

THE CITY.

CITY GLOBULES.

Judge Simons denied by habeas corpus to Schlie, the Rose township, bigamist, yesterday.

Yesterday was the end of the thirteenth week of Forepaugh's traveling season, which is of twenty-six weeks' duration.

John Jenakly, a musician, was arrested last evening at his home on the corner of Twelfth and Jackson streets, for wife whipping.

Chas. Schoer entered a liquor store on Lafayette avenue last evening and struck the proprietor, for which he was arrested by the police.

There was quite a showy fire at 11:45 last evening in the direction of Kittoville, but being no water in that vicinity the fire department made no attempt to reach it.

The city detectives corralled the few pickpockets with the circus yesterday, early in the day, and told them if any of them were caught they would all be put in durango.

Philippa Allen, a five-year-old girl, strayed away from 236 Maple street yesterday, and a six-year-old boy from 746 Maple avenue, both locations being on Dayton's bluff.

A horse belonging to Forepaugh's show stopped into a hole in the Washabaw street bridge last evening and was in danger of breaking a leg. That hole should be plugged up as a matter of economy.

David Hoar, who is said not to have enjoyed a sober breath for 25 years and who dedicated the St. Paul workhouse as first occupant, was nabbed for a drunk and disoriented again late last evening.

Peter Johnson got out a bench warrant yesterday to see if he could find a suit of clothes worth $15 and $25 in cash in the room of Randolph Knice at 423 Robert street, claiming to have been stolen from him, but Knice didn't pan out the property.

Officer Frank Brousseau showed his good sense yesterday evening by stopping in the Sixth ward a gambling game to which the people in the neighborhood made great objections. The game was a transparent swindle, and the officer is to be commended for showing such good judgment in the case.

The Fulton artificial stone company are locating a new office in this city, with a view of contributing a new and cheaper material than gravel or limestone for street sidewalks, claiming that said material is even more durable than either of the latter.

The way one of the Fort Snelling mule coaches switched around on the corner of Fourth and Washabaw streets, to the imminent danger of running down pedestrians, yesterday noon, with its cow-boy driver, was an example of reckless driving which don't want to be repeated.

The case of Eva A. Carpenter against Eugene H. Carpenter for divorce and custody of their only child a son, on the ground of desertion, was heard yesterday in special term of the district court, by Judge Simons, and taken under advisement. The defendant in answer complains of the desertion of his wife and also asks the custody of the child.

Wm. Jones, a teamster, fell off the road-bed on Chestnut street near the upper levee about 12 o'clock last night and dislocated his left shoulder. He was taken to the city hall by the patrol wagon. Dr. Ancker was summoned, who dosed the patient with chloroform and with the help of Officers O'Keefe and Baer, the bone was forced back into its proper position.

James Middleton and Josephine Gotzian, executors of the late Adam Gotzian, filed an appointment list of his estate with the probate court yesterday. The inventory contains 732 real estate descriptions of property valued at $234,476.96, and a list of personal property embraced in cash, notes and the balance of the value of $14,681.28, the total value of the estate being placed at $249,158.27.

Mat McGrath went into Pius Reid's place, on lower Third street, last evening and attempted to clean out the whole establishment, but before he got through the job he found that he had undertaken a piece of work that was a size to high for him. He went into the work with more vigor and a better looking face than he brought out of it. His spirit was strong, but his sinews were wholly inadequate. The consequence is that he was locked up in the city jail.

As the Forepaugh procession was passing the Market house, on Seventh street, yesterday one of the smallest elephants thought he discovered that a Frenchman's single horse team was not giving him full right of way, and seizing a hind wheel by the hub he threw the wagon in towards the walk with a shove that separated the spokes from the hubs as though they were but so many matches. The owner and the owner's horse were terribly frightened at the vigorous performance of this elephantine dude.

Jno. A. Moak, business manager of the Kendall combination troupe, arrived in St. Paul yesterday, and while absent from his room, 249 Washabaw street, last evening, two tame Oregon magpies, which he was conveying east as a curiosity, made their escape therefrom, one on which he brought out of it. The sparrows fell to the ground in front of the opera house, and was recued by one of Lyle's barbers. The other is still at large, and Mr. Moak will pay a liberal reward to whomsoever will bring his birdship to his rooms, or notify him where he may be found.

Carpenter's Lookout on St. Anthony's Hill, is getting to be known as a place of pleasure,—an interesting and enjoyable resort. Wholesome refreshments, ice cream and lemonade are furnished, and the Outlook affords some of the most beautiful and picturesque scenery in Minnesota: so famed for its beautiful landscapes and rivers. Carriages, conveying large numbers of people by day and evening, are now visiting the Lookout, and all express great surprise and gratification that so beautiful, restful and refreshing a resort exists in the city, adding greatly to its many attractions.

A Novelty in Watch Making is being introduced by Messrs. Myers & Finch, the Bridge square jewellers. It consists of a "stem winding device, patented by H. Abbott, of New York, and when applied to the American Key Winding Watch make a complete stem winder of it. Parties who have key winding watches that are valued for their time keeping qualities or associations should consult Messrs. Myers & Finch in reference to it.

PERSONALS. Martin Regan, of Fargo, is in St. Paul. Howard Morris, of Milwaukee, is in the city. William C. Sargent, of Duluth, is in St. Paul. E. G. Rathbone, of Washington, D. C., is in St. Paul.

Mr. John H. Langton, a popular cleric, is at the Clarendon hotel for the last year, left here last evening for Salamanca, N. Y.

William A. Boyd, of New York; N. C. Knight, of St. Louis; N. L. Young, of Chicago and S. Rosenbaum, of Louisville, Ky., are at the Metropolitan.

C. H. Webster, of San Claire; A. P. Wilkinson, of Chicago; A. B. Thomas and F. A. Dames, of Redfield, D. T.; E. C. Rice, of St. Louis are at the Windsor.

Mr. A. H. Lewis, of Millbank, Grant county, was captured by the jobbers' excursion and is making a flying visit to St. Paul. He is the publisher of the Grant county Review, postmaster, and also proprietor of a general store. When he went to Millbank four years ago the only dwelling on the town site was a sod house; now the population is 1,500 or 2,000. That is the way they grow in Dakota.

No Muff. It is the opinion of Messrs. Houck & Barthe, managers of the Baltimore, Md., Baseball Club, that St. Jacobs Oil is the best cure ever used by base-ball players, for sprains, bruises, aches and pains.

The Seventh Street Horse Cars. To-day the greater part of the property of the city railway will be removed from its stables on the corner of Fourth and St. Peter streets to its spacious new stables on Oak street, and the entire property will be removed to Oak street inside of one month. On Monday the company will place seven new cars on the Seventh street road, which will make regular trips from the Oak street stables to the Seventh street bridge and return, and thus open communication to one of the most populous and frequented avenues in the city.

Adam Forepaugh's Greatest Show. The visit of Adam Forepaugh's "show" makes a periodical epoch in the record of popular entertainments which the public as a unit claim to be common property. As to other attractions tastes differ, some people affect opera, some tragedy, some comedy and some concert and these all mingle on common place. It is a pastime for all, young and old, rich and poor, educated and ignorant. But even in a circus people have their favorites as they do in opera, in tragedy, and in other branches of dramatic art. Some people will say "we will wait for Pat," some for his faithful in Booth; some prefer some particular comedian, some prefer some special minstrel party, and the great majority of St. Paul citizens, when promising themselves and their little ones the same of gratification in the tented arena, invariably decide to "wait for Forepaugh." The reason is obvious. Forepaugh has never disappointed this people, in fact he has always provided a finer feast than he promised.

This year Adam Forepaugh has visited St. Paul with an aggregation of talent and wonders that quite outshone any of his previous admirable efforts. His street pageant during the forenoon of yesterday, gave promise of a splendid entertainment, and the sledge was more than fulfilled, and it is safe to affirm that never has this public been treated to a more admirable diversion of the kind. Forepaugh is a progressive man and he shows that he is determined to keep in the very front, for each year his show improves.

His menagerie undoubtedly contains the largest number of interesting animals ever gotten together, and an entire day could be profitably spent in inspecting them. To a student of natural history the display must be of great value. There are not only fine specimens of the best known wild animals and birds, but many rare and invaluable specimens of creatures seldom found in a museum of this sort.

It is very noticeable in the collection of the great variety of animals and birds, the fine condition and evident good health of all the members of it. The herd of elephants is perhaps the most interesting distinctive feature. There are twenty-eight, ranging from the tiny infant to the good old grand-mother of 75 years. Of course the greatest interest is centered in the famous sacred white elephant, and this handsome, docile creature will repay the most careful study. It is of medium size and is displayed by the side of a common elephant of equal proportions, to allow of comparison. The animal is not of course pure white, but it has a bluish tinge. A close examination shows that its hide is a much different texture from that of the ordinary elephant, and that in the seams and unexposed parts it has a skin of flesh colored hair. Its toe nails are also different, and it has an extra nostril in the lower part of the trunk. It is a wonder, and undoubtedly is all that is claimed for it.

The ring performances of the circus are a succession of wonderful feats, so interspersed and promptly succeeding each other as to quite bewilder the spectator. No matter which way the eye turns, something marvellous is discovered, the two spacious wings and the large intermediate stage being usually occupied at the same time. It seems as if Forepaugh had monopolized all the talent of the day, for surely in the number and skill of performers his circus cannot be equaled. It is impossible to specify all of the varied attractions, suffice it to say that the entertainments are perfect and astonishing, and are relieved by an abundance of clean, enjoyable fun. Perhaps the greatest attraction is the wonderful performance of the squad of trained elephants. This alone is worth a long trip to enjoy. The hippodrome races are exciting and impressive, and make a splendid finish to a splendid diversion. It pays to "wait for Forepaugh."

LOCAL MENTION. A middle aged lady wants a situation as housekeeper in small family. Best of references given and required. Address Globe office.

Base Ball. To-day, Barnes Park, White Bear. Minneapolis vs. St. Paul. There are a large number of baking powders in the market containing alum, and some that contain ammonia, but in proportions so moderate that they might be used in safety when proper caution is exercised. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, however, is recommended by chemists as being free from alum, ammonia and every other drug.

Base Ball. To-day, Barnes Park, White Bear. Minneapolis vs. St. Paul. The Demand. For really accurate maps of the Yellowstone park, which is now at its height, is fully met in the new publication just issued by Palmyra & Jurgens, of St. Paul, of which only a limited number has been issued. The map of the park is of large size, and it gives the result of eight months' careful surveying by two talented engineers. The mountain work is in copper etching and the water ways in blue, while names, elevations, etc., are in black. A map of the geology basin and a condensed guide complete the neat publication, which is for sale by newsdealers.

Within Sixty Days. The firm of Smith Bros., retail liquor dealers at No. 305 Jackson street, have paid the United States government over $1,500 to augment its revenues, and within the last few days have received through the St. Paul custom house between forty and fifty packages of fine goods, consigned direct to themselves from the European markets. These goods are the best in St. Paul, and show that Smith Bros. do not fear hard times. They have among the goods received a package of sherry wine which cost over $400. These goods cannot be too strongly recommended to consumers, as they are unacquainted in the northwest. Is there another retail liquor store west of Chicago that can equal this enterprise of Smith Bros.?

From Geysert Land.

The tourist party is quick to land on a fact of interest. The very day (10th inst.) the Yellowstone National Park hotel was opened the rush began. It seemed to be taken for granted, that everything would be satisfactory under Magee's management, and therefore intending visitors made their arrangements accordingly. We are assured that the season gives promise of being a most successful one in every respect.
