

THE CITY.

CITY GLOBULES.

C. T. McNamara presented his son J. McNamara with a valuable mink overcoat yesterday.

Stephen Burns spread an elegant free dinner for his patrons at the Market House restaurant yesterday.

The Christmas present made Turkey Rowell, by the cook of the county jail yesterday, was a new fire in culinary services.

The Christmas dinner at Golden's restaurant on East Seventh street, yesterday, was a credit to that number one establishment.

E. M. Robinson, a colored dude, became involved in a quarrel with African belles on Cedar street yesterday, and was lodged at the city hall.

Deputy United States Marshal Brackett, of Duluth, lodged Kitty Blake in the county jail yesterday on the charge of selling liquor without a license.

The Christmas dinner bill of fare at the county jail yesterday consisted of turkey, roast beef, mashed potatoes, sourknot, mince pie, pass and bread.

Secretary H. H. Young, of the state board of immigration, will return from New Orleans to-day, having stopped en route in Iowa to spend Christmas with a brother.

Deputy Sheriff Neill, of Bismarck, lodged four hard looking criminals in the county jail yesterday when he will take to the Dakota penitentiary at Sioux Falls this morning.

John Deutscher and John Keef having become too highly impregnated with beer, got into a fight on St. Peter street yesterday afternoon, and were retired by an officer to the cooler.

The members of Chemical engine No. 1 presented Capt. Eugene Irvine with an elegant sealskin cap yesterday, while Nelson & Co., the Seventh street tobacconists also remembered the company with a couple of boxes of cigars.

Mrs. Lou Sparks, having got the worst end of a domestic quarrel with some colored acquaintance, on coming to the city hall in a very drunken condition to complain, was ordered locked up by the chief and made the cooler resonant day and evening yesterday with her Christmas carols.

The second fire at Kahn Bros. store on Jackson street on Wednesday was not started by sparks left from the noon fire, but by the occupants building up a fire in a stove having pipe entrance to the defective chimney which was the cause of the trouble, and contrary to the orders of Chief Blake.

A telephone alarm at 8:01 yesterday morning took the department to 55 West Ninth street, where a mass of wood piled up against a cook stove had set fire to the first floor of a small dwelling occupied by Peter Dunbar. The loss on the building was $30, and on the contents $25, both of which were uninsured.

The speculators who took lots of seats at the Opera house last evening, one lot up stairs and one down, got badly left. Both these sections stood empty all the evening as a public and open notification to speculators not to attempt to get a corner on seats. There were 155 of these empty seats which is a very accurate statement of the loss of the speculators. This pretty clearly demonstrates that the manager of the Opera house had no part or lot in the speculation.

Harry Woodson, the Black Diamond, famous sparrer and athlete, was the guest of C. A. C. Smith on Christmas day. He had just come in from Winnipeg, where he has been filling a two weeks' engagement, and succeeded in knocking out Hagley, of Boston, in four rounds. C. A. C. Smith and Woodson were engaged to fight to a finish with hard gloves, but there was some hitch in the affair, and so, instead, they will spar for points with soft gloves, either four or six rounds, in St. Paul, sometime between the 1st and 10th of January.

Almost the Coldest Ever Known.

The temperature continued steadily at 27 degrees below zero from 10 to 3:30 a. m. yesterday. There is but one instance on record at the signal office here of such low temperature at so advanced an hour of the day, and that was the Christmas morning of 1879. Then it was the coldest ever known here in the early morning, the record being 39 degrees below zero, but it warmed to 34.5 degrees below zero the same as yesterday at 10 p. m.

The lowest winter temperature reported by the signal service from any place this winter was 50 degrees below zero, and that was from Ft. Assiniboine, M. T., yesterday morning. That station is in latitude 48 degrees 37 minutes. Assiniboine is 263 miles nearer to the north pole than St. Paul.

Some people are just a cross as a bear, they snap your head off when you happen to open your mouth. We can not excuse them, they have bad colic, which makes them irritable, and are too mean to buy a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, which would restore their good nature.

Many persons in Pittston are using Ely's Cream Balm, a certain remedy, with most satisfactory results. A lady is recovering the sense of smell which she has not enjoyed for fifteen years. CHRISTMAS DISASTER

To a Party of Sleigh Riders Returning From East St. Paul to the West Side.

Samuel Bollinger Killed, Lizzie Zimmerman Shockingly Mangled, Mrs. Bollinger Seriously Injured—Coroner's Inquest To-Day.

At about 7 o'clock last evening a sad and fatal accident occurred to a Christmas sleigh riding party of Germans, at the railway crossing at the foot of the hill on East Third street, in which Samuel Bollinger was killed outright, his wife's shoulder dislocated, and the left leg of his niece, Lizzie Zimmerman, broken just below the knee, her right ankle terribly crushed, while large gashes were cut in her left leg, in her forehead and upon the side of her head.

The facts in the case seem to have been as follows: Samuel Bollinger and his wife and babe and Adolph Bollinger and his mother are residents of West St. Paul, though the two families are not related. Yesterday morning they clubbed in and hired a single horse and a three seated sleigh of John Reimers, of West St. Paul, for a Christmas ride, and proceeded to the residence of Fred Bollinger, a son of the deceased, near Hamm's brewery. Afterwards with this son and wife they stopped at Abraham Zimmerman's residence on Conway street, leaving Fred and his wife at her father's.

The original party then left for home. Adolph Bollinger, the youngest man driving with the deceased on the same seat, the two Mrs. Bollingers, (one having an infant), occupying the middle seat. On their way towards home they came across Abraham Zimmerman, and four children who got into the sleigh occupying the rear seat. The party at this time consisted, with the infant, of nine persons. As the establishment came upon the Duluth track on Third street on their way from the bluff some say the horse balked on the rails while others affirm that the driver urged him onward to get across in the face of a Duluth engine which was backing three cars up the track. At any rate Mr. Zimmerman and his boys saw the danger and jumped from the vehicle, as did also Mrs. Samuel Bollinger with her babe in her arms, the latter dislocating her shoulder.

The horse by this time was across the track, and the rear car trucks smashed the sleigh like an egg shell, throwing Adolph Bollinger and his mother outside the rails without any particular injury, but causing Samuel Bollinger and Lizzie Zimmerman under the trucks and dragging them or pushing them upon the ice and rails for the full distance of 100 feet, killing the former instantly from blows received upon his forehead, and mangleing the little girl in the manner above described.

Dr. John H. Murphy was immediately summoned and in less than five minutes was on the spot. Finding Mr. Bollinger dead he sent for Coroner Quinn and put him in charge of the body. The coroner and sent the others of the party home in a hack, taking the wounded girl, still insensible, into his sleigh and driving to St. Joseph's hospital, where she could be kindly cared for by the Sisters. Here he set her limb, bandaged the crushed ankle, and sewed up the huge gash in her head just above the forehead, and several other gashes on the side of her head, before she had gained full consciousness, but when he stitched up the deep gash just below her left knee, she had quite come to her senses. She is a pretty looking, dark haired and eyed girl of eleven years of age, and seemed very courageous and patient in her sad troubles and elicited the deepest sympathy from the kind Sisters, who were doing everything to mitigate her sufferings. Dr. Murphy said it was a miracle that this slender girl could have been dragged so far under the train and come out alive. He hardly thought, though he had no fears of her not recovering, that he could save the limb, which in that event would have to be amputated.

Neither the body nor limbs of Samuel Bollinger showed any evidence of injury, but there was a heavy gash under one of his ears, and the marks of a severe blow across his mouth, which in several instances in several teeth. He was about forty-eight years of age and weighed in the neighborhood of 170 pounds. The inquest will be held at 4:30 this afternoon.

ART EXHIBITION.

A ST. PAUL ART PRODUCTION!

One of St. Paul's artists, John G. Kodylek, has just completed a large painting in oil of the Discovery of Land by Columbus.

On his first great voyage into the unknown seas of the west. The scene on the ship is finely conceived. Columbus stands overcome with emotion gazing upon the dimly seen shores of that vast continent whose discovery was to revolutionize the world. His officers and men, hitherto mutinous, crouch at his feet begging forgiveness, while Vesputi falls upon the breast of his great commander and weeps tears of repentance. The scene, mingled of joy and remorse, is tragic, and the artist has well portrayed upon the faces of the actors the emotions that filled their hearts. The painting is

The Oregon Snow Blockade.

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 25.—The snow storm was renewed yesterday along the middle Columbia river, and it is yet impossible to remove the snow blockade between the Dalles and this city because it fills in behind the plows as fast as the advance is made. Three plows with five engines each are stacked fast, and must be shoveled out. Very little progress has been made owing to the continued snowfall. It is not likely that the road will be opened before Saturday. Northern Pacific trains are running through to Wallula Junction, and a large number of passengers has accumulated at the latter point. Passengers of snow bound trains receive supplies regularly on sleds from Hood River and Cascade Lakes, and there is no danger of suffering hunger. Sixteen passengers left the train and walked to this city. No eastern mail has arrived here since the 15th inst. Mail destined for the east will be sent by steamer to San Francisco Friday night.
