INDICATIONS. WASHINGTON, Sept. 23, 1 a. m.—Indications for upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys.

The bears were on the stock in the New York stock market yesterday, making repeated raids on the gangsters and Vanderlits, which declined sharply.

The market was weak until the close, when an advance from lowest prices of 1/8 cent per cent was gained on the entire list. Money was easy, gold markets firm, railroads steady, and state securities neglected.

The bulls carried off the cake in the Chicago wheat market. The opening was a fraction off from Monday's close.

The upturn commenced at once. A few weak spots were struck during the day, but the market finally closed 1 1/2 cents higher than the opening.

September corn weakened from Monday's advance. Milwaukee wheat was on the boom.

The opening was 3/8 cent up, and comparable saw-wheat market closed 1/4 cent up from the opening.

At St. Paul wheat was neglected. About a decline was bid for the spot stuff, but the futures were 1c up. Corn is strong.

The Blaine party is hung all over with signals of distress.

MAJOR BLAINE didn't know a license was necessary! The poor, young thing.

In regard to the Republican majority in Maine the Blaine bosses are now congratulating themselves that it was no worse.

ADMIRAL PORTER says, "I have been a Republican since the formation of the party, but I do not want to live to see Jim Blaine President of the United States."

The Boston Globe professes such confidence that Blaine will be withdrawn that it is discussing the probability that Hamilton Fish will be taken up for the "vacancy."

The American navy has less than one hundred ships, and is decorated with sixteen hundred officers. Who wants to continue the Republican party in power.

The Republicans unanimously concede that the Democrats can win without Ohio, and that if they lose Ohio themselves in October they have no chance of success. Keep this item in mind.

CAPTAIN ALBERT DELBYROAT died on Friday last at Richfield Springs, New York.

He was the oldest steamboat Captain in the country, and was when Commodore Vanderbilt began his successful life work.

The Captain was a great admirer of Benjamin Franklin, and he gave to the printers of New York the Franklin statue in Printing House square, in front of the Times and Tribune buildings.

Eloquent extract from Senator Logan's speech at the fair at Davenport, Iowa, Sept. 20, 1884, as reported in the Daily Gazette (Republican paper) of that city Sept. 21, 1884.

"If anyone wishes to discuss the question whether patriotism exists, let him place an Englishman in any part of the world, in the remotest corner of the globe, and begin the strains of 'God Save the Queen,' and he is ready for anything."

"If an Irishman hear the strains of 'The Wearing of the Green,' and he is ready to fight while there is a drop of whisky around."

The Republican prints understood Blaine's request that they publish all the Mulligan-Fisher letters in a Pickwickian sense. So most of them do not publish them at all, and the few that do, are dishonest in their pretense. The New York Tribune, for example suppressed some of the letters which were most vital to an understanding of the case. The Boston Journal publishes only nine of the whole series, and all papers suppressed the most damaging ones. A Blaine organ cannot be honest.

MR. CONKLING is making no speeches for Blaine, but he is saying an occasional word that reaches the public. He makes no concealment of his supreme contempt for Blaine and Logan and the batch of nonentities who are managing the campaign.

COMMENTING on Blaine's story of his marriage, the Boston Herald caustically remarks: "To repair the omission which rendered the early ceremony so effect, he went with his wife to Pennsylvania, and was married to her in legal form at Pittsburg in March, 1851.

With the advent of Blaine and Logan without the corruption fund begins to flow. Ten dollars appears to be the standard price offered for votes, with new, crisp bills, looking as if they came fresh from the money press.

The message of Mayor Cleveland and the letter of James G. Blaine, so at variance with each other, differ no more than the man himself. Does any one believe that Governor Cleveland would write such a letter as this one to me dear Fisher?

THE MESSAGE OF MAYOR LETTER OF SPEAKER CLEVELAND. BUFFALO, June 26, 1884. My Dear Mr. Blaine, I have just received your letter of the 23rd inst. in relation to your honorable body, passed at its last meeting, awarding the prize of $100,000 to the man who should propose the largest intelligence and comprehension.

THE GERMAN VOTE. Out of a list of three hundred and fifty-eight German papers 278 are supporting Cleveland and eighty are advocating Blaine. Hereof a majority of these papers have been Republican. What is true of the papers printed in the German language is equally true of the German people themselves.

FISHER AND MULLIGAN. The most natural rejoinder the partisan Blaine papers have to offer to the mass of evidence so far accumulating to support the fact that the will of the people is for Mulligan and Fisher are men unworthy of credit.

about Blaine that a German can admire. They understand that he is not honest and sincere about anything, and his course in the late Maine canvass has alienated all liberal minded liberty loving citizens by tens of thousands.

MULLIGAN, continues this narrator, has had a curious career. For a time he handled the cash of one of the best theatres in Boston. Afterward he was the confidential book-keeper of the Stanwoods, relatives of the Blaines, and is now and has been for many years the trustee of what is known as the Fisher estate.

BOSTON Herald: Mr. Blaine's remark to Mr. Fisher about the statement he wanted him to copy and sign—"This is strictly true"—reminds me of the old farmer who said to a noted liar: "Tell me the biggest lie you ever told, and I'll give you a mug of cider." "I never told a lie," was the response. "Draw the cider!" said the farmer.

IT is a curious well at Andersonville, Ga. It is an ordinary table top, and the water having given out a short time ago it was bored deeper. found himself unable to do justice to such sentiment, as he had spent the last five and one-half years among the people, trying to bring them out of darkness to the light of civilization, in which effort he believed he had been successful.

BLAINE'S MASQUERADE.

He Poses Before a Philadelphia Crowd and Then Flies Back to New York.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—About 9 o'clock Blaine and party returned from a drive to the park. After luncheon Blaine proceeded to the Union League house for the public reception. This took place in the large assembly room. Blaine was attended by a committee of thirty of the younger members of the league in evening dress.

regiment, while fully justified under the circumstances, will be regretted by the directors and members. His strong interest in the success of the association and his energetic efforts to secure its establishment will long be remembered and appreciated and in the choice of his successor it is to be hoped that the lot will fall upon some one equally as much interested and able to carry out the association in all of its undertakings, as was Mr. Merrill. There can be no doubt but that the coming year will be the best one ever held in this part of Minnesota, and it is well to be late of the season it will be a grand wind up. It begins on the 8th and ends on the 11th of October.

Notwithstanding the large rain storm a goodly number of people turned out to the meeting of the Cleveland and Hendricks club at the Opera house. Judge James Brown occupied the platform beside him. The meeting was addressed by Mr. P. A. Foster, nominee for the legislature, in a very able manner, and despite the falling rain outside the attention and interest was all that could be desired. It was followed by Judge James Brown's address, chosen remarks, after which the meeting adjourned with three rousing cheers for Cleveland and Hendricks.

WHAT IT MEANS.

China to be Divided Between France and Russia and England and Germany Get Left.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—A Shanghai dispatch to the Times states that the Franco-Russian alliance means the disintegration of China and its partition between these two countries, France taking three southern provinces and Russia having China as a recruiting ground for her armies, the two countries being connected by railways.

The alliance also means Franco-Russian preponderance in Europe and therefore is fraught with danger to Germany. It also means the extinction of China trade and imperils all the English possessions in the east.

Democratic Convention. The Democratic county convention of Blue Earth county assembled at 2 p. m., on yesterday, at the court house in this city. They were called to order by Capt. J. L. Washburn, chairman of the Democratic county committee, who after a few remarks, called for the reading of the constitution of the Democratic county, and hoped that their action would be marked by wisdom and prudence, and that the result of their deliberations might be the placing of a ticket in the field which would sweep on to victory in November.
