Stillwater Notes. This is Halloween night, so look out for the boys.

To-night there will be the Republican rally and a big time generally. The streets are getting dry.

The steamer Cleon went north yesterday again, all damaged by the explosion having been fully repaired.

Elmer Osborne, Magnolia restaurant, keeps the best of any in the best cook in the city. Meals served at all hours.

Mr. Wm. P. Sawyer's little child, aged one month and twenty days, died of congestion of the brain on Monday evening.

There was a regular old fashioned jam at the roller skating rink on Wednesday evening, and all enjoyed themselves to the fullest.

We regret to learn that Mrs. Wm. P. Sawyer, whose baby died on Wednesday, has just received a telegram that her mother is dying at her old home.

It is hardly probable that the Marine Blaine and Logan club will attend the rally to-night, as they cannot get a steamer by which to come down.

Mr. G. W. Cable, of Davenport, Ia., was in the city yesterday. He resides in section 10, in the city of Davenport, Iowa, and is well known in Cleveland and St. John ahead.

Sheriff O'Gorman brought over a couple more boarders for the state prison. George Slates, for assault, gets free board for one year and six months, and Wm. Ryan takes a year for larceny.

Margaret Mather on Monday evening next at the Grand Opera house in "Honeycomb." Box open to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock. See the notices of her in another column, as she is now playing in St. Paul.

We understand that Wm. Schmidt, who was to run for the legislature in the independent ticket for the First ward of Stillwater and Marine district, has withdrawn, leaving the fight between the Hon. E. W. Durand and Mr. Chas. Peterson.

Mr. James G. Foley is making a capital run for county auditor, and is assured that he will have the majority of votes on Tuesday next. During the two terms he has held the office he has discharged the duties to the satisfaction of the taxpayers.

The Young Peoples' Social Union of the Baptist church, had a very successful social last evening at the residence of Mr. H. S. Kelly, on Fourth street. The attendance was good, and the young people enjoyed themselves with harmless amusements.

Mr. John Bergeron, who has been having a vacation of eight weeks visiting friends in the province of Quebec, returned home yesterday afternoon. He says they have had quite a touch of winter in that region already, and he is glad to get back to Stillwater.

Before Judge Crosby in chambers yesterday, the injunction case of Walker, Judd & Veazie vs. Rose & Lohman was being tried, but it will be several days before it is finished. Messrs. Folsom and Magnuson, for Sablin, appear for plaintiffs, and J. N. Searies for defendants.

Last season was a most successful one for the mills of Walker, Judd & Veazie at Marine. Their cut of lumber was upwards of 11,500,000 feet, and had their logs held out the cut would have been nearly 3,000,000 more. All the other cutting, such as shingles, lath, etc., was in proportion, so that the little mill did wonders.

In probate court yesterday, before Judge Lemhick, in the case of Wm. B. Dibble, deceased, a petition was filed for license to sell real estate, which will be heard on Dec. 22. In the case of the estate of Thomas H. Clark, deceased, the petition of John Clark for letters of administration were filed, which will be heard on Nov. 24.

We learn that Mr. Fayette Marsh will speak in Music hall on Monday evening, and that his services will be generous. This subject Mr. Marsh has studied in all its bearings, and as he is an elegant speaker he will present it in a manner that cannot fail to rivet the attention of his hearers. His statistics are beyond dispute.

On Wednesday evening there was a big Republican gathering at Marine under the auspices of the Blaine and Logan club, which was addressed by Geo. F. Sablin, and Charles Peterson, candidate for legislative honors. Messrs. Folsom and Magnuson, candidates for county honors, were also present and helped to keep the ball rolling. Politics are rather one sided in Marine.

Some of the friends of those who came on the excursion from Hudson on Wednesday went down with them to Hudson on their boat. They had to get left there by their boat. They had to take them to the city, and when on their way back they met the eight couples that were left here, who missed the boat. This kind of work is good for the lively men.

The registration will not be large at this time here, as the election last spring had nearly every voter out. Quite a number will be taking out marriage papers, and the several candidates are seeing that they will be ready to vote on Tuesday next. Registration may be done to-morrow during the whole day and evening, and also on Monday and on Tuesday morning before 9 o'clock.

Walker, Judd & Veazie, Marine, have been getting in an extra stock of general merchandise during the past few days. They are to Stillwater by rail, thence by steamer to Marine. The firm has had such a good season's work with the mill that things are just booming with them. They have business transactions with a large section of country on both sides of the river. Their new stock is the largest they have had for years.

John Splan was in this city again yesterday. When he was here a few days ago he was unable to meet Mr. Ab. Rohrbach, who was in Chicago, but who has just returned. A gentleman wishes to purchase Lulu Judd as a driving beast for his own use, and Mr. Splan is attending to the matter for him. If the gentleman gets her he will have to pay a good price, being with training she will make a fast trotter. Splan knows her value better than any one else in the city.

Messrs. Fayette Marsh and H. H. Harrison, of the Stillwater work shops, were in Marine on Wednesday taking measures of the water in the case of Walker, Judd & Veazie vs. Rose & Lohman. While these gentlemen were measuring water it is asserted by one that knows and who is a most reliable and upright gentleman, that he has attended to the work of Washington, that the looking for votes were measuring something stronger. Well, the day was a little chilly, and no doubt they did not want to take cold.

On Wednesday afternoon, between 4 and 6 o'clock, a case of robbery occurred at the Merchants house, No. 219 North Third street, but with that peculiarity of some, the theft was not given to the police until yesterday. It appears that C. A. Johnson, boarder at the house left his pants hanging in his room and the key of his trunk was in the pocket. These men say they think they took the key, unlocked the trunk, and took therefrom deposit checks for a large sum and an old silver watch. The property belonged to C. A. Johnson and his brother, P. E. Johnson. The payment on the checks was stopped. These men say they think they know who did it, but will not tell the police as it was some one who lives on the premises.

Mr. Hugh Campbell was nominated on Wednesday afternoon by a number of the taxpayers of the Marine district for re-election as county commissioner. No man has ever worked for his section of the county than has Mr. Campbell, and if the voters are working for the only man who had better elect Hugh Campbell as county commissioner for another term. Mr. Magnuson would no doubt make a good one, but the other has been tried.

On Saturday evening there will be a Democratic rally at the Grand Opera house, but there is no intention to have any outside party, or other demonstration, but it is to give the public a chance to hear for themselves something that will interest them and in which they are all interested. The gentlemen who will address the electors are eloquent, and this one will deny when it is known that Geo. E. W. Johnson, J. W. Willis, Chris. O'Brien and P. H. Kelly will be the speakers. Attend in full force, and let the Opera house be packed full.

At the municipal court yesterday, there was only a poor solitary vagrant, who said that he was a laboring man, and to prove it showed his arms that were browned by the summer's sun. However, as it was his second time before the court, he was fined $10 and costs, or imprisonment for twelve days. He had remarked before arrested, that he thought it would be a good plan to stay in the city all winter, and make his money where he could get it, as the ladies were pretty soft in listening to the soft soap of the tramp genius. The case against the goose hunter for disturbing the peace was dismissed. No one appearing in the case.

Thos. H. Clary, whose death we noticed in yesterday morning's paper, came to this city from Friendship, Pa., four years ago, and since that time has been here. He was a very pleasant and friendly man, and was always ready to succor those in need. The boys on the Duluth road will miss their genial companion, while the societies of the Crusaders and the Ancient Order of Hibernians mourn the loss of him who was a worthy member. He had a peculiar tact in making friends and keeping them. His funeral will be attended by the Crusaders and also by the Ancient Order of Hibernians from his brother's residence, 907 North Fourth street, where he died on Wednesday afternoon, to St. Michael's church this morning at 9 o'clock. His death was from typhoid fever and heart disease. The sympathy of the community is extended to his brother and other friends.

We learn that several parents of sons between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one years, are about making application to the municipal judge to have their unruly boys sent to the reform school, as the company they are keeping here will surely tend to their ruin. There are several gangs of young rascals who nightly congregate at different points in the city and are a terror to the citizen. Several of these boys, or men rather, are the children of law-abiding parents, and who are most responsible citizens, but they see that there is no other way to save the boys than by sending them to a good reform school, where they will have to learn and behave themselves. The citizens had better, and as soon as possible, organize themselves into a vigilance committee, as the police force of the city are too few to cope with the evil. These young boys are on the watch for the police, and as they know them all, they run as soon as the alarm is given. It is next to impossible for the police to catch them. The company which many of these young men keep will bring them to ruin, and they are the making of thieves and drunks. Let us all try and have the law enforced which governs minors, and save the youth.

Marion Adams, a horse thief, burned his house in the Waterbury jail the other night. He heated a poker in the stove and kept burning the siding until he made a place big enough to let himself out.

Le Mars Sentinel, 23: A big game took place in one of our gambling establishments a few days ago. There was as high as $3,000 on the table for the rollers. Little Lulu Dutely, the soap swindler, lost nearly $1,000 which he had yanked out of the pockets of suckers.

Last Friday night about thirty of the neighbors of Mr. Samuel Burger, of Marietta township, Marshall county, took their gentlemen from his house and dressed him from head to foot in a complete suit of tar. It was done as a reward for insulting the wife of a neighbor. The neighbor in question was the son of the party who did not mask himself, the other being disguised.

At the litigation of the temperance alliance, Callippe saloons were investigated the other day. Samples of beer were found, and the saloon men held for trial. At one place several bottles of lard were found, and it is put up by the Sioux City Brewing company, and they are defending all prosecutions made against that article. So that in Kennedy's case a big time may be expected should the temperance alliance see fit to push matters.

There was a fearful commotion in the Kirkwood house, at Des Moines, at 1 o'clock last Friday morning. Some one either purposely or accidentally turned on the fire alarm. When this is turned on it rings a gong in each room, and one can readily imagine the consternation that would be caused. A gentleman in a complete suit of tar.
