who was assisted by a number of young men, five boys and six girls, with the impressive and beautiful ceremonies attendant. The music by the choir and the beautiful floral decorations were noticeable features of the service.

Yesterday morning about 4 o'clock burglars entered the residence of John Long, and his mother, 420 First avenue, and went through the pockets of his clothes and then visited the room where Mrs. Long was sleeping with her daughter. They were awakened by the alarm, and the burglars fled, and dropped a hundred and twenty dollars worth of articles they had stolen on the sidewalk in their flight.

The danger to which our citizens are constantly exposed by reason of the reckless driving allowed, was well illustrated last evening. A buggy containing two young men came rushing along Washington avenue which was crowded with people. D. G. Wetmore, who had just alighted from a street car at the corner of Hennepin avenue, was struck in the breast by one of the wheels of the passing vehicle, knocked down and considerably bruised. A tin spectacle case in the breast pocket of his coat was struck by the wheel, and a serious injury prevented. The ordinance which prohibits the use of enforced or one citizens will have the alternative of carrying tin spectacle cases or being killed.

A furious runaway occurred on Washington street last evening, in which a team owned by a farmer, and not being accustomed to city ways, took a decided objection to the bustle and crowds of people and teams on the streets. They were attached to a spring wagon called a democrat, and taking the bits between their teeth dashed down the avenue, cutting a swath through every impediment. In front of the Nicollet street car, they ran, and a man named W. J. Dunsford, who was standing on a sidewalk, was struck and his coat and hat were wrecked, and followed two more vehicles which suffered more or less of the same, until the carriage of Mr. Phelps, of the matter of the demolition and overturned, and Mr. Phelps and his wife were violently to the ground, the latter beneath the feet of the horses, but fortunately she escaped with a wrenched arm and a number of painful bruises. The horses being separated from the democrat wagon, which stood bottom side up, were finally captured.

THE DEAD HEROES.

Decorating the Graves and Commemoration Exercises.

A Magnificent Parade Nearly One Mile in Length.

A Memorable Event in the History of Minnesota.

Decoration Day was generally observed yesterday. The city wore the appearance of a holiday.

Flags were flying at half mast, and business fronts were draped and decorated. The streets from 10 o'clock up to the hour of two in the afternoon were literally thronged with the populace to pay fitting tribute to the fallen heroes.

Everything considered, it was the most notable commemorative day within the memory of any citizen. A combination of circumstances contributed to that end, one of the most notable being the fact that the Grand Army of the Republic is in active preparation for the coming national encampment which is to be held here in midsummer.

All the old veterans who here were aroused to unusual activity in the preliminary work, through the frequent meetings of the various posts in Minneapolis. Honorary is about twenty-three years old, and was taken to the college hospital where his injuries will be attended to.

The ceremonies were exceptionally elaborate and impressive, and the music of the drum corps filled the air as the several divisions marched the streets from the veterans' armory to the graves of the dead.

The parade was a magnificent one, and the soldiers in March and the bands on the East side and in Lakewood cemetery near Lake Calhoun were strewn with flowers in the forenoon, but in the afternoon the event of the day occurred in the combined ceremonies of all the military organizations of the city in the veterans' armory.

The young men, members of the various posts, marched with the patriars, the veterans, and the grand army of the Republic, in the observance.

The Forenoon's Observance. LAKEWOOD. At the hour designated, 9 o'clock, L. P. Plummer and J. G. H. Gillman, G. A. R., assembled at the army of the Plummer post, and shortly after took up the line of march toward the East side, going direct to Maple Hill cemetery. Here the posts were divided into battalions for the purpose of expediting matters, and the labor of love began.

The graves of the noble dead were strewn with a profusion of flowers and wreaths, and the great work of the day was made. Making the round of the cemetery, the battalion halted at the grave of Geo. N. Morgan. The old veterans were drawn up in line, a fervent prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Starkey. This grave was most profusely and elaborately decorated with rarest flowers, and ornamented with an appropriate and beautiful cross.

A difficult task was met in the fact that the list of names which the officers had been furnished was quite incomplete. They were given the names of only twenty-two, whereas the number of soldiers' graves in the cemetery is about forty-two. Consequently the committee had to provide themselves with sufficient number of flowers to pay tribute to all the graves. Col. B. F. Cole, magnanimously took upon himself the task of furnishing the great quantity of flowers with the emblems of peace, beauty and purity later in the day. He forthwith made a detail to procure wreaths and flowers, and the list of names, corrected, so that not a grave in the cemetery was omitted from the commemorative exercises.

THE CATHOLIC CEMETERY. A detail consisting of Comrade Stevens of Washburn post, and Hinkle and Crawford of Plummer post, had previously been sent to Catholic cemetery, and the graves of the soldiers there had also been decorated.

LAKEWOOD. Geo. N. Morgan post and Butler post, the former in command, proceeded to the graves of the dead, and the latter commanded by John H. Eggo, formed on Nicollet avenue promptly at 9 o'clock, with the right resting on Third street. Thence they marched to the corner of First avenue south and Washington street, where they turned right and proceeded to Lakewood cemetery, at Lake Calhoun. The first two coaches of the train were led by members of the G. A. R., and the rest by the Grand Army of the Republic. The Grand Army of the Republic, the train started on its mission, and the sidewalks were lined with people waving their handkerchiefs.

At Lake Calhoun the soldiers formed in line and marched with music direct to the cemetery. Here they were met by the Executive post which was commanded by E. E. Perkins. The train then proceeded on after going through numerous military evolutions, proceeded to the graves, and the flowers, wreaths and evergreens were distributed.

The Geo. N. Morgan Post drum corps struck up a march, and the band of the Executive post, led by the band of the Executive post, proceeded to the graves of the fallen brothers.
