Annual Report of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company.

Mr. Vanderbilt Determined to Keep the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Out of New York.

The Pennsylvania's Conflict with the Baltimore & Ohio.

The Merchants and Manufacturers' Association and other business bodies of Baltimore are very much exercised over the Pennsylvania railroad's action in cutting off the Baltimore & Ohio passenger business over its Philadelphia and New York lines.

Meetings have been held to protest against the Pennsylvania's action. It is said that one of the principal business organizations will call on the city council to take action on the matter, as the city has large interests in the Baltimore & Ohio, and has granted many valuable privileges to the Northern Central branch of the Pennsylvania. Efforts may be made to have some of these privileges revoked.

Mr. Vanderbilt's determination to keep the Baltimore & Ohio railroad out of New York city is said to be an impelling motive for the rupture of his relations with Mr. Gowen. Gowen is also credited with joining the opposition to the Baltimore & Ohio as a retaliation for the attack of the Garretts upon his telegraph interests. It is understood that these two giants have joined their forces with the Pennsylvania's action. It is said that the Baltimore sent last Saturday evening the Baltimore road from its through passenger connection with New York over the Pennsylvania line is the first step in this contest.

It is believed the Baltimore & Ohio is connected between ex-President Gowen of Reading and Mr. Vanderbilt, who has long supplied funds to the corporation, by which its most powerful rival, the Pennsylvania, will be strengthened beyond the possibility of future defeat. Mr. Vanderbilt has sought to recoup some of the enormous losses he has sustained by his Reading investment, and is anxious to have "a practical railroad man" at the helm of the unfortunate corporation. With this aim in view, the New York millionaire sent his brother-in-law, Mr. Twombly, to Philadelphia to represent him in the contest.

At a recent meeting of the St. Clement's guild, E. H. Schlick, Peter Lusk, John Beyer and Jacob Hoffman were appointed delegates to attend the state meeting of the German Catholic Life Insurance society, to meet in Jordan on the 21st inst.

Adjutant General MacCarthy received from Washington yesterday the complete official army register of the volunteer force of the United States for the years 1861, '62, '63, '64 and '65. It contains the record of the rank, date of commission, muster out, casualties and date of deaths of all the officers of the several regiments.

There was a large addition to the pick and shovel brigade on the new court house excavations yesterday morning, and business was very lively in that vicinity. The subsoil which is being removed from the rock is being carried to Smith park, the level of which is being raised up with it, thus being prepared for seeding down.

Yesterday forenoon Judge Nelson, of the United States district court, and a jury, took up the case of the United States against Frank Tousey, charged with pension frauds. The charge is based on a technical offense, which consists in the accused having secured a pension claim for $1,600 and retaining one-half the amount as a fee. The case is on trial.

A meeting will be held at Rebholz' hall Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. to take action on the Winifred street question. All those interested in this movement will be sure and come and attend to business. No person will be recognized who does not take action financially. We also invite all voters from the Second and Sixth wards to attend, which consists in the accused having secured a pension claim for $1,600 and retaining one-half the amount as a fee. The case is on trial.

The Wabash Interest in England. LONDON, Oct. 10.—Mr. Joy, president of the Wabash Railroad company, addressed a meeting of the bond holders of that road to-day. He said: The porters of the Wabash railroad was caused by its acquiring more lines than it was justified in doing. The road had a good future, but was unable to raise money to pay the floating debt and remain a harmonious corporation. The alien natives are a receiver hostile to the road, foreclosure or an amicable arrangement. He recommended a conversion of the debt, which he said would leave it in a good condition to earn enough to pay its fixed charges and will be to bridge across the all its bonds, including the interest on income bonds embraced in the proposed reorganization. At Mr. Joy's suggestion the meeting appointed a committee to consider the subject of reconstruction of the road.

The Philadelphia Compelled to Carry the B. & O. Cars. BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 10.—Late this afternoon Gowen & Co., counsel for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, filed a petition in the city circuit court, and Judge Fisher issued an injunction restraining the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore railroad company from interfering in any manner with the transportation of passengers, baggage and express matter in the care of the Baltimore & Ohio road between Baltimore and Philadelphia. Also requiring the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore road to receive such cars and transport the same over its line to Philadelphia, and deliver the same to the Pennsylvania road to be carried to New York. The bond of the Baltimore & Ohio is $100,000, Robert Garrett and John Gregg sureties.

A New Line for the Burlington. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 10.—The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy company has purchased the right of way and franchise of the Forest Park & Central road between here and a point on the Missouri river, $20,000 being the price paid. It is understood that the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy will complete the road on the small part which has been constructed, and will bridge across the Missouri river. This will give the Chicago Burlington & Quincy independent lines between St. Louis and Burlington on both sides of the Missouri river.

Rates Still Going Down. CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Passenger rates to Missouri river points to-day ruled at $2.50, and it is reported that some new tickets to be sold at $1.10. Rates to St. Louis $2. THE BOYS IN BLUE.

The Bank They Occupied Last Night Not as Good as the One at the Port.

To-Day's Proceedings at the Police Court Graphically Portrayed by a Globe Reporter.

The blue and the dark and the gray. The night turned into the day. Two dusky lovers and a pale faced dame Waited to the gloomy quay.

They were two gentlemen of color and they wore the blue coats and brass buttons which indicated that they were a fraction of U. S. Sam's standing army. They came in from the fort Thursday night and bluffed their monthly stipend of thirteen cases each against Spanish pedro. They hankered for a time at the head. In the small hours of the morning they went to the Monte Cristo palace on Fifth street and there they met a sweet young thing of fifty summers named Mad Dr. Wood, whose hair is as gray as a badge's.

The lady practitioner threw a glance at one of the boozey soldiers and the gentlemen wilted. They boozed until the bowl ran dry and then they saw the lady to her ancestral 6'10" castle on Cedar street. She tackled them for $5, but they couldn't go her, for they were broke. The latter gentleman started to go and one of them tried to embrace her. It was the old story of Daphne and the Centaur. But she screamed and fell against the store, when a star with a blue overcoat planned to it rushed in and put them under arrest.

Yesterday they gave the names of Jas. Spriggs and Wm. Williams. The latter was discharged and Spriggs was sentenced to $10 or ten days.

Chas. and Louis Manke were up on the charge of stealing jelly from the cellar of a city store on some days past. They proceeded were found in the possession of a lot of jam and the testified that he had found them under a sidewalk. The court said it wouldn't laundry and he was fined $25 or thirty days. Chas. was discharged.

Henry and Jacob Haas were arraigned on a rather peculiar charge. They own a shanty which was occupied by a Conemara family in a small tenement some days past. They have been trying to bounce the latter from the house. During Wednesday night Henry Haas and one of his men went to the shanty and removed the doors and shutters the idea being to freeze the family out.

When arraigned yesterday Mr. Markoe, for the prosecution, explained the nature of the offense and asked the court to impose heavy punishment, saying that Mrs. Day was sick and that she had been exposed to the frosty weather of the October night. Judge Burr said that the accused had no right to attempt to evict persons, and that they had been guilty of a gross offense. At the same time there was some provision for the reason that both Day and his wife were drinking all the time, and the latter had neglected her children to walk the streets, while they continually quarreled. Henry and Jacob were discharged and Louis was fined $25.

A rose faced little woman in a state of great excitement, was Mrs. Jencke yesterday morning. The complainant, a titling youth named August Kasooski, testified that he was running to a fire in the fourth ward, when he saw Mrs. Jencke grab him on the shoulder and said that he was the one who set it. The testimony showed a very weak case and the laugh was on August for he was compelled to pay the costs, while the little woman with the rosy cheeks skipped out.

Worth, of Paris, has decided in favor of hops, but they come in use slowly. In this country everybody has decided that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is the best remedy for coughs and colds, and it's coming fast into general use.

AMUSEMENTS. The "White Slave"—Engagement of Maggie Mitchell.

The second performance of the "White Slave," at the Grand Opera house last night, was witnessed by a fair sized and very enthusiastic audience. The play was very well accorded a more favorable reception than that which greeted the opening performance.

The cast is in the keeping of admirable actors and special praise is due Miss Newman for the exceedingly clever manner in which she enacts the little role of the play. This lady has a highly emotional and a most part and her interpretation of the role is at once artistic and enjoyable. A special matinee is announced for this afternoon and the engagement closes to-night.

The advance sale of seats for the engagement of the popular and talented actress, Maggie Mitchell, which opened yesterday morning, has been very large and a most successful and enjoyable season is promised.

Death of a Prominent Minnesota Editor. W. H. Lamb died on Thursday, at Eau Claire, Wis., of aneurysm of the heart, having been ill but few days. He was thirty-nine years of age, and had resided in Minnesota since 1851, having come to the state with his parents, who survive him, when two years of age. He was married with Mary E. Congdon, of Eau Claire, September 1, 1850, who mourns his irreparable loss.

Mr. Lamb acquired the trade of a printer at Eau Claire, Wis., and was employed by the publisher of the St. Cloud Times. A few years later he removed to Anoka, publishing a paper there, and in 1875 established the Wisconsin Standard at Eau Claire. He was associated with several newspaper enterprises there, and at his death he was employed to close the doors, as the editor of the Standard. He was a genial, free hearted man, and very clever in avocation, and widely known in Minnesota.

Skirmish Among the Doctors. When typhoid fever broke out at Port Jervis, some doctors quarreled about how to cure it. Each said his way was the best, and several said all the others were entirely wrong and knew nothing about how to cure it. A little knowledge of medicine is a dangerous thing, but a very valuable one. It is better to know nothing than to know a little, and to know a little is better than to know nothing at all.
