SATURDAY'S BOOM.

That's What They Call the Rise of Stocks Yesterday.

And Will Wait Till Monday for the Outcome of the Boom.

The Grain Markets Rather Dull and Prices Slightly Lower than Friday.

Reduced Stocks of Wheat Both in Europe and America—The Short Side in Pork.

CHICAGO.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

CHICAGO, July 19.—The day on 'change was rather a quiet one with no special noteworthy features and but slight changes in prices all around. The grain markets opened fairly active, advanced a few points and then became easy, wheat closing ¼c to ½c lower, corn a shade higher and oats about steady. The bear side is rather weak, few wishing to run the risk of selling short, but on the other hand no material advance can be expected as long as the weather remains so favorable, and the bulls show remarkable interest in the weather bulletins and whistle for rain. Foreign quotations are still favorable and the New York market firm but the St. Louis market was dull under receipts of 85,000 bushels of wheat.

A Chicago statistician has gone to the labor of compiling an exhaustive summary of stocks of grain held in the principal European ports, afloat and in the United States, and which shows how rapid and general the reductions in stocks of wheat and flour have been in Europe during the past six months, and draws the conclusion that, "This reduction must still go on for some time to come unless supplemented by very heavy shipments of our own crop of new red winter wheat from the Atlantic ports, as only two countries, (Russia and India,) which could quickly supply any immediate demand are still shipping very lightly indeed." A recapitulation of his summary makes the following showing, the figures indicating bushels:

	July 1, '84.	Jan. 1, '84.	July 1, '83.
Wheat in stock in 10 cities in Europe	11,900,000	23,200,000	19,600,000
Flour reduced to wheat bushels.....	5,400,000	6,800,000	7,300,000
Amount of wheat afloat to Europe...	14,800,000	17,000,000	14,200,000
Visible supply of wheat in America	13,400,000	35,500,000	19,400,000
Total	45,500,000	82,500,000	60,500,000

In the provision pit trading was comparatively light and an easier feeling prevailed. Nothing to speak of is doing in pork, but the abnormal situation is the cause of a good deal of talk. Said a prominent trader to-day;

"I presume there are 40,000, perhaps 50,000, barrels of pork short for July, a bigger lot for August, and more still for September. I happen to know that the shortage in pork for the months preceding the opening of the packing season aggregates at least 200,000 barrels. All the while the stock of regular pork, too, is being rapidly depleted. The anxiety of the shorts are holding the price above $23.00 today. In August tais anxiety will be still more acute. In September there will be a scramble, and in October a riot among the fellows who sold what they did not have sense enough to skurry around and provide against delivery day."

"The short interest for the months of July, August, September and October," said Ulric King, "I estimate at 150,000 barrels. All this pork that is regular is being taken out and put into other styles, so that there will be nothing left for the shorts to do but to walk up and settle. The alarm is so great already that the short sellers are afraid to enter the market to buy for fear of booming prices.

The principal shorts, popularly presumed to be the Flowers, Alexander Geddes & Co., Robert Warren & Co., Kirkwood & Co., are believed to have settled for the near options. Some of them, however, are reported to have put out bigger short lines of September and October.

Wheat was somewhat less active, though the business transacted will aggregate a fair amount. The market opened unsettled, partially on account of the Harmon Spruance failure, prices being somewhat unsettled and free offerings quickly caused a weaker feeling and a decline of ⅞@1c. Later there was a rally caused by a better demand, which was afterward laid to the account of Nat Jones and Baker who were said to have run the market up to sell on. Prices advanced 1@1¼c, but afterwards became easier and after some fluctuations closed ¼@½c below yesterday's last quotations. Among the large sellers were Wm. T. Baker, Cudahy and O. H. Roche. Baker disposed of 300,000 at 86c, September, while Roche sold 200,000, buying half of it back later. The shorts in one or two instances were forced to cover, and sellers were plenty at the top figure of the day. August closed at 84½c, September at 85¾c. There is no afternoon board Saturdays.

In corn speculative trading was fair, though the feeling was somewhat nervous and unsettled. The opening was irrerular, prices varying considerably in different parts of the pit, and under free offerings declined ¾c from the early outside prices. Later the market firmed up in sympathy with wheat, and prices advanced 1@1½c, but soon ruled easier again and closed at 55c for August, ½c higher, 55c for September, the same as last sales yesterday, and 54½c for October, ¾c above yesterday's close.

Trading in oats was only fair and prices ruled somewhat lower during the session, but closed at yesterday's figure.

Very little was doing in pork and prices exhibited no change.

Lard was not as active as usual and prices easy, receding 5@10c and closing rather tame at $7.12½ for August and $7.25 for September.

Short ribs were in small demand and prices were 5@10c lower, the closing being $7.72½ August, and $7.77½ September.

In cattle there was little or no change in prices from those ruling late yesterday afternoon. The decline on fat cattle for the week is 25@30c, on grass cattle 75@80c, on cows and on other common stock nearly a dollar. The receipts of Texans were light to-day, but for the week they have been the heaviest for the season. Good canning sorts sold down to $3.50 @3.60 and the best such as was suitable for shippers and butchers sold at $4.00@4.25; one or two lots of so-called corn-fed sold at $4.90@4.95. The bad break in half fact and common cattle, together with the heavy receipts, seems to have had a depressing effect on stockers and feeders, they selling down to ruinously low figures.

There was a brisk demand for all sorts of hogs, with an advance of about 10c on choice light and good mixed packing grades, while prime heavy underwent little or no change. Choice light commanded a premium of 10@15c over the best heavy to-day, and it is now generally believed that fancy light will continue to so sell for some time.

Hamilt & Brine, reviewing the market, say: "We have again to note increased activity in all our markets during the past week, with a very marked improvement in the general feeling. Wheat and corn have attracted more interest than for several weeks past, while provisions have ruled steady, with no material change in values. In the wheat market there has been a noticeable increase in the business done for outside account for future as well as for spot delivery. Shippers have taken hold freely, the movement for several days past having been liberal, and engagements entered into for the near future which promise to greatly reduce our already largely depleted stocks. Should the demand continue for a few weeks as active as in the recent past, (and indications all point in that direction), we will enter upon the new season with granaries as bare as has ever been known in the history of the trade. The important fact taken in connection with the exceptionally low values now current, leads us to look upon the situation as one of great strength, and we therefore say again to our friends that we believe purchases of wheat made upon all weak spots will pay well, and advise cautious buying on all reactions in the market. Corn has also shown great strength and activity during the week, which has resulted in advanced values. Stocks of the contract grade in store have been further reduced by a liberal shipping movement which promises to continue fairly. While we regard corn as being much higher than wheat at their current respective values, we can see nothing to warrant expectation of serious decline in the former for some time to come."

Cyrus H. Adams said to-day: "With stocks in sight so low, with prices the lowest on record and with the quality of the new wheat so superb, there is no doubt in my mind that Europe will soon be taking all the American wheat that American farmers want to sell.

CHICAGO FINANCIAL.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

CHICAGO, July 19.—The local money market during the week ruled firm at 6@7 per cent. The banks have furnished their customers with all the funds required for the transaction of strictly legitimate business and have given outsiders the cold shoulder. The trade of the city has been quiet and collections rather slow.

To-day the banks report a good demand for money and all parties entitled to favors were accommodated at 6@7 per cent. Eastern exchange between city banks was firmer and sales were at 70@75c premium per $1,000. The clearings of the associated banks were $6,550,076. For the week they sum up $38,730,332 against $47,188,501 for the corresponding week in 1883.

MILWAUKEE.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

MILWAUKEE, July 19.—An easier feeling at the winter wheat markets, together with fine weather in this country and Europe, combined to exert a weakening influence over values on 'change to-day and the wheat market opened weaker and lower, prices subsequently receding ½c more with liberal offers to sell at the decline. The receipts of all kinds were fair while shipments were insignificant, but liberal deliveries to local consumers preventing material accumulation. The market opened at 85¼c for No. 2 spring, seller August, a decline of ½c from the previous day's closing figure and receded to 84¾c. September ranged 1 cent above August, selling at from 86¼ to 85¾ cents. September closed at 86¼ cts. The break from yesterday's prices was due in a slight measure to reports of cholera in New York.

NEW YORK.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

NEW YORK, July 19.—Stocks opened strong with no lack of activity and a sharp upward turn in the grangers. St. Paul advanced with hardly a reaction to 74¼; a rise of five points from yesterday's opening figures. There was a brisk demand from the shorts and their purchases extended into the afternoon hours. The bank statement was exceedingly favorable with the deposits showing an increase of over $5,000,000 and the reserve of $4,555,275. As money on call has been a drug for some time, the statement had but little effect. Heavy realizing at about the best figures of the day caused some sharp reactions, and the market for a time acted rather toppy.

The shorts in Missouri Pacific had to pay tribute again. The stock was marked up to 99c early in the day. Western Union Telegraph, notwithstanding all the statements that it was liable to advance sharply, seemed to have a hard time of it and failed to hold the slight improvement of their morning.

The market closed dull and rather firm for most stocks.

A prominent operator reviewing the market says: "Henry Clews is one of the big bulls today and maintains that his prediction of a rise is verified by to-day's prices. Everything is better to-day, the grangers especially so with Southern Pacific leading. The Gould stocks are all on the upturn, especially Western Union and Missouri Pacific and the Vanderbilts and coolers show about the same advance. The reports of trouble in the dry goods district are denounced by the bull brokers, and they are bidding furiously for stocks, but seem to confine their efforts more especially to the specialties and really strong stocks such as the better class of dividend payers. The announcement that the unexpectedly large increase in the bank statements set the bulls to active work, and the most suspicious thing was no resistance on the part of the bears. It is probably only the usual Saturday boom. The result remains to be seen. There is considerable talk just now of a final turn for the beter, because of the crops, but it may be regarded as talk only."

THE GREELY PARTY.

To Stop at Portsmouth Until Acclimated—Gen. Hazen's Explanation.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Admiral Nichols, acting secretary of the navy, issued orders to Commander Schley this afternoon to remain at St. Johns as long as necessary to secure the encasing of the dead of the Greely party in caskets and then proceed with his three vessels, with the survivors and dead to Portsmouth, N. H., where he will await further orders, and where the members of the Greely party and relief expedition can become acclimated before proceeding further south.

Gen. Hazen is annoyed by the criticisms which has been made respecting the non-establishment of a depot near Cape Sabine upon the west coast channel, and has prepared the following memorandum in respect to the matter:

"It was the plan from the first to place a depot upon the east bank of Greenland at Littleton Island. This was Greely's plan after very careful and prolonged study of the whole subject. He not only made the plan before he started, but very carefully reiterated it in writing after reaching Lady Franklin Bay, closing his letter on the subject in these words: "No deviations from these instructions should be permited. Latitude of action should not be given to the relief party, who on a known coast are searching for men who know their plans and orders. The reason for this decision were that there was coal on the east side and none on the west. It was in the neighborhood of friendly Eskimo, who did not live on the west side. On the east side there was abundant game, while there was none on the west. While numerous camps of the explorers had been established on the east side for the above reasons, while they were never established on the west side, because the west side was scarcely more than barren rocks. The pledge of the signal office to support Greely in the exact accord with this arrangement was the most sacred. Any departure from it would have been a base treachery. This was done in every particular. Retrospectively one may now see other plans that might have been better, but in making personal judgments we must place ourselves in the position of Greely and those who were working with him three years ago, at the time he left. The signal office was condemned by the court of inquiry because it did not depart from this agreement so far as to establish a depot going up instead of coming down, if it failed to reach Lady Franklin bay, as Greely had directed. But it seems now that had it been done Greely could not have reached it, as explained in his dispatch, for reasons then not forseen."

The Advance Guard.

PITTSBURG, July 19.—The Prohibitionists are rapidly getting matters in shape for the meeting of the national convention to be held in this city next week. Col. George Babcock and Mrs. Emily Pitt Stevens, of California, have arrived, and are the advance courants of what is hoped to be a boom for Dr. R. H. McDonald, of California. The delegates are not expected to arrive to any considerable number before Monday night or Tuesday forenoon. The executive committee met at the St. Charles hotel Tuesday at 1 p. m., and the national committee at the same place an hour later.

Quarantining the American Coast.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—At a meeting of the cabinet yesterday it was decided to take vigorous measures to prevent the introduction of cholera into the United States. The state and treasury departments will act together in enforcing regulations which are to be prepared. An order will be issued prohibiting the importation of rags from all infected countries for ninety days, or longer if necessary. It was also decided that vessels in the revenue marine service should establish a cordon along the coast to prevent the landing of all vessels from foreign ports which do not possess clear bills of health.
