CORRECTIONS AND CHARITIES.

Meeting of the Board Yesterday—Biennial Report to the Legislature Adopted, Etc.

The quarterly meeting of the state board of corrections and charities was held at the office of the board in the state capitol yesterday at 10 a. m., there being present Gov. L. F. Hubbard, president; D. C. Bell, of Minneapolis; C. H. Berry, of Winona; M. M. G. Dana, of St. Paul; Reuben Reynolds, of Crookston and H. R. Wells, of Preston.

Secretary H. H. Hart presented a draft of the biennial report of the board to the legislature, which was revised and adopted. It contains a list of the members, with their terms of office, the law constituting the board, and its by-laws and proceedings. As required by law, it presents the condition of all the state and county institutions, embodying such suggestions as the board deems advisable. It treats of the state prison, reform school, first and second insane hospitals, institute for the deaf and dumb, schools for the blind and for the idiots and imbeciles, city and village lockups, county jails, workhouses, poor-houses, out-door poor relief, and pauper migration.

The secretary's report to the board embodied a paper on the jail system of Minnesota with a detailed description of thirty-nine jails and twenty-six lockups inspected. Also a paper on pauper relief and poor houses in the state with a systematic description of twenty-two out of twenty-five poor houses in the state. To this is appended a report of visits to institutions in other states, which have been given in the GLOBE from time to time.

As a sample of the reports on poorhouses we give the following for Ramsey county for the past year: Overcrowding, 53; total number of inmates during year 70; 53 males, 17 females, 2 insane, 1 epileptic, and 5 children under fourteen years; remaining September 30, 1884, 23 males and 5 females; daily average number during year 37; total cost $982.29; leaving net running expenses $6,182.60; annual cost per inmate $166.46, weekly cost per inmate $3.18; county paid for boarding and nursing paupers outside the poorhouse $1,754.40.

Value of property estimated by board of control: Land (210 acres) $105,000; buildings $25,000, furniture $3,000, machinery $1,300, live stock $2,000, other property $2,000; total $138,300.

Overcrowding, 53; total number of inmates during year 70; 53 males, 17 females, 2 insane, 1 epileptic, and 5 children under fourteen years; remaining September 30, 1884, 23 males and 5 females; daily average number during year 37; total cost $982.29; leaving net running expenses $6,182.60; annual cost per inmate $166.46, weekly cost per inmate $3.18; county paid for boarding and nursing paupers outside the poorhouse $1,754.40.

Accompanying the report are statistical tables showing first the pauper expenses in gross from 1878 to 1883, for each county; second, the same in detail from 1882 to October 1884; third condensed tables exhibiting the same facts for the larger counties of the state, so arranged as to facilitate comparison; fourth, a classified statement of the current and permanent expenses of each poor house in the state for the past year; fifth, a tabular statement of the contracts of counties with poor house overseers; sixth, a tabular statement of the poor house population for the past year; seventh, a classified statement of the expenses of the state reform school from the foundation; eighth, the same reduced to a per capita basis; ninth and tenth, the same for the first insane hospital; eleventh and twelfth, for the second insane hospital; thirteenth, a comparative per capita statement of the expenses of twenty-four insane hospitals of the country for one year.

The board adjourned after passing a resolution "Commending the zeal and efficiency with which our secretary, Rev. H. H. Hart, has performed the intricate and arduous duties of his office during the past year, and his services are, in our judgment, invaluable to the state."

COMMITTEE ON STREETS.

Considering Privileges to be Granted to Railways by the Sixth Ward.

A meeting of the committee on streets of the council and the committee on Mississippi river improvements of the chamber of commerce was held yesterday afternoon to consider the proposed railroad bridge to be constructed by the Minnesota & Northwestern Railroad company. Mr. A. B. Stickey was present and he explained the dimensions of the bridge as heretofore published. He also stated that the company would be willing to permit other roads to run across the bridge providing they paid a reasonable compensation, and that he had already written to the Minnesota & Northwestern Railroad company to join in building the bridge. City Attorney Murray said that the city would have the control of the bridge, and that it would regulate the speed of the trains and insist on the company keeping the levee in repair.

He also stated that there should be a provision requiring the Minnesota & Northwestern Railroad company to allow other roads to enter the city on its tracks. A lengthy discussion then took place concerning the location of the bridge. Mr. Somers thought if the bridge crossed from Dakota avenue in the Sixth ward it would create great damage to that thoroughfare, and Capt. Blakely urged that nothing be done that would have a tendency to damage the levee. Mr. Stickey still maintained that the bridge should touch the north bank of the river below Robert street, and it was decided that Mr. Murray should draw up an ordinance concerning the location to be submitted at the next meeting of the chamber of commerce. The following communication was submitted:

ST. PAUL, Nov. 5, 1884.—To the Honorable the Committee on Streets, etc., of the Common Council: Gentlemen,—On the part of a number of the residents and property owners of the Sixth ward I have been requested to call your attention to the fact that another railroad company is working its way up the banks of the Mississippi river with the intention to run its line into and probably beyond the Sixth ward. The Alima & Northern Railroad company are now at work on their line with 500 men between Diamond Bluff and Malden Rock. Also another force of 1000 workmen on the line between Diamond Bluff and Prescott in Wisconsin are working to cross the Mississippi river a little above Hastings in this state, from thence to the Sixth ward in this city.

men's eyeballs stick out like the poles of a fifteen ball pool table. But Dan is something of a fighter himself and he proceeded to chew Mr. Logan up, making the threat that he would break him in two and throw the pieces out of the window. The wool of both were spared by the interference of a copper and yesterday the little racket cost them fifteen bills each.

B. E. Woodruff is a sensitive crank; he imagines that the eye of mankind only looks at him in derision and if anybody happens to laugh in his presence, he straightway makes up his mind that they are poking fun at him. He was at the Opera house Tuesday night and Mr. Williams and his wife happened to occupy the seat back of him. During the performance Woodruff looked round and bored his ears. Williams didn't appreciate the joke and he had his nibs arrested for assault. Judge Burr said it was an outrage and he fined him $20.

Geo. Smith is a bad, bold man, and he was up yesterday for stealing a gun. He went into Lashley's butcher shop and snatched the weapon while the latter was not looking. It was found on his person and he went to the jail for thirty days.

The case of D. Connors, charged with kicking an old man, was continued until to-day, and the case of Ed. Erdman, charged with putting a head on Jerome Adair, was continued until Saturday.

The Seventh Street Viaduct.

It will be remembered that Mrs. May P. Dayton filed in the district court an objection a short time ago, to the Seventh street bridge improvement on the ground of excessive assessment. Judge J. H. McGroarty, after hearing and ordering a judgment entered as asked by the city treasurer.

Real Estate and Building.

The following transfers of real estate by warranty deed were yesterday filed in the register's office for this county: James Stinson to Henry Hage, lot 19, block 7, Stinson's Rice street addition, $305. Holt Lewis to L. F. Gowdy, lot 8, block 2, Chamber's addition, $1,050.

THE COURTS.

Jacob H. Kling, appellant, vs. Elsworth D. Childs and James Hill, co-respondents, etc., respondents; order entered affirming order of court below.

An End to Home Scrapping.

Edward Shepherd, of Herrington, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years, my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and free from all trouble. Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 25c per box by Lambie & Bethune.

Personality in Handwriting.

Persons writing naturally do so without thought regarding the peculiar construction of their writing. The hand operates the pen as it were automatically through the sheer force of habit, by which all the innumerable personalities are unconsciously imparted to writing. Learners and fingers think respecting their writing and hence, the more stiff and formal style of their work; there is wanting the easy, graceful flow apparent in thoughtless or habitual writing. Lines show more of nervousness and hesitancy, while the whole construction of the writing is more exact and formal; and, besides, every different handwriting abounds in well known numerous habitual peculiarities, of which the writer himself is unconscious and cannot, therefore, avoid. Thus, two other insurmountable difficulties are placed in the way of the forger: First, to observe and imitate all the characteristics of the writing he would simulate; and, second, to note and avoid all the habitual characteristics of his own handwriting. In writing becomes so fixed and arbitrary (not to mention the great artistic skill required to exactly imitate an unpracticed hand), that it is too much to expect it to be possible for any one to simulate the handwriting of another, or to so dissemble his own writing, in any considerable quantity, as to defy detection through a really skilled expert examination.—The Consulting Lawyer.

Reckless Extravagance.

Mr. Winkle "Now, see here, Mary, this is too much, too much. You say you want $20 this morning for pin money and yet it was only yesterday that I gave you $30 for the same purpose." Mrs. Winkle (calmly) "Yes, it was yesterday."

THE DAY AFTER ELECTION.

A Good Many Boys Show Up Paralyzed in the Police Court. When the returns come rolling in my boys, my boys, You're a high old noise, my boys, a noise, And don't you forget, it'll make them quake When Jas. G. Blaine gets hit on the cake, And we'll all be at the radical wake. When the returns come rolling in.

He sang the above beautiful ditty in a low, sweet voice that sounded like the murmur of the sea waves as they caressed in their bosom some coral isle, and when the balliff asked him if there was any more of the song he said there was, whereupon the court told him to go home and put some ice on his head and take an emetic. Then the case of Thomas Logan and Dan Taylor was called. Like his great namesake Thomas a fighter and he went for Taylor in a manner that made that colored

Northern Notes. Yankton claims to have the handsomest lady in the place as postmistress. The Milnor Teller says hundreds of Indians from the Sisseton reservation have been in that city the past week marketing their wheat.

A south Dakota paper says: "When a man reads out of anything else to the Pierre starts a newspaper." Only five are there now. One hundred men were being employed on the new university building at Mitchell the past week, and it is designed to push it to completion as rapidly as possible.

Several parties in the east write Col. Morton that having seen the statement in the GLOBE of his success in poultry in Dakota, they propose to come to the territory and engage in the business on a large scale.

R. S. Hair, recently advanced to general passenger agent of the Chicago & North-western railroad, is a Fargo boy, his father being prominent elder and general M. E. E. of Col. Dyer's regiment. His friends here are delighted over the recognition of his merit.

A. E. Bateheler, of Fargo, recently visited Devils Lake to peddle the life of Grover Cleveland and collect for the New Orleans exhibit. He shows among other things a pair of weighing six pounds grown in the vicinity of Col. Dyer's farm. He was fully able to meet the demand for the book in question.

The ozone in the atmosphere over-does at times as in this instance reported by the Plainington Free Press: Geo. Rake's residence in Bristol township, is the recipient of a brace of twins. The old man expected one, but two broke him all up. With wheat at 45 cent per bushel he does not believe in an over-production.

This Devils Lake item from the Inter Ocean indicates good hunting: "Messrs. Whitcomb, Ensign and Pitts wound up the season's duck shoot on a freshwater marsh, where they bagged 183 mallards in three hours, killing a great many they could not get. These three gentlemen had been on the passes and marshes for about ten days, during which time they killed and shipped about 1,500 ducks."

Col. Guttridge, sometimes known as Col. James, the famous singer and poet, had arranged to leave in season to reach his home in Tennessee before election so as, to vote, but some of the boys put up a job on him that kept him in Fargo till the night before election, and so the Democratic ticket lost one vote unless he sent his ballot by telegraph. The colonel was indignant at the job played on him.

It is reported that the convention of a grand exposition of beauty soon to be held in Paris invite parties in all parts of the world to send photographs and those up to the standard will be invited to come to Paris. It is said that Col. Donan will gather the pictures of some of his fair Dakota friends and enter in the competition. If not limited to sex the photograph of the editor of the Jamestown Capital will be included.

A Few More Politics.

Fargo was, like many other points, disappointed in the size of the vote Tuesday. It was claimed that 2,900 would be polled, but only 1,673 could be counted in the boxes. The contest for constable between the banker and colored barber was not as close as anticipated. The colored troops weakened early in the fight. This was the only part of the canvass in which the Argus took much part. It is related that at a legislative convention in one of the northwestern districts, called as Democratic, one man held twelve proxies or a county. With these and his own vote he had a majority of the convention. He moved and carried with his proxies a resolution endorsing the entire Republican ticket. The other members voted against this action and were bitterly hostile to it. One man controlled the convention.

Among the peculiarities of Dakota politics it was noticed that some of the regular tickets, Republican, in Fargo, contained the names of a majority of Democrats. There is no doubt that more Democrats get office in Dakota by not keeping party lines up than they would otherwise. For instance, all but one of the sheriffs elected Tuesday in the counties on the Northern Pacific railroad between the Red and Missouri rivers are Democrats, but all were elected on Republican or People's tickets. The vote on delegate is the most accurate, but not a real indication of the sentiment of the people. Democrats have become so in the habit of voting for tickets headed Republican that a great many of them voted for Gifford.

It is claimed that some of the men elected to the legislature from south Dakota, Tuesday, are in favor of the legislature paying the expenses of the state convention that met at Sioux Falls that made a constitution and ran a sort of election. This will take $50,000. There is a good many attempts to form combinations to put jobs through the legislature.

The Swift Running River.

There have recently been several people drowned in the Missouri river in the Bismarck region, and the local editor of the Tribune is reported to have had a narrow escape in a display of nautical prowess, his cork life saving him, together with a general cork life texture. He has gathered from an old riverman the legend that no man in that part of the stream can get into the river with his clothes on, and he takes his life in his hands and mud in the water weight him down. He says: Even to good swimmers, who may get in bathing without a shred of clothing, there is the greatest of danger. The aged boatman said that a man might swim the stream a thousand times, but at any time he is liable to be caught in an eddy or whirlpool and lose all self control. There are perfect death traps, and even a large sized row boat is often swamped by them. There is but one means of escaping death, and that is by diving, and getting under the water in the current and far enough to secure smooth water. In mentioning the muddy bottom of the river he said that the reason bodies are seldom recovered from the river is because of the depth of the boiling, seething mud. Figuratively speaking, the Missouri has no bottom, when you get the supposed bottom of the water, there is from fifteen to twenty feet of soft, moving mud. A body, especially when wrapped in clothing, reaches this substance and is buried forever. A peculiar sight is to see a log or other floating body in a cross current shooting straight across the stream at a rate of speed more than double that of the ordinary strong current. You watch it until it gets to the end of the stubborn phenomenon and it is snatched up by the "whirlpool," and disappears.

Three hundred thousand unemployed workmen demand protection from the party that has deceived them with false pretences. Four years ago these 300,000 workmen were promised higher wages an steady employment if they would elect a Republican majority. What is the result? Ten times 300,000 workmen demand a change, and such protection from the rascal and thieves as Governor Cleveland when President can and will give. They will not be fooled for another four years. A Very Good Fashion.

The bashful young man of the Sanborn Enterprise has this modest way of recording an accident in which he distinguished himself. A dance was given at the skating rink last Friday evening, several persons from Sanborn attending. Among those who drove down were a gentleman and lady well known in town. They bowed slightly along for some time, both evidently wrapped up in one another, and hearts too full for utterance, and as they gazed up into the star spangled heavens, thinking of the delightful hereafter, the maiden, who felt the need of a protecting arm, with a silver—for the evening was chilly, turned to the absent minded Apollo by her side, and as she gazed up into his face with a two for a quarter smile she shyly whispered: "Fr-r-rank, can't you drive with one hand?" He took the hint, and as she nestled close to his side the reverberation of the explosion which followed was drowned by the hoarse croak of the bull frog and the shrill shriek of the whippoorwill, and all was still.

Fermentation and Ferocity.

The Vermillion Republican seems to forget its party position in this. The price of hogs has reached the low figure of $3.50. There is probably not enough protection for eastern manufacturers. These people eat about one hog in 1,000 produced in the country. The Republican furnishes these Vermillion items.

Some disease has broken out in a few of the herds of hogs in this county and quite a number have died. It first made its appearance at Bluff Center about two months ago and decimated three or four herds. The disease has made a pretty big scare among our hog raisers as well it might.

Prof. Aegersborg is packing up a portion of the University museum, which will be exhibited at New Orleans this winter. The collection sent will consist mostly of stuffed birds and small animals, natives of Dakota. The Prof. is the finest taxidermist in the west and his work will compete with anything at the exhibition.

Mr. Harvey Prentice has sold the Jewell farm (160 acres) to a man from Boston, Mass., for $5,300 and the bottom for $1,300. Barratt Taylor's, on the bottom for $1,300 to the same man. The land was sold cheap.

Vermilion wants a chicken canning establishment. A million chickens could be canned here every year. There is money in it. Corn husking is in full blast. Hogs are selling on foot at three and one-half cents per pound.

Southern Dakota Cereals.

The success of corn in south Dakota is beyond question. In the central belt, extending north nearly to the Union Pacific railroad, it is believed that with some care as to seed the crop can be made a reasonably safe one. The Huron Times presents in the following a point that needs to be considered by farmers: Growing corn in central Dakota is no longer an experiment. Success only depends on care in selecting good seed. Seed that is sound and will grow is the chief care that should be exercised, and this is the requirement in southern Illinois as well as in Dakota. In fact, the ears which ripen first, and universally these are the best filled ears in the field, are selected for seed, it will be found that the crop grown from such seed will ripen from one to three weeks earlier than if the seed is taken promiscuously from the crib. One of the many farmers of Beadle county who has given much attention to growing corn is the president of our agricultural association, Col. Edward Sterling. How many of our people, when they first came to Huron, from 1881 to the present time, but visited the colonel's corn crib, and were surprised at the quantity of bright and large ears of sound corn which greeted his eyes when the crib door opened, and the assuring air and tone of the colonel was the same in '81 as in the fall of '84. That corn needed to be acclimated was not only a theory but a known fact with Mr. Sterling, and corn that ripened in his field the middle of September in '81 was ready for the crib several weeks earlier in '84. He has planted the same variety of seed, selected from his field the year to year, and his corn has been a full proof that the years of patient work which it has required to secure a seed which is as sure to ripen before frost as the old fashioned Yankee corn of our New England neighbors, that such work will pay.
