The following hour or more was consumed in hearing reports of the work for the suffrage cause in the various states. Mrs. Dorsett read the Wisconsin report, a constitutional amendment had been sub-mitted to the assembly, but owing to techelected president which Mrs. Howe conbeen done. The changing of the sessions of the legislature from annual to biennial

In Boston the agitation is very active. The Democrats have enrolled 15,000 women who have paid their poll taxes and will vote on the school question. The Republicans and Independents are constrained to follow suit. In the state in general the suffragists had to contend against a Tory aristocraey on the one hand and the ignorant praindiged feature, operatives on ignorant, prejudiced factory operatives on the other, but the banner was still flying.

OUR OWN STATE.

Dr. Ripley gave the Minnesota report, the substance of which was the numerous petitions they have on hand. The first of which is to ask congress for a sixteenth amendment, next to ask the legislature for constitutional amendment, then for a presidential suffrage, and, a very important fact, the right of a married woman to list her own property. "We can't do this now," she said, "unless our husbands are idiotic, and that is putting a premium on idiotic husbands that we do not wish." Another thing they want is exemption from registration, in order to vote for superintendent of county schools. The report went on to tell of the various suffrage movements, the cel-ebration of foremothers' day and other matters of local interest. Mrs. Ada Bowles, Massachusetts, then read the Michigan report, which proved a very vigorous exposi-tion of the work in that state, and a very

Mr. Blackwell said he protested to any such be-lief, and he wanted no such misapprehension, which was also the sense of the con-vention. Over the last resolution there was quite a warm debate. Judge Hemiup did not want Gov. Pierce censured, and moved to strike out that portion. A spirited debate resulted in striking out the word "unfaithful" and and adopting the rest. Maj. Pickler returned his thanks, and the convention adjourned until evening.
THE EVENING ADDRESSES.

Again the Church of the Redeemer was growded and last night's oratorical session was a complete success. President Foulke and Julia Ward Howe had gone to St. Paul to speak, and Mrs. Lucy Stone presided. The first speaker was Mrs. Margaret Campbell of Iowa, who gave the ripe results of long experience of the cause in the Hawkeye state. A point she made was that the brewers' convention at Chicago had declared against woman snffrage, because they said the women were against the liquor dealers. This was in reality a blow, because it committed in advance the enfranchised women to the prohibition cause.

MRS. DR. CUTLER. They do not deserve this, nor does it follow, for in Wyoming, where women have voted for seventeen years, there is no prohibitory law. Mrs. Campbell told of the suffrage efforts in Iowa and concluded with a general argument for equal rights.

Maj. J. A. Pickler of Dakota was next introduced. Maj. Pickler represented the Sixth delegate district in the last Dakota legislature, and introduced the bill giving the women of Dakota the right of suffrage, moved as an amendment that no work be vetoed by Gov. Pierce. His address was cells. largely devoted to a detailed history of his bill, from its introduction to its final death at the hands of the executive of the territory. Two matters divided the attention of the convention of State Baptists yesterday, viz., missions and education, the former occupying the morning and evening and the latter the afternoon session. Mayor George A. Pillsbury presided at the morning session, at which, after devotions, the following committees were appointed:

As it happens, Mr. Glenn is the the five bidders, and all know that there has been a deal of controversy regarding the cells; the chairman of the committee and Mr. Glenn had been engaged in a con-

LIVELY DEBATE. Ald. Sly was exceedingly sorry that Ald. Haugan should believe that he had an axe to grind. He had nothing but the best of feeling toward all concerned. Ald. Walsh presumed that he represented the majority, yet he felt like testifying to the fact that there is no ill-feeling in the committee. He then made an explanation of the condittons which are well known to the readers of the GLOBE. Ald. Hashow charged Ald. Sly with making an invidious insinuation. He had never seen a plan or specification, and therefore Mr. Sly had no right to state that he was in any way interested in the work.

Ald. Johnson was disinterested. He cared nothing about who had the contract. If he was certain Mr. Glenn would build the cells according to the amended plans he would vote in favor of awarding the contract to Mr. Glenn.

Ald. Sly alleged that he had no ill feeling against Mr. Glenn, but he did not be-lieve Mr. Glenn would build the cells according to the amended plans specifications for the amount named in Mr. Glenn's proposal. Ald. Sly's substitute was lost upon a roll call, and the contract was awarded to M. W. Glenn.

SALACIOUS CASES

Amuse Spectators in the District Court -- The $30,000 Damage Suit.

The Slayton divorce case yesterday be-fore Judge Lochren furnished the spectators with considerable diversion. The parties resided in North Minneapolis and on prosecution, Isaac A. Slayton, who had reason to suspect his wife, sent word that he wouldn't be home and during his wife's absence concealed himself under the bed. During the evening a man named Connolly came in and was attempting to persuade Mrs. Slayton to sit on his lap when a little girl, the daughter of the parties to the suit, dis covered her father under the bed and called out: "Oh. ma, look here." Mr. Slayton came out from the retreat and a stormy scene ensued between the husband and wife, which resulted in Slayton's leaving home and the bringing of a suit for divorce

At the conclusion of the divorce suit, a jury was impaneled to try the breach of promise case of Martha Ward vs. William The complaint charges seduction under promise of marrlage, as follows: About a year ago the plaintiff applied to the defendant for a loan of $50 on chattel property, and an acquaintance sprung up which Miss Ward claims led to her ruin, under promise from the plaintiff that he would furnish her with a nice home, piano, etc. He failed to keep his agreement, however, and kept postponing the marriage, upon one pretext or another. Finally he threatened to foreclose the mortgage on the property which secured the $50 loan, and Miss Ward, taking this as an indication that he did not intend to marry her, accordingly commenced suit. claiming damages at $10, 000. ANOTHER MONSTER. Last Week Duplicated in the Current Weck's Flour Product. In its review of the milling situation the Northwestern Miller will say to-day: Contrary to expectation, the flour production last week was almost identical in amount with that of the preceding week. Several mills increased their output and made unusual runs, but others failed to maintain their previous rate of production, thus leaving the general average unaffected. The figures for last week are 171,108 barrels averaging 28,518 barrels daily—against 171,066 the previous week, and 145,800 for the corresponding time in 1884. There is no particular change for the current week, though the chance for an increase in the production is more favorable than otherwise. The twenty-two mills are keeping hard at work without shop, except for accidents caused by overstrained machinery giving away. The repairs at the lower end of the canal have finally been completed, and the mills since Tuesday have had a better head of water to work with, and this presages heavier running. The mills continue to experience more or less trouble in getting certain kinds of freight cars, and A. D. the handling of the immense amounts of wheat and the product of the mills is efthe winter. fected with much labor.

There has been little or no change in the flour market. Buyers are ready to take hold, but they want flour at prices below what millers are willing to let it go for.

Profs. Downey and Hoag Find Tremors on the Campus.

In rebuttal, the plaintiff in the case of the university against the Northern Pacific Railway company, introduced the following testimony yesterday; Prof. Downey recalled, and testified that he had recently experimented on the campus grounds with a view to ascertaining the extent of the tremors caused by the movements of trains on the Manitoba road. He had made two observations at two points indicated on the profile of the grounds. Midway between the Manitoba tracks and the Northern Pacific railway the tremors were distinctly noticeable, and Ltl, blk 7, Morrison & Lovejoy's add: the disturbances lasted forty-five seconds, and were slightly perceptible for a longer time. The tremors occasioned by the passing of a passenger train and a freight train near each other lasted four minutes and forty-six seconds. Experiments made at the proposed site of the observatory in the southern portion of the grounds; no tremors were observed in consequence of trains passing on the Manitoba tracks except from heavy trains passing towards Minneapolis, slight vibrations could be noticed in the in-struments. Judging from these experiments so made the witness was of the opinion that in case the Northern Pacific is to run as projected the site would be unsuit able for practical work. Prof. W. R Hoag, who aided in taking the observa-tions, corroborated Prof. Downey's testimony and an adjournment was had until this morning.
