reference to them, but in justice to the efforts and success of the rest in entertaining the Jobbers and their guests upon the cars and the people at various places who gathered to meet the party, it must be done. The following are the names of the double quartette of which it was composed, none of whom had sung together before:

C. L. A. Johnson and H. T. Drake, first tenor; W. J. Dyer and C. P. Noyes, second tenor; W. H. Mingaye and Richard Gordon, first bass; C. H. Biglow, Jr. and E. F. Barrett, second bass.

Mitchell's Opinion.

The following paragraphs from the Mitchell Daily Republican, of July 10, will show how they regarded the Jobbers' union, whose personnel they give in a very flattering though none the less just manner.

"As the train pulled up to the depot platform it was seen to consist of a baggage car, two elegant new buffet cars, two officers' cars, one passenger coach especially for the band, and one dining car. The whole train was very elaborately decorated.

A splendid band accompanies the party.

The jobbers of St. Paul, who constitute this excursion, are young men, mainly between twenty-five and forty, all members of the firms they represent. They represent a larger capital than is engaged in commerce and trade in any city west of Chicago. Hitherto they have looked toward north Dakota for trade, but since the completion of the Jim Valley road and lines leading to it, can make better freight rates to their cus-tomers in this section than the Chicago The Union is a powerful organization. and its members are in earnest in taking hold of south Dakota. They propose a benefit which will be mutual, and this is being fully reciprocated by our people.

All of the members of this large party appear to be thorough gentlemen, and we have very assurance that they were highly gratified with the treatment received in Mitchell.'

It would be simply discourteous to close and efficient manner in which Mr. A. S. Tallmadge, as manager of the excursion, performed the laborious duties of that position, or the grace and dignity with which President Finch at all times presided. Courteous to their guests at all times, they neither slumbered or slept until every one connected with the party had been provided for, and at all times and places three the magnetism of their presence into the every exercise which fill vacancies caused by the discharge of F. was tended to advance the designs of the excursion. To them in a great measure is due the uniform good feeling which prevailed for the department. throughout the trip and in them the Union have two most zealous and able officers, and well do they merit the praise which they receive from all who were in any way connected with the late excursion. CLEVELAND AND HENDRICKS.

The Sixth Ward Comes to the Front

The club adjourned to meet at the same place on Thursday evening of the present week to make a permanent organization. Every Democrat in the precinct and every supporter of Cleveland and Hendricks is invited to be present. This is the first club organized in the city and the Sixth ward boys say they will turn out 300 strong in the first procession. This is business.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Merry War.

The most successful of comic operas from the gushing and fertile mind of that wigard of melohann Strauss, "The Merry War," presented for the first time in this city at the Grand last night, by the Carleton English Opera company. The presentation was accorded a large disposed to be critical the reception was flattering. There were discrepancies, however, but the were not glaring, and on the whole a most enjoy able and agreeable surprise was encountered by many of those in attendance. The company is a new one, and although comprising several artists of recognized vocal and musical ability, it was natural to suppose that the inaugural perform ances would not be characterized by any very high degree of finish. And this is where the sur prise came in, for on the whole it was well rounded and although wanting in complete symmetry it was a very delightful presentation.

The theme of the libretto, on which the scenis based, arises from a tilt between the petty Pretzels and Beer—A Milk Dealer's provinces of Genoa and Carrara, caused by the Lucantions—The O'ball Carrying engagement at the theaters of each, at the same ime, of a favorite dancer, each province striving for the favors of the young mistress of Terpsi During the action a pretty countess, enters the rival n disguise with the view of obtaining command of the fortress. The colonel in command, Umberto, falls a victim to the deception, and grants permission to pass through the lines, but decides to take reverge by marrying her. Having heard that she is about to marry the Duke de Limburg by proxy, he arranges to represent the Duke, and is safely married to the lovely Violetta without as sately married to the lovely violetta without paciting her suspicion as to his lidentity. He is assisted in this by Groots, a Dutch dealer in tulip bulbs, whom the soldiers have captured, thenking him a spy, and who willingly personates the absent Duke. Complications arise in the awkward matrimonial arrangement because of the presence of Groot's wife, Elsa, her jealousy, the antirarty of Violetta toward her supposed antipathy of Violetta toward her supposed shand, and her affection for Umberto, all of

The score, like all of Strauss' music, abounds In catchy and sprightly airs, and the coloring is none of its charm. The Artemisia of Miss Beaudet was enjoyable, and Mr. Carleton sang and acted the role of Spinola admirably. His romanza was pleasing, and the duet at the close of the first act was heartly applanded. The role of Groot, the tulip merchant, was taken fairly by Mr. Adolphi, the duet between he and Miss Davis, "It was a kiss," being very enjoyable. Mr. Hunt was in good voice and the rest of the cast did satisfactorily. The opera is handsomely mounted and the costumes are pretty and new. The chorus is a good one, the Amazonian drill in the second act being exceedingly well done. The same throughout the week.

GOV. HENDRICKS.

His Reply to the Letter of Secretary Chandler, Published Yesterday.

A Scathing Rebuke, and which Places the Secretary in an Awkward Position. Indianapolis, July 14.-Ex-Gov. Hendricks has written the following in response to the letter of Secretary Chandler, published in associated press papers this morning: INDIANAPOLIS, July 14.—To Hon. W. E. Chandler—Sir: I find in the newspapers this morning a letter to me from yourself, written yesterday and circulated through the associated press. You complain that I did you an injustice in an address to the people of the city made the night before. In that address I urged, "We need to have the books in the government offices opened for examination," and as an illustration, I cited a case of fraudulent vouchers in one of the bureaus of your department, and that upon your testimony be-fore the sub-committee of the senate it ap-peared that the frauds amounted to $63,000 and is not every word of that true? You were brought before the committee and testiwere brought before the committee and testi-fied as I stated. You admitted under oath that the sum of money lost amounted to $63,000, but your defense that the embezzle-ment did not wholly occur under your ad-ministration, but part of it was under that of your predecessor. It seems to have cov-ered a period from June 21, 1880, down to Language 25, 1884. Does that belowing seems January 25, 1884. Does that help your case! You were at the head of the department one year and nine months of that period. You predecessor about one year and ten months

He was in office at the payment of the first false voucher June 21, 1880, and up to April 17, 1882, when you came in and you continued thence until the last false voucher was paid, Jan. 25, 1884. The period was almost equally divided between yourself and your predecessor. How much of the $63,000 was paid out under yourself and how much under yourself. paid out under yourself and how much un-der your predecessor, your letter does not show. But, sir, upon the question that I was discussing, does it make any difference who was secretary when the false vouchers were made? I argued that cases like this, when frauds are concealed in the vaults or in the books of the department the only remedy of the people is by a change of con-trol, so that the books and vouchers shall come under the examination of new and disinterested men. Do think I am answered when you and I was mistaken in supposing that in this case the frauds were all under four ad-ministrations, when in fact a part of them extended back into that of your predecess Why, sir, that makes your case worse, for the bureau of medicine and surgery de falcation is large, but the more serious fac is that it could and did extend through two administrations of the department, a period of nearly four years, without detection. But it becomes more serious so far as you are in-dividually concerned, when the fact is consided that you had notice and yet took no sufficient action. The information upon sufficient action. The information upon which I spoke was from Washington the 26th of last month, by Associated press, the same that brings me your letter. The Associated press obtained its information either in your department or from the investigating committee. If you were not cor-rectly reported that was the time for the complaint and correction. You testified that the total of suspicious vouchers discovered so far was about $63,000, and that the money fraudulently obtained was in some instances "divided between a watchman in the department, Corrigan, chief clerk, and Kirk-wood, in charge of accountf." Now what notice had you? According to the the Associated press report of your testimony, you got a letter last year charging Corrigan, one of the parties, with drunkenness, and after that a man came to you and told you that Kirkwood and Corrigan were engaged in frauds. Did not that put you upon With the First Club in St. Paul.

The young Democrats of the First precinct of the Sixth ward met last evening at A. J. Kos' hall and made a temporary organization of a Cleveland and Hendricks' club. H. R. Hare was chosen chairman and F. A. Sies secretary.

A bill was presented by Mrs. Geo. T.

And in the investigation you testi-fied that some inquiry was made, and that nor the guilty parties to punishment. It was Government Detective Wood who discovered the frauds, and the Associated Press report says Wood declared he would have no further dealings with your department, but would press an investigation before congress. What is your next excuse? Worse, if possible, than all before. You say a large number of congressmen, including some gentlemen of influence and position, recommended that the head of the oureau. Dr. Wales, should be reappointed were his official superior, but in fact did you reappoint him? I understand not, perhaps the detective discovered the frauds too soon but Dr. Wales was not one of the three guilty parties. He neither forged vouchers nor embezzled money. His responsibility in the case is just the same as your own. He was an official superior to the three rogues, as you were of himself, as well as them. Neither he nor yourself exposed the frauds or punished the parties. I have not thought considered this as a case of politics, addressing my neighbors I said that this and like cases admonish them to demand a civil service reform in the removal of all from office sphere of their official duty and authority.

Respectfully, T. A. HENDRICKS.
