GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

An Interesting Meeting of the St. Paul Board of Trade.

Action Looking to Promotion of the City's Traffic in Produce.

There was a very largely attended meeting of members of the board of trade yesterday morning convened by the president for the object of discussing ways and means of making the board more effective in developing the grain and produce market.

President Hubbard called the meeting to order, and in an excellent speech, lucid, comprehensive and forcible, explained the object of the meeting.

The ex-president, Mr. Heyerstaedt, was the first speaker, and he stated that he was heartily in sympathy with the board in its endeavor to promote the life into the board. He thought one of the first things to be done was to obtain better freight and transit facilities, and he showed at length how the present tariff rates discriminate against St. Paul.

Mr. McCauley spoke upon the same subject at considerable length, and urged the necessity of the board as a body, appealing to the individuality of the members. He was heartily in sympathy with the board in its endeavor to promote the life into the board. He thought one of the first things to be done was to obtain better freight and transit facilities, and he showed at length how the present tariff rates discriminate against St. Paul.

Mr. L. A. Gilbert spoke more particularly about the wheat trade. He said that our market for wheat was very much less than it was three years ago, in consequence of railroad pooling and transit agreements. The railroad companies seemed to ignore St. Paul altogether, or rather to treat her as a little way side station. The discriminating against St. Paul by raising the rates from western stations to St. Paul, while the through rates remained the same was a gross wrong, and tended to drive business from the city. Only lately one of our largest wheat dealing firms moved up to Minneapolis.

Mr. Sterrett—But they are sick of it. Mr. Gilbert—Grain paying 20c per 100 pounds from St. Paul is sent to Chicago or Milwaukee at 30c per 100 pounds, while shipments coming from the Northern Pacific or Manitoba roads pay from 20c to 25c per 100 pounds as fixed by the pool. Again, coarse grains paying 20c per 100 pounds to St. Paul can be sent to stations on the same road 15 miles east of us at 25c per 100 pounds, while to pay local to St. Paul and local out the rate is from 38c to 42c per 100 pounds. Mr. Gilbert gave examples illustrating these facts. Minneapolis is in a position to drive her wheat to other points and to prevent the accumulation of stocks at this point, and our dealers have to be simply middlemen, taking orders from one end of the road and forwarding on to the other. Mr. Gilbert argued the appointment of a committee on transportation which should endeavor to secure such rates of freight from the railway companies that the rate from St. Paul should be the same as to other points should not be greater than the through rate. Another matter of importance, he contended, was better elevator facilities, and means of weighing grains at less than a cent per bushel, which was about all the profit of handling. A public weighing station, he considered, was both necessary.

Mr. Sterrett, general manager of the Sterrett Elevator company, says he found himself to be a man without a country. In Minneapolis there is a St. Paul man, and at St. Paul they no longer look at him as one of themselves. He said the facilities for handling wheat were greatly in favor of St. Paul. When compared to Minneapolis, and he said that he could sell wheat at Minneapolis when he was at St. Paul better than he can now. [A voice, "You had better come back." I am coming back. [Applause.] He did not think the railroad companies were doing him any good. He found the same disadvantages of transit existed in both cities. He could sell transits in St. Paul as well as in Minneapolis.

Mr. Gilbert—I could not do so, I have tried it. Mr. McCauley—we should impress it upon the railroad companies that St. Paul is not a man without a country. The president suggested that the meeting should gather up the results of the discussion in practical action.

Mr. Gilbert then moved that the president appoint a committee, to include himself as chairman, upon freights and transit. Carried.

The president appointed as such committee Messrs. Sterrett, Gilbert, Heyerstaedt and Hoxsie.

Mr. McElrath moved that a committee of three or five be appointed to consider the question of appointing a public weigher. The motion was carried.

Mr. Heyerstaedt moved that the president be requested to call another general meeting of the board and invite the agent of the jobbers union to be present.

Mr. McElrath moved an amendment that a committee be appointed to confer with the jobbers union. The amendment was carried.

The president appointed Messrs. McElrath, Bigelow and Donnelly as a committee of three to investigate the charges and facilities of transferring grain and other produce. Carried.

The president spoke of the importance of giving more attention to butter and eggs, and would like to hear the opinion of Mr. Bohrer upon the question of butter inspection.

Mr. Bohrer did not think that there could be done. It was true that considerable butter was handled here, but he could not see any advantage of an inspector.

Mr. Gilbert advocated the organization. Mr. Hoxsie said some time ago the firm of Hoxsie & Jagger bought Frake's process of re-working butter, but it did not work, as all the good butter was bought up and none but the stuff left for the market. This was the best market in the country for butter, and eggs. These products brought higher prices here than elsewhere. He thought a good plan would be to have one day for butter and cheese on the board, and the moved for a committee to consider the matter. The motion was carried.

Mr. President appointed Messrs. Bohrer, Bigelow, Hoxsie, Griggs and Harrison for this committee.

The president said he thought the time occupied by the meeting was not thrown away. This child the board was now three years old and it was time that it should be a body. He believed in a good live board or grade. He was stepping down, saying the establishment of a board was one of the incompleteness of the board, and no doubt if the committees did faithful work the board would feel the advantage.

As a committee for considering the question of a public weigher the president appointed Messrs. Hawkins, Sherman and Jagger.

It being now the time for the board call the meeting adjourned, subject to the call of the president.

FIVE POUND KITTENS.

Five Orphans that Are Being Raised on the Bottle.

"Did any of you fellows ever see a kitten three weeks old, that weighed ten pounds?" No one replied and the barkeeper who had been repulsed momentarily resumed his calculation of the amount he could knock out of the day's receipts. The kitten man continued, "I'll bet money none of you ever saw such kittens. Three of 'em, each a ten pounder and all as fat as butter and as woolly and playful as any young cat you ever clapped eyes on. Where do you think I saw 'em?" His hearers suspiciously refrained from inquiring, fearing a joke. The kitten man chuckled and added "Why in Forepaugh's big show in Chicago. Three little Bengal tiger kittens. Only been born three weeks and the prettiest, paldest little hump anyone can see. Their mother died and these three little ones are in a cage by themselves, right next to the white elephant. Feeding 'em out of bottles just like babies. I saw the speaker say, 'I saw the three of 'em sucking bottles at the same time. Yes there was about a thousand good things in the show but them kittens take the cake.'"

RED ROCK.

Valuable and Interesting Day Among the Workers in the Vineyard—The Programme for Thursday.

WEDNESDAY MORNING EXERCISES.

The beautiful weather has been enjoying for the past two days has not increased the attendance at the Red Rock camp meeting to any extent. The morning of the preceding days, but much good and effective, though quiet work, was done. The people present had evidently come together for the purpose of working, and very few, if any, had come from the city for the purpose of escaping the dust and heat. The pleasure-loving throng was conspicuous for its absence, and its place was filled by earnest workers in the cause. This morning is remarkable for the number of pioneers in the work who are present. Old faces can be seen in nearly every seat, and many of the best known preachers are present.

The services of the day were opened by prayer meeting at 6 o'clock in the morning, under the leadership of Rev. B. W. Smith, who was followed by a love feast, presided over by Rev. D. Coburn, of Barbours, Cal., formerly a member of the Minnesota conference. At the baptismal service, which followed the love feast, five members of the church, converts of the present meeting, were baptized, and an infant son of George Hazard, of St. Paul, was christened. Six persons made application for membership in the church at the close of the baptismal service. The morning session closed with the sacrament of the Lord's supper.

AFTERNOON SERVICES.

The sermon in the afternoon was delivered by Rev. Mr. Beebe, of Hastings, formerly a resident of New York state. He took for his subject the "Second Coming of Christ," and the reverend gentleman handled it in a masterly manner. He claimed that Christ had fulfilled the prophecy concerning his first coming. His text referred to a prophecy that he would come any time, it may be before the close of this meeting, and it may be a hundred years. The time was immaterial. Christ's office as mediator will end with the close of time. He will then come to judge the world. At the end of time, and Christ's coming, things would move on much the same as now. Nature would wear the same smile, and the people would be engaged in much the same occupations as to the present day to be judged. While he was speaking, the preacher remembered that he, too, would have to stand in the firing and answer as to how he had preached the word. His hearers must appear and testify to how they had received the word. The speaker drew a vivid picture of the terror of the wicked and joy of the saved, and closed with an earnest appeal to his hearers to seek Christ.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

TUESDAY'S SUICIDE.

No Cause Discovered, and the Man's Identity Not Disclosed.

Coroner Quinn held an inquest yesterday morning on the unfortunate case of N. M. Bohrer, who was found dead on the corner of Third Street, near Seventh corner, but little more information was brought out than was published in the Globe yesterday morning. Christian Anderson and Officer Cook testified as to the spot being heard, and the particulars of going up to the room and finding the deceased in bed after the fatal shot was fired, and all else as published yesterday.

Anderson often at the St. Thomas hotel; that he was never down spirited, but always appeared to be in good spirits and pleasant and hopeful. Though the deceased seems to have been a man that did not tell his affairs around much. Anderson says that he admitted to him that he used to do a good business, and was without mentioning specially what his business was. He was a witness that he had made some as $87 in one day, and declared that notwithstanding his present circumstances, he would again be a business man, and would do a good business. All the witnesses that knew him in the statement that he was a good talker. It was also developed that the deceased was a good writer and a rapid one. When Mr. J. B. Quinn was asked if he wrote it, he replied that it made no difference. The deceased could write any hand. He was a very handsome and rapid writer. Mr. Quinn also stated that he claimed to have been more than a card, and the witness also stated that he was a very beautiful.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The president said he thought the time occupied by the meeting was not thrown away. This child the board was now three years old and it was time that it should be a body. He believed in a good live board or grade. He was stepping down, saying the establishment of a board was one of the incompleteness of the board, and no doubt if the committees did faithful work the board would feel the advantage.

The Old Man Wanted a Rest.

"Pop, why does the raincoats always have been stuck through the middle of a man?" Inquired a little boy who stood with a man in front of a panorama of Forepaugh's circus bills yesterday.

"Dunno; maybe it's because he can't wear 'em on his 'ol' leg," replied the father sarcastically.

"Pop, did you ever see a white elephant?"

"Now."

"Pop, is a white elephant painted?"

"Now, if it was it wouldn't be."

"Was a dead white elephant good for, pop?"

"Nathin."

"Pop, does a live white elephant like Forepaugh's coat more than a raincoat with a man on his back?"

"Where do you grow 'em?"

"Gee, in Siam."

"Where's Siam?" inquired the youthful seeker after knowledge.

"Oh, Siam is a real, solid, father, in a tone of unnecessary asperity, as he moved on to more closely inspect the form and features of a brown faced young woman, clad in a gaudy of ornate and gaudy, and putting her head into the mouth of a smiling anaconda, big enough to dwarf a sea serpent.

Grand Jurors.

[Special Correspondence of the Globe.]

GRAND JURORS, July 1.—At the adjourned term of this district court to be held at this place on the 8th, the twelve men charged with the murder of the Ward Brothers near Devil's lake, on the 9th of April, 1883, will be called upon to answer "guilty or not guilty," to their indictments. It will be the most notable criminal trial ever held in the western country. The defense has a brilliant array of counsel, including such names as Irwin, of Chicago, Gov. Davis, of St. Paul, and Gen. A. H. Reade, of Kansas. The latter is said to be one of the ablest lawyers in his state. He is an uncle of one of the defendants, but no connection to the murdered men.

The result of the trial is awaited by the people at large, and is expected to be one of the most important in the history of the state and settlers will be brought in and disposed of in the progress of the case.

The grand jury "the Gorman post," of Grand Forks, headed by Col. E. S. Sider, will go into the encampment on the 27th, but as many of the members are St. Paul men they will visit that city with their band and give a street parade before going into camp.

Yours truly, W. L. K.

Flourish.

[Special Correspondence of the Globe.]

FLAUNDRY, D. T., June 30.—A grand jury of twelve men, headed by Judge Simons, met at the courthouse at this place last Saturday, between the Brookfield nine and the home club, resulting in a victory for the former, the score standing 21 to 12. After the ball game two foot races took place, between Walker of this place and Woodward of Luverne, Minn. The first race was 100 yards and the second was 200 yards. Woodward won both races, and a considerable money changed hands on the result. No time was given.

Mitchell.

[Special Correspondence of the Globe.]

MITCHELL, D. T., June 30.—The appointment of Gilbert A. Pierce as governor of Dakota, meets with warm approval in this city. Mr. Pierce is well known to many of our best citizens and they are loud in their praise of his integrity and ability, and all are grateful for our deliverance from Ordway.

Northeastern Notes.

While Col. Lounsbury failed to get the appointment of governor, he finds some consolation in the increase of his salary as postmaster at Bismarck to $2,300.

The Colonel expects to gather his bright brigade of soldiers and officers, and to go to the land of delight, ozone and mosquito on Devil's Lake. He will issue permits to suitable parties who desire to visit his possessions during this rosiate visitation.

Dr. Bradley, of Minn., is gathering quite a menagerie of the animals and poultry found in that section. He has fine specimens of bears, moose, deer, goats, goats, owls, pole cats and many other species. They are being taught civilized methods.

Col. Lounsbury in his journal unkindly refers to Col. Plummer as a "third blunderer." This shows that the unappointed governor is jealous of the rising fame of the orator, statesman and editor, late of Fargo. The Colonel is a fair shot, and he will put up a full ticket, with a chance for the election of most of it.

The Cour d'Alene Mines.

This impression is confirmed by reports from Judge Gupill, of Fargo, who will return to the city of weeks yet. The Billings Herald says: "While the Cour d'Alene continue to move eastward and are thickly scattered along the highways from Bismarck to Bismarck, a feeling of confidence regarding the richness of the diggings and a belief in the ultimate prosperity of the camp continues to impress many experienced miners. They are confident that the gold in the water and early spring of the year, the sands won't in, possessing neither experience nor capital, many of them expecting, in some unconsidered way, to acquire a competency in the mining business. A portion of their vision has in most cases been realized, and these people who really had no substantial reason to go into these mining regions at all, are the most vehement in denouncing them as a fraud."

The Turtle Mountain Railway.

Hon. Geo. P. Harvey has been over the route of the Manitoba proposed new line, and reports to the Minn. Journal that track laying commenced on that line north of Laramie, Monday.

The work will be delayed for a while until the bridges can be put in along the line north of that point. The bridge across the Forest river is about 90 feet in length, and will therefore take some little time to complete.

Mr. Harvey judges that just about half of the grade is finished between the Turtle and Park rivers. He says the company state they will have the line running to Park river by the 15th of August if nothing happens.

The Good Old Days of Dakota.

The Minn. Trial says the primeval fun disappearing before the rapid growth of that country and says: "A short time ago we could gather together in a lonely shack three or four ladies and young gentlemen and the light fantastic most merrily. But now seventy-five or eighty stylishly dressed couples assemble in the parlors of the Grand Central or at the University coliseum and chase the flying hours with golden feet to the music of a full brass band. When we would ride twenty miles of a Sunday morning to see a circus, and the people who went with us were well satisfied. Now an assemblage of hundreds will gather beneath the vaulted ceilings of the cathedral and listen to the dogmas dashed up on new principles and in which the old dogmas are matter of course. Oh, yes, Minn. is becoming metropolitan."

Mitchell, D. T.

The weather continues delightful and crops are doing more than well. The "boom" continues without abatement.

The closing meeting of Dakota and Sioux City racing circuit closed at this place, July 3 and 4. The city is full of horses of all classes. The racing is to be most interesting. The company "Pier" is a very loosely looked forward to. Mitchell has a fine company and expect to win the prize.

All together Mitchell expects and intends to have the finest celebration ever had in the west.
