CHICAGO, July 14.—The markets were dull on 'change to-day, grain closing about ½c lower. Cables were favorable, and on this wheat and corn were stronger early, but trading was so moderate that the strength was not sustained. Telegrams from St. Louis said the receipts of winter wheat there exceeded 100,000 bushels, and the local receipts were fair, so these influences helped the weakness, and there was not even a demand from the shorts to help matters, they having pretty well covered their deals last week. Outside orders were also scarce, and the trading was chiefly among local scalpers. In spite of all this a scalper who is himself an inveterate bear said:

"The feeling is a little bulish this morning."

"What on," he was asked.

"Hope," he replied, "that springs eternal in the human breast. It don't take much you know to encourage a bull."

In the provision pit there was a little more doing though the aggregate business for the day was not very large. The weakness in the hog market accompanied by a reduction of 10@15c for 100 lbs caused a weakening feeling early in the day and lower prices were accepted for some of the leading products but later a little more strength was realized and prices rallied againg, though the improvement was not fully sustained to the close. The shipping demand was moderate and confined to small orders. Foreign advices exhibited no material change and reports from eastern markets indicated a quiet feeling in that quarter. Speculative trading was confined almost exclusively to lard and short ribs.

Wheat was traded in very lightly, operations being mostly on local account—very few outside orders being received—and the market was quiet and weaker. Foreign advices quoted wheat steady and a shade better for cargoes off coast, with weather in England unsettled. Shipments continue fair and considerably in excess of arrivals. Exports from New York were also quite large. The market opened steady and firm with an avance of ½c on August and ¼c on September but under increased offerings, influenced somewhat by the weakness in corn, prices declined 1c for August and about ⅞c for September, fluctuated slightly and finally closed ⅜c lower for both months, or at 82⅝c August and 83⅝c September. On the afternoon board wheat was somewhat stronger; August closed at 83 and September at 84c.

In the corn market an easier feeling was developed and prices averaged lower. Trading was of a more limited character and largely on local account. The receipts were larger, shipments fair and a little more disposition to realize was shown. The market opened at about Saturday's closing figures or at 52c for August, sold up to 52⅛c, but soon became weaker under increased offerings and declined to 51½c, sold at 51⅝c, ruled steady for a while and then sold down to 51¾c and finally closed at 51⅜c bid. September closed at 51¼c bid. On the afternoon board August closed at 51⅞c, and September 51⅜c.

Oats were dull, speculative orders light and prices a shade weaker.

Trading in pork was exceedingly limited and prices steadier, offerings were small and the demand light, with transactions chiefly settlement. August sold in settlement at $23.00, a gain of 50c, and September at $21.75.

Lard was traded in moderately, but the feeling was unsettled and prices irregular within a small range. Trading was chiefly in contracts for August and September delivery. Prices were weak early and gradually receded 10@12½c, but rallied again 7½@10c, and closed comparatively steady at $7.15 August and $7.30 September.

Short ribs were fairly active and prices ruled somewhat irregular. The market opened rather weak and prices ruled 15@20c lower, but rallied 10@15c, though the appreciation was not fully sustained, and closed at $7.70 August and $7.80 September.

Fat, solid, corn fed, native cattle were scarce and one or two fancy lots made extreme prices. Grass cattle carrying any fat at all made good prices, but unfinished and half fat cattle were hard to sell. Native butchers' stock was slow of sale at very low prices. Texans were plenty and consequently cheap; common canners sold at low prices, but the best and especially the lots that would suit the city butcher trade made fair prices. The supply of stockers was light, and little or no business was transacted.

There was probably about 24,000 hogs on the market, including those left over on Saturday—far too great a number for the commission men to handle successfully. The market generally was slow and prices fully 10c lower than on Saturday. Packers were not buying unless they could get all they asked for in the way of shrinkage. There were only a few commission men, who are outside of the exchange, who had property to sell in that way, hence business with the packers was limited. There was a fair shipping demand and a fair demand for assorted light, so that in one way and another a good many were selling, yet trade was slow and unsatisfactory.

J. W. Rumsey & Co. say: "At present our market is lifeless—no one appearing inclined to buy, and at the same time prices are too low to warrant their taking the short side."

McCormick, Kennett & Day say: "Reports from the country indicate a much larger yield than anticipated, and it looks as though we would harvest a crop of over five hundred millions, the quality being very fine, crop prospects in Europe are unusually good and we look for a low range of prices unless speculation becomes very active. It will always be safe to buy wheat for a long pull about 85c, but we dont think it will sell above $1 this year. There is a good shipping and export demand and stocks are being rapidly reduced, but the new crop ought to move freely now and we wish to see the effect of large receipts before advising our friends to to buy largely, though we believe the long side on soft spots the one to follow."

CHICAGO FINANCIAL.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

CHICAGO, Ill., July 14.—The bank clearings to-day were $6,766,000. Exchange on New York is quoted at 75c premium, and documentary bills at $4,81½@4.81¾. Money continues in good demand at 6@7 per cent. Local securities are in request and firm under moderate offerings.

NEW YORK.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

NEW YORK, July 14.—There is little to say about the stock market this afternoon, and the wet blanket of politics and doubtful hopes for the future is still very damp. The fact is that if the market is put sharply up or allowed to follow its own weight downward, there is no spurt to outsiders, and until there is outside confidence commission houses are looking very carefully to the margin of customers and office expenses. One of the oldest men in the street said to me this afternoon that he expected to hear of at least a wiping out failure or two before the bottom was reached. There is no doubt that there is serious trouble impending, and that further failures are within the near future in both business circles generally and Wall street and financial parts. Wall street has suffered less comparatively than other sections so far.

The opening of stocks was weak this morning, owing largely to rumors of further trouble in the dry goods trade, to succeed the Halsted-Haines failure. But the market dragged, and by the time the noon hour was reached, and there were no further failures, the bears began to look about and cover, and there was a reaction of ¾@1 per cent. in the active stocks. At the present writing the market has receded from the highest prices and is about the same as on Saturday. St. Paul has been active and sold up 1 per cent. and down 1 per cent., and is now steady at Saturday's figures. Northwestern had more weakness than strength, but is now unchanged. from last week's closing. The fact is that there is no feature to the market but the majority of the quotations are fractionally lower, even for Gould stocks. The short interest is still large and most all of the active stocks loaned to-day at 1-64th to 1-16, which means between $15@$62.50 for the use of 1,000 shares of stock over night—for the loans are all liable to be called in or given up at the opening of the board in the morning. Money continues wonderfully easy for call loans on approved stock collaterals, and there is unlimited money at 1 per cent. on good securities. People are waiting for a development that will necessitate quick money and with a sharp turn either way the demand will come.

A. M. Day says: "The market has been dull with an undertone of strength. The fear of further dry goods failures has been somewhat neutralized by a report that Mr. Vanderbilt is again a large borrower. We hear of some parties looking for higher prices in Western Union. The market is in condition to respond readily to any strong impulse, either bull or bear. Careful enquiries in the dry goods district, including interviews with houses named as being in trouble, gives the result that further trouble is not likely, in view of the fact that the banks are pursuing a more liberal policy. The Boston Herald printed yesterday statements from Mr. Goutd laying great stress on the crop prospects and the increasing strength of the New York banks is likely to remove distrust. Russia and India will have far less wheat to export than usual, and we can undersell them in he English markets. The railroad situation is brighter than at any time since 1880, and the current prices for securities are ridiculously low. All of which we leave for the personal judgment of our friends. Loaning rates: Lackawanna, New York Central and Lake Shore, 1-32: Burlington, Central Pacific, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific preferred, 1-64; Missouri Pacific, 1-16; Northwestern and St. Paul flat to 1-64. Louisville & Nashville earnings the first week in July increased $1,615. The bull pool in St. Paul is again mentioned and it is said that there is a bull pool in Erie seconds, in Babcock's office. The following statement is interesting: Twenty-one leading stocks in the '73 panic from Sept 1, to Dec. 31, averaged a decline of 24.84 points. From May 1 to June 30, 1884, was 22.91 points. After the '73 panic to Feb. 28, 1874, the advance was 26.77. The stocks are Alton, Burlington, Northwestern, Northwestern preferred, Rock Island, St. Paul, St. Paul preferred; Cleveland, Columbia, Cincinnati & Indiana; Jersey Central, Hudson, Erie, Erie preferred, Illinois Central, Michigan, Missouri Pacific, Pacific Mail, Union Pacific, Western Union, Lake Shore, New York Central and Lackawanna."

BRITISH MARKETS.

LONDON, July 14.—The Mark Lane Express in the weekly review of the grain trade says: The thunder storms prevalent during the week generally favored crops. No fresh feature in the market. Values slightly weaker. Sales of English wheat for the week, 26,607 quarters at 36s 9d. Trade in foreign wheat very dull. Market decidedly weaker, especially for American. Supply becoming oppressive. Off coast trade largely supplied. Fair business done at lower rates. There were forty-six arrivals and nineteen sales, twelve cargoes withdrawn, sixteen remained and twenty due. Flour dull. Maize quiet and unchanged. Barley easier

MILWAUKEE, July 14.—Rosa Kempf, a young lady of Kenosha, went out riding with a Racine gentlemen yesterday. A spark from his cigar set her clothes on fire and she was burned so badly that her death resulted this morning.

The disreputable dance house of Rosina George was raided last night, and the proprietress and sixty-two men and women were arrested. The raid created a great sensation and thousands of people were attracted by the trial to-day. Many of the inmates are fined, but the majority of them, with Mrs. George herself, had their cases postponed until Wednesday.

Chas. E. Osborne, the editor of the Florence News, was arrested in this city to-day on a charge of criminal libel. The trouble is an outgrowth of the shooting of the sheriff at Florence some weeks ago. Osborne was released and at once started home to meet his enemies.

Butler's Tactics.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

DETROIT, Mich., July 14.—The secretary of the Greenback national committee telegraphed to a Detroit member of the committee to meet him and Gen. Butler when the train arrived from Chicago last Saturday night. He did so and had a talk with Butler. The latter said the rumors about his not running for the presidency were groundless. He would certainly run as the representative of the two parties which had nominated him and hoped to get enough votes to throw the election into the house of representatives, when the Republicans would vote for him in preference to Cleveland.

Failure of Buford & Co.

ROCK ISLAND, July 14.—The heavy plow manufacturing firm of B. D. Buford & Co., assigned to-day. Liabilities estimated at $300,000, of which about $150,000 is in a trust deed to W. H. Singer, of the iron and steel firm of Singer, Nimick & Co., Pittsburg. The assets are not definitely known, but it is believed the firm has over $200,000 worth of plows distributed throughout the northwest, besides the factory here and mines in Colorado.

St. Paul vs. Muskegon.

There was a succession of surprises at the West Seventh street park yesterday afternoon. Nobody expected that many would attend the game, but it was the largest wash day crowd that has yet been on the grounds. Everybody believed it would rain, but it came no nearer rain than a gentle drizzle. The general impression was that Muskegon would take unto itself the laurels, but St. Paul had the easiest kind of a victory. It would be difficult to explain why the audience was so large. The day was cold and cheerless, the clouds seemed to have their sprinkling pots in battle array, and the home team had been beaten with such perplexing regularity that it seemed like hoping against hope to expect it to get another game. The fact that Jennings was going to umpire probably had a drawing effect, for if there is any one thing a base ball audience likes more than another it is to have a judge of the performance with the courage of his convictions. For up and down, fair and square umpiring Jennings gets away with the bakery. When he disciplined Nelson for trying to anticipate his decisions by leaving his position for the batters' bench, and Foster for dropping the ball when angry because strikes were not called, the audience was immensely tickled. The decision in calling O'Brien out at the home plate in the fourth inning was close but just, as it was plain even as far away as the grand stand that the runner did not touch the plate. Foster and Ganzel were the St. Paul battery and Nelson and Donohue filled the points for Muskegon. Foster held the visitors down to two hits up to the eighth inning, when two more were secured. Nelson was hit hard in but one inning, the sixth, when St. Paul pounded him for a three-bagger, a two-bagger and three singles, scoring five runs before anybody was retired. The home team made but three errors in the game. Foley fumbled Rainey's grounder in the first inning, O'Brien muffed Nelson's fly in the third, and Ganzel threw wild to Hengle in the eighth. Hengle and Tilley had a light day of it. No balls went to left field, and the three that went to second were well taken. Foley's short stop work was more than usually good, and his hit for three bases in the sixth inning was a great performance. Brown and Carroll, two of the new men, did themselves proud. Brown retired two men, assisted three times, hit the ball safe twice, and added two to the tally sheet. Carroll hit for a single, scored, put out one, and fielded what seemed a safe base hit to first in time to catch the runner. He covers more ground at right than any man put in that position before. O'Brien put out thirteen with his foot on first bag, pounded the ball for two bases, scored once and was retired at the plate once. But for his muff he would have had a great day of it. Foster and Ganzel made it warm for the Muskegon batters, as they do for all, for that matter, who have dealings with them. Hunter is one of the strongest men in the team, and we wonder that he does not play more. His catch of Donohue's fly in the fourth was as pretty a play as we have ever seen and his one hand catch of Myers' fly in the sixth was not an ordinary performance by any means. His fielding, too, is his weakness. At the bat he is the surest man of them all, and when he can't hit a pitcher's delivery it is pretty safe to wager that the rest can't. Right at this point we would like to urge that yesterday's St. Paul team be presented to-day without change. Foster, we think, should pitch as usual, as he will have Wednesday for rest.

The game opened with Muskegon at bat. Donohue went out on a foul tip, Myers on a fly to right, Rainey reached first on short's fumble, and was caught trying to steal second. Hengle and Carroll sent flies to short, and Hunter struck out. In the second Harter was retired from short to first, Brower made a hit to center, Cook hit a fly to pitcher, who doubled on Brower at first. Foster got around to second on first's muff of a thrown ball from short but the rest were retired. In the third Wright gave third a foul fly, Nelson reached first on O'Brien's muff of his fly, Patton hit the ball over Brown's head some twenty feet, but he went after it and caught it and sent it on a line to first in time to catch Nelson. St. Paul went out one, two, three. In the fourth Donohue's fly to first was neatly taken, Myers popped the ball over Hunter's head for two bases, and Rainey and Harter were retired from second to first. In the fourth Carroll opened with a safe hit to left, stole second, made third while Hunter's fly was being fielded in. The catcher failed to hold O'Brien's third strike, and hit the latter in throwing to first, Carroll scoring and O'Brien going to second. He reached third on a passed ball and was retired at the plate on fielder's choice, Foster taking first. Brown took a base on balls, Foley hit to right, the ball was fielded in over catcher's head, and Foster and Brown scored, Foley making his way to third. Tilley hit a grounder to first. Nothing more of moment was done till the last half of the sixth. Then O'Brien's double, Foster's and Brown's singles, Foley's three-baser, pitcher's error and Ganzel's single brought to the score five runs. In the seventh Hunter hit a good two-baser, but he spoiled it by trying to get three. In the eighth for Muskegon Wright hit to third too fast to hold, took two more bases on passed balls, and scored on Patton's hit. Following is the score:

Minneapolis vs. Saginaw.

The Saginaws won yesterday's game in Minneapolis in the presence of 800 spectators. The muff made by Capt. Kinzie and the wild throw by Andrus did the business. It was, all in all, an exceptionally handsome game, and was pre-eminently a game of the batteries. The score stood 2 to 1, but not a run was earned, and the base hits were equally divided between the two clubs, being six each. Pearson and McCauley occupied the points for the home team, and for the visitors Clarkson and Tray were the battery. Clarkson is a powerful and swift thrower, but he is far too strong for the catcher, who had three passed balls. Clarkson is the overhand thrower, his hand going over his head with each ball he throws. He struck out twelve men, while Pearson, who throws below the shoulder, only had one man fan his balls. The umpire called the latter down very sharp on balls, and as a result he gave Lavin his base [illegible] once. But these errors cost nothing, as neither found the home plate. Up to the sixth inning the game stood 0 to 0 in favor of Minneapolis, but in the sixth and seventh innings respectively the visitors made a run. The first inning was a blank. In the second inning Murray fanned to the catcher. Nichols struck a clean base hit, and stole second. Pearson got his first on three strikes and a passed ball and Nichols came home. McCauley then sent a long fly to West, who made a brilliant running catch, and Reid rapped a fly to right fielder. Nichols' was the only score secured by the Minneapolis. In the sixth inning Whitney made a hit, Forster sent up a high fly which was captured by Andrus, who undertook to make a double play, and unhappily threw the ball over Isaacson's head and it rolled down in the corner of the field so far that before it could be fielded to home Whitney had made the tour of the bases. Lavin then struck out to McCauley and Spence was retired by Isaacson on Andrus' handsome assist. In the next inning Isaacson's error and Capt. Kinzie's egregious muff lost the game. Rittenhouse sent a grounder, which was picked up and fielded to first by Murray, Isaacson muffing it. Tray's base hit moved him to second. West got his first on a sacrifice hit, Tray being thrown out by Murray to Andrus, Rittenhouse securing third bag. Meanwhile Faatz flied to Reid. Now came the critical opportunity which the third baseman failed to accept. Clarkson popped up a fly and Kinzie muffed it and then fumbled it until Rittenhouse scored. The balance of the game gave the score naught save zeros. Following is the score:

Bay City vs. Stillwater.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

STILLWATER, Minn., July 14.—To-day's lowering weather prevented some from attending the second game between Bay City and Stillwater. The game was fairly played, but neither side played equal to Saturday. There was no heavy hitting, only one two-bagger being got, and that by Shomberg in the first inning. Peters was held off first base by Cudworth until he could pick up the ball which he had muffed and thereby put him out. Owing to passed balls Bay City got two runs in the second inning, and Watkins got third through working the bases well. In the third inning Shomberg and Pickett got two runs through errors of Bignell, catcher of the Bay City club, and the run in the eighth inning was made through an error of Watkins. All the runs on both sides except one was through errors. The home team made a change of its battery after two innings were played, Dealy getting badly struck. Quinn as middle made a long and splendid catch, having to run to the right a considerable distance. He caught several fly balls. Peters at short stop caught one awfully hot one, but before that had hurt himself badly in trying to catch a ball and had to have some one run for him. He is quite lame. Fowler pitched somewhat wild, but his balls were hard to hit. The play was good and the spectators enjoyed it. They play again to-morrow. Following is the score:

Quincy vs. Grand Rapids.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

QUINCY, Ill., July 14.—To-day's game with Grand Rapids was characterized by a series of errors for both clubs, the visitors making six and the home club nine. Gorman and Baldwin were the battery for Quincy, Getzein and Gastfield for Grand Rapids. Quincy made a run in the second and one in the third innings, the visitors being retired in one, two, three order, but in the fourth by reason of fumbles and wild throws Grand Rapids made four unearned runs. Neither club scored in the fifth. In the sixth for Quincy, Gorman and Daniels made clean base hits, when Doyle sent the ball over the fence, bringing them both in, making a home run. This gave Quincy the game a second time, and the 2,000 people present were wild. In the eighth inning the home club made another series of errors, giving the visitors four more runs. Another run was added to their score in the ninth by wild throwing, making the total Grand Rapids 9, Quincy 5. Runs earned—Quincy 3, Grand Rapids 1.

Milwaukee vs. Fort Wayne.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

MILWAUKEE, July 14.—To-day's game resulted nine to one in favor of Milwaukee. Morrissey pitched for the home club, and apart from his wildness, giving four men bases on balls, he was very effective, only four singles being made off his delivery. The Milwaukees took kindly to Horner's curves, making nine singles and four doubles. The home club scored all their runs in the first and last innings, the Fort Waynes making one in the [illegible] passed balls. Sexton as short stop was [illegible] work as Sexton's running stop of a hard hit bounder in the sixth inning was considered the most remarkable play of the game. Running fly catches by Wo[illegible] Waynes, and Hogan and [illegible] elicited loud applause. Griffin [illegible] double play in the inning on his long running catch and throw to Straub, putting out Wamsley, who had ventured off first. The score is as follows:

Who Has Beck Anyhow?

[Milwaukee Wisconsin, July 13th.]

Manager Loftus yesterday telegraphed Beck, recently pitcher for the Alleghanies, to come at once to Milwaukee. Beck secured his release from the club yesterday morning and immediately notified the local association of his willingness to sign with them. He is pronounced by competent authorities in eastern base ball circles as being fully able to compare favorably with any pitcher now playing in the Northwestern League, excepting Cushman, who is without doubt the most effective man in the association. A Racine pitcher was also given a trial at the Wright street park yesterday, and although possessing considerable power and speed, yet his command of the sphere would barely warrant his being effective against heavy batters.

[Milwaukee Sentinel, July 14th.]

Manager Loftus received a telegram last evening from Pittsburg stating that Beck had joined the Minneapolis team. Beck was morally bound to come to Milwaukee, because he had pledged his word to do so as soon as he received his release. When he did receive his release he telegraphed the information to Loftus and wanted to know if he was wanted. Loftus replied at once, telling him to come on, and that was the last heard from Beck. The Minneapolis manager, Tuthill, is acquiring quite a reputation for getting players from other clubs by underhand methods. He almost ruined the Terre Haute club by seducing away several of their best players, and made offers to other players, causing them to be dissatisfied with their positions. The Minneapolis club is continually changing its players, and has probably played more men during this season than any other club in the country, and yet it is regarded as a losing team.

Trotting at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 14.—At the Chicago Driving park the weather was cool and cloudy and the track fast.

First race, 2:22 pacing, unfinished on Saturday:

Bessie M	1	1	0	1
Fritz	2	2	1	2
Chestnut Star	2	3	2	4
Neillie Shaw	4	4	0	3

Time, 2:20¼, 2:20, 2:21, 2:17½.

Second race, 2:21 trotters:

Phil Thompson	2	1	1	1
Zoe B	1	2	2	2
Ewing	3	3	drawn.

Time, 2:22¼, 2:17¾, 2:20¼, 2:21.

Third race, 2:27 trotters, unfinished, after six heats, on account of approaching darkness. The first heat was a dead heat between Frank Landers and Lynwood, formerly Billy Clinker. The second and fourth heats were won by Lander, the third and sixth by Adelaide, the fifth by Prince, after a change of drivers. Time, 2:21, 2:18¾, 2:20¼, 2:20¾, 2:21¾, 2:24¾.

A Great Regatta.

CONNEAUT, Pa., July 14.—The coming regatta here promises to eclipse anything of the kind which has taken place this year. Already the hotels are fast filling up with visitors from New York, Boston, Buffalo and other cities. An immense crowd is expected to be present at the regatta. All the men entered have records, and the contests are sure to be spirited. Everything that tends to make the thing a success is being done. The names of the scullers who have arrived are as follows: Albert Hamm, New Bedford, Conn.; John Teemer, McKeesport, Pa.; J. M. Kay, Halifax; P. F. Hamm, New Bedford; G. A. Hosmer, Boston; G. W. Lee, Newark, N. J.; J. TenEyck, Peekskill, N. Y.; N. Layberger, Boston; J. Gaudaur, St. Louis; P. Priddy, Pittsburg. More are expected this evening. All the rowers are working hard, and are on the course twice daily.

A kick has been made on the arrangement of prizes. A paper is being circulated and it is reported it has been signed by all the entries but Teemer, asking that the premiums, aggregating $1,350, be divided into six prizes and a consolation purse of $300. The men say that they will not row if the suggestion is not accepted, as by the present arrangement it will be a one man race.

Trotting at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, July 14.—The summer trotting meeting of the Pittsburg Driving Park association begins to-morrow and continues four days. The following week the summer meeting of the Exposition Park association will be held. The meeting promises to be the most successful ever held here. Many of the best horses in the country are entered, including Westmont, Jay Eye See, Richball, Phyllis and Edwin Thorne. On Thursday, July 17, Westmont will pace for a special purse of $2,000, with $500 added if he beats the record. On the 22d inst. at Exposition park Jay Eye See will trot for a special purse of $2,500, with $1,000 added if the best record on a half mile track of 2:16 is beaten. The combined purses of the two meetings aggregate $32,000. A telegram from J. M. Hill, Chicago, says $5,000 has been wagered that Westmont will do better than the 2:01¾ on Thursday.

Notes.

The last Muskegon-St. Paul game will be played this afternoon.

McQuaid has been released as a Northwestern league umpire at his own request. He has joined the Peoria team.

This afternoon will be ladies' day at the West Seventh street park, when ladies will be admitted free to the grounds and to the grand stand.

Minneapolis and Saginaw have the credit of playing the longest and most vigorously contested game of ball played in the Northwestern league.

The Peoria club is reported to be financially embarrassed. It is also again reported that the Fort Wayne club will disband. Besides this, it is reported that the Saginaw association is weak and in trouble.

The cricket match between the Derbyshire eleven and the gentlemen of Philadelphia commenced yesterday. The Americans scored 147 in the first inning and the Derbyshire team 141. In the second inning the Americans scored 20, with two wickets down, when the game ended for the day.

The Great Western Band

Will give a concert to-night at Grote's, on Bridge square.
