

ST. PAUL NEWS.

MARKED TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

Action of the Ramsey County Bar Upon the Death of Henry A. Wilson.

Upon the opening of the district court yesterday morning C. D. O'Brien arose and formally announced for the first time publicly the death of Henry A. Wilson, his former well known law partner. Mr. O'Brien alluded to the death of Mr. Wilson in a tender and feeling manner, paying a just and eloquent tribute to his memory.

Following the announcement Judge Wilkin said that in view of the distinguished services of the deceased, and out of respect for his memory, he would adjourn court. Immediately afterwards Hon. H. R. Bigelow called a meeting of the Bar association, that gentleman presiding, and I. V. D. Heard, Esq., officiating as secretary.

The following resolution was then adopted: Resolved, That the members of the bar meet at this room, at 12 o'clock, to-day, to discuss the funeral of the late Henry A. Wilson, and that a committee of five be appointed by the president to prepare appropriate resolutions and report the same at a future meeting to be called by the president for that purpose.

Mr. Bigelow, president of the Bar association, named the following as the committee on resolutions and condolence: W. P. Cough, C. D. O'Brien, Wm. Louis Kelly, Henry J. Horn, U. L. Lamphere, and I. V. D. Heard.

The committee were instructed to report at the opening of the district court, on the first day of the next general term. In accordance with the spirit of the resolution the members of the Bar association met at 12 o'clock and proceeded in a body to the late residence of the deceased on Summit avenue, from which the funeral took place at 1 o'clock. Appropriate religious services were held and the funeral was attended by a large concourse of friends from St. Paul and other portions of the State. Henry A. Wilson, the floral tributes being lavish and beautiful. The remains were escorted to their last resting place in Oakland cemetery by many sorrowing friends, the pall bearers being as published in yesterday's issue of the GLOBE.

POLICE DOINGS.

The Penalty Received by Those Who Abused Christmas Day.

"There is no use of talking," soliloquized the billiard as he stroked the rheumatic spot in his back, yesterday, "it is better for a man to handle straight goods and the world will not ask for a discount; this thing of a fellow speculating on futures, with honor in the balance and the devil as stake holder, may look tempting enough at first sight, but I tell you it is only one of the latter gentleman's little games to snare a man."

The remarks were called out by the appearance of John Keefe in the bull pen. This scurvy rascal was up on Xmas morning and his sentence was suspended on condition that he carry up a cord of wood; besides this he was given a quarter with which to buy his breakfast. Well, he didn't carry up any wood, but on reaching the street he drank out of sight and blew in the money at the first bar for pater whisky. It turned him into a demon, and later in the day it required two officers to yank the wretch to the cooler. There he he sat all day.

Lou Sparks and E. M. Robinson, a couple of colored gemmen, were at a party Xmas night, and the whole gang got drunk. In the course of the evening these gemmen sought to satisfy their hunger by spilling a little blood, but they were not so lucky as both parties were yanked. The case was quite funny; one Venus was so full that she could hardly testify, and when placed on the stand she became maudling and started crying. It was a required up the pine tree, "come in the lobster sort of fight and they were fined ten bills each.

John Allen and a couple of other boys with unpronounceable names, were charged with stealing the suspender grip sack of a citizen. It was a required up the pine tree, "come in the lobster sort of fight and they were fined ten bills each.

THE BOLLINGER TRAGEDY.

Coroner's Inquest Postponed Until Monday to Secure Important Witnesses.

An inquest was to have been held yesterday afternoon on the remains of Samuel Bollinger, the unfortunate man who lost his life at the third street railroad crossing while returning from a party on Christmas night. Particulars of the sad affair appeared in yesterday's issue of the GLOBE, and it will be remembered that the deceased was one of a party who had been making a social call, and that their cutter was run down by a train of cars on the Duluth railroad while crossing the tracks. The accident was very disastrous, resulting in the death of the elder Bollinger, while Mrs. Bollinger was injured, and a young girl named Lizzie Zimmerman had a narrow escape from a horrible death. The letter was badly bruised but was reported yesterday as being quite out of danger. Mr. Zimmerman, the girl's father, was badly bruised and his injuries are considered quite serious. The condition of Mrs. Bollinger was reported as improved yesterday.

The inquest was to have been held at 4:30 o'clock, and at that hour the following jurors were sworn: J. C. Geary, Wm. Delaney, John Bell, M. J. Long, P. H. Spellman and Joseph Barnforth. There were present a large number of witnesses, and the attorney for the road was on hand with a stenographic reporter.

At 5 o'clock Coroner Quinn announced that as several material witnesses, including the driver of the cutter, were absent, and for the further reason that the attorney for the deceased desired to have an attorney present, he would adjourn the inquest until Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The accident has created a feeling of great indignation throughout the city, it being the first time held the railroad crossing. A regular death trap and a standing menace to life for years, it is about time the street should be closed up altogether so that a bridge or viaduct should be erected without further delay. At the same time the city should be made a spasmodic effort is made to protect the life and property of citizens. Mayor O'Brien has been very active in trying to have the council take definite action.

It is well enough here to refresh the public recollection that the railroad companies have for a long time held themselves in readiness to bridge the crossing, going so far as to prepare a plan for a bridge and apportion the cost among the companies, the amount assessed upon the Duluth road being $30,000. When matters reached this stage, further steps were prevented by legal proceedings in the nature of an injunction, since which no progress has been made, the project having been "hung up" by this action of property owners.

It is reported that a railway employe riding on the cow catcher of the engine, on discovering that the sleigh was to be run into, and fearing accident to himself in his position, jumped off and, striking a switch post, had his head so badly bruised that he could hardly see his eyes.

Fleeing Greenhorns.

Three well known three-card monte men, extensively known for their success in enticing property from fools pockets with their "easy" game, were engaged yesterday in picking the pin feathers from two young gossins from Fergus Falls, named Warren Garland and Charles Snyder, alias Nichols, who were stopping in the city a few days to buck the tiger and view the elephant, being on their way to attend court in Chicago.

Down to Crow's old saloon, at 178 Broadway.

TRANSPORTATION NOTES.

The Northern Pacific Company.

Col. Lamborn, land commissioner of the Northern Pacific road, has just returned from a trip over the line to the Yakima valley, was accidentally engaged in a conversation yesterday, during which he made some very interesting statements as to the productiveness of the valley. The railroad, he said, is now being constructed from Astoria up to Tacoma and Seattle through the Cascade mountains, has reached Yakima, Washington territory, on the Cascade branch. This is an important town and gives promise of being the most eligible a site for the future capital of the territory. Ellensburg, forty miles north of Yakima is the business center of a flourishing population, where the farmers are thrifty and prosperous. The lands are fertile and rich all along the Yakima valley and all about Ellensburg. The climate is excellent. It is not only good for corn, but it is also good for fruits, such as apples, apricots and all similar fruits.

A FATAL FALL.

Nelson Cox Falls from the Wabash Street Bridge and is Killed.

A shocking accident occurred on the Wabash street bridge about 11:30 o'clock yesterday forenoon, resulting in the instant death of Nelson Cox, a bridge builder in the employ of the Missouri Valley Bridge company, and to whom the contract was let for making repairs at the south end of the bridge. At the time of the accident the unfortunate young man was at work on what is known as a "traveler," or what is more generally known as a cross beam from which the uprights are suspended. While so engaged he lost his footing and fell from a height of a distance of twenty-five feet, where his body struck a cross beam with such force as to cause death. After striking the beam his body rebounded and fell to the frozen ground beneath, a distance of some forty feet further. A number of men were at work on the bridge, among whom was his brother, Milton Cox, and a score of willing hearts and hands went to his assistance. On reaching the body life was found to be extinct, death having resulted from internal injuries produced by the double shock. His right leg was also crushed and he was otherwise bruised. The remains were viewed by Coroner Quinn, who will hold an inquest at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

The deceased was a single man, twenty-four years of age, and a native of Oskaloosa, Iowa, although he has been residing in Minneapolis for nearly four years. The remains will be forwarded to Iowa for interment.

THE COURTS.

U. S. Circuit Court.

[Before Judges Brewer and Nelson.] J. W. Blaisdell vs. Empire Lumber company; verdict for $2,035 for the plaintiff.

The Smith Middleburg Purifier company vs. Hatch & Mitchell; motion for a new trial; argued and submitted.

District Court.

[Before Judge Wilkin.] COURT CASES. [Before Judge Wilkin.]

At the opening of the session C. D. O'Brien appeared in court and announced the death of Henry A. Wilson, upon which Judge Wilkin ordered an adjournment to 9:30 p. m. At the afternoon session the following business was transacted. C. L. Rohrer, receiver vs. M. Bruggeman; continued.

Chas. P. Corning vs. Ezra Farnsworth, Jr., et al.; Wm. B. Dean vs. Ezra Farnsworth, Jr., et al.; S. B. Walsh vs. Ezra Farnsworth, Jr., et al.; Gustav Willis vs. Ezra Farnsworth, Jr., et al.; Edward H. Cutler vs. Ezra Farnsworth, Jr., et al.; on trial together. Adjourned to 10 a. m. to-day.

Probate Court.

[Before Judge McGorty.] Insanity of Abe Durcen; examined and ordered committed.

Municipal Court.

[Before Judge Barr.] M. Zenitsky, J. Sandusky and J. Allen, larceny; continued to the 27th. John Dolzer, drunk and disorderly; fine of $10 paid.

A. Beyer and M. Walsh, disorderly; same. John Keefe, drunk and disorderly; sixty days.

Lou Sparks, drunkenness; fine of $10 paid. E. M. Robinson, drunk and disorderly; same.

Berg, drunkenness; fine of $5 paid. W. Hauken, same; same; returned. J. Curtis, disorderly; dismissed.

The Lawn Tennis.

Last evening the Delta Lawn Tennis club gave its first annual hop at Sherman hall, and it was a very delightful social gathering. It could not well be otherwise. Seibert's orchestra gave the guests some of the most delightful music ever heard in a ball room. A large number of ladies with elegant toilets were present, and everything about the affair was intelligent, graceful and attractive. The younger members of the club assumed the responsibility of arranging and managing the hop, and the result shows that they have done their duty skillfully indeed, and made it a grand success.

Vagrants in Limbo.

Chief Clark ordered Sergeant Walsh to thin out the tramps at the city hall last night, by locking up fifteen who have been lodging there night after night, and passing them up to Judge Barr this morning for a three months sentence in the workhouse. The special ward who are to be sent over the hill are John Burke, Wm. Collins, Robert Davis, Wm. Dalton, John Cogan, David Lane, John James, Wm. Costerson, Harris Willis, Joseph Ainsworth, O. S. Knutson, E. Johnson, John Hanson, Alec Peterson and Hans Emerson.

Terrible Reform.

ALBERT LEA, Dec. 24.—All indications point to this conclusion: viz: That the next presidential campaign will be fought on the issue of Protection vs. Tariff Reform. All that has kept this issue in abeyance in the last two campaigns, has been its overshadowing by sectional issues growing out of the war. The south would consider nothing else until these questions were disposed of, as they have been by the election of Cleveland. The question that confronts the Democratic party now is, how is it going to retain what it will soon possess? The solid south elected Cleveland not alone by giving him 153 electoral votes, but by giving them without money and without price, leaving the managers of the Democratic campaign to devote their time and money to a half dozen northern states. Those who think we will have another solid Democratic south in '88 do not look very far into the logic of events. Nothing can make the south sure for the Democratic candidate four years hence save the continuation of such senseless speeches as that of Blaine at Augusta, and this the business interests of the country will probably not tolerate. The next logical course is to make an economic war with regard to the claims of the cranks and quacks. The northwest is naturally Democratic, and with proper management it can be made really so, but if the mission of the Democratic party proves to be merely to put a few thousand mawkish cranks in office, then 1888 will forever seal its fate.

Appointment as Janitor of the Capitol Building.

The Christmas present made by Gov. Hubbard to Edward Hammond, for eleven years a watchman at the Metropolitan hotel and for the past four years the faithful messenger at the state capitol, was his appointment yesterday morning as janitor of the state house, vice Chas. Chapel retiring from that position to take the office of deputy under Sheriff Fred Richter. This promotion of Mr. Hammond is eminently deserved and will make a popular officer.

A Drug Shop Fire.

A still alarm was received at central fire hall at 7:30 last evening caused by a cauldron of phosphorus taking fire on account of the evaporation of water from said cauldron under the counter of J. L. Brigham's drug store in the three story brick block, 216 East Seventh street. The blaze was quenched with trifling damage.

STILLWATER NEWS.

THE GLOBE AT STILLWATER.

The GLOBE has established a permanent office in the city of Stillwater, in charge of Mr. Peter Regg, who takes the management of the business interests of the paper, its city circulation, correspondence, and the communications of local news and all matter for publication may be left at the Stillwater GLOBE office, 110 Main street, Excelsior block, up stairs, or may be addressed to Peter Regg, P. O. box 1024, and will receive prompt attention.

WALKER, JUDD & VEAZIE.

They Make a Voluntary Assignment Yesterday Morning, A. T. Jenks Being Assignee.

The Assets of the Firm Claimed to be $450,000, With Liabilities of Half that Amount.

The Injury Done the Firm by the Publication of False Statements as to Attachments.

Yesterday morning the old lumber firm of Walker, Judd & Veazie made a voluntary assignment to Austin T. Jenks, of this city. It had been expected for several days; indeed on Saturday last we had knowledge that the firm was embarrassed, and as they were in hopes of being able to arrange their matters, we refrained from the publication of the news. We, with other newspaper reporters here, agreed not to publish anything of the matter until we could get reliable information from the parties or their solicitors. We kept our pledge, and if another had done the same it is probable that the assignment would have been made in a fair way for the firm, but when it was ascertained in the P. P. that attachments for $118,000 had been entered against the firm, all negotiations were broken off, and the assignment made. The total attachment at that time against the firm in Washington county was one of $750, and the attachment of $118,000 was made by the firm on property belonging to the St. Croix Boom Co. Thus an old firm had to assign owing to false information given the public, in violation of agreement, and when matters were in the way of being arranged. The GLOBE always does its duty.

It is not possible to understand the causes that led to the assignment we will furnish a brief sketch of the company since its organization, or rather from the time that Orange Walker came to Marine. In 1839 Orange Walker, George B. Judd, Asa Parker and John H. Knapp, were partners in the business of sawing logs under the name of the Marine Lumber company, and in 1845 it changed to that of Walker, Judd & Co., and in 1862 to Walker, Judd & Veazie, the present firm. Orange Walker, before he became interested in the lumber business, was a sea man, but for some years past he has been unable to take any interest in the affairs of the company, which falling into younger hands was enlarged. The hard times of the past couple of years caught them spread out on all sides, and having no other assets, they could not turn them into cash. A couple of years ago their business was badly interfered with, owing to the St. Croix Boom company not keeping the river clear so that they could get their lumber and the product of sawing logs to market, and they have brought suit against the Boom company for $146,000 damages. All these things taken together put them in a tight place. On Saturday last they began negotiations to be carried through, and were proceeding favorably with them, when circumstances over which they had no control, necessitated them to assign.

From all we can learn the assets of the firm will amount to $450,000, and of this amount there is lumber on hand amounting to $70,000; property in mill, etc., at Marine, $60,000; stock of goods, $21,000; and the rest of the assets are composed of $20,000 worth of pine lands, horses, harness, camp outfit, lumber yard at St. Paul, and accounts on bills receivable of the firm. There is also a small amount of cash on hand, and the total liabilities is less than half the assets. We are assured that the assignment will only be temporary, because as soon as times improve there will be a market for all they have to dispose of. We present this short account for the purpose of showing the public the nature of the business, and that it can be seen by it how the business has been run. In all these things we will have a complete list of the liabilities, which will be then given, and a better idea of both assets and liabilities will then be formed.

Our Relief Society.

Now that the rigors of winter are upon us, we thought that at this time of giving it would be our place to present some of the work that is required of our Relief society and how they are doing it. In a city such as this, there must necessarily be a considerable number of persons, who, through improvidence or the vicissitudes of trade and labor, are brought to want, and the Relief society and the committee appointed by them are to ferret out such, and to distribute aid when it is really required. The society is composed of persons representing the various denominations, and its work is extensive and of the most important nature. It is required that the members of the society should be diligent in their work, and that they should be able to meet the needs of the poor. As soon as a case is reported, one of the committee goes at once and examines into this necessity, and what is required to be done is attended to at once. But to do this the charitable people of the city have to be appealed to. It is the aim of the society to have the people help themselves as much as possible, and to obtain something for them to do, and to show that this has worked well, of those assisted last winter, only one family out of eighty-six is now on the roll. Assistance should only be given through the society, who are making a study to expend what is given to the very best advantage. There is a very large amount of need in the city, but the society is doing its best to meet every case. On Christmas day a family of eleven persons were discovered, with only a few pounds of flour in the house, no wood, and the children without shoes. Their immediate needs were supplied, and one of our large-hearted citizens, to whom the president, L. W. Eldred, brought the man, did nobly for the family.

We have learned that immediately before Christmas a couple of young ladies went out soliciting aid, and represented that they were in need of it for the Relief society, using Mr. Eldred's name. He, as well as those who gave, were justly indignant, and the church that they attended has been put into a false position. The young ladies had been returning under the name of the Relief society, and had been collecting, and thus remove the stigma from themselves. In order that there may be no further misunderstanding in that line, the following ladies have been appointed for the several sections to whom all applications for relief should be made, and who will examine into the cases, and who will also be glad to receive any donation that may be offered: South of Pine street to the city limits, Mesdames L. W. Eldred, F. Wilman, J. B. Davis, E. Berry and E. H. Basile.

The World's Fair.

New Orleans, Dec. 26.—With each succeeding day the world's exposition takes on newer and more attractive features, giving a fair idea of what it will be a fortnight hence, when it is confidently asserted, everything will be in a state of perfect completion. The stock stables are rapidly filling. The stock exhibit promises to be the greatest the world ever saw.

Fixing Mining Rates.

FARGO, Minn., Dec. 25.—The committee, consisting of Green, Hoyt and Harris, appointed by the anthracite power which proposes to arrange an allotment plan for mining and shipping coal in 1885, met in New York to-day. The committee has agreed to present three separate reports—one from each committee man. These reports are to receive the finishing touches to-morrow, and will be considered by the coal-owners subsequently.

STILLWATER NEWS.

THE GLOBE AT STILLWATER.

The GLOBE has established a permanent office in the city of Stillwater, in charge of Mr. Peter Regg, who takes the management of the business interests of the paper, its city circulation, correspondence, and the communications of local news and all matter for publication may be left at the Stillwater GLOBE office, 110 Main street, Excelsior block, up stairs, or may be addressed to Peter Regg, P. O. box 1024, and will receive prompt attention.

WALKER, JUDD & VEAZIE.

They Make a Voluntary Assignment Yesterday Morning, A. T. Jenks Being Assignee.

The Assets of the Firm Claimed to be $450,000, With Liabilities of Half that Amount.

The Injury Done the Firm by the Publication of False Statements as to Attachments.

Yesterday morning the old lumber firm of Walker, Judd & Veazie made a voluntary assignment to Austin T. Jenks, of this city. It had been expected for several days; indeed on Saturday last we had knowledge that the firm was embarrassed, and as they were in hopes of being able to arrange their matters, we refrained from the publication of the news. We, with other newspaper reporters here, agreed not to publish anything of the matter until we could get reliable information from the parties or their solicitors. We kept our pledge, and if another had done the same it is probable that the assignment would have been made in a fair way for the firm, but when it was ascertained in the P. P. that attachments for $118,000 had been entered against the firm, all negotiations were broken off, and the assignment made. The total attachment at that time against the firm in Washington county was one of $750, and the attachment of $118,000 was made by the firm on property belonging to the St. Croix Boom Co. Thus an old firm had to assign owing to false information given the public, in violation of agreement, and when matters were in the way of being arranged. The GLOBE always does its duty.

It is not possible to understand the causes that led to the assignment we will furnish a brief sketch of the company since its organization, or rather from the time that Orange Walker came to Marine. In 1839 Orange Walker, George B. Judd, Asa Parker and John H. Knapp, were partners in the business of sawing logs under the name of the Marine Lumber company, and in 1845 it changed to that of Walker, Judd & Co., and in 1862 to Walker, Judd & Veazie, the present firm. Orange Walker, before he became interested in the lumber business, was a sea man, but for some years past he has been unable to take any interest in the affairs of the company, which falling into younger hands was enlarged. The hard times of the past couple of years caught them spread out on all sides, and having no other assets, they could not turn them into cash. A couple of years ago their business was badly interfered with, owing to the St. Croix Boom company not keeping the river clear so that they could get their lumber and the product of sawing logs to market, and they have brought suit against the Boom company for $146,000 damages. All these things taken together put them in a tight place. On Saturday last they began negotiations to be carried through, and were proceeding favorably with them, when circumstances over which they had no control, necessitated them to assign.

From all we can learn the assets of the firm will amount to $450,000, and of this amount there is lumber on hand amounting to $70,000; property in mill, etc., at Marine, $60,000; stock of goods, $21,000; and the rest of the assets are composed of $20,000 worth of pine lands, horses, harness, camp outfit, lumber yard at St. Paul, and accounts on bills receivable of the firm. There is also a small amount of cash on hand, and the total liabilities is less than half the assets. We are assured that the assignment will only be temporary, because as soon as times improve there will be a market for all they have to dispose of. We present this short account for the purpose of showing the public the nature of the business, and that it can be seen by it how the business has been run. In all these things we will have a complete list of the liabilities, which will be then given, and a better idea of both assets and liabilities will then be formed.

Our Relief Society.

Now that the rigors of winter are upon us, we thought that at this time of giving it would be our place to present some of the work that is required of our Relief society and how they are doing it. In a city such as this, there must necessarily be a considerable number of persons, who, through improvidence or the vicissitudes of trade and labor, are brought to want, and the Relief society and the committee appointed by them are to ferret out such, and to distribute aid when it is really required. The society is composed of persons representing the various denominations, and its work is extensive and of the most important nature. It is required that the members of the society should be diligent in their work, and that they should be able to meet the needs of the poor. As soon as a case is reported, one of the committee goes at once and examines into this necessity, and what is required to be done is attended to at once. But to do this the charitable people of the city have to be appealed to. It is the aim of the society to have the people help themselves as much as possible, and to obtain something for them to do, and to show that this has worked well, of those assisted last winter, only one family out of eighty-six is now on the roll. Assistance should only be given through the society, who are making a study to expend what is given to the very best advantage. There is a very large amount of need in the city, but the society is doing its best to meet every case. On Christmas day a family of eleven persons were discovered, with only a few pounds of flour in the house, no wood, and the children without shoes. Their immediate needs were supplied, and one of our large-hearted citizens, to whom the president, L. W. Eldred, brought the man, did nobly for the family.

The World's Fair.

New Orleans, Dec. 26.—With each succeeding day the world's exposition takes on newer and more attractive features, giving a fair idea of what it will be a fortnight hence, when it is confidently asserted, everything will be in a state of perfect completion. The stock stables are rapidly filling. The stock exhibit promises to be the greatest the world ever saw.

Fixing Mining Rates.

FARGO, Minn., Dec. 25.—The committee, consisting of Green, Hoyt and Harris, appointed by the anthracite power which proposes to arrange an allotment plan for mining and shipping coal in 1885, met in New York to-day. The committee has agreed to present three separate reports—one from each committee man. These reports are to receive the finishing touches to-morrow, and will be considered by the coal-owners subsequently.

STILLWATER NEWS.

THE GLOBE AT STILLWATER.

The GLOBE has established a permanent office in the city of Stillwater, in charge of Mr. Peter Regg, who takes the management of the business interests of the paper, its city circulation, correspondence, and the communications of local news and all matter for publication may be left at the Stillwater GLOBE office, 110 Main street, Excelsior block, up stairs, or may be addressed to Peter Regg, P. O. box 1024, and will receive prompt attention.

WALKER, JUDD & VEAZIE.

They Make a Voluntary Assignment Yesterday Morning, A. T. Jenks Being Assignee.

The Assets of the Firm Claimed to be $450,000, With Liabilities of Half that Amount.

The Injury Done the Firm by the Publication of False Statements as to Attachments.

Yesterday morning the old lumber firm of Walker, Judd & Veazie made a voluntary assignment to Austin T. Jenks, of this city. It had been expected for several days; indeed on Saturday last we had knowledge that the firm was embarrassed, and as they were in hopes of being able to arrange their matters, we refrained from the publication of the news. We, with other newspaper reporters here, agreed not to publish anything of the matter until we could get reliable information from the parties or their solicitors. We kept our pledge, and if another had done the same it is probable that the assignment would have been made in a fair way for the firm, but when it was ascertained in the P. P. that attachments for $118,000 had been entered against the firm, all negotiations were broken off, and the assignment made. The total attachment at that time against the firm in Washington county was one of $750, and the attachment of $118,000 was made by the firm on property belonging to the St. Croix Boom Co. Thus an old firm had to assign owing to false information given the public, in violation of agreement, and when matters were in the way of being arranged. The GLOBE always does its duty.

It is not possible to understand the causes that led to the assignment we will furnish a brief sketch of the company since its organization, or rather from the time that Orange Walker came to Marine. In 1839 Orange Walker, George B. Judd, Asa Parker and John H. Knapp, were partners in the business of sawing logs under the name of the Marine Lumber company, and in 1845 it changed to that of Walker, Judd & Co., and in 1862 to Walker, Judd & Veazie, the present firm. Orange Walker, before he became interested in the lumber business, was a sea man, but for some years past he has been unable to take any interest in the affairs of the company, which falling into younger hands was enlarged. The hard times of the past couple of years caught them spread out on all sides, and having no other assets, they could not turn them into cash. A couple of years ago their business was badly interfered with, owing to the St. Croix Boom company not keeping the river clear so that they could get their lumber and the product of sawing logs to market, and they have brought suit against the Boom company for $146,000 damages. All these things taken together put them in a tight place. On Saturday last they began negotiations to be carried through, and were proceeding favorably with them, when circumstances over which they had no control, necessitated them to assign.

From all we can learn the assets of the firm will amount to $450,000, and of this amount there is lumber on hand amounting to $70,000; property in mill, etc., at Marine, $60,000; stock of goods, $21,000; and the rest of the assets are composed of $20,000 worth of pine lands, horses, harness, camp outfit, lumber yard at St. Paul, and accounts on bills receivable of the firm. There is also a small amount of cash on hand, and the total liabilities is less than half the assets. We are assured that the assignment will only be temporary, because as soon as times improve there will be a market for all they have to dispose of. We present this short account for the purpose of showing the public the nature of the business, and that it can be seen by it how the business has been run. In all these things we will have a complete list of the liabilities, which will be then given, and a better idea of both assets and liabilities will then be formed.

Our Relief Society.

Now that the rigors of winter are upon us, we thought that at this time of giving it would be our place to present some of the work that is required of our Relief society and how they are doing it. In a city such as this, there must necessarily be a considerable number of persons, who, through improvidence or the vicissitudes of trade and labor, are brought to want, and the Relief society and the committee appointed by them are to ferret out such, and to distribute aid when it is really required. The society is composed of persons representing the various denominations, and its work is extensive and of the most important nature. It is required that the members of the society should be diligent in their work, and that they should be able to meet the needs of the poor. As soon as a case is reported, one of the committee goes at once and examines into this necessity, and what is required to be done is attended to at once. But to do this the charitable people of the city have to be appealed to. It is the aim of the society to have the people help themselves as much as possible, and to obtain something for them to do, and to show that this has worked well, of those assisted last winter, only one family out of eighty-six is now on the roll. Assistance should only be given through the society, who are making a study to expend what is given to the very best advantage. There is a very large amount of need in the city, but the society is doing its best to meet every case. On Christmas day a family of eleven persons were discovered, with only a few pounds of flour in the house, no wood, and the children without shoes. Their immediate needs were supplied, and one of our large-hearted citizens, to whom the president, L. W. Eldred, brought the man, did nobly for the family.

The World's Fair.

New Orleans, Dec. 26.—With each succeeding day the world's exposition takes on newer and more attractive features, giving a fair idea of what it will be a fortnight hence, when it is confidently asserted, everything will be in a state of perfect completion. The stock stables are rapidly filling. The stock exhibit promises to be the greatest the world ever saw.

Fixing Mining Rates.

FARGO, Minn., Dec. 25.—The committee, consisting of Green, Hoyt and Harris, appointed by the anthracite power which proposes to arrange an allotment plan for mining and shipping coal in 1885, met in New York to-day. The committee has agreed to present three separate reports—one from each committee man. These reports are to receive the finishing touches to-morrow, and will be considered by the coal-owners subsequently.

STILLWATER NEWS.

THE GLOBE AT STILLWATER.

The GLOBE has established a permanent office in the city of Stillwater, in charge of Mr. Peter Regg, who takes the management of the business interests of the paper, its city circulation, correspondence, and the communications of local news and all matter for publication may be left at the Stillwater GLOBE office, 110 Main street, Excelsior block, up stairs, or may be addressed to Peter Regg, P. O. box 1024, and will receive prompt attention.

WALKER, JUDD & VEAZIE.

They Make a Voluntary Assignment Yesterday Morning, A. T. Jenks Being Assignee.

The Assets of the Firm Claimed to be $450,000, With Liabilities of Half that Amount.

The Injury Done the Firm by the Publication of False Statements as to Attachments.

Yesterday morning the old lumber firm of Walker, Judd & Veazie made a voluntary assignment to Austin T. Jenks, of this city. It had been expected for several days; indeed on Saturday last we had knowledge that the firm was embarrassed, and as they were in hopes of being able to arrange their matters, we refrained from the publication of the news. We, with other newspaper reporters here, agreed not to publish anything of the matter until we could get reliable information from the parties or their solicitors. We kept our pledge, and if another had done the same it is probable that