THE GLOBE AT NEW ORLEANS.

To accommodate the throng from the North-west who will desire to read their favorite home paper while attending the "World's Exposition" the GLOBE has been placed on sale in New Orleans at Geo. F. Wharton & Bro.'s, Canal street, between Common and Canal.

YESTERDAY'S MARKETS.

The St. Paul markets were fairly active and firm. Chicago experienced a reverse at the hands of the bears and wheat declined 1/4 cent all round.

Corn was 1/4 for January and 1/4 for May lower. Corn and oats advanced 1/4. Pork was steady.

Stocks opened weak and generally lower, but strengthened in the after part of the day, closing strong and generally higher.

Northwestern was 1/4, St. Paul 1/4 and Western Union 1/4 per cent higher at the close than on Wednesday.

Oregon Transportation and Manitoba were steady. Omaha common was 1/4, preferred 1/4 and Northern Pacific preferred 1/4 per cent lower than at Wednesday's close.

THE GLOBE ANNUAL REVIEW.

Every year since its existence the GLOBE has issued, on the 31st of December, an annual review of the trade, growth and progress of St. Paul for the year just closing.

These reviews have had feeble imitators but no rivals, and the only hampering has been the lack of mechanical facilities to meet the popular demand for extra copies of the publication.

During the past year the mechanical facilities of the GLOBE have been made superior to those of any other paper west of Chicago, and a magnificent new building, erected expressly for the GLOBE, which will be occupied before this publication, will make the GLOBE equipped equal to any paper in the United States, and at an expense only indulged in by the leading and most thoroughly established journals of the country.

The great advancement of the GLOBE in 1884, which places it upon such a magnificent footing, is simply commensurate with the great advancement of St. Paul, and an effort will be made to furnish an annual review of which every citizen can be proud.

The size of the edition both in number of copies printed and in the number of pages used, depends entirely upon the demands of the business public. The GLOBE can meet any demands upon its space that can be made, but in preparing for so great an edition as is sure to be made, some time must be allowed for arrangement, and those who would secure choice locations for their advertising announcements should apply early.

The first applicants can, of course, have the choice, and the GLOBE trusts all of its friends, which comprises the entire public, will aim to be first in securing advertising positions.

The New York Sun's candidate for Secretary of the Interior is Wm. Steele Holman.

The exports from New York last week, exclusive of specie were about two million dollars less than during the week immediately preceding.

It is rather a curious fact that only ten Senators are hotel residents at Washington, and as to the others, they are able to be householders, while of the members of the House over a hundred are at the mercy of Washington hotel life.

Mr. BLAINE let his pen slip in saying that he withdrew his libel suit fearing he could not obtain justice in Indiana. The argument which follows this declaration indicates his fear that justice would be done, hence the suit was dropped out.

The mother of the late President Garfield talks and thinks of nothing but her sorrow for her deceased son. She is a member of the family of her widow. Before the great calamity of her bereavement no woman was so could be happier than she.

The Boston Herald, in a pensive mood, exclaims: "Congress will neither do anything, nor let anybody else." If this turns out to be true, it is so much the better for the country. Congress has always done too much, especially of the wrong thing.

The Chicago man does not give up his seat to a lady in a crowded horse car. His theory is that the Car Company should provide seats for all their passengers, and if he keeps his seat the burden of politeness falls on the owners of the line. So she sits and the woman stands up.

SENATOR JONES of Nevada, will not appear at Washington until his successor is chosen.

and very much desires his own re-election. His friends say there is no real opposition to him, though a wealthy lawyer by the name of Wren, is endeavoring to work up a sentimental favor of rotation in office and for himself. Jones thinks it is safe, at least to remain, being a strong believer in Dr. Franklin's maxim, if you want a thing well done, do it yourself.

It is a pretty conclusive answer to the complaint that a fair ballot could not be had in some parts of the country, that in Nevada Blaine obtained his electoral votes, one for each 2,397 Republican votes, while Cleveland's 219 electors represent an average of 22,425 popular votes each, and in the south not a single one of Cleveland's electors represents less than 8,000 ballots. The more the election statistics are analyzed, the brighter is the Democratic record.

SENATOR FAIR says Cleveland could have gained the electoral vote in Nevada if there had been money enough furnished to have maintained a respectable Democratic organization in the state. The Democrats did not ask for any outside aid, and had insufficient means of their own, so the election really went by default. Mr. Fair also says that the Democrats would have carried California for the division in the party. Facts like these furnish no encouragement to Republicans for the canvass four years hence.

The report that Stanley has converted King Mitesa promises a rich field for the preachers in the wilds of Central Africa. If a worldly layman like Stanley can convert the King, there is every reason to believe that the professional preachers of the Gospel might easily convert every soul of the Congo tribes. Here is certainly a very great opportunity for the American preachers who have been suddenly thrown out of politics. Send the estate and devout Bernhard to Congo. The Republican politicians have no further use for him. They wish he had gone to Congo before he met Blaine.

SENATOR BECK in an able speech delivered on Tuesday charged that John Sherman, as the head of the Treasury department, had discriminated unjustly against silver to the injury of the public interests. The Senator also improved the opportunity to indicate that the anxiety of certain statesmen to legislate on the subject, on the eve of a new administration, would not prevent honest and practical treatment of the silver dollar in the future. The precedents of the past would prove neither guide nor stumbling block.

TOM PLATT, Ex-Gov. Cornell and Silas B. Dutcher as the friends of M. Levi Morton, as they say in Paris, and Gen. Sharpe, Jim Warren, Congressman Barleigh as the friends of President Arthur are pushing the senatorial fight vigorously, indeed a little too ardently. None of these advocates are members of the legislature and their methods has provoked the jealousy of some of the members of that body, who are inclined to give these partisans to understand that they do not own the earth or legislature, either. This state of mind has brought out the name of W. M. Everts as a legislative candidate, and those proposing him effect to believe that the Morton-Arthur fight will make him available as a compromise candidate. While there is no great probability that either Morton or Arthur will be chosen, there is still less prospect for Everts. The outlook at this time points to the necessity of taking some new man, and as matters grow more heated this will become more and more apparent. It was this belief that forced Chauncy M. Dewey to retire, and Everts has, in every way, far less strength than he.

A Chicago contemporary has a singular code of ethics. It advocates lynching, but that kind of lynching that lynchés—that does its work thoroughly. It gives an account of the attempted murder of a murderer in Nebraska, where the sheriff attempted to make the scene, as the poor wretch was gasping his last, cut him down and restored him to consciousness. The culprit still lives, in the custody of the officers. Upon this the Chicago paper remarks:

In this case lynching is to be criticized because it did not lynch. The rude justice meted out to the murderer would have been well enough if it had been confined to the murderer, and meted out at such a stage of the proceedings, and the man, having assumed jurisdiction in the matter, permitted an appeal to be taken when his decree was already in process of execution, and equally blameable for the unhappy result. There should be no lynchings that do not result in the death of the victim.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH.

After the last Friday prayer meeting in Mr. Beecher's church, the annual meeting of the congregation was held, and reports for the last year were read, and officers for the ensuing year elected. The total membership at the last annual meeting was 2,555. The number of deaths during the year has been men, 17; women, 32—total 39. Dismissals men, 15; women, 35, total 52. Discipline 2. There were received by letter, men, 4; women, 15; total 19. Received on profession of faith, men, 31; women 57; total 88. The number on the roll at the last annual report was men, 564; women, 169; total 2,555. Total on the roll, men, 863; women 1,706, total 2,569, making a net increase during the year of 14. The annual report exhibits that the general condition of affairs in the church has not changed materially during the year. The usual meetings have been held and the attendance has remained the same. During a week in March extra meetings, led by the pastor, were held, and the well known and successful temperance evangelists, Maybee and English, conducted a series of meetings for a week in April. At the May communion 74 persons united with the church, 66 of them upon profession of faith. The pulpits have been occupied at various times during the year by the Rev. A. H. Bradford, Rev. J. O. Peck, Rev. Dr. Briggs, Rev. Dr. Powell and Rev. Dr. Charles Beecher.

It would seem from this showing, that notwithstanding the phenomenal excitement of the year just closed and the prominent part Mr. Beecher has borne in outside matters of great importance, Plymouth church has more than held its own and has remained intact in point of numbers, strength and power, and its now aged pastor continues to minister to it with undevoted force and acceptance and as a pulpit scriptural and moral exponent in point of brilliancy, originality, fertility and affluency, still stands pre-eminently without a rival or an equal.

PRACTICAL EDUCATION.

In the education of young people the due culture and expansion of the mental faculties are not only of prime importance, but the education of the hands to mechanical industries is hardly secondary in point of value. Practical education of this character in the Girard College at Philadelphia has proven a success. New buildings have been prepared for the occupancy of students of studies in this department. There are 250 pupils in the institution. No attempt is made to give instruction in any particular trade, but through instruction is given to train the hand in the use of tools, and familiarize the pupils with their various uses and adaptation. Students thus treated are enabled often enabled on leaving the institution to secure mechanical employment on large and remunerative wages. How much better is this than to train the minds of the young in acquiring a knowledge of the classics and general literature exclusively, and leave them untrained in the use of their hands, incapable of entering into mechanical employment, and being "educated" unwilling to join the working class.

The false notion that professional is more honorable than industrial life induces the graduates of colleges and universities, crammed full and overflowing with classic lore, to enter the overcrowded professions, where a majority scarcely reach the level of mediocrity. It is not to fall below it. Educated poverty is not as honorable as mechanical competence, and certainly does not secure as much happiness. The practical, or technical department in Girard college is of immense value and this feature might be carefully introduced into other institutions. The real aim of educational culture should be to develop the natural capabilities and propensities of young men, and thus control the influence to lead them into the mechanical workshop, the professional office, or the scientific study, where they may achieve success, and honorable positions in the world, in accordance with their natural inclinations and cultivated propensities and capabilities.

MISSOURI'S AMBITIONS.

Jay Gould wants Gov. Crittenden in President Cleveland's cabinet, and a number of actual residents of Missouri have formally endorsed Mr. Broadhead to the President-elect for membership in the official household. But these names do not cover the list of aspirants from that state. Besides Crittenden, who wants the Interior, Phelps and ex-Gov. Woodson want the same place, and there are two aspirants for Public Printer, another for the Commissioner of Agriculture, while there are already applicants for every foreign appointment of consequence. To sum up in a word, Missouri is a mighty hungry state, and the whole Blue Book list won't begin to go around. There are only five aspirants for the St. Louis Postoffice. The St. Louis Republican has a slate and the Post Dispatch another. The Missouri Senators are to-day the most perplexed men in the country, and will have to play a fine hand not to be submerged in hot water. So far they cannot be counted on to support any Cabinet aspirant from their state, as both are committed to Garland. The whole situation is one of delicacy, and at the best there will be some sorely disappointed men.

THE GLOBE FOR SALE.

It will be seen by the proceedings of a Democratic meeting, elsewhere reported, that the GLOBE, with all its equipment, Associated Press franchise and business, was formally tendered, on yesterday, to the Democracy of the state to be held by the party as the exponent of their political faith. There is nothing strange or mysterious in the matter. It is a simple, straight forward-business proposition which has been maturely decided upon.

The GLOBE company, for reasons stated in the report of the meeting in question, decided to offer the property for sale, and accordingly placed it upon the market at a figure so reasonable, that they know it will readily command a purchaser among practical newspaper men. The company felt, that while they had a right to do with their property as they wished, they were honorably bound to first offer the paper to the political party it represents, before placing it upon the open market.

That obligation was discharged yesterday at a meeting of representative Democrats, gathered from all parts of the state, and while it is hoped and preferred by the present company, that the work begun yesterday might be carried to a successful conclusion by the company, in whose hands it has been placed, the matter is nevertheless a business proposition and subject to the usual results of trade when property is put in the market at a given figure. As it is the only English Democratic daily paper in a state which cast 70,000 votes for Cleveland and Hendricks the business field it occupies is a wide one.

The position of the GLOBE as a newspaper and the value of its plant and business are too well known to need comment. It will enter upon its eighth year next month, removing in the meantime to a new and elegant building erected expressly for its use and admirably adapted to the purposes of the business. There need be no apprehension of the permanency or any backward step on the part of the GLOBE. It is most thoroughly and expensively equipped, and its purchasers, whoever they may be, will have the certain advantage of self-interest in caring for their large investment, to make the paper better than heretofore, and constantly advance it with the growth of the community it serves.

Mr. HON. J. B. BRISBIN'S LECTURE, to-night, at Plymouth church, Mr. Brisbin lectures for the benefit of the reading rooms of the Gospel Temperance union. This institution is daily proving its usefulness, and is the most attractive place of its kind. It is hoped that citizens will second Mr. Brisbin's effort to secure for the fund which are now greatly needed. The lecture is well worth a hearing, and the object should commend it to general favor and support.

Per Capita Pauper Expenses. Secretary H. H. Hart has prepared a table of the per capita expenses of several counties in the state for pauperism for the past four years, together with that of the present year ending September 30, those shown as spending more than 30 cents, according to their population for 1884 by the following table, being considered by him to be paying a higher rate than economy would demand; while those paying less than 12 cents would show that pauperism is of small proportions therein and that the authorities have some convenient method of getting their poor off their hands at trifling expense.

Popa-Capita Expenses. Spending More Than 30 Cents—A Goodhue, 30,000 55.4 Becker, 16,500 45.0 Washington, 2,400 44.0

Counties. Spending Less Than 30 Cents—Wabasha, 12,200 43.5 Traverse, 3,500 40.0 City, 1,600 32.1

HOSPITAL CARE OF PAUPERS.

The following statistics of the expense of caring for indigent cases will be given by Secretary Hart, of the state board of corrections and charities, in his forthcoming report to the legislature.

County hospitals are maintained only by Ramsey and Goodhue counties. The Goodhue county hospital is newly opened. The Ramsey county hospital is well conducted and was maintained last year with an average cost of $5.53 per week including medical attendance.

Minneapolis city patients are boarded at five different hospitals, the St. Barnabas, College, Sisters', Homeopathic and Northwestern. Last year the city paid for an average of 1,000 patients an average cost of $5.89 per week, besides medical attendance, which is furnished by the city physician.

Washington county pays the Stillwater city hospital of each county patient at $1.05 per day for the board and care of all county patients amounting to about $1 per day for each patient, the county furnishing medical attendance.

St. Louis county pays $1 per day for board and care of each county patient at St. Luke's hospital, Duluth, the county providing medical attendance; but the county does not undertake to pay more than $50 for any one patient. Provision beyond that amount must be made by private charity.

St. Alexander's hospital, at New Ulm, also received some county patients from neighboring counties at 75 cents a day.

An Interesting Meeting.

Owing to the freezing of the gas pipes at the House of Hope church last evening the union meeting was not begun till nearly eight o'clock, but nevertheless developed much interest. H. F. Williams, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A., conducted the meeting assisted by pastors Dana, Edwards, Riddell, Harriott, Horton and other workers. Several roses for prayers and a number remained to the inquiry meeting which followed. To-night will be held a similar meeting at the same place, to which all are invited. Invitations have been mailed to the four hundred who sent in their names at Mr. Moody's request, and it is hoped many of them will be present to meet the various pastors and workers.

Serious Accident.

On Wednesday evening, after the fire, as a part of the fire apparatus was returning to the engine house it ran into a sleigh, containing Mr. Grube and Miss Grube, the son and daughter of H. W. Grube, who resides on Dayton bluff. The daughter was aged about twenty-two years and the son about twenty-three. The son was injured a good deal, but not as much as the daughter, who was so severely bruised that it is not expected she will live. The sleigh was broken in pieces, and the horse was hurt quite severely.

DEMOCRATS IN COUNCIL.

A Business Meeting for the Purpose of Buying a Newspaper. There were a large number of representative Democrats from all portions of the state on the incoming train Wednesday night and yesterday morning, evidencing that a gathering of some importance was being held.

The object of the meeting can be briefly and simply stated. The only considerable stockholder in the GLOBE, who has been active in the work and management, desiring on account of health and personal considerations to retire, it was decided at a recent meeting of the stockholders of the paper, to offer the whole property for sale. Before making such an offer generally public, it was decided to be both the duty and the inclination of the company to submit the matter to the Democracy of the state. With that end in view the following communication was sent:

ST. PAUL, Dec. 12, 1884. To Hon. M. D. Moran, Chairman Democratic State Central Committee of Minnesota. At a meeting of the stockholders of the St. Paul Globe printing company held this day, a committee composed of N. W. Kittson, R. W. Johnson and H. P. Hall, was authorized to use power to make terms and offer the Globe for sale. We desire to confer with you as representative of the Democracy of the state with the view of tendering the property to the Democracy of the state.

On receiving this information Mr. Moran immediately sent out the following notice: Rooms of the Democratic State Central Committee of Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 12, 1884.—The chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee takes pleasure in asking your presence at an important meeting of representative Democrats, to be held at St. Paul on Thursday next, December 18, at 2 o'clock P. M. in the hall of the Commercial Union, J. D. Wood, Secretary.

The result was the following yesterday. The meeting was held in the counting room of the new GLOBE building on Fourth street, which is now nearly ready for occupancy. Mr. Moran presided, and upon calling the meeting to order declared the object of the meeting to be to receive from the seventy-five Democrats present when Mr. Moran submitted the following proposition:

THE GLOBE OFFERED FOR SALE. To the Democracy of Minnesota: At a meeting of the stockholders of the Globe printing company held at the residence of the printer, the following committee was designated to offer the property for sale. With that end in view we have unanimously decided to offer the entire property of the St. Paul Globe printing company, its presses, stereotype foundry, all type, material, job connected with the machinery connected with the establishment, together with the Associated Press franchise, subscription list, advertising contracts, good will, etc., for the sum of $100,000. The sum of $25,000 is to be paid immediately, and the remainder to be paid upon reasonable time, at 6 per cent interest. In this transfer the present Globe Company would be indebted to the Democracy of the state, collecting its own accounts, and turn the property over to the purchasers with a clean sheet.

(Signed,) N. W. KITTSOON, R. W. JOHNSON, H. P. HALL.

The reading of the proposition was followed by the consideration and the discussion of plans for procedure, during which Senator Moran held a present relative to the business was given by the manager of the paper. In order to test the sentiments of those present Horace Pratt, of Fairbault, moved that it be the sense of the meeting that the party should endeavor to make the purchase.

This motion was adopted by a rising and unanimous vote. After some discussion as to how the work should begin, a committee consisting of Horace Pratt, of Fairbault, R. W. Johnson, of St. Paul; J. N. Christie, of Stillwater; W. J. Whipple, of Winona, and W. M. Campbell, of Litchfield, was appointed to prepare a plan and open a stock subscription at once.

In accordance with these instructions the committee prepared a paper for the organization of a new company with a capital of $150,000, and invited subscriptions from those present. As the result $33,000 was subscribed, and the committee was continued, (with the addition of Mr. Moran to the number) with instructions to continue the canvass for further subscriptions of stock to the new company, and report at as early a day as possible.

No other business was attempted or transacted and no other matter than the business in hand was alluded to in the meeting.

LATE CITY NEWS.

The Montana wave brought the mercury low, and yesterday morning showed the record of 30 below zero in the city, 34 below at Fort Snelling and 35 below at Lake Park. The mercury fell at 10 o'clock the mercury stood at 26 below, with a downward tendency.

Lewis A. Normandin's benefit ball was held at Market hall last evening, about fifty participating, with music by Seibert's orchestra and supper at Burns' Market hall restaurant.

The Union Association. The Union Base Ball association held its annual meeting at St. Louis yesterday, and re-elected H. V. Lucas, of that city, president. The Baltimore club resigned and five new clubs, unnamed in the dispatch to the GLOBE, applied for membership. Another meeting will be held in Milwaukee January 13. Each club admitted in 1885 is to deposit a $500 guarantee.

J. H. Morton and wife, Appleton, are guests at the Grand Pacific.

John A. Reed, La Crosse, is among the arrivals at the Tremont.

H. W. Voss, St. Paul, is stopping at the Sherman.

At the Tremont—C. P. Richmond, Appleton; W. M. Peet, Jr., Minneapolis; Mrs. Nancy Clark, Eau Claire.

General Passenger Agent Boyd, of the Allouez route, is at the Tremont.

Among the guests at Sherman are G. H. Porter, Winona; J. A. Matthews, St. Paul; Freeman Lane and F. L. Crocker, Minneapolis.

The Transcontinental Pool. Chicago, Dec. 18.—The Transcontinental Railroad association held its annual session today and adjourned until January 19, when another meeting will be held in San Francisco, and the question of continuing the present pool will be again taken up. In the meantime a truce was agreed upon to be continued until January 31, and a committee was appointed to report a basis for a settlement. The greater part of the session was consumed in discussing
