

THE CITY.

CITY GLOBULES. Two deaths were reported at the health office yesterday. Miss Sprague will teach in the graded school at Rochester next week.

The coroner will disburse $9,000 to-day a grant of war accounts. City Commissioner Mitchell carpeted the court house stairs with heavy new matting yesterday.

The annual fair for the benefit of the Catholic Orphan asylum, will open at Market hall Wednesday evening, Nov. 19. A fine portrait of Judge Shaw, of the Massachusetts supreme court, was hung in the state library at the Capitol yesterday.

The court cases on the September term calendar of the district court will be set by Judge Wilkin at 10 a. m. this morning. Conrad Stantz, of the county auditor's office, has just recovered from a severe attack of typhoid fever and paralysis of the spine.

The beautiful white silk dress stolen by the colored man, Robert Coffey, alias Harris, still remains in the city hall without a claimant. A car load of lumber jawed cattle came into the transfer yards yesterday from Montana, and Inspector Conway straightway sent them east.

Timothy McCarthy, who assaulted his uncle, Mr. Sullivan, in the Sixth ward a few nights ago, was captured and locked up at the city hall last night. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gravel will be pained to learn of the death of their young son, which took place at the family residence, No. 310 East Fifth street, last Tuesday night.

Michael Hayes, a vagrant who was ordered to vacate the city by Judge Burr at the municipal court yesterday, was picked up in the streets late last evening by Houndsman Lowell and caged in the county jail. Capt. Blakely's company of the First regiment, Minnesota National Guards, have for a long time been drilling for a prize medal worth $37, offered to the best drilled man in the same, and on Wednesday evening this medal was awarded to Wilson L. Pierce.

Wednesday night a large bay mare, attached to an open top Concord buggy, and belonging to St. Aubin & Dion, was left standing in front of the French Catholic church, at Tenth and Cedar streets, and during the absence of the owner the outfit was stolen. The board of water commissioners met yesterday, and after passing bills amounting to $15,000 a discussion took place relating to the payment of final estimates for work on the canal amounting to $30,000. Action was deferred until to-morrow.

Mr. J. J. Lemon is confined to his bed at his residence in the Fifth ward with a severe attack of sciatic rheumatism, superinduced by over exertion and a sudden cold. It will be a number of days before he will be able to appear at his place of business. The following Illinois volumes were received by the state library yesterday: 108 Supreme Court Reports, Report of the Illinois Commissioner for 1883, Fifth Report of Board of Health, Report of Superintendent of Public Instruction for the years 1881 and 1882.

Harry Clifton, an account of whose arrest for larceny and also his burglarious attempt to go through a house on Cedar street appeared in yesterday's issue of the GLOBE, was brought in from the workhouse last evening and will be arraigned to-day on the charge of burglary. The Young People's society of the First M. E. church give a children's festival this evening. Supper will be served at the church from 6:30 to 8:30 p. m. The object of the supper is to obtain means to pay for the improvements made on the church by the addition of two rooms.

Two suits were begun in the United States circuit court yesterday by the Merchants National bank, of Chicago, on behalf of J. M. Sablin and Geo. M. Seymour to enforce payment of a note for $10,000, and the other against J. L. Townshead, D. M. Sablin and others, to collect a note for $21,517. A railroad man who discharged a pistol on the street last night, was run into the cooler by a policeman. He claimed that the weapon was accidentally discharged while he was transferring it from one pocket to another, and put up his appearance before the municipal court this morning.

The case of C. C. Bennett, assignee vs. H. R. Denny, to recover $10,900 for jewelry attached by the latter belonging to a Minneapolis firm and refused to be given up to Bennett, to whom the garnishment assigned, continued at the municipal court yesterday in the district court, and will probably go to the jury to-day. Laurer Bros. yesterday obtained permission of the building inspector to erect a saw mill for the sawing of stone on the south side of Chestnut street between Washington street and the river. The structure will cost $6,000 and will be equipped with a forty-horse power engine and a sixty-horse power boiler. There is no more of this kind at present in this part of the country.

Bunton, a tawny son of Africa, who was indicted by the late grand jury for breaking into the house of Miles O'Brien, on Robert street, June 30, at which time he was captured by officers of the police, and was acquitted by the jury on instruction of Judge Brill, because the house was in the name of Miles O'Brien, and the explosion was felt in Detroit, Michigan, sixty miles distant.

THOUGHT IT WAS A DEMOCRATIC JOKELIFICATION CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 13.—The rumble and shock caused by the explosion at Toledo was plainly heard and felt this morning at Leavittsburg, distant from Toledo about 150 miles, on an air line. Here 112 miles east from Toledo, persons who observed the motion thought it was an earthquake. At Cuyahoga Falls, twenty-four miles southeast of here, it was supposed cannons were being fired in this city over the election returns, and telephone inquiries were made to ascertain what the artillery salute signified.

New Turf Rules. CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—The meeting of the American Turf association, to-day was devoted to a revision of the rules. The most important action was in regard to past book making. The rules were entirely stricken out, and an order made that hereafter no book maker will be allowed to start or enter a horse. A violation will cause such horse and maker to be expelled. The scale of weight on the turf is to be changed in full months, ten pounds being added. A new rule was enacted prohibiting the entry of a horse with a changed name, and in action poles on the selling of single horses against the field was taboed.

AMUSEMENTS.

Barrett's Hamlet. Shakespeare's tragedy of "Hamlet" was presented at the Grand by Lawrence Barrett and his company last night. Mr. Barrett of course appeared in the title role, and his performance was as large as any that has assembled during the week, with the exception of the opening night, and if anything it was more demonstrative than the audience which witnessed "Richard III." the night preceding. To say that Mr. Barrett made a fine Hamlet is to say the least. He is almost giving expression to a trilem, and taken in its entirety a symmetrical, well-poised, harmonious and artistic rendition of the great role was given. It is evident that in the study of this character Mr. Barrett has given his best thought and artistic feeling, and the result is in physique, make-up, gesture and facial display, especially in the latter, he makes the ideal Hamlet, his mobile and expressive face contributing particularly to heighten the illusion. There is something of a subtly wanting, however, in the depth of shading and coloring of the eye weight and emphasis to thought, which makes the rendition fall short of inspiration. It were captious, however, to cavil where so smooth and enjoyable a performance was given.

The conception of Mr. Barrett presents a noble and racking and sufficing from the consciousness of a terrible crime. His sensitive mind revolts at the hideous picture presented, and the heat of an originally strong and manly will halts at the verge of distraction. He has a method in his madness, and is almost giving expression to a trilem, and taken in its entirety a symmetrical, well-poised, harmonious and artistic rendition of the great role was given. It is evident that in the study of this character Mr. Barrett has given his best thought and artistic feeling, and the result is in physique, make-up, gesture and facial display, especially in the latter, he makes the ideal Hamlet, his mobile and expressive face contributing particularly to heighten the illusion.

Resolved, by the citizens of the Yellowstone country, in mass convention assembled and representing all the people of eastern Montana, irrespective of party or business interests, that we earnestly protest against any lease being made between the Crow Indians and any person or persons having for its object the exclusive use of the Crow reservation. Further, Resolved, That we respectfully call on the honorable Henry M. Teller, secretary of the interior, to prevent any such lease from being carried into effect. Further, Resolved, That we ask H. J. Armstrong, agent for the Crow Indians, to stop any negotiations looking to a lease, so far as he may be able to do so. Further, Resolved, That we pledge ourselves to one another to resist, to the extent of our power, by all lawful means, any such disposition of the Crow reservation. Further, Resolved, That a committee be appointed to circulate a petition to the honorable secretary of the interior, asking his intervention to prevent the consummation of the proposed lease and to take immediate steps to restore to the public domain such portion of said reservation as is not actually necessary to the use of the Indians.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the honorable secretary of the interior, the delegates in congress from Montana and Wyoming and Senators Doves, Logan, Vest, Cameron and Morgan, and that they be published in the newspapers of this territory. After appointing committees to circulate petitions, forward resolutions and on ways and means the meeting adjourned until next session.

St. Louis Cattle Convention. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 13.—It is now evident the delegates to the cattle convention, which assembles here Monday next, will number fully 1,000 names. Seven hundred have already reported, representing nearly all ranches and cattle men's associations west of the Mississippi river. The governors of many states are appointed delegates. The convention will be held in one of the great halls of the Exposition building, which has been specially arranged for the occasion, and which will accommodate between 400 and 500 persons. The Romanay Rye. The sale of sets commences this morning for a great spectacular melodrama, "The Romanay Rye," which will be the attraction at the Grand Opera house for week commencing Monday next, Nov. 17. It has five acts, seventeen scenes and thirty-eight people in the cast. It is the production of George R. Sims, author of "The Lights of London" and its long run both in England and this country is supposed to be because it possesses all the elements of popularity, plenty of movement, clean plot, good acting, variety of detail and magnificent scenery. We quote the following from the Brooklyn People about the performance of "The Romanay Rye" in that city: A house crowded in every part, abounding in enthusiasm! rapturous tributes in plenty, expressions of admiration on every side—these were the circumstances attending the representation of "The Romanay Rye" at Haverly's theater last night. The absorbing interest of its story, the beauty of its scenery, the elaborate and elaborate and elegance of its scenic presentation and the excellence of its presentation cannot be disputed, and crowded houses may be looked for at every performance.

GIANT POWDER. A Terrible Explosion of Giant Powder Near Toledo, Ohio—No Lives Lost. TOLEDO, Nov. 13.—A violent explosion occurred at 9:30 this morning, said to have been a powder magazine situated about four miles out of the city. It is reported that six or seven men were killed. The shock was plainly felt in town. LATER.—A large lot of powder stored in a shed on the Delaware creek, four miles from this city, exploded at 10 o'clock this morning. The report was heard forty miles in every direction. Windows of houses in that quarter of the city were generally broken. At Broadway school, three miles from the scene, windows were smashed and scholars' seats holding windows up, were broken. Several persons working in the shed were run running and shouting. Everybody near took this as a signal of danger and fled. A terrific explosion followed, but all were far enough away to escape except an old man called Fred, who had charge of the shed. He had got some distance away, but was thrown down and his hair scorched by the explosion. A spring wagon containing a man and three women in the road a hundred yards away, was blown into a ditch, but no one was seriously injured. Fences were leveled in the vicinity, and limbs blown from trees. The ruins ignited from the explosion. Men are fighting the fire to keep it from reaching a large lot of petroleum stored near by.

A STILL LATER ACCOUNT. The explosion was in the giant powder factory of A. J. and O. B. Ryan, consisting of a sack packing house and mill, and a stock house, situated in the crown of a little knoll in the Delaware creek, surrounded by a dense thicket of trees. The workmen in the packing house were throwing out a tub containing twenty-six pounds of nitro glycerine and let it too near the fire. The tub caught fire and the men threw it outside and gave the alarm. An instant after the tub exploded, the concussion setting off the magazine containing ten tons of gain powder, known to the trade as "great west powder." The stock building was thrown down, imprisoning the men working therein and caught fire. All extricated themselves with no greater injuries than bruises, except Rinebold Gault, who was badly burned all over the body. Getting out of his burning clothes, he was taken to a house near by and medical aid summoned. He will probably recover. A house near by owned by a man named Beach, was badly shattered, and another belonging to Mr. Wilson entirely wrecked. The house of refuge, half a mile away, had the wall on that side shattered near the top and over eighty windows smashed, shash included. One side was blown off an ice house 100 yards away. Barns and fences near by were blown down, and telegraph poles thrown down. There was a party in the two city school houses in that section of the city, and in the stampped many children were badly bruised but none seriously injured. The total loss on the powder works and powder in stock is about $10,000. The explosion was felt in Detroit, Michigan, sixty miles distant.

THE CROW RESERVATION.

Citizens of Eastern Montana Pass Resolutions Commendatory of the Proposed Lease. [Special Telegram to the Globe.] BILLINGS, M. T., Nov. 13.—A mass meeting of citizens of the Yellowstone country, with every town represented, to-night passed the following resolutions: WHEREAS, It has come to the knowledge of the citizens of eastern Montana that a scheme is on foot to lease the western portion of the Crow reservation, containing 3,500,000 acres of the richest farming and grazing lands of Montana, and inexhaustible stores of mineral wealth and capable of supporting a population of 100,000 people; and

Resolved, by the citizens of the Yellowstone country, in mass convention assembled and representing all the people of eastern Montana, irrespective of party or business interests, that we earnestly protest against any lease being made between the Crow Indians and any person or persons having for its object the exclusive use of the Crow reservation. MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

WEBER PIANOS. Acknowledged by Artists the Best in the World. I know of none superior to the Weber and none that can compete with them for durability.—Leresa Carreno. The tone of the Weber Piano is so sweet, rich and sympathetic, yet so full, that it shall always rank you as the greatest manufacturer of the day.—Emma Thursby. Weber Pianos excel all others in volume of tone and in power of expression.—S. Liebling. There are no Pianos in the world that sustain the voice like the Weber.—Emma Abbott. R. C.
