Playing for Blood.

Special to the Globe. Chicago, Sept. 29.—Never in the history of base ball has so much interest been manifested about games as is felt over the series now being played between the Chicago and New York clubs, and the appearance on the grounds to-day of the rival nines, headed by a brass band and drum major, resplendent in white uniform and bear-skin shako, was the signal for loud and prolonged applause. The presence of so large a crowd, numbering at least 12,000, gave the contest an importance which it had never before had. It was in fact, filled the regular seats and stretched along the ellipse, around the third base and right and left field, so as to render necessary the ground rule that any hit into the crowd would count for three bases. The New Yorks were handicapped from the first inning, as by the grace of a number of errors and heavy batting the Chicago scored four runs before the inning closed. But for this the visiting team would undoubtedly have won.

Before the game odds of $8 to $10 were offered in favor of Chicago, with but few takers, while in the pool rooms but little betting was done. The uncertainty of the outcome of the series, which virtually decides the championship, and a fear that the whole affair is an immense hippodrome, the result of which is almost wholly in favor of gamblers' ally chary of investing even small amounts. Pools to-night are selling about even on to-morrow's game, with slight odds offered in favor of the home club. The majority of the gamblers, however, the New York crowd, several hundred in number, are doing an immense amount of blustering, but are spending very little money to emphasize their claims. Chicago is now three games in the lead with seven games to play, and has a strong team, the Philadelphia, in their last series. New York has an equal number of games scheduled, but is almost certain of winning the four games to be played next week with the St. Louis team. The Chicago gamblers are making a vigorous campaign. Fullerton flew out to first base and Gore took first base on balls. Kelly made a base hit, advancing Gore to second, and both were advanced another base on a passed ball. Anson flew out to first base on a strike. Kelly made a base hit, advancing Gore to second, and both were advanced another base on a passed ball. Anson flew out to first base on a strike. Kelly made a base hit, advancing Gore to second, and both were advanced another base on a passed ball.

Williamson made another base hit, bringing Pfeffer home. Burns followed with another base, Williamson coming home. Burns was thrown out in trying to steal second.

New York was shut out. O'Rourke getting a base on balls and was caught napping at first. Connor flew out to Daltymple and Ewing to Burns. New York was run-ging in the third inning. Welch making a base hit, but was forced out at second on Gerhardt's hit. Gerhardt was forced out at second on Ward's strike. Ward stole second and made a run on O'Rourke's base hit. Connor and Ewing both followed with base hits, bringing O'Rourke home. O'Rourke was forced out at third in trying to steal that base. Chicago added two runs in the fifth on Kelly's three-base hit, Anson's base hit and Pfeffer's base hit. New York made two runs in the eighth, on Welch's base hit and Ewing's base hit and a passed ball and a wild throw by Kelly. Gillespie struck out with two men on base, Gerhardt and O'Rourke having gone out on flies. Kelly made a three-base in the ninth inning and came home on Anson's fly to center. Burns ran on the New Yorks struck out. Richardson flew out to Daltymple, Welch got his base on balls, but was doubled up by Gerhardt's strike to short stop. They abandoned their fight for blood in the tenth, as they were only one fielding error, that of Gerhardt, and it did not affect the result. Following is the score:

THE NEWS IN NEW YORK. New York, Sept. 29.—The result of the New York-Chicago game was awaited here with great interest. Nearly all the newspaper offices posted bulletins showing the result of the contest by innings, and large and interested crowds surrounded the boards. About the Tribune office the gathering was so great it impeded passage through Spruce and Nassau streets. The crowds awaiting the news in Printing House square or Park row largely exceeded any during the day of the contest; to-night and through the day the news was eagerly sought at public resorts.

Bad Indians in the southwest. Prescott, Ariz., Sept. 29.—Information received from Clifton of Indian depredations is so alarming that Gov. Tritle has issued a general order to-day calling out the militia for active service. Lieut. Col. Egan of Clifton was placed in command. Gen. Crooks has sent out notices warning the settlers of their danger, and advising them to take the last best way to avoid further punishment, dropped on his knees. This angered Murphy, who finally struck him while down, and the fight was given to Morrissey on a claim of foul. About three hundred persons witnessed the mill.

LOCAL ENTHUSIASM. Local interest ran high on yesterday's New York-Chicago game and betting was indulged in to a considerable extent. No odds were given as the record of the New York club was too brilliant to let the Western patriotism go against it at odds. All lovers of the game, and many who had never read an account of a base ball game this season, hung around the bulletin boards,

Some Gossip Concerning the President's Probable Course With the Incoming Congress.

An Explanation Offered of Senator Eustis' Opposition to President Cleveland.

The Minneapolis Postoffice—The Contracts For Brick and Stone Work Made.

Blair's Advocacy.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Congressman Blair of Missouri got here to-day, and he says he does not know any member of congress who has been supporting the silver side of the currency question who has changed his mind, and he is sure that except, perhaps, in Chicago and Cincinnati, there is not a congressional district in the Mississippi valley where a member would meet a member who was known to be in favor of the permanent suspension of silver coinage. Consequently he is not at all alarmed lest there shall be legislation this winter unfavorable to silver. Among congressmen and other politicians there is great curiosity to know what the administration is going to do this winter. It is not known whether there is an administration program of legislation to be pressed on congress, but it is believed that the president expects to influence legislation, and the opinion is expressed that if he is expecting to do anything of that kind he must be relying on his wonderful luck for success. On silver, civil service reform and the tariff, the president's party is more

HOPELESSLY DIVIDED even that the Republican party. Probably nothing additional regarding civil service is expected, but while the Republican senate will prevent any repeal of the law, the Democratic house can prevent any appropriation for the commission, and many of the members are ripe for just such a step.

MISCELLANEOUS SPORTS. A DESPERATE FIGHT. SCOTTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 29.—A desperate bare-knuckle prize fight occurred between Frank Murphy of McClure's station and William Morrissey of Dunbar, for $300 a side, at the foot of the mountains near here at an early hour this morning. The contest was under the London prize ring rules and lasted two hours. Fifty-nine rounds were fought. Morrissey was badly punished, and the last few rounds to avoid further punishment, dropped on his knees. This angered Murphy, who finally struck him while down, and the fight was given to Morrissey on a claim of foul. About three hundred persons witnessed the mill.

PUTTING RELATIVES IN OFFICE. WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The appointment of President Cleveland's brother-in-law to a $2,000-a-year position in the treasury puts their near relations in office. The number of cases of this sort is very large, and the details in some of them very surprising. For instance, there is in the pension office the father-in-law of one of the most prominent members of the senate. The senator in question is from one of the most prominent Western states, and is understood to be very wealthy himself. Yet he seems to have no hesitation in putting the old man into a pension office, which he is barely able to make a living in. The same office is another man, the father of a prominent member of the house, who has also the reputation of being wealthy, and ought to be ashamed to put the old man into a pension office. The question then is, whether the Democratic organization should be maintained or broken. Kerchoach was a bolter, and his appointment was an encouragement to men who are trying to break down the Democratic organization.

The Penalty of Wife Murder.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30.—Jan. 21, 1853, Mrs. Mary Hartnett was killed by her husband at Mt. Auburn, near Cincinnati in a moment of drunken frenzy in the presence of her six little children. Hartnett made his wife kneel on the floor, say her prayers, and then deliberately struck her on the head with a brick, a child, standing by, so frenzied that he was deemed insane, and his neighbors testified that his actions had been queer for a long time. Like all other criminals whose names have been on the circuit calendars of Hamilton county, Hartnett was given a long lease of life. The doctors got a chance to aid the lawyers and it was not until July 23, 1884, that he was found guilty. On Aug. 23 he was sentenced to be hanged, and the date of execution fixed for Dec. 5, 1884. He was not sent to the penitentiary until the execution was received from Gov. Hoadly. The date of death was then fixed for Feb. 10, 1885. Meanwhile the district court allowed a new trial, and it resulted in conviction April 9, 1885. May 7 he was sentenced under the new law to be hanged in the penitentiary on Sept. 4, 1885. On the night of Sept. 3, two hours before the time fixed for the execution to take place, Gov. Hoadly again reprieved Hartnett to Sept. 30. This was the only case in which the condemned an opportunity to file a motion in the supreme court for leave to file a petition in error to the lower court. This was argued and overruled Sept. 23, and the same date Gov. Hoadly refused to grant a writ of certiorari to imprisonment for life. When finally informed of his fate on Saturday, Hartnett brightened up and expressed satisfaction that he had been relieved of suspense, and a wish that the execution might take place without delay. He and the doctor, who was shot after 2 o'clock this morning, the prison officials, a clerkman and a physician being present.

RIOTERS READY FOR WORK. MONTREAL, Sept. 29.—The excitement among the citizens over the anti-vaccination riot last night continues, and many assert the time has come to declare martial law. The rioters last night were well organized. They were headed by three men in carriages, who directed their movements. Chief Francis, who was stabbed and fortunately received no serious injury. Mayor Beaugrand rose from a sick bed and came down town to take measures to quell the riot. He says that if the aldermen will not assist him in this matter, he will protect himself and property, and will not be held responsible for the consequences of his own responsibility. At 5 o'clock this evening a general police alarm was sounded, calling all members of the force to the city hall. The whole of the military in the city, about fourteen hundred strong, are under the command of Gen. Galt, and infantry are watching the disaffected district. There is no sign so far of further trouble.

THE INDIAN PASSING WITHOUT TROUBLE. At a meeting of the provincial board of health this evening a by-law was adopted in which it is provided for persons living in the city of Montreal, who are not known to be in contact with other persons or to frequent churches or other public places. The expectations that another riot would take place to-night have fortunately not been verified, although many persons believe that the riot is only postponed. The rioters of last night were increased to-night by workmen from St. John Baptist, the village of St. Henri and other places, but the only disturbance that took place was at the Grey nursery. The mob did not enter the grounds on horseback. All is quiet there, and the citizens are gathered in the east end of the city, all to midnight the police have been able to keep them quiet.

ANOTHER STATEMENT FROM FERDIE. New York, Sept. 29.—Ferdinand Ward to-night left an unsigned statement with the warden of Ludlow street jail to be given to the press. In it he says that he gave a schedule to the receivers showing what was done with the money of Grant & Ward, and that he had no other statements showing that from 1850 to 1884 he had paid out $633,000 for his personal account. That of this sum he invested $573,000 in real estate, which he turned over to Mr. Warner on the morning after the failure. That this leaves $100,000 for his living expenses during the time he was in jail, and during the same period received $120,000 on his individual investments, therefore he says none of Grant & Ward's money was appropriated by him. He asserts that the wrong done him is in giving to the benefit of others whom he declines to name until his trial comes on, but says he has no objection to their publication by the receivers.

A Mayor's Fatal Shot. FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 29.—Alexander Aaron was shot and killed on the streets of Van Buren at 8 o'clock last night by Charles Taylor, mayor of that town. They had a difficulty about a woman and had threatened each other's life. Aaron followed Taylor and attacked him with a razor, when the latter drew his pistol and fired four shots, two of which took effect in Aaron's body. Aaron died almost instantly and Taylor gave bonds, for the case seems to be one of self-defense. Taylor is well connected, but dissipated. He was elected mayor of Van Buren last April when he was but 29 years old, and is said to be the youngest mayor in the United States.

A BOY HIGHWAYMAN. BROWNWOOD, Tex., Sept. 29.—The Cisco and Brownwood stage was robbed yesterday thirteen miles this side of Cisco by a slender-built nineteen-year-old boy. The mail pouch was rifled of the registered letter package. The robber exchanged horses with the stage driver, remarking as he mounted that he thought the horse would give him to the Indian nation. The coach contained one passenger, who was unharmed.

A Thrifty Coal Clerk. STRACUSE, N.Y., Sept. 29.—Yesterday a member of the firm of Hopkins & Abbot, coal dealers of this city, accidentally discovered that their bookkeeper, James H. COLUMBUS, Sept. 29.—The correspondence between Chairman Bushnell and Powell, relative to a joint discussion between Judge Foraker and Gov. Hoadly, was resumed to-day. The tables were turned somewhat, as the following challenge indicates:

Columbus, O., Sept. 29.—To Hon. A. S. Bushnell, Chairman Republican State Executive Committee, and Hon. R. S. Thompson, Chairman Probation State Executive Committee—Gentlemen: The already had by your committees, separately, with ourselves, clearly show that all three committees claim they desire a debate between the three candidates for governor. For the purpose of definitely settling the matter, we hereby challenge Judge J. B. Foraker and Dr. A. R. Leonard to meet Gov. Hoadly in debate upon the issues of the present campaign. If this challenge is accepted, our chairman will meet you or any delegate from your committee, on any day or order to arrange the debates immediately, and we suggest, however, that we meet to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock at the rooms of the Republican state executive committee at Columbus, or will accept any other day and place you may suggest. Please let us hear from you immediately. Yours respectfully, E. POWELL, Chairman.

The following is the reply of the Republicans: Columbus, O., Sept. 29.—To Hon. Thomas J. Hoadly, Chairman of the State Democratic Committee, Columbus, O.—Dear Sir: We accept your challenge for Judge Foraker to be met by Gov. Hoadly, either alone or in company with Dr. Leonard, on any day or order, on condition, however, that if Gov. Hoadly desires Dr. Leonard to help him in the matter, we will accept of him, and will arrange in your own way with Dr. Leonard, as that is exclusively your own affair. We are prepared to meet representatives of your committee at our committee rooms to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock. Yours very truly, A. S. BUSHNELL, Chairman.

THE VACANCY FILLED. NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Gen. E. F. Jones of Binghamton has been chosen to fill the vacancy occasioned by the withdrawal of Mr. Flower from the candidacy on the Democratic state ticket for lieutenant governor. Gen. Jones subsequently appeared before the state committee and formally accepted the nomination. He has previously been tendered to Gen. H. W. Slocum, but declined to make the canvass. Gen. Edward F. Jones, the new candidate, was born in Utica, N. Y., June 3, 1830. He was raised in Massachusetts and his home is in Binghamton. He commanded the famous Sixth Massachusetts regiment, which was attacked in the streets of Baltimore, April 19, 1861, while on its way to the defense of Washington. This was the first bloodshed in the civil war. He subsequently raised the Twenty-sixth Massachusetts volunteers and served with distinction in the Army of the Gulf. He was brevetted brigadier-general for meritorious services on the field. At the close of the war he settled at Binghamton, Broome county, N. Y., and established the Jones scale works. He ran for congress against Thomas C. Platte in 1874, but was defeated, and was again beaten two years later for the same office by G. R. Dwight. He is regarded as a business man, purely, and not as a politician.

A Mugwump's View. NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Inquiry as to the general sentiment of the so-called Cleveland Republicans in regard to the coming state elections was to-day made. The Republicans claim that the Mugwump vote will be practically solid in support of the Republican state ticket. George Walton Green, secretary of the national committee of Independent Republicans, who has previously raised the Mugwump vote last fall for Cleveland, is reported to have said that he had yet to hear of a single Republican who voted for Cleveland who did not intend to vote against Gov. Hill. His position in connection with the Mugwump vote has naturally drawn into contact with a great many Republicans who sympathized with his aims last year, and he could speak with confidence as to their general feeling that Cleveland's policy could be best sustained by the defeat of his administration. It has previously been reported that the platforms of the two state conventions made little impression either way, on account of the worthlessness of party platforms in general.

Registering Voters in Cincinnati. CINCINNATI, Sept. 29.—The registration of voters in this city, under the law enacted in May last, closed to-night. There has been a very general acquiescence of the law and pretty free registration. The wards have been subdivided into voting precincts, with a view to have not more than 500 names in any one precinct. Charges of fraudulent registration have been made, but only a few have so far been traced. A man to-day offered to sell Mayor Smith any number of registration certificates at 51 each. He was immediately arrested, and the police are endeavoring to ascertain if the certificates are in his possession.

Bay State Republican Convention. SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 29.—The gathering of delegates to-night, preliminary to to-morrow's Republican state convention, is larger than was anticipated. There is 500 names in any one precinct. Charges of fraudulent registration have been made, but only a few have so far been traced. A man to-day offered to sell Mayor Smith any number of registration certificates at 51 each. He was immediately arrested, and the police are endeavoring to ascertain if the certificates are in his possession.

Sat Upon the Mugwumps. NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Irving hall, at a mass meeting to-night, ratified the Democratic nominations. Ex-Senator T. C. E. Ecclesine made a speech in which he referred to the Mugwumps as traitors in their own party and disturbers in our country. He said that the Mugwump party was its twin brother, and the Saratoga nominations were meant to emphasize the reverse of these doctrines.

John Kelly's Rumored Relapse. NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—A rumor circulated in this city to-day that Mr. John Kelly had experienced a serious relapse was generally discredited.

One of these dresses for a little girl about 12 years of age is of purple silk covered with an etamine skirt embroidered only on the lower part and gathered around the waist. The bodice is of white satin, and front over a fichu of purple velvet, which is nearly as wide as the bust near the shoulders, and terminates in a point over the lower part of the waist. The etamine sleeves have cuffs of the same velvet, and the collar is of velvet, too. The waist closes down the side and has a double row of small mother-of-pearl buttons; a broad purple sash is tied in a large bow.

THE SISTER REPUBLIC FLOODED.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 29.—Rains continue throughout the southern part of the republic. The National railway has experienced a bad washout between Celala and San Mague on the Central railroad.

There are seven gangs of workmen, about 1,500 men, making repairs as fast as the rains will permit. It is estimated that it will cost between $50,000 and $75,000 to repair the washouts. It will probably be necessary to relay the entire track between Marcala and Celala, a distance of twenty-five kilometers. An iron bridge was washed away by the torrent tearing off girders as if they were straw. Provided no more rain falls in the flooded districts the through trains it is expected can run from El Paso by Wednesday or Thursday. No mail has yet come through from the United States. The trouble occurred beyond San Juan Del Rio. The lakes that inundate the country broke over and flooded the track and the engineers refused to send their engines into turbid torrents.

THE PENALTY OF WIFE MURDER. COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30.—Jan. 21, 1853, Mrs. Mary Hartnett was killed by her husband at Mt. Auburn, near Cincinnati in a moment of drunken frenzy in the presence of her six little children. Hartnett made his wife kneel on the floor, say her prayers, and then deliberately struck her on the head with a brick, a child, standing by, so frenzied that he was deemed insane, and his neighbors testified that his actions had been queer for a long time.

Like all other criminals whose names have been on the circuit calendars of Hamilton county, Hartnett was given a long lease of life. The doctors got a chance to aid the lawyers and it was not until July 23, 1884, that he was found guilty. On Aug. 23 he was sentenced to be hanged, and the date of execution fixed for Dec. 5, 1884.

He was not sent to the penitentiary until the execution was received from Gov. Hoadly. The date of death was then fixed for Feb. 10, 1885. Meanwhile the district court allowed a new trial, and it resulted in conviction April 9, 1885.

May 7 he was sentenced under the new law to be hanged in the penitentiary on Sept. 4, 1885. On the night of Sept. 3, two hours before the time fixed for the execution to take place, Gov. Hoadly again reprieved Hartnett to Sept. 30. This was the only case in which the condemned an opportunity to file a motion in the supreme court for leave to file a petition in error to the lower court.

This was argued and overruled Sept. 23, and the same date Gov. Hoadly refused to grant a writ of certiorari to imprisonment for life. When finally informed of his fate on Saturday, Hartnett brightened up and expressed satisfaction that he had been relieved of suspense, and a wish that the execution might take place without delay.

He and the doctor, who was shot after 2 o'clock this morning, the prison officials, a clerkman and a physician being present.
